Ernie Lee Magaha Government Building – First Floor

1. Call to Order.

   Please turn your cell phone to the vibrate, silence, or off setting.

   The Board of County Commissioners allows any person to speak regarding an item on the Agenda. The speaker is limited to three (3) minutes, unless otherwise determined by the Chairman, to allow sufficient time for all speakers. Speakers shall refrain from abusive or profane remarks, disruptive outbursts, protests, or other conduct which interferes with the orderly conduct of the meeting. Upon completion of the Public comment period, discussion is limited to Board members and questions raised by the Board.

2. Invocation – Commissioner Robinson.

3. Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

4. Are there any items to be added to the agenda?

   Recommendation: That the Board adopt the agenda as prepared (or duly amended).

5. Commissioners' Forum.

6. Retirement Proclamations.

Recommendation: That the Board take the following action concerning retirement Proclamations:

A. Adopt the Proclamation commending and congratulating Jennifer A. Caro, Senior Office Support Assistant, Public Safety Department, on 35 years of dedicated service;

B. Adopt the Proclamation commending and congratulating Gary E. Straughn, Emergency Medical Specialist - Paramedic, Public Safety Department, on 26 years of dedicated service; and

C. Ratify the Proclamation, dated March 24, 2017, commending and congratulating Cynthia F. "Cindy" Birden, Senior Librarian, Library Services Department, on 35 years of dedicated service.

7. Written Communication.

May 12, 2017 - Communication from Rochester Pettway and Tammy Pettway requesting the County return real property, located at 852 Violet Avenue, Pensacola, FL 32505 (Parcel Ref#26-1S-30-6101-019-006, Account #03-1271-000), that was conveyed to the County via an Escheatment Tax Deed on February 3, 2017 (recorded in Official Record Book 7674 at page 1987 on March 6, 2017), which was the Homestead Property of Rochester Pettway at that time.

8. Did the Clerk's Office receive the proofs of publication for the Public Hearing(s) on the agenda and the Board's Weekly Meeting Schedule?

Recommendation: That the Board waive the reading of the legal advertisement(s) and accept, for filing with the Board's Minutes, the certified affidavit(s) establishing proof of publication for the Public Hearing(s) on the agenda, and the Board of County Commissioners – Escambia County, Florida, Meeting Schedule.

9. 5:31 p.m. Public Hearing for consideration of adopting an Ordinance creating the Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks Lift Station Improvement MSBU.

Recommendation: That the Board adopt, and authorize the Chairman to sign, the Ordinance creating the Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks Lift Station Improvement Municipal Service Benefit Unit (MSBU), and all related documents, and make the following findings of fact:

A. Lots in the District are specially benefited since Lift Station improvements increase the market value of an individual Lot, and increase the ability of Lot owners to develop their land;

B. The non-ad valorem special assessments levied represent a fair and reasonable apportionment of the cost of the special benefit received by each Lot and do not represent a fair share of the cost of general governmental service provided to residents in the unincorporated areas of Escambia County; and

C. Lots which do not receive a special benefit have been and shall be excluded from the non-ad valorem special assessment for lift station improvements.

10. 5:32 p.m. Public Hearing for consideration of the vacation of a portion of unopened right-of-way off Arthur Brown Road, on the Board's own Motion.

Recommendation: That the Board take the following action concerning the Vacation of a portion of unopened right-of-way off Arthur Brown Road:

A. Approve or deny the vacation of a portion of unopened right-of-way (approximately 0.16 acres) off Arthur Brown Road;

B. Adopt the Resolution to Vacate; and

C. Authorize the Chairman or Vice Chairman to accept the documents as of the day of delivery of the documents to the Chairman or Vice Chairman, and authorize the Chairman or Vice Chairman to execute them at that time.

Type	Description	District	Amount	Description
T	3rd and Winthrop	2	$33,077	Transfer funds to fix negative balance.
T	Bobe Street Sidewalks	2	$7,195	Transfer funds to fix negative balance.
T	Patton Drive (Gulf Beach Hwy)	2	$103,896	Construction of intersection improvements along the corridor; it was determined that the installation of traffic signals at the intersections of Gulf Beach Highway and Sunset, and Gulf Beach Highway and Patton Drive was necessary.
T	Detroit Safety Upgrades	3	$487,297	Safety Improvement project that includes shoulder and roadway widening, drainage improvements, new turn lanes at specific intersections, pedestrian access improvements, and bridge replacements at both Cove and Detroit intersections. There are five phases to this project.
T	Resurfacing	various	$400,000	Resurfacing List attached.
T	Olive Road	4	$54,547	Requesting additional funds for the Olive Road East widening project.
T	Dirt Road Paving	various	$63,923	This fund is utilized to pave dirt roads in Escambia County.
T	Guidy Lane	5	$150	Transfer funds to fix negative balance.
T	Thompson Crary etc.	5	$1,720	Transfer funds to fix negative balance.
T	I-10 Beulah Interchange		$280,203	2017 JPA Design Funds.
T	I-10 Beulah Interchange		$599,846	2018 JPA Design Funds.
T	Sidewalks		$5,510	Transfer funds to Sidewalk Project to construct sidewalks within Escambia County.

T	Ensley Caro Pond		$250	This will cover the cost of the Change Order for conditions found during construction that required a re-design, as well as the cost for the re-design. Items discovered include an abandoned pipe which needed to be removed, additional side drains, additional aggregate base material; and two headwalls that need to be added to correct a pre-existing ditch that traps water upstream along the roadway during heavy rain falls. This pre-existing issue was not captured in the original design. In addition, a 6 inch water line that is in conflict with a proposed 30 inch RCP storm line at Hannah and Rawls Avenues was discovered. The contractor is working with ECUA to locate existing water lines that may have been modified in the Ensley area. It appears that the water lines were installed after the utility coordination was performed during the design. It has been requested that the contractor expose the ECUA lines to see if there are any future conflicts. This increase will also cover the additional cost of the added drainage design at Ensley and Grimsley Streets to reduce flooding at two resident properties during heavy rain events. This design includes adding a 14x23 RCP cross drain with a concrete headwall end treatment on Grimsley Street. This design will require building up 50 feet of road by 6 inches and also some ditch cleaning. An additional 15 inch RCP crossover line will be installed on Ensley Street to maintain flow through Laurel Avenue. This additional work will reduce flooding to the surrounding residents and help maintain drainage flow throughout the ditches in the area.

T	Resurfacing		$12,987	Transfer funds to supplement the Resurfacing Program.
T	Highway 297A at Kingsfield	5	$234,600	Transfer funds to supplement the construction of Highway 297A at Kingsfield.
T	Cooley Road	5	$122,250	Construct improvements in the area of Cooley Road.
T	CR 196	5	$4,384	Transfer funds to pay FDOT for costs not eligible for the grant.
T	CR 99	5	$28,878	Transfer funds to pay FDOT for costs not eligible for the grant.
T	Bridge Program		$107,070	Transfer funds to Bridge Program to renovate bridges as per FDOT guidelines.
			$2,547,783	Total To Transfer Transportation
D	Muldoon Velma	1	$687,355	Bayou Marcus Basin Study - Velma Drive Pond Outfall Branch C (modified by property acquisition and Velma Drive pond expansion). Drainage System Improvements including Velma Drive pond expansion, outfall, and drainage conveyance to Velma Drive Pond to provide better outfall for Muldoon Area Ponds. Project to address extensive home flooding. Project will reduce outfall pipe size and provide more effective outfall for Muldoon-Saufley Field Area ponds.
D	Midas and Muldoon	1	$30,000	The existing pond at the corner of Midas Road and Muldoon Road was expanded, and this will fund a positive outfall for this pond in order to reduce flooding in the area, increase storm water retention, and improve quality of stormwater runoff.

D	Shoshone/Doug Ford	1	$240,000	Several homes flood on Shoshone Drive in severe or moderate rain. Existing piped drainage flows to wetland ditch and outfall south under and across Doug Ford Drive. Evaluate pipe system and obtain permits to restore flow west to wetland outfall.
D	Saufley and Prospect	1	$87,000	FDOT funding for sidewalk design on Saufley Field Road; awaiting FDOT construction funding. Drainage improvements to address drainage capacity issues on Saufley Field Road at Prospect Lane causing street and yard flooding. These funds are for design of this project.
D	South Gulf Manor	1	$150,000	Additional funding is required for property acquisition and design. The existing pond for South Gulf Manor Phase 1 Subdivision has failed to accommodate drainage on numerous occasions resulting in yard, street, and home flooding. In April 2014, 11 homes flooded on the southeast side of the subdivision on Silversides Loop and Cavalla Loop. Acquisition is needed to increase pond capacity and satisfy County standards for maintenance.
D	Beach Haven	2	$330,352	CEI Services for the Beach Haven Construction Project.
D	North Old Corry Field Road	2	$440,672	This project involves the construction of sidewalk and drainage improvements along the eastern right-of-way of CR 295A (North Old Corry Field Road), between SR 30 (US 98 / West Navy Boulevard) and CR 298A (West Jackson Street). This is in addition to the LAP monies of $352K
D	Spring Street	3	$784,090	Joint Project with the District School Board.

D	Massachesetts Avenue	3	$138,000	LAP Agreement; County Portion $138K, FDEP Portion $73K, Total $221k
D	Ortega	3	$45,240	Funds will be utilized for design services to address flooding issues.
D	Ensley Caro Pond	3	$102,130	This will cover the cost of the Change Order for conditions found during construction that required a re-design, as well as the cost for the re-design. Items discovered include an abandoned pipe which needed to be removed, additional side drains, additional aggregate base material; and two headwalls that need to be added to correct a pre-existing ditch that traps water upstream along the roadway during heavy rain falls. This pre-existing issue was not captured in the original design. It has been requested that the contractor expose the ECUA lines to see if there are any future conflicts. This increase will also cover the additional cost of the added drainage design at Ensley and Grimsley Streets to reduce flooding at two resident properties during heavy rain events. This design includes adding a 14x23 RCP cross drain with a concrete headwall end treatment on Grimsley Street. This design will require building up 50 feet of road by 6 inches and also some ditch cleaning. An additional 15 inch RCP crossover line will be installed on Ensley Street to maintain flow through Laurel Avenue. This additional work will reduce flooding to the surrounding residents and help maintain drainage flow throughout the ditches in the area.

D	Bob White Drainage	5	$55,000	The Bob White Drive Pipe Rehabilitation project includes rehabilitating approximately 887 linear feet of existing corrugated metal pipe and installing new storm inlets to improve drainage in the area. The pipe lies within a County drainage easement located near 527 Bobwhite Court in the Quail Run Subdivision off Nine Mile Road. The pipe is directly beneath a privacy fence, and access to remove and replace the pipe is very limited. Due to its location and space restrictions, installing a cured-in-place pipe liner is the only viable option.
D	Stillbridge Road Drainage		$120,160	Additional funds are required to initiate design services, identify properties for adequate maintenance access, and provide construction plans for these subdivision improvements.
D	Olive Road	4	$3,206	Requesting additional funds for the Olive Road East widening project.

BCC Regular Meeting

Meeting Date: 05/25/2017

Issue: Written Communication - Request to Return Escheated Property to Prior Owners, Rochester Pettway and Tammy Pettway

From: Stephan Hall, Budget Manager

Organization: Asst County Administrator - Lovoy

CAO Approval:

RECOMMENDATION:

May 12, 2017 - Communication from Rochester Pettway and Tammy Pettway requesting the County return real property, located at 852 Violet Avenue, Pensacola, FL 32505 (Parcel Ref#26-1S-30-6101-019-006, Account #03-1271-000), that was conveyed to the County via an Escheatment Tax Deed on February 3, 2017 (recorded in Official Record Book 7674 at page 1987 on March 6, 2017), which was the Homestead Property of Rochester Pettway at that time.

BACKGROUND:

Rochester Pettway and Tammy Pettway were the Fee Simple Owners of the property located at 852 Violet Avenue, Pensacola, Florida at the time that the property was advertised for the payment of delinquent taxes at the February 3, 2014 Tax Deed Sale. The property was not purchased at the Tax Deed Sale and was then entered onto the County Lands Available List, where it was available to be purchased through the Clerk's Office until it escheated to the County on February 3, 2017.

Upon escheatment, it was determined that the property was occupied by Rochester Pettway. Mr. Pettway contacted the County to find out how he could get his property back.

Mr. Pettway was provided with a copy of Florida Statute 197.592, which provides that:

(1) Lands acquired by any county of the state for delinquent taxes in accordance with law which have not been previously sold or dedicated by the board of county commissioners may, at its discretion, be conveyed to the record fee simple owner of such lands as of the date the county obtained title to the lands. However, before any conveyance shall be made, the former owner of the lands may file with the board of county commissioners a verified written application which shall show:
(a) The description of the lands for which a conveyance is sought;
(b) The name and address of the former owner;

(c) The date title was acquired by the county;
(d) The price of the lands as previously fixed by resolution of the board of county commissioners, if this has been done;
(e) The use to which the lands were enjoyed by the record fee simple owner at the time of acquisition by the county;
(f) A brief statement of the facts and circumstances upon which the former owner bases the request for restitution of the described property;
(g) An offer to pay an amount equal to all taxes, including municipal taxes and liens, if any, which had become delinquent, together with interest and costs provided by law.

The attached communication from Mr. and Mrs. Pettway serves as written application to the Board for return of the aforementioned property. Mr. Pettway currently still resides at this residence, pending Board decision of this request.

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

Return of this property to the prior Fee Simple Owners would allow the Property to be placed back on the tax rolls. The amount of taxes to be paid to the Tax Collector by May 31, 2017, should the Board agree to return the property would be $4,008.92, as verified with the Tax Collector's Office. The prior owners would bear all recording costs related to the transfer of title back to them.

Pensacola, FL 32502

Re: Property Located at 852 Violet Avenue that has escheated to the County

Dear Board Members:

My name is Rochester Pettway and I and my wife, Tammy Pettway, were the fee simple owners of the property located at 852 Violet Avenue, Pensacola, Florida 32505 before the County acquired the property for taxes. We are making this written request to the Board to return the property based on the requirements of Florida Statute 197.592 that says the Board of County Commissioners may, at its discretion, convey the property to the record fee simple owner of such lands as of the date the County obtained title to the lands.

These are the responses we are submitting as the verified written application that the statute requires:

(a) The description of the lands for which a conveyance is sought:

Address: 852 Violet Avenue, Pensacola, Florida 32505
Account #: 03-127-1000
Parcel Reference #: 26-1S-30-6101-019-006

(b) The name and address of the former owner:

Rochester Pettway
852 Violet Avenue, Pensacola, FL 32505

Tammy Pettway
1871 Dewrell Sq. Pensacola, Fl 32504

(c) The date title was acquired by the County:

February 3, 2017

(d) The price of the lands as previously fixed by resolution of the Board of County Commissioners:

Property Appraiser 2016 assessed value is $43,450

(e) The use to which the lands were enjoyed by the record fee simple owner at the time of acquisition by the County:

This property that was shared by us as husband and wife until 2007 when Tammy moved away. I continued to live on the property as my homestead. This is my home.

(f) Brief statement of the facts and circumstances upon which the former owner bases the request for restitution of the described property:

I obtained my license for masonry at George Stone Vocational Center in Escambia County and owned my own business in bricklaying. I was diagnosed with cancer, depression, and blood clots. My mother had a stroke and I stopped everything to take care of my mother, who is now deceased, and I put her needs before my own causing my responsibilities to fall behind but hoping that I would be able to catch everything up. I am asking for my property back due to a MRI that shows that I have a tumor growing behind my right ear that is pressing on a nerve and taking away my hearing and if it is not removed, it can cause brain damage. I need you to allow me to pay the back taxes today and deed the property back to me as soon as possible so that I may get the lights and water turned back on so that I may be prepare for my surgery that is scheduled for May 16, 2017 at Shand's Hospital in Gainesville, Florida. I need to have a home to recuperate after my surgery so that I may be able to obtain good health and live out a full life.

Again, please consider this letter my offer to pay everything as required by the statute, along with any recording fees to transfer the property back to me.

(g) An offer to pay an amount equal to all taxes, including municipal taxes and liens, if any, which had become delinquent, together with interest and costs as provided by law:

The Tax Collector's Office has verified that the amount that I would need to pay would be $3,914.57, if paid in April, or $4,008.92, if paid in May.

If you will allow me to get my property back, I am prepared to pay the amount needed now.

I respectfully request the opportunity to appear before the Board to discuss this matter.

Please contact me as soon as possible in this regard. Rochester Pettway, (850) 417-5090 or (334) 455-0947.

The 2016 Florida Statutes

197.592 County delinquent tax lands; method and procedure for sale by county; certain lands conveyed to municipalities; extinction of liens.—

(1) Lands acquired by any county of the state for delinquent taxes in accordance with law which have not been previously sold or dedicated by the board of county commissioners may, at its discretion, be conveyed to the record fee simple owner of such lands as of the date the county obtained title to the lands. However, before any conveyance shall be made, the former owner of the lands may file with the board of county commissioners a verified written application which shall show:

(a) The description of the lands for which a conveyance is sought;

(b) The name and address of the former owner;

(c) The date title was acquired by the county;

(d) The price of the lands as previously fixed by resolution of the board of county commissioners, if this has been done;

(e) The use to which the lands were enjoyed by the record fee simple owner at the time of acquisition by the county;

(f) A brief statement of the facts and circumstances upon which the former owner bases the request for restitution of the described property;

(g) An offer to pay an amount equal to all taxes, including municipal taxes and liens, if any, which had become delinquent, together with interest and costs provided by law.

(2) In the event the described lands have not been assessed for taxes for the current year in which the petition is filed, the applicant shall pay, in addition, the taxes for current and omitted years, the latter amount to be determined by applicable millage for the omitted years and based on the last assessment of the described lands.

(3) Lands acquired by any county of the state for delinquent taxes in accordance with law which have not been previously sold, acquired for infill housing, or dedicated by the board of county commissioners, which the board of county commissioners has determined are not to be conveyed to the record fee simple owner in accordance with the provisions of subsections (1) and (2), and which are located within the boundaries of an incorporated municipality of the county shall be conveyed to the governing board of the municipality in which the land is located. Such lands conveyed to the municipality shall be freely alienable to the municipality without regard to third parties. Liens of record held by the county on such parcels conveyed to a municipality shall not survive the conveyance of the property to the municipality.

(4) Liens of record held by the county upon lands not conveyed in accordance with subsections (1) and (2) or subsection (3) shall not survive the conveyance of the property to the county.

Good Morning Jonathan,

Mr. Pettway has contacted me to see if you have been able to recreate the amount that would be owed by him, should the Board vote to allow they property to be conveyed back to him.

He stated that he will be travelling to Gainesville for surgery in a couple of weeks and would like to try to have this information to send to the Board prior to his departure.

Please let me know how this is coming along.

Thank you for your time and consideration in this regard.

BCC Regular Meeting
Meeting Date: 05/25/2017
Issue: 5:31 p.m. Public Hearing to Adopt the Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks Lift Station Improvement MSBU Ordinance
From: Stephan Hall, Budget Manager
Organization: Asst County Administrator - Lovoy
CAO Approval:

RECOMMENDATION:

5:31 p.m. Public Hearing for consideration of adopting an Ordinance creating the Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks Lift Station Improvement MSBU.

Recommendation: That the Board adopt, and authorize the Chairman to sign, the Ordinance creating the Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks Lift Station Improvement Municipal Service Benefit Unit (MSBU), and all related documents, and make the following findings of fact:

A. Lots in the District are specially benefited since Lift Station improvements increase the market value of an individual Lot, and increase the ability of Lot owners to develop their land;

B. The non-ad valorem special assessments levied represent a fair and reasonable apportionment of the cost of the special benefit received by each Lot and do not represent a fair share of the cost of general governmental service provided to residents in the unincorporated areas of Escambia County; and

C. Lots which do not receive a special benefit have been and shall be excluded from the non-ad valorem special assessment for lift station improvements.

BACKGROUND:

The owners of the property within Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks have met the criteria established by the Board of County Commissioners for an MSBU, and the Board has reaffirmed its intent to use the uniform method of collection of non-ad valorem special assessments levied for improvement projects. Now the property owners wish to establish the MSBU for the purpose of providing lift station improvements and County code compliance in the district.

Petitions for creating the MSBU district were circulated among Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks property owners. There are an estimated 103 properties, and of these, 69.9% of total property owners signed the petition in favor. This exceeds the 66% minimum approval requirement specified in the MSBU Guidelines and Procedures for a Construction MSBU. The estimated cost per residential lot will be $469.08 annually for 20 years.

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

The MSBU will generate revenues for the purpose of providing repayment to Escambia County for providing lift station improvements to the Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks Area, as well as administrative and statutory fees.

This Ordinance has been reviewed by the County Attorney's Office and found to be legally sufficient.

ORDINANCE 2017-_____

AN ORDINANCE OF THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA CREATING CHAPTER 70, ARTICLE VIII, DIVISION 4, SECTIONS 70-832 THROUGH 70-839 ESTABLISHING THE CREEKWOOD AND CREEKWOOD OAKS LIFT STATION IMPROVEMENT MUNICIPAL SERVICE BENEFIT UNIT FOR THE PURPOSE OF REENGINEERING AND RECONSTRUCTING THE LIFT STATION CONTAINED IN THE DISTRICT; DEFINING THE BOUNDARIES OF SAID DISTRICT; PROVIDING FOR THE GOVERNANCE OF SAID DISTRICT BY THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS; PROVIDING FOR LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS, AUTHORIZING THE USE OF A NON-AD VALOREM SPECIAL ASSESSMENT TO DEFRAY THE COSTS OF REENGINEERING AND RECONSTRUCTING THE LIFT STATION IMPROVEMENT IN THE DISTRICT BASED ON A FAIR AND REASONABLE APPORTIONMENT OF THE COST TO SPECIALLY BENEFITTED PROPERTIES; PROVIDING FOR THE USE OF THE UNIFORM METHOD OF COLLECTION PRESCRIBED BY §197.3632, FLORIDA STATUTES; PROVIDING FOR NO EXEMPTIONS TO THE LEVY; IDENTIFYING THE DUTIES OF THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY CLERK OF THE CIRCUIT COURT, TAX COLLECTOR, AND PROPERTY APPRAISER; PROVIDING FOR AN APPEAL PROCESS; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; PROVIDING FOR INCLUSION IN THE CODE OF ORDINANCES OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY; AND PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida has the authority to establish a Municipal Service Benefit Unit ("MSBU") pursuant to Chapter 125, Florida Statutes; and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners has adopted administrative procedures for the establishment of such a municipal service benefit unit, and

WHEREAS, by Resolution R2016-155, the Board of County Commissioners reaffirmed its intent to use the uniform method of collection of non-ad valorem special assessments levied for sewer services; and

WHEREAS, the owners of the property contained in Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks Subdivisions have met the criteria established by the Board of County Commissioners for a MSBU, and the property owners wish to establish such a MSBU for the purpose of providing lift station improvements in this district; and

WHEREAS, there are an estimated 103 properties in this proposed district and the property owners in Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks have submitted a petition to the Board of County Commissioners which contains greater than 66% of the total of such owners; and

WHEREAS, this total meets the 66% requirement specified in the MSBU Guidelines and Procedures adopted by the Board of County Commissioners; and

WHEREAS, following completion of said lift station improvements funded by the proposed MSBU, Emerald Coast Utilities Authority shall assume responsibility for the operation and maintenance of the sewage and lift station facilities in the Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks Subdivision.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY:

Section 1. The foregoing recitals are true and correct and incorporated herein by reference.

Section 2. Part I, Chapter 70, Article VIII, Division 4, Sections 70-832 through 70-839 of the Escambia County Code of Ordinances are hereby created to read as follows:

Division 4. – CREEKWOOD AND CREEKWOOD OAKS SUBDIVISIONS

Sec. 70-832. AUTHORITY; PURPOSE; SCOPE. This Ordinance is enacted under authority of Article VIII, Section 1 (f) of the Constitution of the State of Florida; Chapter 125, Florida Statutes; for the purpose of providing for a lift station improvement district in certain unincorporated areas in Escambia County, Florida as described herein, not lying within the corporate boundaries of any municipality.

Sec. 70-833. SHORT TITLE. This Ordinance shall be known and referred to as the "Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks Lift Station Improvement Municipal Service Benefit Unit Ordinance."

Sec. 70-834. DEFINITIONS. When used in this Ordinance, the following terms shall be defined to mean:

(A) Annual Installment shall mean one twentieth (1/20) of the total Cost of the lift station improvement, a four percent (4%) interest charge on the remaining Cost and accrued interest compounded annually, plus any statutory administrative fees payable to the Escambia County Tax Collector and the Escambia County Property Appraiser.

(B) Board shall mean the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida.

(C) Costs shall mean the total cost of engineering and construction associated with improving the lift station contained in the District. These costs for lift station improvements may include, but are not limited, to the costs of construction, labor, materials, plans and specifications, surveys and engineering services, as well as administrative fees and the Escambia County Tax Collector's collection fee.

(D) County or Escambia County shall mean all those geographical territories of Escambia County, a political subdivision of the State of Florida, which territories are not now within the corporate limits of any municipality.

(E) District shall mean that geographical area of the Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks Subdivisions described by plats as a subdivision of a portion of Section 14, Township 1 South, Range 31 West, Escambia County, Florida, excluding holding ponds, wetland/drainage easements, designated wetlands, or buffer zones. The plat of Creekwood is recorded in Plat Book 17, Page 31 and 31A, and the plat of Creekwood Oaks is recorded in Plat Book 17, Page 62 of the Property Appraiser's records.

(F) Fiscal Year shall mean the period of time between October 1st and September 30th.

(G) Improvements shall mean all lift station improvement materials presently located or to be located within or added to the District.

(H) Lot shall mean a developed or proposed single-family residential parcel or a multi-family residential parcel identified with a unique property identification number by the Property Appraiser.

(I) Person shall mean individuals, children, firms, associations, ventures, partnerships, estates, trusts, business trusts, syndicates, fiduciaries, corporations, and all other groups and legal entities or combinations thereof.

Sec. 70-835. DISTRICT CREATED. There is hereby created within Escambia County, Florida the Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks Lift Station Improvement Municipal Service Benefit Unit for the purpose of reengineering and reconstructing the lift station within the District. The aforementioned District shall include all Lots which benefit from the Improvements.

Sec. 70-836. GOVERNANCE OF THE DISTRICT. The District shall be governed by the Board. The Board shall have the following powers and duties:

(A) To authorize and provide for the collection of non-ad valorem special assessments to defray the Costs associated with the Improvements within the District.

(B) To provide for or contract for the reengineering and reconstruction of the Improvements within the District.

(C) To buy, lease, or rent any and all real or personal property necessary to implement this Ordinance.

(D) To fairly and reasonably apportion the Cost of the Improvements among all specially benefited Lots.

(E) To prepare and adopt an annual budget for the District.

(F) To make legislative findings related to the special benefits provided to Lots located in the District.

(G) To otherwise act or satisfy its duties and responsibilities under this Ordinance.

(H) To adopt by resolution, rules and regulations regarding fiscal management of the District.

Sec. 70-837. LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS.

(A) The proposed Creekwood and Creekwood Oaks Lift Station Improvement MSBU has met the criteria established by the Board in the Escambia County Municipal Services Benefits Units Guidelines and Procedures.

(B) Lots in the District are specially benefited since the Improvements increase the market value of an individual Lot and increase the ability of Lot owners to develop their land.

(C) The non-ad valorem special assessments levied represent a fair and reasonable apportionment of the Cost of the special benefit received by each Lot and do not represent the cost of general governmental service provided to residents in the unincorporated areas of Escambia County.

(D) Through its creation of the District, the Board has not accepted ownership of any roads, streets, easements, or lots located within the District other than those expressly accepted or acquired through vote of the Board, and the Board shall not maintain such properties during or subsequent to the completion of any improvements in the District.

Sec. 70-838. NON-AD VALOREM SPECIAL ASSESSMENT COLLECTION.

(A) The Board shall authorize the levy of a non-ad valorem special assessment for Improvements on Lots located within the District the first year following completion of the Improvements. This non-ad valorem special assessment for Improvements shall be levied following the preparation and adoption of a budget by the Board as provided by law each Fiscal Year.

(B) All special non-ad valorem special assessments shall be levied and collected by the uniform method of collection as adopted by the Board pursuant to §197.3632, Florida Statutes. All non-ad valorem special assessments shall become a lien upon the land so assessed, prior in dignity to all other liens and assessments against said lands, save and except county taxes, and those liens and encumbrances of record prior to and on the effective date of this Ordinance, until said non-ad valorem special assessments are paid.

(C) The Tax Collector of Escambia County shall be entitled to receive a commission for the collection of non-ad valorem special assessments as provided in §197.3632 (2), Florida Statutes.

(D) The amount of non ad-valorem special assessment to be assessed and levied against each Lot within the District shall be determined based on the special benefit received by each Lot. The non-ad valorem special assessment for Improvements shall be fairly and reasonably apportioned among the benefited Lots by dividing the Cost of the improvements by the number of residential Lots in the District at the time of completion of the improvements.

(E) Said non-ad valorem special assessment may be paid in one lump sum payment or may be amortized over a twenty (20) year period at four percent (4%) interest compounded annually plus any applicable statutory administrative fees payable to the Escambia County Tax Collector and Escambia County Property Appraiser. No discount shall be applied to early payment of the total outstanding non-ad valorem special assessment due. Lot owners may prepay any outstanding non-ad valorem special assessment in whole or in part without penalty. Any partial prepayment received shall be applied to the outstanding non-ad valorem special assessment balance and shall not postpone the date of any subsequent payment due or waive any future applicable interest or statutory administrative fees payable to the Escambia County Tax Collector or Escambia County Property Appraiser.

(F) A certified copy of this Ordinance shall be recorded in the public records of Escambia County after filing with the Secretary of State.

Sec. 70-839. APPEAL PROCESS.

(A) Any Lot owner may contest the amount of non-ad valorem special assessment levied upon Lots located in the District or any of the annual installments paid on the outstanding non-ad valorem special assessment by notifying the County Administrator or designee in writing that the owner's Lot has been erroneously assessed within thirty (30) days of receiving the non-ad valorem special assessment or any of the notices for payment of the annual installment.

(B) The County Administrator or designee shall review the request and determine within a reasonable time based on the circumstances whether an error of the owner's Lot exists based on the information provided by the Lot owner and the information provided by the records of the Escambia County Property Appraiser's Office, and any other records or information made available to the Board. The Clerk of the Circuit Court shall be authorized to correct facial errors based on these information sources. The County Administrator or designee shall also be authorized to make any necessary adjustment to the amount of the Lot owner's non-ad valorem special assessment due or any of the annual installments as a result of the identification error, with notice to the Board.

(C) In the event the County Administrator or designee finds the Lot owner has been erroneously assessed, the County Administrator or designee shall correct such errors on the non-ad valorem special assessment roll and shall make any necessary adjustment to the amount of the owner's non-ad valorem special assessment due or any annual installment owing as a result of the identified error, with notice to the Board.

(D) In the event the County Administrator or designee finds the Lot owner has been correctly assessed, the County Administrator or designee shall notify the owner and advise the owner of his or her right to petition for review of the alleged assessment error by the Board of County Commissioners within thirty (30) days. The Petition for Assessment Review shall state the owner's name, a description of the real property, and the facts underlying the Lot owner's petition. The burden shall be on the Lot owner to demonstrate by competent and substantial evidence to the Board that the Lot has been erroneously assessed on the non-ad valorem special assessment roll or that the annual installment has been erroneously calculated.

(E) At the next available meeting, the Board shall either 1) direct the County Administrator or designee to adjust the non-ad valorem special assessment due or the annual installment; or 2) advise the Lot owner the Board finds no error in the assessment of the owner's Lot and the Lot owner may appeal the Board's decision to the circuit court within thirty (30) days.

(F) The Board may at its discretion create an independent board to review any Petition for Assessment Review filed. In addition, the Board is authorized to establish by resolution and collect at the time a petition is filed an administrative fee for processing of the petition. The Board may also by resolution identify circumstances in which a refund of the administrative fee for processing the appeal is available.

Section 3. SEVERABILITY. If any section, paragraph, sentence or clause of this Ordinance or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held void, invalid, unlawful or unconstitutional by a court of competent jurisdiction, it is the intent of the Board that such section, invalidity, paragraph, sentence or clause shall be deemed a separate, distinct, independent and severable and shall not otherwise affect application of this Ordinance which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application.

Section 4. INCLUSION IN THE CODE. It is the intent of the Board that the provisions of this Ordinance shall become and be made part of the Escambia County Code and the word Ordinance may be changed to section, article, or other appropriate word or phrase and the sections of this Ordinance may be renumbered to accomplish such intention.

Section 5. EFFECTIVE DATE. This Ordinance shall take effect upon receipt of official acknowledgment of the Clerk of the Board of County Commissioners from the Department of State that this Ordinance has been filed with the Department of State.

BACKGROUND:

Arthur Brown Road, located in the Walnut Hill Community, extends west off State Highway 97. Staff is requesting that the County Vacate any interest the County has in a portion of unopened right-of-way located off the north side of Arthur Brown Road, just west of Kansas Road. The area to be Vacated is shown as Alabama Avenue, per recorded plat of The McMillan Mill Company's Addition to Walnut Hill recorded in Deed Book 79, Page 484. There are only two property owners abutting the area to be vacated, each having access to his/her property from Arthur Brown Road.

There are no encroachment issues involved with this Vacation request. Staff has reviewed the request and has no objection to the Vacation. All utility companies concerned have been contacted and have no objection to the Vacation. No one will be denied access to his or her property as a result of this Vacation.

Notifications were sent to the surrounding property owners within a 500' radius.

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

Indirect staff cost associated with the preparation of documents and recommendation. Funding Source: Fund 175, "Transportation Trust Fund, Account 211602/54901.

LEGAL CONSIDERATIONS/SIGN-OFF:

RESOLUTION NUMBER R_____-_____

RESOLUTION OF THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, VACATING, ABANDONING, AND CLOSING CERTAIN PUBLIC PROPERTY ACQUIRED FOR EXISTING PUBLIC STREETS, RIGHTS-OF-WAY, ALLEYWAYS, ROADS, HIGHWAYS, OTHER PLACES USED FOR TRAVEL, OR OTHER LANDS DEDICATED FOR PUBLIC USE OR PURPOSES, OR ANY PORTIONS THEREOF, TO RENOUNCE AND DISCLAIM ANY RIGHT OF THE COUNTY AND THE PUBLIC IN AND TO SAID LANDS.

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida, on the Board's Own Motion and pursuant to Section 336.10, Florida Statutes and Vacation Policy – Section III (A) of the Board of County Commissioners Policy Manual, has determined it to be in the best interest of Escambia County to adopt a resolution vacating, abandoning, and closing the following described property:

A portion of unopened right of way lying in Section 1, Township 4 North, Range 33 West, Tallahassee Meridian, located in Escambia County, State of Florida, according to the Map of The McMillan Mill Company's Addition to Walnut Hill, as recorded in Deed Book 79, Page 484, in the public records of said Escambia County, Florida, and being more particularly described as follows:

Commence at the southwest corner of said Section 1; thence S87°52'55"E (Grid Basis of Bearings – Florida North, NAD83 (2011)) coincident with the south line of said Section 1 for a distance of 400.01 feet; thence N02°34'21"E for a distance of 35.00 feet to the southeast corner of Lot 9, Block 1, said Map of The McMillan Mill Company's Addition to Walnut Hill, and the Point of Beginning of the parcel described hereon; thence continue N02°34'21"E coincident with the east line of said Lot 9 for a distance of 140.00 feet to the northeast corner of said Lot 9; thence S87°52'55"E for a distance of 50.00 feet to the northwest corner of Lot 4, Block 2, said Map of The McMillan Mill Company's Addition to Walnut Hill; thence S02°34'21"W coincident with the west line of said Lot 4 for a distance of 140.00 feet to the southwest corner of said Lot 4; thence N87°52'55"W for a distance of 50.00 feet to the Point of Beginning.

Said parcel contains 0.16 acre, more or less.

and any right of the County and the public in and to the above described road rights-of-way, alleyway or other land dedicated for public use is hereby surrendered, renounced and disclaimed; and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners, have caused to be published on May 9, 2017, notice in a newspaper of general circulation in Escambia County, Florida, of the filing of said petition and that a public hearing thereon would be held at 5:32 p.m. on Thursday, May 25, 2017 in the Board meeting room, Escambia County Governmental Complex, Pensacola, Florida; and

WHEREAS, the vacating, abandoning, and closing of existing public streets, rights-of-way, alleyways, roads, highways, other places used for travel, or other lands dedicated for public use or purposes, or any portions thereof, to renounce and disclaim any right of the County and the Public in and to said lands will not materially interfere with the County road system or the delivery of public services and will not deprive any person of any reasonable means of ingress/egress to such person's property.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA:

1. That the motion to vacate is hereby adopted and approved.

2. That the following described property acquired for public road rights-of-way, alleyway, or other public purposes is hereby vacated, abandoned, and closed;

> A portion of unopened right of way lying in Section 1, Township 4 North, Range 33 West, Tallahassee Meridian, located in Escambia County, State of Florida, according to the Map of The McMillan Mill Company's Addition to Walnut Hill, as recorded in Deed Book 79, Page 484, in the public records of said Escambia County, Florida, and being more particularly described as follows:
> Commence at the southwest corner of said Section 1; thence S87°52'55"E (Grid Basis of Bearings – Florida North, NAD83 (2011)) coincident with the south line of said Section 1 for a distance of 400.01 feet; thence N02°34'21"E for a distance of 35.00 feet to the southeast corner of Lot 9, Block 1, said Map of The McMillan Mill Company's Addition to Walnut Hill, and the Point of Beginning of the parcel described hereon; thence continue N02°34'21"E coincident with the east line of said Lot 9 for a distance of 140.00 feet to the northeast corner of said Lot 9; thence S87°52'55"E for a distance of 50.00 feet to the northwest corner of Lot 4, Block 2, said Map of The McMillan Mill Company's Addition to Walnut Hill; thence S02°34'21"W coincident with the west line of said Lot 4 for a distance of 140.00 feet to the southwest corner of said Lot 4; thence N87°52'55"W for a distance of 50.00 feet to the Point of Beginning.
> Said parcel contains 0.16 acre, more or less.

and any rights of the County and the public in and to the above described land is hereby surrendered, renounced and disclaimed.

3. That this resolution shall be spread upon the minutes of the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida, and said petitioner shall publish a notice of its adoption one time within thirty (30) days hereafter in a newspaper of general circulation in Escambia County, Florida.

Recommendation:
Committee of the Whole Recommendation.

Recommendation: That the Board take the following action as recommended by the Committee of the Whole (C/W) at the May 11, 2017, C/W Workshop:

A. Direct staff to implement the following changes to the Escambia County Corrections operations (C/W Item #6):

1. Inmate training programs similar to those offered in Walton County;

2. Minimize the transportation of inmates between Walton County and Escambia County;

3. Amend the current policy in order to allow qualified inmates to serve as Internal Trustees in the Walton County and Escambia County jails;

4. Continue the relationship with Walton County in order to house inmates if the Escambia County jail is over capacity, and approach Santa Rosa County, Okaloosa County, and the judiciary regarding a regional collaboration; and

5. Ensure Escambia County Corrections explores all opportunities to use technology in jail operations including surveillance and video visitation; and

B. Approve implementation of the "My Government Online" and "QLess" systems at the Central Office Complex (C/W Item #7).

RESOLUTION R2017-

WHEREAS, certain returned checks and other receivables totaling $606.40 are owed to the various funds of Escambia County for services furnished to the persons named on the list which is attached hereto (Attachment "A") and made a part hereof by reference and have been determined to be uncollectible bad debts.

WHEREAS, diligent efforts have been made to collect the amounts as shown on the attached list and all returned checks which meet the qualifications per State Statute §68.065 have been transferred to the State Attorney's Worthless Check Division.

NOW THEREFORE, it is resolved by the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida, that:

These accounts shall be written off as uncollectible bad debts. The above designations have been made solely to enable the Clerk of the Circuit Court and Comptroller to carry out her duties in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Escambia County does not waive any rights it may have to collect any of the above-referenced accounts receivable, including but not limited to use of a collection agency under contract to Escambia County.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED,that all past efforts to designate these delinquent accounts receivable as bad debts are hereby ratified and approved.

Budget and Scope of Work

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE:

The purpose of this Scope of Work (SOW) is to improve drainage for Lake Charlene in Pensacola, Escambia County, Florida; funded through the Hazard Mitigation Grant Program (HMGP) DR-4177-19-R, as approved by the Florida Division of Emergency Management (Division) and the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

The Recipient, Escambia County shall conduct Phase I of this project, which includes the preliminary engineering designs and calculations, surveys, permitting, and notices. No construction activities are approved at this time. The Recipient shall complete the Phase I work in accordance with all applicable federal, state and local laws, regulations and codes.

PROJECT OVERVIEW:

As a Hazard Mitigation Grant Program project, the Recipient proposes to improve the drainage for Lake Charlene area, located in Pensacola, Florida 32505. The project specifically starts at the channel intersecting Lake Joanne Drive on the west bound and expands along to the east to the intersection of South 61st Ave and continues south to the outfall located south of US 98.

Phase I proposes to provide designs and calculations for Phase II review, including verification that there will not be any upstream or downstream impact.

Phase II proposes to construct approximately 1,635 feet of double 60-inch concrete pipe from the channel intersecting Lake Joanne Drive, east to 61st Avenue, and south on 61st Avenue to the existing drainage system confluence. From the confluence, 813 feet of 66-inch pipe will be added parallel to the existing 66-inch pipe. Where the existing 66-inch pipe reduces to 60-inch pipe, an additional 60-inch pipe will be added parallel to the existing pipe for a distance of 110 feet to the final outfall located south of US 98.

The project will resolve a repetitive problem that has occurred since the 1970's affecting 238 homes and generating a loss of function for up to 48 hours at each event. All activities will be executed in compliance with any applicable codes and regulations. The completed project shall provide protection against a 50-year storm event.

TASKS & DELIVERABLES:

A. Tasks

1) The Recipient shall procure the services of a qualified and licensed Florida contractor and execute a contract with the selected bidder to complete the Phase I scope of work as approved by the Division and FEMA. The Recipient shall select the qualified, licensed Florida contractor in accordance with the Recipient's procurement policy as well as all federal and state laws and regulations.

   All procurement activities shall contain sufficient source documentation and be in accordance with all applicable regulations.

   The Recipient and contractor shall be responsible for maintaining a safe and secure worksite for the duration of the work. The contractor shall maintain all work staging areas in a neat and presentable condition.

The Recipient shall ensure that no contractors or subcontractors are debarred or suspended from participating in federally funded projects.

The selected contractor shall have a current and valid occupational license/business tax receipt issued for the type of services being performed. The Recipient shall provide documentation demonstrating the results of the procurement process. This shall include a rationale for the method of procurement and selection of contract type, contractor selection and/or rejection and bid tabulation and listing, and the basis of contract price.

The Recipient shall provide an executed "Debarment, Suspension, Ineligibility, Voluntary Exclusion Form" for each contractor and/or subcontractor performing services under this agreement.

Executed contracts with contractors and/or subcontractors shall be provided to the Division by the Recipient.

The Recipient shall provide copies of professional licenses for contractors selected to perform services. The Recipient shall provide a copy of a current and valid occupational license or business tax receipt issued for the type of services to be performed by selected contractor.

2) The Recipient shall monitor and manage the Phase I portion of this project in accordance with the Hazard Mitigation Grant Program application and supporting documentation as submitted to the Division and subsequently approved by the Division and FEMA. The Division and FEMA shall render a Phase II determination upon completion of the review of Phase I deliverables. No construction activities are approved at this time. The Recipient shall ensure that all applicable state, local and federal laws and regulations are followed and documented, as appropriate.

   Phase I consists of fees; for conducting survey, drainage study, engineering, design, public notices, and/or permitting associated with the modification(s) needed to upgrade the drainage. Verification of upstream and downstream impacts shall be necessary for determining project eligibility.

   All Phase I work shall be completed in accordance with all applicable state, local and federal laws and regulations and documented, as appropriate.

   Notify the public of the intent to locate the proposed action in the floodplain or/and wetland. The notice shall be published at least once in a local newspaper of general circulation. The public shall be given at least thirty (30) days to comment. The recipient shall meet federal requirements of notification. Compliance shall be submitted with deliverables.

   Upon completion of Task 2, the Recipient shall submit the following documents with sufficient supporting documentation, and provide a summary all scope of work changes, if any.

   a) Two sets of engineering Signed/Sealed final design and analysis, surveying, and Hydrologic and Hydraulic (H&H) Studies;

   b) Construction Plans and bid documents;

   c) Revised cost estimate for Phase II – construction (include Phase I costs), to implement the design project;

   d) Design documents shall provide a detailed description which includes specifics on project scope of work, depth and extent of ground disturbance at all construction locations of the project.

e) Color maps including topographical, aerial and existing vs. new location maps shall be provided with the project location and staging areas clearly marked on each map. Color project maps that show the full extent of the project footprint and depth of ground disturbance shall be provided.

f) Copy of all environmental permits including the Environmental Resource Permit (ERP) from the Northwest Florida Water Management District (NWFWMD) or confirmation from the NWFWMD that no permit is required.

g) Copy of all Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) permits. Any onsite/offsite improvements that impact FDOT right-of-way shall require the appropriate FDOT permit(s). Required permits may include utility, access management, drainage or other permits depending on the work planned.

h) Any other documentation requested by the Division, not limited to Project conditions and requirements herein.

3) During the course of this Agreement the Recipient shall submit requests for reimbursement. Adequate and complete source documentation shall be submitted to support all costs (federal share and local share) related to the project. In some cases, all project activities may not be fully complete prior to requesting reimbursement of costs incurred in completion of this scope of work; however, a partial reimbursement may be requested.

The Recipient shall submit an Affidavit signed by the Recipient's project personnel with each reimbursement request attesting to the completion of the work, disbursements or payments were made in accordance with all agreement and regulatory conditions, and that reimbursement is due and has not been previously requested.

The Recipient shall maintain accurate time records. The Recipient shall ensure invoices are accurate and any contracted services were rendered within the terms and timelines of this agreement. All supporting documentation shall agree with the requested billing period. All costs submitted for reimbursement shall contain adequate source documentation which may include but not be limited to: cancelled checks, bank statements, Electronic Funds Transfer, paid bills and invoices, payrolls, time and attendance records, contract and subcontract award documents.

Direct Expenses: The Recipient shall pre-audit bills, invoices, and/or charges submitted by the contractors and subcontractors and pay the contractors and subcontractors for approved bills, invoices, and/or charges. Recipient shall ensure that all contractor/subcontractor bills, invoices, and/or charges are legitimate and clearly identify the activities being performed and associated costs.

Project Management Expenses: The Recipient shall pre-audit source documentation such as payroll records, project time sheets, attendance logs, etc. Documentation shall be detailed information describing tasks performed, hours devoted to each task, and the hourly rate charged for each hour including enough information to calculate the hourly rates based on payroll records. Employee benefits shall be clearly shown.

The Division shall review all submitted requests for reimbursement for basic accuracy of information. Further, the Division shall ensure that no unauthorized work was completed prior to the approved project start date by verifying vendor and contractor invoices. The Division shall verify that reported costs were incurred in the performance of eligible work, that the approved work was completed, and that the mitigation measures are in compliance with the approved scope of work prior to processing any requests for reimbursement.

Review and approval of any third party in-kind services, if applicable, shall be conducted by the Division in coordination with the Recipient.

Quarterly reports shall be submitted by the Recipient and received by the Division at the times provided in this agreement prior to the processing of any reimbursement.

The Recipient shall submit to the Division requests for reimbursement of actual Phase I costs related to the project as identified in the project application and this scope of work. The requests for reimbursement shall include:

a) Contractor, subcontractor, and/or vendor invoices which clearly display dates of services performed, description of services performed, location of services performed, cost of services performed, name of service provider and any other pertinent information;

b) Proof of payment from the Recipient to the contractor, subcontractor, and/or vendor for invoiced services;

c) Clear identification of amount of costs being requested for reimbursement as well as costs being applied against the local match amount;

The Recipient's request for reimbursement shall include the final Phase I project cost. Supporting documentation shall show that all contractors and subcontractors have been paid.

B. Deliverables

Mitigation Activities consist of project design, which shall implement measures to determine modifications needed to improve the drainage and alleviate flooding for Lake Charlene area, located in Pensacola, FL 32505. The Recipient shall provide designs and calculations for Phase II review, including verification that there will not be any upstream or downstream impact.

The completed project shall provide protection against a 50 -year storm event.

Provided the Recipient performs in accordance with the Scope of Work outlined in this Agreement, the Division shall reimburse the Recipient based on the percentage of overall project completion.

PROJECT CONDITIONS AND REQUIREMENTS:

C. Engineering:

1. The Recipient shall submit Engineering plans that clearly shows the engineer's estimate of the pre and post-mitigation effects of the proposed project and the relationship of the damages to be mitigated (commensurate with the level of funding requested). This includes, but is not limited to, the existing and proposed hydrology and hydraulics for the level of event being mitigated.
2. Design documents shall provide a detailed description which includes specifics on project scope of work, depth and extent of ground disturbance at all construction locations of the project.
3. Demonstrate mitigation effectiveness, in part, by showing the physical location(s) and elevation(s) of the infrastructure/structures that is being damaged and FEMA Special Flood Hazard Areas on the same plan.
4. Submit a refined cost estimate, to include Phase I Fees and Phase II Construction materials and Labor.

D. Environmental:

1. The Recipient shall follow all applicable State, Local and Federal Laws Regulations and requirements, and obtain (before starting project work) and comply with all required permits and approvals. Failure to obtain all appropriate Federal, State, and Local environmental permits and clearances may jeopardize federal funding. If project work is delayed for a year or more after the date of the categorical exclusion (CATEX), then coordination with and project review by regulatory agencies shall be redone.
2. Any change, addition or supplement to the approved Scope of Work that alters the project (including other work not funded by FEMA, but done substantially at the same time), regardless of the budget implications, will require re-submission of the application to FEMA through the Division for National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) re-evaluation before starting project work. Phase II will require additional EHP compliance review.
3. Designs and calculations for Phase II review are required. Documentation must be provided verifying that there will be no upstream or downstream impact.
4. Copy of all environmental permits. Any conditions for compliance shall be included in the final design plans, narrative and project implementation actions.
5. A Public Notice shall be published to notify interested parties of the proposed activity. Notices shall be published in a manner that anyone that may be affected or interested in this project has access to the posting. The comment period shall extend no less than 30 days, and all comments must be addressed prior to initiating any construction activities.
6. Meet all required Environmental laws and policies, and all necessary Environmental and Historical Preservation compliance documents shall be obtained, as applicable.
7. An Environmental Resource Permit (ERP) or notification of No Permit Required from the Northwest Florida Water Management District (NWFWMD) must be obtained.
8. Any onsite/offsite improvements associated with storm water system improvement that impact Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) right-of-way shall require the appropriate FDOT permit(s). Required permits may include utility, access management, drainage or other permits depending on the work planned.
9. An U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) permit or confirmation that no permit is required (NPR) from the USACE Regulatory Division must be obtained.
10. Tribal Consultation is required for proposed ground disturbing activities. Following documents are required and must be submitted as part of deliverables:
    a) Horizontal limits and vertical depths of ground disturbance in feet and square feet (mapped) with locations of staging areas indicated;
    b) Geographic latitude/longitude of the proposed construction areas;
    c) Previous and current use of proposed project area;
    d) Any known site work or historic uses for the proposed location;
    e) Any available studies that may have taken place on the property.
11. Phase I of this project is approved with the condition that the above list of deliverables shall be submitted for review and approval by the Division and FEMA before Phase II is considered.
12. No construction work may begin until Phase II is approved by the Division and FEMA.

E. Programmatic:

1) A change in the scope of work must be approved by the Division and FEMA in advance regardless of the budget implications.
2) The Recipient must notify the Division as soon as significant developments becomes known, such as delays or adverse conditions that might raise costs or delay completion, or favorable conditions allowing lower costs or earlier completion.
3) The Recipient must "obtain prior written approval for any budget revision which would result in a need for additional funds" [44 CFR 13(c)], from the Division and FEMA.
4) Phase I – Design of this project is approved with the condition that the enclosed list of deliverables shall be submitted, 30-days prior to the Period of Performance date, for review and approval by the Division; for submittal to FEMA before Phase II – Construction is considered.
5) Any extension of the Period of Performance shall be submitted to FEMA, 60 days prior to the expiration date. Therefore, any request for a Period of Performance extension shall be in writing and submitted along with substantiation of new expiration date, and a new schedule of work, to the Division a minimum of seventy (70) days prior to the expiration date, for Division processing to FEMA.
6) The Recipient must avoid duplication of benefits between the HMGP and any other form of assistance, as required by Section 312 of the Stafford Act, and further clarification in 44 CFR 206.191.

This is FEMA Project Number 4177-19-R, is funded under HMGP-4177-DR-FL-Severe Storms, Tornados, Floods.

The project was awarded by FEMA on March 28 2016; with a Pre-Award date November 01, 2014; and the Period of Performance for this project shall end on September 30, 2017.

FINANCIAL CONSEQUENCES:

If the Recipient fails to comply with any term of the award, the Division shall take one or more of the following actions, as appropriate in the circumstances:

1) Temporarily withhold cash payments pending correction of the deficiency by the Recipient;
2) Disallow all or part of the cost of the activity or action not in compliance;
3) Wholly or partly suspend or terminate the current award for the Recipient's program;
4) Withhold further awards for the program; or
5) Take other remedies that may be legally available.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Honorable Governing Board
Northwest Florida Water Management District

Report on the Financial Statements
We have audited the accompanying financial statements of the governmental activities and each major fund of Northwest Florida Water Management District (the District), a component unit of the State of Florida, as of and for the year ended September 30, 2016, and the related notes to the financial statements, which collectively comprise the District's basic financial statements as listed in the table of contents.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements
Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express opinions on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditors' judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the District's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the District's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinions.

Opinions
In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the respective financial position of the governmental activities and each major fund of the District, as of September 30, 2016, and the respective changes in financial position thereof, for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Other Matters

Required Supplementary Information
Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require that the Management's Discussion and Analysis and required supplementary information as listed in the table of contents, be presented to supplement the basic financial statements. Such information, although not a part of the basic financial statements, is required by the Governmental Accounting Standards Board, who considers it to be an essential part of financial reporting for placing the basic financial statements in an appropriate operational, economic, or historical context. We have applied certain limited procedures to the required supplementary information in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, which consisted of inquiries of management about the methods of preparing the information and comparing the information for consistency with management's responses to our inquiries, the basic financial statements, and other knowledge we obtained during our audit of the basic financial statements. We do not express an opinion or provide any assurance on the information because the limited procedures do not provide us with sufficient evidence to express an opinion or provide any assurance.

Other Information
Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming opinions on the financial statements that collectively comprise the District's basic financial statements. The accompanying Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards and State Financial Assistance is presented for purposes of additional analysis as required by Title 2 U.S. Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) Part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards (the Uniform Guidance) and Chapter 10.550, Rules of the Auditor General of the State of Florida, and is also not a required part of the basic financial statements. The Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards and State Financial Assistance is the responsibility of management and was derived from and relates directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the financial statements. This information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and certain additional procedures, including comparing and reconciling such information directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the financial statements or to the basic financial statements themselves, and other additional procedures in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. In our opinion, the Schedule of Expenditures of Federal Awards and State Financial Assistance is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the financial statements as a whole.

Other Reporting Required by Government Auditing Standards
In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated April 27, 2017, on our consideration of the District's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements and other matters. The purpose of that report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards in considering the District's internal control over financial reporting and compliance.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

As management of the Northwest Florida Water Management District, we offer readers of the Northwest Florida Water Management District's financial statements this narrative overview and analysis of the financial activities of the Northwest Florida Water Management District for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2016.

Financial Highlights

At the end of the most recent fiscal year, the Northwest Florida Water Management District's:

- Assets exceeded its liabilities by $203,341,939 (net position). Of this amount, $21,490,009 (unrestricted net position) may be used to meet the government's ongoing obligations to citizens and creditors.

- Governmental funds reported combined ending fund balances of $29,749,934, a decrease of $4,594,100 from the previous year.

- Unassigned fund balance for the general fund was $0 and assigned fund balance was $8,394,000 for all funds.

Overview of the Financial Statements

This discussion and analysis is intended to serve as an introduction to the Northwest Florida Water Management District's basic financial statements. The Northwest Florida Water Management District's basic financial statements are comprised of three components: 1) government-wide financial statements, 2) fund financial statements, and 3) notes to the financial statements. This report also contains other supplementary information in addition to the basic financial statements.

Government-wide financial statements—The government-wide financial statements are designed to provide readers with a broad overview of the Northwest Florida Water Management District's finances, in a manner similar to a private-sector business.

The statement of net position presents information on all of the Northwest Florida Water Management District's assets and liabilities, with the difference between the two reported as net position. Over time, increases or decreases in net position may serve as a useful indicator of whether the financial position of the Northwest Florida Water Management District is improving or declining.

The statement of activities presents information showing how the government's net position changed during the most recent fiscal year. All changes in net position are reported as soon as the underlying event giving rise to the change occurs, regardless of the timing of related cash flows. Thus, revenues and expenses are reported in this statement for some items that will only result in cash flows in future fiscal periods (e.g., earned but unused vacation leave).

The government-wide financial statements distinguish functions of the Northwest Florida Water Management District that are principally supported by taxes and intergovernmental revenues (governmental activities). The governmental activities of the Northwest Florida Water Management District include: water resources planning and monitoring; acquisition, restoration and public works; operation and maintenance of lands and works; regulation; outreach; and administration.

Government-wide financial statements—(Concluded)
The government-wide financial statements include only the Northwest Florida Water Management District, a component unit of the State of Florida.

The government-wide financial statements can be found on pages 9 - 10 of this report.

Fund financial statements—A fund is a grouping of related accounts that is used to maintain control over resources that have been segregated for specific activities or objectives. The Northwest Florida Water Management District, like other state and local governments, uses fund accounting to ensure and demonstrate compliance with finance-related legal requirements. All of the funds of the Northwest Florida Water Management District are in one category: governmental funds.

Governmental funds—Governmental funds are used to account for essentially the same functions reported as governmental activities in the government-wide financial statements. However, unlike the government-wide financial statements, governmental fund financial statements focus on near-term inflows and outflows of spendable resources, as well as on balances of spendable resources available at the end of the fiscal year. Such information may be useful in evaluating a government's near-term financing requirements.

Because the focus of governmental funds is narrower than that of the government-wide financial statements, it is useful to compare the information presented for governmental funds with similar information presented for governmental activities in the government-wide financial statements. By doing so, readers may better understand the long-term impact of the government's near-term financing decisions. Both the governmental fund balance sheet and the governmental fund statement of revenues, expenditures, and changes in fund balances provide a reconciliation to facilitate this comparison between governmental funds and governmental activities.

The Northwest Florida Water Management District maintains six individual governmental funds. Information is presented separately in the governmental fund balance sheet and in the governmental fund statement of revenues, expenditures and changes in fund balances for the General Fund, Projects Fund, Capital Projects Fund, Land Management Fund, Regulation Fund, and Mitigation Fund, all of which are considered to be major funds.

The governmental fund financial statements can be found on pages 11 and 13 of this report.

Notes to the financial statements—The notes provide additional information that is essential to a full understanding of the data provided in the government-wide and fund financial statements. The notes to the financial statements can be found on pages 15 - 39 of this report.

Other information—In addition to the basic financial statements and accompanying notes, this report also presents required supplementary information concerning Northwest Florida Water Management District's budgetary comparison for its major funds as well as the other post-employment benefits retirement healthcare plan schedule of funding progress and schedule of employer contributions. The Northwest Florida Water Management District adopts an annual appropriated budget for all funds. A budgetary comparison schedule has been provided for the general fund and each major fund to demonstrate compliance with this budget and can be found on pages 40 - 44.

Government-wide Financial Analysis

As noted earlier, net position may serve over time as a useful indicator of a government's financial position. In the case of the Northwest Florida Water Management District, assets exceeded liabilities by $203,341,939 at the close of the most recent fiscal year.

Total Net Position	$ 203,341,939	$ 208,165,924

By far the largest portion of the Northwest Florida Water Management District's net position (88 percent) reflects its investment in capital assets (e.g., land, buildings, machinery, and equipment), less any related debt used to acquire those assets that is still outstanding. The Northwest Florida Water Management District uses these capital assets to protect environmentally sensitive lands and to provide services to citizens; consequently, these assets are not available for future spending.

An additional portion of the Northwest Florida Water Management District's net position (1.6 percent) represents resources that are subject to external restrictions on how they may be used. The remaining balance of unrestricted net position ($21,490,010) may be used to meet the government's ongoing obligations to citizens and creditors.

At the end of the current fiscal year, the Northwest Florida Water Management District is able to report positive balances in all three categories of net position.

Governmental activities—Governmental activities at the end of the most recent fiscal year decreased Northwest Florida Water Management District's net position by $4,823,985. The decrease is largely attributed to an increased use of fund balance for water supply development assistance grants.

Financial Analysis of the Government's Funds

As noted earlier, the Northwest Florida Water Management District uses fund accounting to ensure and demonstrate compliance with finance-related legal requirements.

Financial Analysis of the Government's Funds (Concluded)

Governmental funds—The focus of the Northwest Florida Water Management District's governmental funds is to provide information on near-term inflows, outflows, and balances of spendable resources.

Such information is useful in assessing the Northwest Florida Water Management District's financing requirements. In particular, unreserved fund balance may serve as a useful measure of a government's net resources available for spending at the end of the fiscal year.

As of the end of the most recent fiscal year, the Northwest Florida Water Management District's governmental funds reported combined ending fund balances of $29,749,934 a decrease of $4,594,100 in comparison with the prior year. Currently, there is $0 unassigned fund balance. The District's fund balance is either in nonspendable, restricted, committed, or assigned form to indicate that it is not available for new spending because it has already been committed to activities associated with the general fund, various special revenue funds, and the capital project fund.

The general fund is the chief operating fund of the Northwest Florida Water Management District. At the end of the most recent fiscal year, unassigned fund balance was $0 and total fund balance of the general fund was $19,018,571.

Additionally, the fund balance of the Northwest Florida Water Management District's general fund decreased by $5,128,175. The key factor for this decrease was water supply development assistance grants of $5,525,036 issued to address important local and regional needs throughout the District.

General Fund Budgetary Highlights

There were no significant differences between the original and final adopted budgets of the District during the year.

Capital Asset and Debt Administration

Capital assets—The Northwest Florida Water Management District's investment in capital assets for its governmental activities as of September 30, 2016, amounts to $178,557,502 (net of accumulated depreciation). This investment in capital assets includes land, easements, building, infrastructure, vehicles, office equipment, field equipment, and computer equipment. There were no significant changes in the Northwest Florida Water Management District's investment in capital assets for the current fiscal year.

The Northwest Florida Water Management District donated an unused building to the Jackson County Board of County Commission. The building was constructed in 1982 for $98,089 on land that was leased from the Jackson County Board of County Commission. Upon cancellation of the lease, the building was donated to the county.

Additional information of the Northwest Florida Water Management District's capital assets can be found in Note 4 on page 24 of this report.

Economic Factors and Next Year's Budgets and Rates

1. The District's primary revenue sources are state grants derived from documentary stamp taxes and general revenue as well as ad valorem (property) taxes.

Economic Factors and Next Year's Budgets and Rates (Concluded)

2. Since FY 2011-2012, the millage rate has been 0.04 mills. In FY 2014-2015 and each year thereafter, the Governing Board has adopted the rolled-back millage rate (the rate that would generate the same amount of property taxes as the prior year). In FY 2016-2017, the adopted millage rate was 0.0366 which is 26.8 percent below the constitutional and statutory cap of 0.05 mills.

3. The FY 2016-2017 Adopted Budget is $62.2 million, an increase of $6.5 million or 11.6 percent above the FY 2015-2016 Amended Budget. The increase is primarily attributable to additional legislative funds for springs protection and restoration projects. Total funding consists of $33.0 million in new revenue, $18.7 million in revenue received and/or appropriated in prior years, and $10.5 million in fund balance. Just over half of the budget, $31.9 million, is for springs projects, water supply development assistance, and watershed restoration. Over a fourth (27.4 percent) of the $62.2 million represents recurring needs.

4. The District has accumulated resources over the past fiscal years and is spending down those resources for operations and for water resource and supply development projects.

Requests for Information

This financial report is designed to provide a general overview of the Northwest Florida Water Management District's finances for all those with an interest in the government's finances. Note 1 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

The Northwest Florida Water Management District (the District) was established by the Florida Water Resources Act of 1972, Chapter 72-299, Laws of Florida, and operates under Chapter 373, Florida Statutes. It was the State of Florida Legislature's stated intent in establishing the District and other Districts to: provide for the management of water and related land resources; promote the conservation, development, and proper utilization of surface and ground water; develop and regulate dams, impoundments, reservoirs, and other works, and to provide water storage for beneficial purposes; prevent damage from floods, soil erosion, and excessive drainage; preserve natural resources, fish and wildlife; promote recreational development, protect public lands, and assist in maintaining the navigability of rivers and harbors; and otherwise promote the health, safety, and the general welfare of the people of the State of Florida.

The District encompasses all or part of sixteen counties in the northwestern part of Florida. There are nine members of the District Governing Board. Each member resides within the District and is appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. The Board members are appointed for a four-year term.

The District's financial statements are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. The Government Accounting Standards Board (GASB) is responsible for establishing accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America for state and local governments through its pronouncements (Statements and Interpretations). The more significant accounting policies established in accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America and used by the District are discussed below:

A. Financial Reporting Entity

As required by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, these financial statements present the District as a component unit of the State of Florida. Based on the criteria listed below the State of Florida is considered the primary government.

A primary government is financially accountable for an organization if: (1) it appoints a voting majority of the organization's governing board; (2) it is able to impose its will on the organization; or (3) there is a potential for the organization to provide specific financial benefits to or impose specific financial burdens on the primary government. Based upon these criteria, the District is considered to be a component unit of the State of Florida and is disclosed in the State of Florida's financial statements.

The accompanying financial statements present the primary government only since there are no component units for which the government is considered to be financially accountable.

B. Financial Reporting Structure

The basic financial statements include both government-wide (based on the District as a whole) and fund financial statements.

B. Financial Reporting Structure (Continued)

Government-wide Financial Statements
The government-wide financial statements (i.e., the statement of net position and the statement of activities) report information on all of the nonfiduciary activities of the District. For the most part, the effect of interfund activity has been removed from these statements. The focus of the government-wide statements is on the sustainability of the District as an entity and the change in aggregate financial position resulting from the activities of the fiscal period. Governmental activities, which normally are supported by taxes and intergovernmental revenues are reported.

The governmental-wide statement of activities demonstrates the degree to which the direct expenses of a given function or segment are offset by program revenues. Direct expenses are those that are clearly identifiable with a specific function or segment. Administrative overhead, including centralized expenses, are directly allocated to specific functions and are included in direct expenses. Program revenues include: 1) charges to customers or applicants who purchase, use, or directly benefit from goods, services, or privileges provided by a given function or segment; and 2) grants and contributions that are restricted to meeting the operational or capital requirements of a function or segment. Taxes and other items not properly included among program revenues are reported instead as general revenues. Program revenues are netted within program expenses in the statement of activities to present the net cost of each program.

Fund Financial Statements
The emphasis of fund financial statements is on the District's major funds, each presented in a separate column. All remaining governmental funds are aggregated and reported as nonmajor funds.

The Districts transactions are recorded in the following fund types:

- General Fund—is the principal operating fund used to account for most of the District's general activities.

- Special Revenue Fund—accounts for proceeds of specific revenue sources that are restricted or committed to expenditure for specified purposes other than debt service and capital projects.

- Capital Projects Fund—accounts for and reports financial resources that are restricted, committed, or assigned to expenditure for capital outlays, including the acquisition or construction of capital facilities and other capital assets.

The District reports the following major governmental funds:

- General Fund—is the District's primary operating fund. It accounts for all financial resources of the District except those required to be accounted for in another fund.

B. Financial Reporting Structure (Concluded)

Fund Financial Statements (Concluded)
The District reports the following major governmental funds: (Concluded)

- Projects Fund—accounts for all resources management projects and activities funded through dedicated revenue sources from grants and contracts with state, federal, local government entities, or water utility authorities.

- Lands Management Fund—accounts for activities associated with the management, improvement, and maintenance of District owned lands. Sales of Timber and use of fund balance provide the primary funding source for District land management activities.

- Regulation Fund—accounts for all regulatory activities including consumptive use permitting and monitoring; well construction permitting and plugging, construction and repair of dams; and environmental resource permitting program (ERP). State appropriations from the Water Management Lands Trust Fund provide funding for the ERP program; other activities are funded through a small amount of fees and fines and ad-valorem taxes.

- Mitigation Fund—accounts for all resource management mitigation projects and activities funded through dedicated Florida Department of Transportation funding sources. Expenditures include land acquisitions, restorations, monitoring, and other water resource related activities.

- Capital Projects Fund—accounts for the acquisition of fixed assets or construction of major capital projects.

C. Measurement Focus, Basis of Accounting, and Financial Statement Presentation

The government-wide financial statements are reported using the economic resources measurement focus and the accrual basis of accounting. Revenues are recorded when earned and expenses are recorded when a liability is incurred, regardless of the timing of related cash flows. Nonexchange transactions in which the District gives (or receives) value without directly receiving (or giving) equal value in exchange include property taxes, entitlements, and donations. Property taxes are recognized as revenues in the year for which they are received. Grants and similar items are recognized as revenues as soon as all eligibility requirements imposed by the provider have been met.

Governmental fund financial statements are reported using the current financial resources measurement focus and the modified accrual basis of accounting. Revenues are recognized as soon as they are both measurable and available. Revenues are considered to be available when they are collectible within the current period or soon enough thereafter to pay liabilities of the current period. For this purpose, the government considers revenues to be available if they are collected within 60 days of the end of the current fiscal period. Expenditures generally are recorded when a liability is incurred, as under accrual accounting. However, debt service expenditures, as well as expenditures related to compensated absences and claims and judgments, are recorded only when payment is due.

C. Measurement Focus, Basis of Accounting, and Financial Statement Presentation (Concluded)

Property taxes, intergovernmental revenues, licenses, and interest associated with the current fiscal period are all considered to be susceptible to accrual and have been recognized as revenues of the current fiscal period. All other revenue items are considered to be measurable and available only when cash is received by the government.

As a general rule, the effect of interfund activity has been eliminated from the government-wide financial statements.

When both restricted and unrestricted resources are available for use, it is the District's policy to use restricted resources first, then unrestricted resources as they are needed.

D. Assets, Liabilities, and Fund Balances

Deposits and Investments
The District's cash and cash equivalents are considered to be cash on hand, demand deposits, and short-term investments with original maturities of three months or less from the date of acquisition.

State statutes authorize the District to invest in direct obligations of the U.S. Treasury, Local Government Surplus Funds Trust Funds, or any intergovernmental investment pool authorized pursuant to the Florida Interlocal Cooperation Act of 1968, SEC registered money market funds with the highest credit quality rating and savings and interest-bearing time deposits or savings accounts in qualified public depositories.

Investments for the District are reported at fair value. The Local Government Surplus Fund Investment Pool (Florida PRIME) operates in accordance with appropriate state laws and regulations. As a Florida PRIME participant, the entity invests in pools of investments whereby the District owns a share of the respective pool, not the underlying securities.

Receivables and Payables
Activity between funds that are representative of lending/borrowing arrangements outstanding at the end of the fiscal year are referred to as either "due to/from other funds" (i.e., the current portion of interfund loans) or "advances to/from other funds" (i.e., the noncurrent portion of interfund loans). All other outstanding balances between funds are reported as "due to/from other funds."

Property Taxes
The District is authorized by Section 373.503, Florida Statutes, to levy ad valorem taxes on all real and personal property located within the District not to exceed .05 mills. The rate for the 2015-2016 fiscal year was 0.0378 mills. The property assessment and tax collection functions are performed by appropriate officials of county government in each of the sixteen counties comprising the District. Commissions are paid to the counties for these appraisal and collection services.

D. Assets, Liabilities, and Fund Balances (Continued)

Property Taxes (Concluded)
Taxes are billed and collected for the District by the County Tax Collector according to Florida Statute under the following calendar:

Lien Date	January 1
Levy Date	October 1
Due Date	November 1
Delinquency Date	April 1

Capital Assets
Capital assets, which include property, plant and equipment, are reported in the applicable governmental activities columns in the government-wide financial statements. Capital assets are defined by the District as equipment assets with an initial, individual cost of more than $1,000 (amount not rounded) and an estimated useful life of one year or more, and other assets with an initial, individual cost of more than $50,000 (amount not rounded) and an estimated useful life of one year or more. Such assets are recorded at historical cost or estimated historical cost, plus any ancillary charges (freight and transportation charges, site preparation costs, installation costs, and professional fees) necessary to place the asset into its intended location and condition for use. Donated capital assets are recorded at estimated fair market value at the date of donation.

Additions, improvements, and other capital outlay that significantly extend the useful life of an asset are capitalized. The costs of normal maintenance and repairs that do not add to the value of the asset or materially extend the asset's life are not capitalized.

Major outlays for capital assets and improvements are capitalized as projects are constructed.

Property, plant and equipment of the District are depreciated using the straight-line method over the following estimated useful lives:

Assets	Years
Infrastructure	50
Buildings	40
Leasehold Improvements	10
Field Equipment	7
Office Equipment	7
Vehicles and Water Craft	7
Lawn Maintenance Equipment	5
Computer Equipment, Technical Equipment, and Software	3

D. Assets, Liabilities, and Fund Balances (Continued)

Long-term Obligation
In the government-wide financial statements, long-term debt and other long-term obligations are reported as liabilities in the applicable governmental activities statement of net position.

Compensated Absences
It is the District's policy to permit employees to accumulate earned but unused vacation and sick pay benefits. All vacation pay is accrued when incurred in the government-wide financial statements. A liability for these amounts is reported in governmental funds only if they have matured, for example, as a result of employee resignations and retirements.

Deferred Inflows and Outflows of Resources
Deferred outflows of resources represent the consumption of net position that is applicable to a future reporting period and will not be recognized as an outflow of resources (expense) until that future time. Deferred inflows of resources represent the acquisition of net position that is applicable to a future reporting period and will not be recognized as an inflow of resources (revenue) until that future time. Deferred outflows have a positive effect on net position, similar to assets, while deferred inflows have a negative effect on net position, similar to liabilities.

Pension Related Deferred Inflows and Outflows represent the difference between expected and actual experience with regard to economic or demographic factors and changes to assumptions in the measurement of total pension liability, and the differences between expected and actual earnings on pension plan investments, and changes in the District's proportionate share of pension contributions. These amounts are reported as deferred inflows or outflows of resources, to be recognized in expense over time. Also included in deferred outflows are amounts contributed to the pension plans subsequent to the measurement date. See Note 10 for more information on Pension Related Deferred Inflows and Outflows.

Fund Balances
The District has implemented GASB Statement No. 54, Fund Balance Reporting and Governmental Fund Type Definitions. This statement provides more clearly defined fund balance categories to make the nature and extent of the constraints placed on a government's fund balance more transparent. The following classifications describe the relative strength of the spending constraints:

- Nonspendable Fund Balance—includes amounts that cannot be spent because they are either: (a) not in spendable form; or (b) are legally or contractually required to be maintained intact. The District had $0 in nonspendable resources as of September 30, 2016.

- Restricted Fund Balance—includes amounts for which constraints have been placed on the use of the resources either: (a) externally imposed by creditors (such as through a debt covenant), grantors, contributors, or laws or regulations of other governments; or (b) imposed by law through constitutional provisions or enabling legislation. The District had $3,294,427 in restricted resources as of September 30, 2016.

Fund Balances (Concluded)

- Committed Fund Balance—Includes amounts that can be used only for specific purposes pursuant to constraints imposed by formal action of the District's Governing Board. These amounts cannot be used for any other purpose unless the District's Governing Board removes or changes the specified use by taking the same type of action (Resolution) that was employed when the funds were initially committed. This classification also includes contractual obligations to the extent that existing resources have been specifically committed for use in satisfying those contractual requirements. The District had $18,061,506 in committed resources as of September 30, 2016.

  The District established an Economic Stabilization Reserve equal to two months of the tentative operating expenditure budget. Use of the Economic Stabilization Fund is limited to the following circumstances:

  - When a state of emergency is declared by the Governor of Florida or the President of the United States that impacts the region served by the District.

  - When the Governing Board determines through the adoption of a resolution that: (a) an emergency or other extreme circumstance has arisen that creates an unanticipated need for additional revenues that are not available through other funding sources; (b) the underlying condition directly impacts the citizens and/or environment within District boundaries; and (c) remedial action cannot wait until the next fiscal year. In the event of an emergency, the Executive Director or his/her designee may take necessary action as a time sensitive matter.

- Assigned Fund Balance—Assigned fund balance consists of amounts that are constrained by a less than formal action of the District's Governing Board, or by an individual body to whom the Governing Board has delegated this responsibility. The District has delegated this responsibility to the Executive Director. Assignment of fund balance may be made for a specific purpose that is narrower than the general purposes of the fund and to reflect the appropriation of a portion of existing unassigned fund balance to eliminate a projected deficit in the subsequent year's budget including any amendments thereto. The District had $8,394,000 in assigned resources as of September 30, 2016.

- Unassigned Fund Balance—Includes the residual fund balance to provide for potential general fund deficiencies. The District had no unassigned resources as of September 30, 2016.

Flow Assumption

The District uses restricted amounts to be spent first when both restricted and unrestricted fund balance is available unless there are legal documents/contracts that prohibit doing this. Additionally, the District would first use committed, then assigned, and lastly unassigned amounts of unrestricted fund balance when expenditures are made, with the exception of the Economic Stabilization Reserve established by the District's Governing Board.

Use of Estimates
The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenditures during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Adoption of New Accounting Standards
In December 2015, GASB issued Statement No. 79, Certain External Investment Pools and Pool Participants in response to the Securities and Exchange Commission's amendments in 2014 to regulations that apply to money market funds. GASB 79 addresses accounting and financial reporting for certain external investment pools and pool participants. Specifically, it establishes criteria for an external investment pool to qualify for making the election to measure all of its investments at amortized cost for financial reporting purposes. If the external investment pool meets the criteria in GASB 79 and measures all of its investments at amortized cost, the pool's participants also should measure their investments in that external investment pool at amortized cost for financial reporting purposes.

During fiscal year 2015-16, the District also implemented GASB Statement No. 72, Fair Value Measurement and Application. This Statement requires disclosures to be made about fair value measurements, the level of fair value hierarchy, and valuation techniques. This statement clarifies the definition of fair value as an exit price. This Statement also defines an investment as a security or other asset that (a) a government holds primarily to generate income or profit and (b) has a present service capacity based solely on that asset's ability to generate cash or to generate cash when sold. Governmental entities are required to record investments at fair value, unless an exception applies, and disclose the fair value measurement and hierarchy. The district currently has no investments that are required to be valued at fair value.

Future GASB Pronouncement Implementations
GASB Statement No. 75, Accounting and Financial Reporting for Postemployment Benefits Other Than Pensions, replaces the requirements of Statements No. 45, Accounting and Financial Reporting by Employers for Postemployment Benefits Other Than Pensions, as amended, and No. 57, OPEB Measurements by Agent Employers and Agent Multi-Employer Plans, for OPEB. This Statement establishes new accounting and financial reporting requirements for governments whose employees are provided with OPEB, including the recognition and measurement of liabilities, deferred outflows or resources, deferred inflows of resources and expenses. For each qualifying plan providing postemployment benefits other than pensions, employers are required to report the difference between the actuarial OPEB liability and the related plan's fiduciary net position as the net OPEB liability on the statement of net position. Previously, a liability was recognized only to the extent that contributions made to each plan were exceeded by the actuarially calculated contributions for those plans. Additionally, Statement No. 75 sets forth note disclosure and required supplementary disclosure requirements for defined contribution OPEB. The District is currently evaluating the impact that adoption of this statement will have on its financial statements. This statement is effective in the District's fiscal year ending September 30, 2018.

GASB Statement No. 77, Tax Abatement Disclosures, provides disclosure requirements for governments that enter into tax abatement agreements. This Statement indicates how disclosures for tax abatements should be organized and what descriptive information, including commitments made by the entity should be presented. The District is currently evaluating the impact that adoption of this Statement will have on its financial statements. This statement is effective in the District's fiscal year ending September 30, 2017.

Note 2 - Deposits and Investments

Deposits—At year-end, the District had carrying amounts of deposits of $88,294 and bank balances of $340,722. The District also had cash on hand of $250. Of the bank balances, $340,722 was covered by Federal depository insurance or by collateral held by the District's custodial bank which is pledged to a state trust fund that provides security in accordance with Florida Security for Deposits Act, Chapter 280, for amounts held in excess of FDIC coverage.

The Florida Security for Public Deposits Act established guidelines for qualification and participation by banks and savings associations, procedures for the administration of the collateral requirements and characteristics of eligible collateral.

Investments—The foremost objective of the District's investment policy is the safety of capital and liquidity of funds. Achieving an optimal rate of return is of secondary importance as compared to the safety and liquidity of funds. The District's investment policy limits investments to those relatively low risk securities authorized in anticipation of earning a fair return relative to the risk being assumed. How the District manages credit risk, interest rate risk, and custodial credit risk is as follows:

Investments of $45,815,221 represent amounts held with the Florida State Board of Administration, Local Government Surplus Funds Trust (PRIME Fund). The fund invests in money market and U.S. treasury notes, collateralized mortgage obligations, asset backed securities, agency notes, agency ARM pass-through, corporate bonds, government related securities, and certificates of deposit. This fund is carried at amortized cost. Amortized cost includes accrued income and is a method of calculating an investment's value by adjusting its acquisition cost for amortization of discount or premium over the period from purchase to maturity. Thus, the balance in the fund is its fair value.

The SBA's interpretation of GASB 79 is that the Florida PRIME investment pool currently meets all necessary criteria to measure its investments at amortized cost. Therefore, as a participant in the SBA's Florida PRIME investment pool, the District's investments in Florida PRIME were also measured at amortized cost for fiscal year 2015-16. There were no limitations or restrictions on participant withdrawals including items such as redemption notices, maximum transaction amounts, and the pool's authority to impose liquidity fees or redemption gates.

Note 2 - Deposits and Investments (Concluded)

Investments (Concluded)

- Credit Risk—The District minimizes credit risk, the risk of loss due to failure of the security, by limiting investments to authorized investments. The Local Government Surplus Funds Trust (PRIME Fund) is rated by Standards & Poors. The current rating is AAAm. The Investment Manager of Florida PRIME managements credit risk by purchasing only high quality securities, performing a credit analysis to develop a database of issuers and securities that meet the Investment manager's minimum standard and by regularly reviewing the portfolio's securities financial data, issuer news and developments, and ratings of the nationally recognized statistical rating organizations.

- Interest Rate Risk—The District manages its exposure to declines in fair values of investments by investing operating funds primarily in shorter-term securities and the Florida State Board of Administration's Florida PRIME. The weighted average days to maturity of the Local Government Surplus Funds Trust at September 30, 2016, was 50 days. Next interest rate reset dates for floating rate securities are used in the calculation of the weighted average days to maturity.

- Custodial Credit Risk—Investments are subject to custodial credit risk if the securities are uninsured, not registered in the District's name, and are held by the party that either sells to or buys for the District. No investments held at year-end were subject to custodial credit risk. The Florida State Board of Administration Florida PRIME does participate in securities lending, but the District owns shares of the Florida PRIME and not the underlying investments. Neither the District nor Florida Prime has participated in securities lending program in the fiscal year ended September 30, 2016.

Note 3 - Unearned Revenue

Governmental funds report unearned revenue in connection with receivables for revenues that are not considered to be available to liquidate liabilities of the current period. Governmental funds also defer revenue recognition in connection with resources that have been received, but not yet earned. At the end of the current fiscal year, the various components of unearned revenue reported in the governmental funds were as follows:

	Unavailable	Unearned
Grant Drawdowns Prior to Meeting all Eligibility Requirements	$ 0	$ 15,042,694
Unearned Revenue for Governmental Funds	$ 0	$ 15,042,694

Note 4 - Capital Assets

Capital asset activity for the year ending September 30, 2016, was as follows:

	Balance 10/1/15	Increases	(Decreases)	Balance 9/30/16
Capital Assets Not Being Depreciated

Note 6 - Transfers In/(Out)

Transfers between funds represent transfers to/from other funds for fund expenditures at September 30, 2016; the balances in these accounts consist of the following:

	Transfer In	Transfer (Out)
General Fund	$ 120,414	$ 0
Projects Fund	0	120,414
Lands Management Fund	0	154,979
Capital Projects Fund	154,979	0
Total	$ 275,393	$ 275,393

Note 7 - Leases

The District is committed under a noncancellable operating lease for office space that expires in February of 2018. The District is also committed under a month-to-month lease agreement for office space. Expenditures related to these lease agreements amounted to $153,551 during the year ended September 30, 2016. Future minimum lease payments for the noncancellable lease are as follows:

Year	Amount
2017	$ 88,490
2018	36,871
Total	$ 125,361

Note 8 - Long-term Debt

Changes in Long-term Liabilities—Long-term liability activity for the year ended September 30, 2016, was as follows:

	Balance 10/1/15	Additions	Deletions	Balance 9/30/16	Due Within One Year

Note 9 - Other Disclosures

Risk Management

The District is exposed to various risks of loss related to torts; theft of damage to and destruction of assets; errors and omissions; and natural disasters for which the government carries commercial insurance.

Contingent Liabilities

Amounts received or receivable from grantor agencies are subject to audit and adjustment by grantor agencies, principally the Federal government and the State of Florida. Any disallowed claims, including amounts already collected, may constitute a liability of the applicable funds. The amount of expenditures, if any, which may be disallowed by the grantor cannot be determined at this time although the District expects such amounts, if any, to be immaterial.

The District is a defendant in various lawsuits. Although the outcome of these lawsuits is not presently determinable, it is the opinion of the District's counsel that resolution of these matters will not have a material adverse effect on the financial condition of the District.

Contractual Commitments

As of September 30, 2016, the District had the following commitments related to unfinished projects:

Projects	Expended as of September 30, 2016	Remaining Commitment
Local Infrastructure Improvement Projects	$ 7,056,359	$ 20,999,303
Agricultural Cost Sharing Agreement	415,797	470,696

Note 10 - Retirement Plan

General Information about the Florida Retirement System (FRS)

The FRS was created in Chapter 121, Florida Statutes, to provide a defined benefit pension plan for participating public employees. The FRS was amended in 1998 to add the Deferred Retirement Option Program (DROP) under the defined benefit plan and amended in 2000 to provide a defined contribution plan alternative to the defined benefit plan for FRS members effective July 1, 2002. This integrated defined contribution pension plan is the FRS Investment Plan. Chapter 112, Florida Statutes, established the Retiree Health Insurance Subsidy (HIS) Program, a cost-sharing, multiple-employer, defined benefit pension plan, to assist retired members of any state-administered retirement system in paying the costs of health insurance.

Essentially all regular employees of the District are eligible to enroll as members of the State-administered FRS. Provisions relating to FRS are established by Chapters 121 and 122, Florida Statutes; Chapter 112 Part IV, Florida Statutes; Chapter 238, Florida Statutes; and FRS Rules, Chapter 60S, Florida Administrative Code; wherein eligibility, contributions, and benefits are defined and described in detail. Such provisions may be amended at any time by further action from the Florida Legislature. The FRS is a single retirement system administered by the Florida Department of Management Services, Division of Retirement, and consists of two cost-sharing, multiple-employer defined-benefit plans and other nonintegrated programs. A comprehensive annual financial report of the FRS, which includes its financial statements, required supplementary information, actuarial report, and other relevant information, is available from the Florida Department of Management Services' web site (www.dms.myflorida.com).

FRS Pension Plan

Plan Description. The FRS Pension Plan (the Plan) is a cost-sharing, multiple-employer, defined benefit pension plan, with a DROP for eligible employees. The general classes of membership applicable to the District are as follows:

- Regular Class – Members of the FRS who do not qualify for membership in the other classes.
- Senior Management Service Class (SMSC) – Members in senior management level positions.

Employees enrolled in the Plan prior to July 1, 2011, vest at six years of creditable service and employees enrolled in the Plan on or after July 1, 2011, vest at eight years of creditable service. All vested members enrolled prior to July 1, 2011, are eligible for normal retirement benefits at age 62 or at any age after 30 years of service, except for members classified as special risk who are eligible for normal retirement benefits at age 55 or at any age after 25 years of service. All members enrolled in the Plan on or after July 1, 2011, once vested, are eligible for normal retirement benefits at age 65 or any time after 33 years of creditable service, except for members classified as special risk who are eligible for normal retirement benefits at age 60 or at any age after 30 years of service. Members of the Plan may include up to four years of credit for military service toward creditable service. The Plan also includes an early retirement provision; however, there is a benefit reduction for each year a member retires before his or her normal retirement date. The Plan provides retirement, disability, death benefits, and annual cost-of-living adjustments to eligible participants.

DROP, subject to provisions of Section 121.091, Florida Statutes, permits employees eligible for normal retirement under the Plan to defer receipt of monthly benefit payments while continuing employment with an FRS employer. An employee may participate in DROP for a period not to exceed 60 months after electing to participate, except that certain instructional personnel may participate for up to 96 months. During the period of DROP participation, deferred monthly benefits are held in the FRS Trust Fund and accrue interest. The net pension liability does not include amounts for DROP participants, as these members are considered retired and are not accruing additional pension benefits.

Benefits Provided. Benefits under the Plan are computed on the basis of age and/or years of service, average final compensation, and service credit. Credit for each year of service is expressed as a percentage of the average final compensation. For members initially enrolled before July 1, 2011, the average final compensation is the average of the five highest fiscal years' earnings; for members initially enrolled on or after July 1, 2011, the average final compensation is the average of the eight highest fiscal years' earnings. The total percentage value of the benefit received is determined by calculating the total value of all service, which is based on the retirement class to which the member belonged when the service credit was earned. Members are eligible for in-line-of-duty or regular disability and survivors' benefits. The following chart shows the percentage value for each year of service credit earned:

Benefits Provided. (Concluded)

Class, Initial Enrollment, and Retirement Age/Years of Service	Percent Value
Regular Class Members Initially Enrolled Before July 1, 2011:
Retirement up to age 62 or up to 30 years of service	1.60
Retirement at age 63 or with 31 years of service	1.63
Retirement at age 64 or with 32 years of service	1.65
Retirement at age 65 or with 33 or more years of service	1.68
Regular Class Members Initially Enrolled on or After July 1, 2011:
Retirement up to age 65 or up to 33 years of service	1.60
Retirement at age 66 or with 34 years of service	1.63
Retirement at age 67 or with 35 years of service	1.65
Retirement at age 68 or with 36 or more years of service	1.68
Senior Management Service Class	2.00

As provided in Section 121.101, Florida Statutes, if the member is initially enrolled in the FRS before July 1, 2011, and all service credit was accrued before July 1, 2011, the annual cost-of-living adjustment is 3% per year. If the member is initially enrolled before July 1, 2011, and has service credit on or after July 1, 2011, there is an individually calculated cost-of-living adjustment. The annual cost-of-living adjustment is a proportion of 3% determined by dividing the sum of the pre-July 2011 service credit by the total service credit at retirement multiplied by 3%. Plan members initially enrolled on or after July 1, 2011, will not have a cost-of-living adjustment after retirement.

Contributions. The Florida Legislature establishes contribution rates for participating employers and employees. Contribution rates during the District's 2015-16 fiscal year were as follows:

	Year Ended June 30, 2016 Percent of Gross Salary		Year Ended June 30, 2017 Percent of Gross Salary
Class	Employee	Employer	Employee	Employer
FRS, Regular	3.00	5.56	3.00	5.80
FRS, Senior Management Service	3.00	19.73	3.00	20.05
DROP – Applicable to Members from All of the Above Classes	0.00	11.22	0.00	11.33
FRS, Reemployment Retiree	(1)	(1)	(1)	(1)

Notes: (1) Contribution rates are dependent upon retirement class in which reemployed.

Contributions. (Concluded)

The District's contributions, including employee contributions, to the Plan totaled $426,894 for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2016. This excludes the HIS defined benefit pension plan contributions.

Pension Liabilities and Pension Expense. At September 30, 2016, the District reported a liability of $4,175,648 for its proportionate share of the FRS Plan's net pension liability. The net pension liability was measured as of June 30, 2016, and the total pension liability used to calculate the net pension liability was determined by an actuarial valuation as of July 1, 2016. The District's proportionate share of the net pension liability was based on the District's 2015-16 fiscal year contributions relative to the fiscal year 2014-15 fiscal year contributions of all participating members. At June 30, 2016, the District's proportion was 0.016537167%, which was a decrease of 0.002251006% from its proportion measured as of June 30, 2015.

For the year ended September 30, 2016, the District recognized pension expense of $704,424 related to the FRS Plan.

Actuarial Assumptions. The total pension liability in the July 1, 2016 actuarial valuation was determined using the following actuarial assumptions, applied to all periods included in the measurement:

Inflation	2.60%
Salary Increases	3.25% Average, Including Inflation
Investment Rate of Return	7.60% Net of Pension Plan Investment Expense, Including Inflation

Mortality rates were based on the Generational RP-2000 with Projection Scale BB, with adjustments for mortality improvements based on Scale AA.

The actuarial assumptions used in the July 1, 2016, valuation were based on the results of an actuarial experience study for the period July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2013.

The long-term expected rate of return on pension plan investments was not based on historical returns, but instead is based on a forward-looking capital market economic model. The allocation policy's description of each asset class was used to map the target allocation to the asset classes shown below. Each asset class assumption is based on a consistent set of underlying assumptions, and includes an adjustment for the inflation assumption. The target allocation and best estimates of arithmetic and geometric real rates of return for each major asset class are summarized in the following table:

Assumed Inflation – Mean		2.6%		1.9%

Note: (1) As Outlined in the Plan's Investment Policy.

Discount Rate. The discount rate used to measure the total pension liability was 7.60%. The Plan's fiduciary net position was projected to be available to make all projected future benefit payments of current active and inactive employees. Therefore, the discount rate for calculating the total pension liability is equal to the long-term expected rate of return. The discount rate was 7.60% in the July 1, 2016 valuation.

Sensitivity of the District's Proportionate Share of the Net Position Liability to Changes in the Discount Rate. The following presents the District's proportionate share of the net pension liability calculated using the discount rate of 7.60%, as well as what the District's proportionate share of the net pension liability would be if it were calculated using a discount rate that is 1-percentage-point lower (6.60%) or 1-percentage-point higher (8.60%) than the current rate:

FRS – District:

	1% Decrease (6.60%)	Current Discount Rate (7.60%)	1% Increase (8.60%)
District's Proportionate Share of the Net Pension Liability	$ 7,687,650	$ 4,175,648	$ 1,252,370

Pension Plan Fiduciary Net Position. Detailed information about the Plan's fiduciary net position is available in the separately issued FRS Pension Plan and Other State Administered Systems Comprehensive Annual Financial Report.

HIS Pension Plan

Plan Description. The HIS Pension Plan (HIS Plan) is a cost-sharing, multiple-employer, defined benefit pension plan established under Section 112.363, Florida Statutes, and may be amended by the Florida Legislature at any time. The benefit is a monthly payment to assist retirees of State-administered retirement systems in paying their health insurance costs and is administered by the Division of Retirement within the Florida Department of Management Services.

Benefits Provided. For the fiscal year ended September 30, 2016, eligible retirees and beneficiaries received a monthly HIS payment of $5 for each year of creditable service completed at the time of retirement, with a minimum HIS payment of $30 and a maximum HIS payment of $150 per month, pursuant to Section 112.363, Florida Statutes. To be eligible to receive a HIS Plan benefit, a retiree under a State-administered retirement system must provide proof of health insurance coverage, which may include Medicare.

Contributions. The HIS Plan is funded by required contributions from FRS participating employers as set by the Florida Legislature. Employer contributions are a percentage of gross compensation for all active FRS members. For the Plan fiscal years ended June 30, 2016 and 2015, the contribution rates were 1.66% and 1.66% of payroll respectively, pursuant to Section 112.363, Florida Statues. The District contributed 100% of its statutorily required contributions for the current and preceding three years. HIS Plan contributions are deposited in a separate trust fund from which payments are authorized. HIS Plan benefits are not guaranteed and are subject to annual legislative appropriation. In the event the legislative appropriation or available funds fail to provide full subsidy benefits to all participants, benefits may be reduced or canceled.

The District's contributions to the HIS Plan totaled $93,433 for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2016.

Pension Liabilities and Pension Expense. At September 30, 2016, the District reported a net pension liability of $2,043,512 for its proportionate share of the HIS Plan's net pension liability. The net pension liability was measured as of June 30, 2016, and the total pension liability used to calculate the net pension liability was determined by an actuarial valuation as of July 1, 2016. The District's proportionate share of the net pension liability was based on the District's 2015-16 fiscal year contributions relative to the total 2014-15 fiscal year contributions of all participating members. At June 30, 2016, the District's proportionate share was 0.017533971%, which was a decrease of 0.000218313% from its proportionate share measured as of June 30, 2015.

For the fiscal year ended September 30, 2016, the District recognized pension expense of $162,771 related to the HIS Plan.

HIS Pension Plan (Concluded)

Actuarial Assumptions. The total pension liability for the HIS Pension Plan was determined by an actuarial valuation as of July 1, 2016, and recalculated as of June 30, 2016, using a standard actuarial roll-forward technique. The following actuarial assumptions, applied to all periods included in the measurement, were used to determine the total pension liability:

Inflation	2.60%
Salary Increases	3.25% Average, Including Inflation
Investment Rate of Return	2.85% Net of Pension Plan Investment Expense, Including Inflation

Mortality rates were based on the Generational RP-2000 with Projected Scale BB.

The actuarial assumptions used to determine the total pension liability as of June 30, 2016, were based on certain results of an actuarial experience study of the FRS for the period July 1, 2008 through June 30, 2013.

Discount Rate. The discount rate used to measure the total pension liability was 2.85%. In general, the discount rate for calculating the total pension liability is equal to the single rate equivalent to discounting at the long-term expected rate of return for benefit payments prior to the projected depletion date. Because the HIS benefit is essentially funded on a pay-as-you-go basis, the depletion date is considered to be immediate, and the single equivalent discount rate is equal to the municipal bond rate selected by the HIS Plan sponsor. The Bond Buyer General Obligation 20-Bond Municipal Bond Index was adopted as the applicable municipal bond index.

Sensitivity of the District's Proportionate Share of the Net Pension Liability to Changes in the Discount Rate. The following presents the District's proportionate share of the net pension liability calculated using the discount rate of 2.85%, as well as what the District's proportionate share of the net pension liability would be if it were calculated using a discount rate that is 1-percentage-point lower (1.85%) or 1-percentage-point higher (3.85%) than the current rate:

District's Proportionate Share of the Net Pension Liability	$ 2,344,372	$ 2,043,512	$ 1,793,814

Pension Plan Fiduciary Net Position. Detailed information about the HIS Plan's fiduciary net position is available in the separately issued FRS Pension Plan and Other State Administered Systems Comprehensive Annual Financial Report.

Pension Expense
For the year ended September 30, 2016, the District recognized pension expense from the defined benefit pension plans as follows:

	FRS	HIS	Total
District's Pension Expense	$ 704,424	$ 162,771	$ 867,195

There were certain changes in assumptions from the previous valuation related to the two plans described above. The assumption changes include the following:

- FRS—In the July 1, 2016 actuarial valuation, the discount rate used to determine total pension liability decreased from 7.65% to 7.60%.

- HIS—In the July 1, 2016 actuarial valuation, the municipal rate used to determine total pension liability decreased from 3.80% to 2.85%.

FRS – Defined Contribution Pension Plan
The District contributes to the FRS Investment Plan (Investment Plan), a defined contribution pension plan, for its eligible employees electing to participate in the Investment Plan. The Investment Plan is administered by the SBA, and is reported in the SBA's annual financial statements and in the State of Florida Comprehensive Annual Financial Report. Service retirement benefits are based upon the value of the member's account upon retirement.

As provided in Section 121.4501, Florida Statutes, eligible FRS members may elect to participate in the Investment Plan in lieu of the FRS defined-benefit plan. District employees participating in DROP are not eligible to participate in the Investment Plan. Employer and employee contributions, including amounts contributed to individual member's accounts, are defined by law, but the ultimate benefit depends in part on the performance of investment funds. Benefit terms, including contribution requirements, for the Investment Plan are established and may be amended by the Florida Legislature. The Investment Plan is funded with the same employer and employee contribution rates that are based on salary and membership class (Regular Class, Elected County Officers, etc.), as the FRS defined benefit plan. Contributions are directed to individual member accounts, and the individual members allocate contributions and account balances among various approved investment choices. Allocations to the investment member's accounts (employer and employee) during the 2015-16 fiscal year were as follows:

Class	Percent of Gross Compensation
FRS, Regular	6.30%
FRS, Senior Management Service	7.67%

Note 10 - Retirement Plan (Concluded)

FRS – Defined Contribution Pension Plan (Concluded)

For all membership classes, employees are immediately vested in their own contributions and are vested after one year of service for employer contributions and investment earnings. If an accumulated benefit obligation for service credit originally earned under the FRS Pension Plan is transferred to the Investment Plan, the member must have the years of service required for FRS Pension Plan vesting (including the service credit represented by the transferred funds) to be vested for these funds and the earnings on the funds. Nonvested employer contributions are placed in a suspense account for up to five years. If the employee returns to FRS-covered employment within the five-year period, the employee will regain control over their account. If the employee does not return within the five-year period, the employee will forfeit the accumulated account balance. Costs of administering the Investment Plan, including the FRS Financial Guidance Program, are funded through an employer contribution of 0.04% of payroll and by forfeited benefits of Investment Plan members. For the fiscal year ended September 30, 2016, the information for the amount of forfeitures was unavailable from the SBA; however, management believes that these amounts, if any, would be immaterial to the District.

After termination and applying to receive benefits, the member may rollover vested funds to another qualified plan, structure a periodic payment under the Investment Plan, receive a lump-sum distribution, leave the funds invested for future distribution, or any combination of these options. Disability coverage is provided; the member may either transfer the account balance to the FRS Pension Plan when approved for disability retirement to receive guaranteed lifetime monthly benefits under the FRS Pension Plan, or remain in the Investment Plan and rely upon that account balance for retirement income. The District's contribution to the Investment Plan during the fiscal year ended September 30, 2016, totaled $5,422.

Payables to the Pension Plans. At September 30, 2016, the District reported a payable of $76,476 for the outstanding amount of contributions (employer and employee share) to the three Plans described above for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2016.

Note 11 - Other Postemployment Benefits (OPEB) Retiree Healthcare Plan

The cost of postemployment healthcare benefits generally should be associated with the periods in which the cost occurs, rather than in the future year when it will be paid. The District recognizes the cost of postemployment healthcare benefits in the year when the employee services are received, reports the accumulated liability from prior years, and provides information useful in assessing potential demands on the District's future cash flows.

Plan Description

The District provides health insurance plan options for full time employees provided through Florida Blue or Capital Health Plan (CHP). The District contributes 87% of the premium for employee and dependent coverage and the employee contributes 13%. The District contributes 98% of the premium for senior management and dependent coverage and the senior manager contributes 2%. Retirees and their dependents have the option to stay on the plan after retirement but must pay 100% of the premium. The healthcare plan is a single-employer plan with the option of coverage with BCBS or CHP. The CHP participation is restricted by CHP depending on the county of residence.

Benefits Provided

In accordance with Section 112.0801, Florida Statutes, the District allows its employees who have retired under the Florida Retirement System (FRS) to continue group insurance benefits for themselves and their dependents. The benefit levels are the same as those afforded to active employees. The District does not contribute to the premiums for the retirees but they do qualify for a premium contribution of up to $150 per month from the FRS depending on years of service. Upon reaching the age of 65, Medicare becomes the primary insurer for CHP plan participants. BCBS participants are allowed to select either Medicare or the traditional plan.

Membership

At September 30, 2016, membership consisted of:

Active Employees	104
Inactive Employees	16

Funding Policy

Effective October 1, 2011, the District no longer contributes premiums for retired senior management employees or regular class employees. The District's Blue Cross and Blue Shield contract establishes the individual premium to be paid by the retired employees. The State of Florida prohibits the District from separately rating retired employees and active employees. As a result, the District's premium charges to retired employees can be no more than the premium cost applicable to active employees.

Annual OPEB Costs, Net OPEB Obligation

The Employer's annual other postemployment benefits (OPEB) cost (expense) is calculated based on the ARC. The ARC represents a level of funding that, if paid on an ongoing basis, is projected to cover normal cost each year and to amortize any unfunded actuarial liabilities (or funding excess) over a period not to exceed 15 years. The following table shows the calculation of Annual Required Contribution and Net OPEB Obligation for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2016:

Annual Required Contribution (ARC)	$	229,772
Interest on Net OPEB Obligation		2,939
Adjustment to Annual Required Contribution (ARC)		(7,223)
Annual OPEB Cost (Expense)		225,488
Employer Contributions Made		(80,301)
Increase in Net OPEB Obligation		145,187
Net OPEB Obligation (NOO) at Beginning of Year		97,961
Net OPEB Obligation (NOO) at the End of Year	$	243,148

The District's annual OPEB cost, the percentage of annual OPEB cost contributed to the plan, and the net OPEB obligation were as follows:

Annual OPEB Costs, Net OPEB Obligation (Concluded)

Fiscal Year Ended	Annual OPEB Cost	Employer Contributions Toward the OPEB Cost	Percentage of Annual OPEB Cost Contributed	Net OPEB Obligation
09/30/2016	$ 225,488	$ 80,301	36%	$ 243,148
09/30/2015	144,752	126,009	87%	97,961
09/30/2014	143,360	122,752	86%	79,218
09/30/2013	142,313	114,672	81%	58,609

Funded Status and Funding Progress

The funded status of the plan is as follows:

Actuarial Valuation Date	Actuarial Value of Assets	Actuarial Accrued Liability (AAL) Entry Age	Unfunded (Overfunded) AAL (UAAL)	Funded Ratio	Covered Payroll	UAAL as a Percentage of Covered Payroll
9/30/2016	$ 0	$ 1,826,619	$ 1,826,619	0.00%	$ 5,579,912	33%
9/30/2013	0	1,673,612	1,673,612	0.00%	4,663,252	36%
9/30/2010	0	862,511	862,511	0.00%	6,248,982	14%

The projection of future benefit payments for an ongoing plan involves estimates of the value of reported amounts and assumptions about the probability of occurrence of events far into the future. Examples include assumptions about future employment, mortality, and the healthcare cost trend. Amounts determined regarding the funded status of the plan and the annual required contributions of the employer are subject to continual revision as actual results are compared with past expectations and new estimates are made about the future. The schedule of funding progress, presented as required supplementary information following the notes to the financial statements, presents multiyear trend information about whether the actuarial value of plan assets is increasing or decreasing over time relative to the actuarial accrued liabilities for benefits.

Methods and Assumptions

Projections of benefits for financial reporting purposes are based on the substantive plan (the plan as understood by the employer and plan members) and includes the types of benefits provided at the time of each valuation and the historical pattern of sharing of benefit costs between the employer and plan members to that point. The methods and assumptions used include techniques that are designed to reduce the effects of short-term volatility in actuarial accrued liabilities and the actuarial value of assets, consistent with the long-term perspective of the calculations.

Note 11 - Other Postemployment Benefits (OPEB) Retiree Healthcare Plan (Concluded)

Methods and Assumptions (Concluded)

Because the plan has fewer the 100 members, it meets the requirements of GASB Statement No. 45, Accounting and Financial Reporting by Employers for Postemployment Benefits Other than Pensions, to use the alternative measurement method. This method allows the District to use a simplified model for estimating the OPEB liability. Actuarial methods and assumptions using the alternative measurement method include the following:

Actuarial Valuation Date:	September 30, 2016
Actuarial Cost Method:	Entry Age Normal Cost
Amortization Method:	Level Percentage of Payroll
Amortization Period:	15 Years
Asset Valuation Method:	Unfunded
Discount Rate:	3.0%
Price Inflation Rate:	2.8%
Payroll Growth Rate:	1.5%
Medical Inflation Rate:	5.0% for two years; 3.0% per year thereafter

Note 12 - Mitigation Bank Financial Responsibility Assurances

The District is authorized by Section 373.4136, Florida Statutes, to permit the establishment of mitigation banks. As part of the permit application, the establishment of a mitigation bank is required to demonstrate the financial ability to conduct the mitigation activities, any necessary management of the site, monitoring of the mitigation, and any necessary correction action indicated by the monitoring. The mitigation banks can provide the demonstrated financial assurance by obtaining a surety bond, performance bond, irrevocable letter of credit, or establishing a trust fund. If a bond or an irrevocable letter of credit is used, a standby trust fund shall be established in which all payments under the bonds or letters of credit shall be directly deposited. If the mitigation bank fails to comply with the terms and conditions of the permit, the District may draw upon the financial assurance provided by the mitigation bank. As of September 30, 2016, the District had $0 of financial assurances provided by the various mitigation banks.

NOTE TO REQUIRED SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION
SEPTEMBER 30, 2016

Note 1 - Stewardship, Compliance, and Accountability

Budgetary Information

Annual budgets are adopted on a basis consistent with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America for all governmental funds. All annual appropriations lapse at fiscal year-end.

The Board generally follows these procedures in establishing the budgetary data reflected in the financial statements:

- In accordance with Florida Statutes, as amended July 1, 2012, prior to January 15 of each year, Water Management Districts must submit a Preliminary budget for the next fiscal year for legislative review. The preliminary budget will be used as the basis for developing the tentative budget. The tentative budget must be submitted to the District's Governing Board prior to July 15 and to the Executive Office of the Governor (EOG) and Legislature no later than August 1. The tentative budget proposes the operating budget for the fiscal year commencing the following October 1. The budget includes the proposed expenditures and the means of financing them for the upcoming year, along with the estimates for the current year and actual data for the prior year.

  The budget is prepared at the Program and Activity level per the requirements of S. 373.536, Florida Statutes and presented to the Board by fund and budget category as required by Chapters 373 and 189, Florida Statutes.

- Public hearings are conducted to allow for taxpayer comment.

- Prior to September 30, the budget is legally enacted through adoption of a resolution by the District's Governing Board in a public hearing.

- The Director of Administration is required by the District to present a monthly financial report and schedule of disbursements to the Board.

- Revisions that alter the total expenditures of any fund or increase an activity by a cumulative amount in excess of $1,000,000 must be approved by the Executive Office of the Governor and noticed to the Legislative Budget Commission prior to noticing the budget amendment for a District's Governing Board meeting. Budget amendments must be approved under the requirement of Chapter 373 and 189, Florida Statutes.

- Formal budgetary integration is employed as a management control device during the year.

- Budgets for the governmental fund types are presented on a basis consistent with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

To the Honorable Governing Board
Northwest Florida Water Management District

We have audited, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, the financial statements of the governmental activities and each major fund of the Northwest Florida Water Management District, (the District) as of and for the year ended September 30, 2016, and the related notes to the financial statements, which collectively comprise the District's basic financial statements, and have issued our report thereon dated April 27, 2017.

Internal Control Over Financial Reporting
In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements, we considered the District's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) to determine the audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of expressing our opinions on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the District's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the District's internal control.

A deficiency in internal control exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent, or detect and correct misstatements on a timely basis. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the District's financial statements will not be prevented, or detected and corrected on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control that is less severe than a material weakness, yet important enough to merit attention by those charged with governance.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph of this section and was not designed to identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses or significant deficiencies. Given these limitations, during our audit we did not identify any deficiencies in internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses. However, material weaknesses may exist that have not been identified.

Compliance and Other Matters
As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the District's financial statements are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements, noncompliance with which could have a direct and material effect on the determination of financial statement amounts. However, providing an opinion on compliance with those provisions was not an objective of our audit and, accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. The results of our tests disclosed no instances of noncompliance or other matters that are required to be reported under Government Auditing Standards.

(Concluded)

Purpose of this Report
The purpose of this report is solely to describe the scope of our testing of internal control and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the effectiveness of the District's internal control or on compliance. This report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards in considering the District's internal control and compliance. Accordingly, this communication is not suitable for any other purpose.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT ON COMPLIANCE FOR EACH MAJOR FEDERAL PROGRAM AND STATE PROJECT AND ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER COMPLIANCE REQUIRED BY THE UNIFORM GUIDANCE AND CHAPTER 10.550, RULES OF THE AUDITOR GENERAL OF THE STATE OF FLORIDA

To the Honorable Governing Board
Northwest Florida Water Management District

Report on Compliance for Each Major Federal Program and State Project
We have audited Northwest Florida Water Management District's (the District) compliance with the types of compliance requirements described in the OMB Compliance Supplement and the requirements described in the State of Florida, Department of Financial Services State Projects Compliance Supplement, that could have a direct and material effect on each of the District's major federal programs and state projects for the year ended September 30, 2016. The District's major federal programs and state projects are identified in the summary of auditors' results section of the accompanying Schedule of Findings and Questioned Costs.

Management's Responsibility
Management is responsible for compliance with the requirements of federal and state statutes, regulations, contracts, and grants applicable to its federal programs and state projects.

Auditors' Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express an opinion on compliance for each of the District's major federal programs and state projects based on our audit of the types of compliance requirements referred to above. We conducted our audit of compliance in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America; the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States; Title 2 U.S. Code of Federal Regulations Part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards (Uniform Guidance); and Chapter 10.550, Rules of the Auditor General of the State of Florida. Those standards, the Uniform Guidance, and Chapter 10.550, Rules of the Auditor General of the State of Florida, require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether noncompliance with the types of compliance requirements referred to above that could have a direct and material effect on a major federal program or state project occurred. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence about the District's compliance with those requirements and performing such other procedures, as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion on compliance for each major federal program and state project. However, our audit does not provide a legal determination of the District's compliance.

Opinion on Each Major Federal Program and State Project
In our opinion, the District complied, in all material respects, with the types of compliance requirements referred to above that could have a direct and material effect on each of its major federal programs and state projects for the year ended September 30, 2016.

Report on Internal Control Over Compliance
Management of the District is responsible for establishing and maintaining effective internal control over compliance with the types of compliance requirements referred to above. In planning and performing our audit of compliance, we considered the District's internal control over compliance with the types of requirements that could have a direct and material effect on each major federal program or state project to determine the auditing procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances for the purpose of expressing an opinion on compliance for each major federal program or state project, and to test and report on internal control over compliance in accordance with the Uniform Guidance and Chapter 10.550, Rules of the Auditor General of the State of Florida, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of internal control over compliance. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the District's internal control over compliance.

INDEPENDENT ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT ON COMPLIANCE WITH SECTION 218.415, FLORIDA STATUTES

To the Honorable Governing Board
Northwest Florida Water Management District

We have examined the Northwest Florida Water Management District's (the District) compliance with Section 218.415, Florida Statutes, as of and for the year ended September 30, 2016, as required by Section 10.556 (10)(a), Rules of the Auditor General. Management is responsible for the District's compliance with those requirements. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the District's compliance based on our examination.

Our examination was conducted in accordance with attestation standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and, accordingly, included examining, on a test basis, evidence about the District's compliance with those requirements and performing such other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We believe that our examination provides a reasonable basis for our opinion. Our examination does not provide a legal determination of the District's compliance with specified requirements.

In our opinion, the District complied, in all material respects, with the aforementioned requirements for the year ended September 30, 2016.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Legislative Auditing Committee, members of the Florida Senate and the Florida House of Representatives, the Florida Auditor General, Federal and other granting agencies granting agencies and pass-through entities, and applicable management, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

MANAGEMENT LETTER

To the Honorable Governing Board
Northwest Florida Water Management District

Report on the Financial Statements
We have audited the financial statements of the Northwest Florida Water Management District, (the District), as of and for the year ended September 30, 2016, and have issued our report thereon dated April 27, 2017.

Auditors' Responsibility
We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America; the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States; the audit requirements of Title 2 U.S. Code of Federal Regulations Part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements of Federal Awards (Uniform Guidance); and Chapter 10.550, Rules of the Auditor General.

Other Reports and Schedule
We have issued our Independent Auditors' Report on Internal Control over Financial Reporting and Compliance and Other Matters based on an Audit of Financial Statements Performed in Accordance with Government Auditing Standards; Independent Auditors' Report on Compliance for Each Major Federal Program and State Project and Report on Internal Control over Compliance; Schedule of Findings and Questioned Costs; and Independent Accountants' Report on an examination conducted in accordance with AICPA Professional Standards, Section 601, regarding compliance requirements in accordance with Chapter 10.550, Rules of the Auditor General. Disclosures in those reports and schedule, which are dated April 27, 2017, should be considered in conjunction with this management letter.

Prior Audit Findings
Section 10.554(1)(i)1, Rules of the Auditor General, requires that we determine whether or not corrective actions have been taken to address findings and recommendations made in the preceding annual financial report. There were no findings and recommendations made in the preceding annual financial report.

Official Title and Legal Authority
Section 10.554(1)(i)4, Rules of the Auditor General, requires that the name or official title and legal authority for the primary government and each component unit of the reporting entity be disclosed in this management letter, unless disclosed in the notes to the financial statements. This information is disclosed in the notes to the financial statements.

Financial Condition
Sections 10.554(1)(i)5.a. and 10.556(7), Rules of the Auditor General, require that we apply appropriate procedures and report the results of our determination as to whether or not the District has met one or more of the conditions described in Section 218.503(1), Florida Statutes, and identification of the specific condition(s) met. In connection with our audit, we determined that the District did not meet any of the conditions described in Section 218.503(1), Florida Statutes.

Pursuant to Sections 10.554(1)(i)5.c. and 10.556(8), Rules of the Auditor General, we applied financial condition assessment procedures. It is management's responsibility to monitor the District's financial condition, and our financial condition assessment was based in part on representations made by management and the review of financial information provided by same.

Annual Financial Report
Sections 10.554(1)(i)5.b. and 10.556(7), Rules of the Auditor General, require that we apply appropriate procedures and report the results of our determination as to whether the annual financial report for the District for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2015, filed with the Florida Department of Financial Services pursuant to Section 218.32(1)(a), Florida Statutes, is in agreement with the annual financial audit report for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2016. In connection with our audit, we determined that these two reports were in agreement.

Monthly Financial Statements
Sections 10.554(1)(i)6.a. and 10.556(9), Rules of the Auditor General, require that we apply appropriate procedures and report the results of our determination as to whether or not the District provided monthly financial statements to its Governing Board and made such monthly statements available for public access on its web site. In connection with our audit, we determined that the District provided monthly financial statements to its Governing Board and made such monthly statements available for public access on its web site.

Transparency
Sections 10.554(1)(i)6.b and 10.556(9), Rules of the Auditor General, require that we apply appropriate procedures and report the results of our determination as to whether the District provided a link on its web site to the Florida Department of Financial Service's web site to view the District's annual financial report submitted to the Department. In connection with our audit, we determined that the District provided a link on its web site to the Florida Department of Financial Service's web site.

Sections 10.554(1)(i)6.c. and 10.556(9), Rules of the Auditor General, require that we apply appropriate procedures and report the results of our determination as to whether the District posted its tentative and final budgets on its web site. In connection with our audit, we determined that the District posted its tentative and final budgets on its web site.

Other Matters
Section 10.554(1)(i)2, Rules of the Auditor General, requires that we address in the management letter any recommendations to improve financial management. In connection with our audit, we did not have any such recommendations.

To the Honorable Governing Board
Northwest Florida Water Management District

MANAGEMENT LETTER
(Concluded)

Other Matters (Concluded)
Section 10.554(1)(i)3, Rules of the Auditor General, requires that we address noncompliance with provisions of contracts or grant agreements, or abuse, that have occurred, or are likely to have occurred, that have an effect on the financial statements that is less than material but which warrants the attention of those charged with governance. In connection with our audit, we did not have any such findings.

Purpose of this Letter
Our management letter is intended solely for the information and use of the Legislative Auditing Committee, members of the Florida Senate and the Florida House of Representatives, the Florida Auditor General, Federal and other granting agencies and pass-through entities, the Governing Board, and applicable management, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank you and your staff for the cooperation and courtesies extended to us during the course of our audit. Please let us know if you have any questions or comments concerning this letter, our accompanying reports, or other matters.

MINUTES OF THE REGULAR MEETING OF THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS HELD DECEMBER 5, 1995
(8:01 a.m. - 12:31 p.m)

Present: Commissioner John T. Reading, Jr., Chairman
Commissioner Thomas G. Banjanin, Vice Chairman
Commissioner Michael T. "Mike" Bass
Commissioner Willie J. Junior
Commissioner D. M. "Mike" Whitehead
Mr. Ernie Lee Magaha, Clerk of the Circuit Court
Mr. Barry R. Evans, County Administrator
Mr. David G. Tucker, County Attorney
Ms. Marilyn Gingrey, Deputy Clerk to the Board

CALL TO ORDER

Chairman Reading called the Regular Meeting of the Board of County Commissioners to order at 8:01 a.m., in Board Chambers, Third Floor, Escambia County Courthouse, 223 Palafox Place, Pensacola, Florida.

County Attorney Tucker said he was requesting advice from the Board concerning the case Escambia County vs. First Montauk Securities Corp. regarding derivative investments pursuant to Section 286.011(8) Florida Statutes. He said the subject matter would be confined to settlement negotiations and strategies. County Attorney Tucker said a court reporter would be present so that the session would be recorded and the court reporter would fully transcribe the session which would be filed with Clerk Magaha. He said the transcript would remain confidential until after the conclusion of the litigation and once the litigation concluded, the transcript would become public record subject to public inspection and copying.

Upon inquiry from County Attorney Tucker, Deputy Clerk Gingrey said the session was duly advertised in the December 3, 1995, Pensacola News-Journal.

County Attorney Tucker said he would now request that the Regular Board Meeting be recessed to convene out of the sunshine with the court reporter present.

Chairman Reading said the advertisement in the Pensacola News-Journal did not address whether or not Mr. Magaha, as Clerk of the Court, should be present. He said he would like to know if his presence during the session should have been advertised and whether or not he should be present.

County Attorney Tucker said it was his understanding that the advertisement included Deputy Clerk Gingrey and he had assumed that her attendance would be sufficient.

Mr. Ernie Lee Magaha, Clerk of the Circuit Court, said out of respect for this Board and the tax payers, he would excuse himself from the session so as not to jeopardize any legal proceedings.

County Attorney Tucker said in Mr. Magaha's role as Clerk of the Court, he was unsure that his attendance would necessarily be a violation. He said if Mr. Magaha wished, he could attend the session.

Mr. Magaha said he would like to attend the session if it would not jeopardize the session.

Chairman Reading said he would now recess the Regular Board Meeting for a private attorney-client session, in accordance with Section 286.011(8), Florida Statutes, for approximately one hour and ten minutes regarding Escambia County vs. First Montauk Securities Corp. attended by Commissioner Willie J. Junior; Commissioner Michael T. "Mike" Bass, Commissioner D. M. "Mike" Whitehead, Commissioner Thomas G. "Tom" Banjanin, Commissioner John T. Reading, Jr., County Administrator Evans, County Attorney Tucker, Chief Litigation Attorney for the County James M. Messer, Clerk of the Circuit Court Ernie Lee Magaha, Deputy Clerk Marilyn Gingrey, Attorney representing Escambia County Humberto H. Ocariz, and a certified court reporter.

Motion made by Commissioner Whitehead, seconded by Commissioner Junior, and carried unanimously, approving to recess the Regular Board Meeting at 8:05 a.m. to convene the attorney-client session.

8:05 A.M. - MEETING RECESSED.
9:10 A.M. - MEETING RECONVENED AND COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD DID NOT RETURN.

Chairman Reading said the attorney-client session had concluded and that session should be adjourned at this time.

Motion made by Commissioner Bass, seconded by Commissioner Banjanin, and carried, approving to adjourn the private attorney-client session at 9:11 a.m.

9:12 A.M. - COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD RETURNED TO THE MEETING.

Chairman Reading said he would like to recognize the PILOT (Pensacola's Identified Leaders of Tomorrow) Group. He said the Board would like to welcome the students and would speak with the group later in the Meeting.

Chairman Reading said Commissioner Junior would lead the invocation and Commissioner Bass would lead the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

ADOPTION OF THE AGENDA AS PREPARED AND DULY AMENDED

Upon inquiry from Chairman Reading, Commissioner Junior said he had no items to add to the agenda.

Upon inquiry from Chairman Reading, Commissioner Bass said he had three (3) items to add to the agenda.

Upon inquiry from Chairman Reading, Commissioner Whitehead said he had two (2) items to add to the agenda. He said the first concerned the recent change in contracting on the drainage projects, and the second concerned the possible purchase of advertising space in the Pensacola News-Journal.

Chairman Reading said he had two (2) items to add to the agenda. He said the first pertained to an appointment and the second pertained to the Chairman's annual appointments to Boards and Committees.

Motion made by Commissioner Whitehead, seconded by Commissioner Junior, that the Board adopt the agenda as prepared and duly amended.

County Administrator Evans said he had one item to discuss. He said he was unsure if the Board needed a motion to clarify the contracts established by Ordinance and giving him, as County Administrator, certain authority.

Commissioner Whitehead said that was the topic of one of his items.

COURT REPORTER: Chris Morrow

BE IT REMEMBERED that the following proceedings were had in the above-entitled and numbered cause in the Board of County Commissioners Chambers, in the City of Pensacola, County of Escambia, in the State of Florida, on December 5, 1995, to wit:

P R O C E E D I N G S

THEREUPON,

MR. READING: Okay, we are reconvening for the purposes of our executive session and a briefing on our litigation involving First Montauk, and for the purposes of the record, we'll need to have everyone identify themselves verbally. Please speak clearly and loudly for this microphone here, and let's continue clockwise starting first with Mr. Banjanin.

MR. BANJANIN: Tom Banjanin, County Commissioner.

MR. WHITEHEAD: Mike Whitehead, County Commissioner.

MR. BASS: Mike Bass, County Commissioner.

MS. GINGREY: Marilyn Gingrey, Deputy Clerk to the Board.

MR. MAGAHA: Ernie Lee Magaha, Clerk for the Circuit Court.

MR. EVANS: Barry Evans, County Administrator.

MR. JUNIOR: Willie Junior, County Commissioner.

MR. OCARIZ: Bert Ocariz, O-c-a-r-i-z, attorney for Escambia County.

MR. TUCKER: David Tucker, County Attorney.

MR. READING: All right, in that case, I'll turn it over to David now.

MR. TUCKER: Commissioners, recently, in the course of -- through this litigation, the various brokers filed a motion to dismiss our complaints against my numerous grounds. In a fairly strongly-worded opinion, Judge Vinson denied their motions and pretty much laid a road map out on how he would rule in favor of the County on some important liability issues.

As a result of that motion to dismiss, for the first time one of the brokers now wants to talk settlement. We had not anticipated that they would want to talk settlement this early, but we also didn't anticipate that the ruling on the motion to dismiss would be so strong in our favor.

And so in order to give Tom Tew's team some guidance in the kinds of settlement options that we would like them to explore and what we can discuss with them, we invited Bert Ocariz, who is a partner of Mr. Tew, and who actually has been doing the nuts-and-bolts, day-to-day litigating of this case, to brief you.

He had sent a letter out November 29, 1995, outlining some of these options. I have provided copies of that. Basically, it is, because it is attorney work product, it is not a public record. It is not subject for public inspection and coping at this time.

So I will yield to Mr. Ocariz to kind of explain where we are and what the options might be.

MR. OCARIZ: Good morning, Commissioners, and everyone else. Let me bring you up to date a little bit on Judge Vinson's order. As you may know, our claims proceeded under several theories. The first one was a declaratory judgment claim where we sought to ask the Court to declare that the investments in these derivatives were ultra vires in that there was no authority either under Florida law or any ordinance or resolution passed by this County Commission which authorized investments in those types of securities.

I felt at the time, and I still feel today, that that is our strongest claim for several reasons. Number one, it asks the Court to address that issue as a matter of law; and in my belief, I don't think that the Court needs facts. In other words, it's not the kind of claim that will tie this up in litigation for several years because it is a question for the Court to resolve, rather than get into that protracted discovery that typically characterizes these cases.

The rest of our claims, however, are more of the typical securities claims that you see against brokers. We've got 10(b) fraud claims in there, the unsuitability claims and the Florida common law tort theories. Those claims, in the event that we weren't to prevail at this stage on Count 1, which is that declaratory judgment claim, those claims would involve more protracted discovery because we would get into issues such as how sophisticated was Mr. Flowers, how much risk was disclosed, and it is the type of litigation that ultimately will end up in front of the jury and not be resolved by the Court.

The reason I believe that we had First Montauk approach me with regard to settlement was that the defendants had moved to dismiss all of our claims, including that first claim in Count 1. The Court denied the motion, but importantly he addressed probably what I feel at this point is the only defense that these defendants, these brokers could have had against that declaratory judgment, that ultra vires claim, and that was a defense of in pari delicto, which basically means that if the County was acting without authority, you know, we did wrong, the brokers did wrong in selling us these securities. And the Court tends to leave parties in that position and won't address it; in other words, won't afford us relief. The Court, however, said that there are instances where that defense is not available such as where there is strong public policy reasons against it, and that's what he felt in this case because we were talking about the loss of public funds. He felt that this was a case where that defense would not apply and, in my opinion, that was the only defense that these defendants had.

He also went a little further in that - actually, in two steps. Outside of his order there was a status conference prior to his ruling where he apparently already saw where we were moving with that count because he stated on the record that he anticipated we would be asking for summary judgment on that count fairly quickly, and we are. As a matter of fact, I probably have the motion about ninety percent done, and I anticipate filing it within the next two weeks. So that's where we are in terms of the litigation.

First Montauk's New York counsel -- they've got two. They've got counsel Steel, Hector & Davis out of West Palm Beach, and then a New York firm in which Mr. Saul Cohen represents them out of New York. He came down to Miami and met with me. And basically his proposal was that First Montauk is interested in settling before this becomes protractive litigation, or what he believed would end up being protracted litigation.

And he presented me a partial financial statement, the 10K that's filed by First Montauk, and indicated that they would be willing to settle somewhere less than 1.2 million dollars. The losses that were suffered with First Montauk investments were 2.6 million. That's what the County suffered in losses. His proposal to me was that First Montauk is not going to pay 2.6 million because that would essentially bankrupt them. I don't know that to be the case, based on what I saw in the financial statements, but that's what he indicated.

He also stated that they weren't prepared to pay 1.2 million, either, because that would be a substantial amount of money that would affect the operation of their business, though he didn't couch it in terms of putting them into bankruptcy; he said it was a figure they weren't willing to do.

The one thing that he did say that I found interesting was that they may be willing to discuss an installment type of settlement. And I think that may be the best approach for us because if we can develop an installment type of settlement where they make several payments throughout the course of a year or two years, depending on this Commission's determination as to how much time you are willing or can afford to wait on the payment of some of these moneys, then I think we've got a better shot to get more settlement proceeds out of them and not less. So I think we can drive that number higher.

The purpose of my visit is to discuss the parameters of some of those installments, and also to get settlement authority to the extent possible with regard to the other defendants; at least to give me some parameters and to the extent that I can negotiate those settlements I already have with your authority based on what we know in the case and what we know about these defendants' wherewithal.

At this point, if there are any questions?

MR. READING: Mr. Bass?

MR. OCARIZ: Yes, sir.

MR. BASS: Mr. Chairman, First Montauk is a corporation?

MR. OCARIZ: That's correct.

MR. BASS: Is it a "C" corporation or an "S" corporation?

MR. OCARIZ: They are a public corporation. They are a publicly held corporation, that's why they file their 10K reports.

MR. BASS: Would the principal be willing to personally guarantee the installments?

MR. OCARIZ: I don't know that at this point. We didn't discuss it with them. My suspicion would be they would not. Since they've got the corporate shelter in front of them and they're a publicly traded company, I don't believe there are going to be any principals there, to the extent that there's anyone that controls the major share of stock in the company, I don't think that that one is going to happen.

MR. BASS: Where are they in terms of federal bankruptcy possibility?

MR. OCARIZ: I don't see, based on the financials they presented to me, they have seven million in assets. They apparently had financial trouble several years ago because they still have a negative retained earnings. However, the financial statements for this year show year-to-date profits of eight hundred thousand dollars, and in the last quarter ending September 30, 1995, they made a profit of approximately three hundred thirty thousand. So whatever was going on before that that still shows, that negative retained earning seems to have been turned around. And if that outlook continues, I think that there is capital there that we can tap for a settlement.

MR. READING: Mr. Banjanin.

MR. BANJANIN: Do they have other claims, potentially, against them?

MR. OCARIZ: As far as I can tell, no. The 10K that they provided me has a disclosure on litigation, and we are the only case that is mentioned prominently. They mention, in passing, that there are a few other cases involving individuals. Given the way it was treated in the financial statements, apparently, they are not material enough to disclose. Ours, however, we were dedicated a separate paragraph, so it looks like we are the big one for them.

MR. BANJANIN: What do you think; do you anticipate other communities suing the same firm?

MR. OCARIZ: I don't know if First Montauk has sold these derivatives to other communities. I mean, I think had that been the case, they would have probably filed suit already because we're talking about, I guess, '93-'94 time period when a lot of these -- when it was really hot and heavy in the market and these sales were going on. And most of these would be running into statute-of-limitation problems, at least on security claims at this point. So I suspect we would have seen them already.

MR. READING: I have a couple of questions.

MR. OCARIZ: Yes.

MR. READING: One of which was relating to the size of First Montauk, and you said there are seven million dollars, so that means they are not on the big board of the New York Stock Exchange?

MR. OCARIZ: Right.

MR. READING: They wouldn't qualify, then.

One of the questions that came to mind right off the bat was when you were discussing their ultra vires acts, when actually the subject is our ultra vires acts or our comptroller's actions in investing in these securities were beyond his legal capacity --

MR. OCARIZ: That's correct.

MR. READING: -- potentially --

MR. OCARIZ: Exactly.

MR. READING: -- if that is found to be the case, and the disclosure sheets that were supposed to have been provided to him stated something fairly clearly to the effect that these were not appropriate vehicles for governments or other entities which need some liquidity, to be using as an investment.

MR. OCARIZ: Uh-huh.

MR. READING: Now, my question was, how can the broker be liable for our ultra vires acts, and then you started talking about the in pari delicto provisions. Can you distinguish between in pari delicto and the in pari materia?

MR. OCARIZ: Well, the in pari delicto pertains to two parties being involved in an illegal transaction; that's how you typically see it. And in those situations what the courts will do will leave those parties alone. They're saying, "Both of you essentially had committed or were engaged in illegal conduct; we're not going to offer any relief to either side."

There are instances -- typically one instance where because of some strong public policy reasons they may -- the courts may afford relief to one side. That's what Judge Vinson has found in this case, that if that defense was applicable -- and he didn't find necessarily that it was, he simply looked at it as a way to grant defendant's motion to dismiss, and then did away with it. And he said in this case that because of the fact that we're talking about an investment of public funds, and there was this public trust aspect to this money, he found that that defense wouldn't apply in this case. And at least on my assessment of that, our ultra vires claim, that would have been the one potential defense for this defendant, and he has gotten rid of that now.

MR. READING: The next point is, in my opinion, we have an obligation to obtain the maximum remedy for our client, and if First Montauk appears to be fairly secure at the operational level that we have recited here from their 10Ks, then I think that probably a structured settlement is in order.

Now, the other security companies that we will be acting against will, as David has mentioned in this letter, be watching closely what's going on here. If we enter into a structured settlement with First Montauk, including a provision for privacy, as long as the agreement is still pending, will these proceedings still be held?

MR. TUCKER: Commissioner, I can answer that. These proceedings will be confidential until this litigation is concluded, but a settlement has to be -- you can give Mr. Tew and Mr. Ocariz the authority to negotiate it, but the actual final signature you have to approve at an open board meeting. So the terms of a settlement that you reach with First Montauk will be public, although the proceedings here will remain confidential, but that's separate from the actual terms of the settlement, which have to be approved in an open meeting. So you would not be able to have a confidential settlement with First Montauk and not have the other brokers know what kind of deal we had made with them.

MR. BANJANIN: What would be the nature of the structured settlement?

MR. OCARIZ: Well, what I had proposed in my letter -- and again, you know, that is subject to this Board's willingness or ability to spread this over time. Given the fact that the losses suffered with First Montauk were 2.6 million, what I had thought would be some kind of structured settlement, it's on Page 2, the third paragraph from the bottom there.

My initial proposal here was for a settlement of 1.8 million, which would be broken down into a six-hundred-thousand-dollar lump-sum payment, which would be the first installment. You know, I put in here January 1, 1996, if that's agreeable, but that's the first installment. The second installment would be three hundred thousand. The third installment would be three hundred thousand. The fourth one would be three hundred thousand, and the fifth one would be three hundred thousand ending September 15, 1997.

I spread it out this way for a couple of reasons. Since First Montauk is a public entity, one of their concerns is how this is going to affect their bottom line and what they report to shareholders. And I think structuring it this way, given their earnings this year, the six-hundred-thousand-dollar payment is a number that will not put them into the loss column to the extent that they have to consider this a loss. So that while it will affect their bottom line, it certainly won't give them a loss for the year.

And by the same token, given their performance this year, my intent was, in the following four payments, was to get six hundred thousand dollars a year from them spread out into two payments, April and September, of 1996, and then six hundred thousand dollars in '97, which would be January and September. And that way, I think, if they continue the performance that we've seen in the financial statement that they provided to me, they will still be able to at least show a profit to their shareholders. The Board ends up recovering the moneys effectively over an eighteen-month period or so, and it's 1.2 million that's recouped from the 2.6 million dollar loss.

The other alternative would be to drive that number higher, closer to the 2.6 million, and either adjust these figures or maybe give them a third year in there.

MR. EVANS: The 1.8 million was the first proposal --

MR. OCARIZ: Yes, the first proposal that I've got in my letter is 1.8 million. If we want to look at a settlement that's closer to one hundred cents on the dollar, then I think we probably would need to restructure this to make it a little bit more palatable for them in light of what their earnings are.

MR. READING: Commissioner Bass.

MR. BASS: What do we have to hold over their head, what leverage?

MR. OCARIZ: Our leverage is Count 1, that declaratory judgment.

MR. BASS: I'm talking about if we accept a settlement on installment payments, once we get past that cash down, what's going to be our ongoing leverage?

MR. OCARIZ: Well, nothing will guarantee it if they go into bankruptcy. Based on their performance that I see today,

I don't see that as a possibility, but they could turn around completely next year. I mean, in terms of guarantees all we're going to get is the company's own financial strength. There is nothing -- you know, going back to the original question, I don't think we're going to get any individual guarantees from them, and so we really have to look just to the brokers.

MR. BASS: Could we pierce through with a civil RICO or something like that?

MR. OCARIZ: Well, civil RICO won't do it. To pierce a corporate veil, you need to show that the company was either under -- when it was formed, it was under capitalized or that there has been some fraud or some intent to defraud creditors.

Given First Montauk's history, I don't see that as a possibility, I think that's a long shot, to pierce a corporate veil, in their case.

MR. READING: I'm thinking out loud, but it seems to me like what would be a good settlement here -- and this is based partly on some of the things that none of us can know like, for instance, which way is the market going. I think the market will continue to go up at least for the next year, which would probably increase their ability to pay. And I would like to see us recover more than the 1.8 million dollars that your first structured offer has.

Eight hundred thousand dollars difference between what we had invested is -- there are not too many things we can do to grab another eight hundred thousand dollars in here, short of a tax hike. So I would be amenable to making them an offer of just exactly the same terms you have put forth here, however, make it also known to them that we would entertain an offer that would extend the repayment terms for an additional year if it included more dollars back to us.

MR. OCARIZ: What I would like to do then, if that's the case, from just a strategy point --

MR. READING: That's just my thoughts. Commissioner Banjanin.

MR. BANJANIN: How much could they come up with on a one-time payment?

MR. OCARIZ: I didn't discuss that specifically with Mr. Cohen. He basically came and gave me parameters being they weren't going to pay 2.6 and they weren't going to pay 1.2, so I think he's looking for a one-time lump settlement somewhere under 1.2.

Given his picking of 1.2, and my experience, I suspect that's probably around the neighborhood that they're looking at to get out of this case, a one-time payment of around a million dollars. I suspect that that's where they are headed.

MR. BANJANIN: Well, let me ask you this. They have got seven million in assets; is there any way that we can get some sort of a -- in the agreement, settlement agreement, a collateral out of that money that would guarantee our payment over for -- say even if we put it out over four or five years, if we had some guarantee that a certain part of their assets would be there to back up that payment so that we could get our money.

MR. OCARIZ: It depends. Possibly, yes. We certainly can ask for collateral.

It is going to depend on what kind of assets they have and whether they've been pledged in connection with anything else so that the County wouldn't be second to someone else but would have a first priority on those assets.

MR. BANJANIN: That way if they went into bankruptcy, we would have first claim against those assets.

MR. WHITEHEAD: If they're sitting with a negative retained earnings, technically everything is pledged already. We would be taking a secondary position because they are technically bankrupt now, I mean, if you want to get right down to it, or I would assume they can file based upon where they stand right now, or probably not far from it.

MR. READING: We could always be subrogated judicially, anyway, to some other first claim. For instance --

MR. BASS: Do you mean like a tax lien?

MR. READING: For the most part, of the securities that this brokerage firm is handling, you know they are handling it for a principal. Now, it may be entitled First Montauk, however, their records are going to clearly show that it really is John Doe or some little community's money --

MR. WHITEHEAD: Well, the liabilities of the security company are going to be individuals for whom they are holding the money that the assets are comprised of, I would assume.

MR. READING: And I don't really see a bankruptcy court putting us ahead of these other individuals, even though technically the securities are being held in First Montauk's name, so we would be subrogated even if we had entered into some other agreement.

MR. OCARIZ: Let me correct one statement. They were sitting with a negative returned earnings until this last quarter where they just went into positive by ninety thousand dollars. So they just came out of a negative returned earnings based on their operations for the quarter ended September 30, 1995.

MR. WHITEHEAD: How long have they been in business?

MR. OCARIZ: I don't know. Let me see here. I don't know.

MR. READING: It seems like I've been hearing their name for a number of years.

MR. OCARIZ: Yes, my understanding is, based on what I've seen, they've given me projections back to '94, and in my conversations with Mr. Cohen, he did mention that they had some problems years ago. So I suspect it's been at least five years.

MR. READING: Mr. Banjanin.

MR. BANJANIN: If we get a judgment, would they be able to go into bankruptcy court before we could collect on that.

MR. OCARIZ: Well, if we get a judgment of 2.6 million, arguably, they could file for bankruptcy, and then we would be in bankruptcy court fighting that, saying that that wouldn't be enough.

Just to bring you a little bit more detail on their assets, what is reported as of September 30, '95, they have cash in bank or cash equivalents of seven hundred sixty-six thousand. They have securities owned at market value of 6.2 million. They have a commissions receivable of two hundred ninety-two thousand, and they have employee and broker receivables of four hundred seventy-six thousand. They are fixed assets, which is what we're talking about really in terms of perhaps levying or obtaining some collateral, is six hundred fifty thousand. Then they have prepaid expenses which, although classified as an asset, that's an item that's been paid out and they are just amortizing.

MR. WHITEHEAD: What are their liabilities?

MR. OCARIZ: Liabilities, they have moneys due to the clearing organization -- four hundred seventy-nine thousand. They have got securities sold but not yet purchased at market -- 1.7 million. They've got a loan payable to the bank at fifty-four thousand. Pretty much their big number here is commissions payable of 1.4 million. They've got accounts payable of nine hundred twelve thousand, income taxes payable of three hundred fifty-two thousand, and then a category of other liabilities of two hundred sixty-eight thousand, for total liabilities of 5.2 million.

MR. READING: Mr. Ocariz, I don't know whether bankruptcy is one of your fields or not, but I've done a number of them for other attorneys. And is it not true that if we were to go ahead to obtain a judgment in an attempt to collect, and they sought protection in the bankruptcy courts, they could, in effect, do what's normally referred to as a cram-down, and they could offer a plan to repay all of their creditors, and we would just be one of the number, and we would be forced to accept whatever they decided to put together in the plan?

MR. OCARIZ: With the caveat that yes, it's not my expertise, although my firm does handle it, one of my other partners does. But yes, that is a possibility of a cram-down, although my understanding is that there is certain criteria that need to be present for a cram-down to occur, and I don't know if that's the case with them. But that certainly is a possibility out there that does happen.

MR. BANJANIN: Could you get 1.5 million out of them on a lump-sum settlement?

MR. OCARIZ: At least based on Mr. Cohen's initial statement, his position was that they weren't going to pay 1.2. Again, I believe that a lot of that was posturing, and I think we can get a seven-digit figure, lump sum out of it. That's my estimation. I wouldn't throw out 1.2 million on the table if I was negotiating on behalf of First Montauk if I'm not willing to go somewhere in that range. But where that number is, I haven't had enough discussions with him yet.

MR. BANJANIN: Do you think it's possible they would give us a million up front and then the rest of it could be spread out so that even if they go under, at least we have recovered a million out of it?

MR. OCARIZ: Again, you know, as to the possibility of that, that may be the case. Given the fact he's thrown out this 1.2 million, there may be a seven-digit lump sum available there, and then the installment payments may be a little bit more palatable.

I definitely got the impression from him, however, that their biggest concern was how the settlement number's going to affect their financial position. So some structuring, which is why I proposed that installment, whatever structure this settlement takes, is going to have to be something that at least for them doesn't substantially affect their bottom line, based on their current performance.

MR. BANJANIN: Could we get a million dollars over the first year by spreading it out? It's a likelihood, isn't it, if they are doing -- if they're in the black, they probably could make it the first year.

MR. BASS: It appears that they are trying to maintain a good public posture on their balance sheet, don't you think, Mike?

MR. WHITEHEAD: Yes.

MR. READING: Do we have any kind of a dividend history for them, because we know that what they've got to come up with is going to have to be palatable to their stockholders, and that means what kind of impact will this have on dividends.

MR. OCARIZ: No, I don't have that information; I can certainly obtain that. Let me see, I'm looking through the documents he gave me to see if there is any mention.

MR. READING: The structured settlement that you have proposed here would generate 1.8 million dollars in roughly a year and a half.

MR. OCARIZ: Right.

MR. READING: So I think that's not a bad beginning point.

MR. WHITEHEAD: What was the net income for the year --

MR. OCARIZ: Their net income for the year, for the nine months ended September 30, 1995, they have net income of eight hundred two thousand dollars compared with two hundred thirty-four thousand for the same period last year.

For the three months ended September 30, 1995, they had a net income of three hundred sixty-five thousand compared with only fifty-three thousand last year.

MR. WHITEHEAD: That's not surprising, considering what the market's done. I don't have a problem with the structured settlement, and I really don't have a problem in making it very palatable to them, because at this point anything that we pick up is going to be on settlement, and I really don't have a problem in making it very palatable to them, because at this point anything that we pick up is going to be on the plus side for us.

If they would agree to a half a million a year over a five-year period, with the first installment to be paid before 12-31 of this year, the second installment to be paid on or around in the first quarter of '96, and then payments due thereafter in the first quarter of the calendar year. I would consider that probably a good settlement if we pull a million dollars out in one hundred twenty days or less. And we also make it such that they are able to pay a dividend.

If we make something that's going to put them in a situation, my fear with a group like this, they're marginal at best, and if we try to squeeze a ton out of them on the front end, they are just going to fold in the cards, they don't care. They don't really have an awful lot at stake at this point.

If we can make it such that if we could get a half a million a year over the next four years, essentially, we've recovered one hundred percent of our money, and we've made it very palatable for them. And it also sets the stage again, because we have to recognize that we are perhaps setting a direction for future settlements, that again a three, four-year structured settlement where we recoup our losses, I think, would be very good. I wouldn't have a problem with that.

CHRIS MORROW, Court Reporter

MR. READING: Commissioner Banjanin.

MR. BANJANIN: Well, under your proposal, in eighteen months we would get back a million two?

MR. OCARIZ: In eighteen months a million eight, and in a little over a year you get back a million two.

MR. BANJANIN: Do you think they would go for that part?

MR. OCARIZ: You know, in every negotiation, the first salvo they are going to view as simply our opening position, so they may try to negotiate down from that. That's the reason why I'm here. I can simply tell them this is it, you know, there is no posturing here. This is the number, this is what the County has authorized; otherwise, we're going forward in Count 1.

And just so that you know, my belief has always been that when I drafted that Count 1, that was the strongest claim we had, because that was going to short ciruit protracted litigation. And if I was correct on the fact that this was a question of law for the Court, and Judge Vinson at this point seems to agree -- you know, we will file the summary judgment in the next two weeks. The brief period for it is going to take approximately forty-five to sixty days. It is quite possible that Judge Vinson may have a decision for us by the end of January.

Once they see the summary judgment, to me, that is the club over their head. They've got to look at this and figure out a way that they are going to oppose this and give Judge Vinson a reason to deny it. In his motion to dismiss he has already knocked out that in pari delicto defense.

They had made another argument that we were not entitled to damages under that count, but at best it was simply declaration from the Court saying it was ultra vires, but that did not turn into a remedy for money damages, and he disagreed with them on that.

We gave him an argument as to why, under this statute, we're entitled to borrow a remedy from 10b-5 security, and he agreed with us. So in my opinion, he's given them a little bit of a strong message. Whether it's intentional or not, I read his order that way. And once we file these summary judgment motions, it's got to be a club working over their head. That's certainly what I will use in negotiating with them, you know, and the reason we can take, I think, a somewhat hard-line on the money, as opposed to taking away that count if we're looking at the other ones where we could end up with a whole host of factual issues.

Because of the existence of this Count 1, we can probably assert more money than what he's initially proposed on the table so long as we've got that count out there. Now, the risk that we run is if Judge Vinson comes out with an opinion before we reach a settlement and he doesn't agree with us at this point and denies summary judgment. That doesn't mean that the claim goes away, it simply means that he has either found some factual issue, or at this point he's not going to resolve it on the paperwork itself; he want's either more evidence or more discovery, then we lose that club. But right now I have to believe that is what's concerning -- and although he wouldn't admit it, I think that's caused the visit, once they got the Court's order, because they had made no overtures at all about settlement until this decision came out from Judge Vinson.

MR. READING: Commissioner Bass, then Commissioner Banjanin.

MR. BASS: I wanted to comment on Commissioner Whitehead's idea. I think that I like that idea for two or three reasons. First, it would make us whole; two, it gets us into seven figures quickly. It gives them some breathing room in terms of their own 10K problems, in terms of public disclosure. And I have no problem with that being our lead offer if you don't.

MR. OCARIZ: Yes, my only recommendation would be that rather than give them a five-year installment plan right off the bat, I would rather shrink the window a little bit to something that I proposed; and then in the course of that negotiation, try to not vary the proceeds but simply extend the payment pattern, so that if we go in there first with an offer of -- and we can bump this 1.8 million, you know, we can try to get this six hundred initial, and then maybe modify the three hundred thousand upwards to five hundred thousand, so that it would give us the full 2.6 million, and then negotiate from that.

You can give me authority for a bottom line in terms of proceeds, and the outside in terms of number of years, and then within those parameters, I can work with them. But my recommendation would be not to initially give them a five-year window because then they are going to take this five-year window and try to work the money down.

MR. WHITEHEAD: It's only a four-year window in reality.

MR. OCARIZ: Or four, right.

MR. WHITEHEAD: I wouldn't have a problem with, if you're wanting to take a more hard-line approach, to go eight, seven, six and four with the eight due, which is essentially their net income for the year. We can say, "Guys, we're not going to break you. You had a tough year, you know, that's life in the fast lane," and then structure it for seven, six and four with the a fall-back or, you know, something short of that.

But I, too, I really do feel like if we can make ourselves whole on this -- and we're kind of deceiving ourselves because there's no interest built into this, so we're really not whole. And they were looking -- in fact, I would even entertain the ability of a discounted buy-out at any point during this thing, based upon a preagreed interest rate, something so that if they have a great year next year, they could buy us out of it at a ten or twelve percent discount. I wouldn't have a problem with that at all. But if you feel like you need to move in that direction, go.

MR. READING: Commissioner Banjanin.

MR. BANJANIN: I agree with you guys. I think the installment -- I'm just wondering, though, if your approach would be better in the sense that we could recover 1.8 million in eighteen months, and then the rest of it you could stretch out over the four or five-year period. But at least we know we would have -- and that's a short enough time frame. If you think they can handle that, I would suggest we do that so that we could recoup at least half of the money. And then if something happens, at least we've gotten half of it back. And the probability is that in an eighteen-month period we would get it. It might push them over, but on the other hand, we would get half of our money back. I think we should go for all of it.

MR. OCARIZ: Let me just clarify one thing. Mr. Whitehead, on the eight, seven, six and four, the seven, six and four you want that a lump-sum payment due some point -

MR. WHITEHEAD: I would say the eight would be due before the end of the year. The same type of offer, you know, put some time frames on it. The seven hundred thousand, obviously, we would deplete their ability to make a payment. Give them to the middle of next year, and then make the following two payments due before July 1 the following year. And still, under that scenario, you've recovered 1.5 million in six months, and in eighteen months you've recovered 2.1.

I don't think they are going to accept that. If I was in their position -- because one of the things that we're not recognizing is the value of a firm like this, quite frequently, is in their trader. All they have to do is fold a deck of cards, put his name in a new corporation, and they are in business again, and the people that have done well with him will stay with him. So we don't have an awful -- it's not like an ongoing concern here in town where you've got a reputation at stake, and you are wanting to keep the family business going. I'm not sure we have that kind of clout with these guys.

MR. OCARIZ: The one other concern with them that has been alluded to in some of my conversations, when Joe Flowers pled out his case, at least in the article that appeared in the Miami Herald, there was a reference to the fact that there was an ongoing criminal investigation into some of the brokers. That touched a node with them, obviously.

They couched it in terms of simply, "Well, now can discovery proceed because our guys are concerned they may have to assert their Fifth Amendment rights."

So, you know, there is this concern of theirs out there; and one of the things that I thought that we could use to the extent it was feasible -- and I think I may have mentioned that in my letter -- is similar to the substantial assistance cases when you've got these criminals, which I'm certainly not suggesting that they are. But in the criminal context somebody who offers assistance, then the government makes a favorable recommendation to the court. And I think maybe something like that from this Commission, to the extent that they are willing to come forward and resolve this with the County up front, rather than engaging in protracted litigation, perhaps we can couch this settlement with a recommendation to the State Attorneys Office that they've cooperated, and for whatever that's worth, to be considered in the context of whatever investigation is ongoing.

I don't know that that would carry any weight with them, but it was just something that I could throw out there to put to them.

MR. WHITEHEAD: I don't know that it would carry any weight with the State Attorneys Office.

MR. OCARIZ: It may not.

MR. BASS: I think it's powerful because the law firm that we have is well-known with the SCC and well connected with the SCC, and I think that's what some of these brokers are factoring --

MR. WHITEHEAD: I don't have a problem with that at all.

MR. TUCKER: Let me just suggest -- while we have suggestions for Mr. Ocariz, I'm concerned if you actually identify specific strategy with him, that is your Board action, and that may at some point limit their discretion to be flexible. So I just want to make sure before you get down to the specific

recommendation --

MR. WHITEHEAD: And I don't mean for any of my recommendations to be ironclad; I'm suggesting a strategy, that being attempting to retain or regain a position of wholeness.

MR. TUCKER: I think that probably Commissioner Whitehead's first suggestion of a half a million dollars at a time would be found much more palatable by them, so that would logically, I think, be our best last fallback position. Our first offer, if this has not already been communicated to them --

MR. OCARIZ: No, it has not.

MR. TUCKER: We might consider making this our first offer. Our second offer would be the eight, seven, six routine, and then our final offer would be the half-million-dollar payments and reminding them, of course, that we still would be losing any interest that these dollars might have been accruing, and that we will do something along the lines of letting the criminal prosecutors know, if they choose to proceed, that these people have been cooperative with us. And we can use a different adjective, according to which one of the payment plans that they choose to use.

Now, there is one caveat. Whenever you're talking about wrapping up a disposition of a criminal proceeding in this, you have the possibility of running a foul with the Florida Bar Rules. I don't know about the other states. That's one of the problems I have had. A wrote a strong demand letter in a criminal case, and our local state's attorney chose not to prosecute, and the pervert that I made my demand against wrote the Bar, and the Florida Bar investigates every complaint. Of course, I used a standard complaint letter, and I made reference to the Florida law that required me to make a demand. But there is that caveat that has to be put in there, so.

MR. TUCKER: May I suggest, I guess, where I think that I hear you all going is that you would like for Mr. Ocariz, Mr. Tew to discuss a structured settlement, and you would like to get as much up front as possible, and you would also like the ultimate goal to be to try to approach a restitution, as possible, that the outside limit -- I would have a point in the negotiations, Mr. Ocariz and Mr. Tew, it's necessary that the outside load would be a four or five-year payment, within that time frame you would like for them, I guess, to negotiate as much as they can get for us, as much up front without driving First Montauk into bankruptcy or to the inability to pay, or somehow driving them out of business and interfering with their ability to pay off.

MR. WHITEHEAD: Do we need to set a parameter for a bottom line on structured settlement in terms of a percentage of the loss? Do you need something -- I mean, obviously, a million dollars over five years, I'm not going to find real palatable, I'm not going to find acceptable. A million eight over five years I might not --

MR. READING: We've got several years here, and I think that we ought to go ahead and separate them out so that Mr. Ocariz is completely clear on them.

First of all, I think that we ought to talk about what is the maximum payout. Let's go ahead and talk about that, and then give him a number that he can use as the outside parameter. And then we'll talk about the dollar numbers or the payout schedules that we will accept. That way I don't think we can make it any more clearer, and it would probably negate the possibility of a new session where we would have to get together, and he would have a complete deck of cards to go in and deal with.

Mr. Banjanin.

MR. BANJANIN: I think our goal should be to recover the full amount, 2.6.

MR. READING: All right, let's take a straw vote on that. Are you all in agreement that we should proceed in this fashion, first?

MR. WHITEHEAD: Well, if you are setting the maximum, no. My maximum would be 2.6, plus accrued interest over the five-year period, I mean, if you are wanting to identify what a hard-line negotiating position should be. So you are probably talking over a five-year period, perhaps a three-million-dollar structured settlement.

I obviously would take a lot less, but if you're looking for what number do I consider it would take to make us whole, that's the number.

You know, I don't think we're going to get that. I mean, I don't think there's a prayer of us getting that, but if you're asking me to set an upper limit, well, the upper limit is going to be what it takes to make this community completely whole.

MR. READING: Let's go question-by-question. The first question is do you want to do it this way, break the issues out and give him an answer one-by-one?

MR. WHITEHEAD: I'm not sure you can because I think the amount of the settlement and the duration of the settlement terms are going to be intrinsically tied together.

I would accept a longer payout period for a greater amount of money. I think there is probably an inverse relationship there.

MR. READING: We can make that the first question to be determined. Is that agreeable to everyone?

MR. OCARIZ: Let me suggest this.

Based on the parameters that we've discussed so far, if I add one year to the proposal in my letter, one additional year with two payments of three hundred thousand, that puts us at 2.4, with payments ending in September of 1998. So in approximately, I guess, a two-and-a-half-year period, you would recover 2.4 million. If I put that out as a first offer, that leaves me, based on the other alternatives we've discussed, letting them go out to late 1998 with 2.5 million. So we've bumped the time, but we also added a hundred thousand to the back end.

And then what we've discussed as a last fallback offer would let them go out an additional year to 1999, and those numbers amount to the full 2.6 million.

MR. WHITEHEAD: I don't have any problem with that at all.

MR. TUCKER: I would just amend that to the 2.6 plus interest if you are going out to 1999.

MR. WHITEHEAD: Yes, if you are going out that far, the 2.6 plus the interest.

MR. EVANS: In what the County proposes, you will need 2.6 plus interest plus legal fees if you really want to be whole.

MR. READING: Or will the interest be based on prime or CPI or what?

MR. OCARIZ: From a legal-fee standpoint, we don't have claims in there that would justify asking for those fees.

On the interest aspect of it we get into a discussion of what the market did had you invested in alternative securities, what the performance would have been.

MR. WHITEHEAD: It's just posturing is all that becomes.

MR. OCARIZ: Yes, yes.

MR. WHITEHEAD: I do have a question with regard to a structured settlement. How does that impact payment to the -- I don't remember the specific contract.

MR. OCARIZ: Yes, our position has been that as you receive the money, that's when we would receive our payment. We certainly aren't -- you know, if you have an installment payment, we are not going to ask you to, you know, take that money and pay us, based on the whole settlement, out of the first proceeds, we're not going to do that.

MR. WHITEHEAD: Normally, we don't vote on these things, anyway, we just give directions, so.

MR. BASS: Could we, Mr. Chairman, though, in terms of Mr. Magaha and Mr. Evans, are you both comfortable with where we're headed on this?

MR. MAGAHA: May I make an observation?

MR. READING: Yes, sir.

MR. MAGAHA: In my conferences with the state attorney, he's very interested in Escambia County getting their money back, so to speak, and I say that in respect because Commissioner Whitehead and legal counsel, here. I even believe that he might make available Russ Edgar to meet with your legal counsel. And, of course, the approach would be we don't want to be counter to what you are trying to accomplish. Now, I say that because this thing involves the whole state of Florida not just Escambia County, and I really believe that if he met with Russ Edgar, you can get a focus on where you need to go. You can't get a better hammer than that to hang over their head, because they can go bankrupt or they can fold their tent, but then you've still got to be aware of what's going to happen down the road.

MR. TUCKER: Let me just say, Mr. Magaha, I know that Mr. Ocariz and Mr. Edgar have been in communication on that very issue.

MR. MAGAHA: What is their status?

MR. TUCKER: Right now they are running the grand jury, and I don't know specifically what the progress is as of today, but I know that they are pursuing criminal investigation on the brokers.

MR. MAGAHA: Yes, I realize that, but my point is this. I think that they would work with you on it. He's interested in the County getting their money.

MR. READING: In the final analysis, it would be up to Edgar, and as long as he doesn't run into statute of limitation problems, then if he says that he can hold these matters in abeyance until we see whether or not things are going to work out, then you probably could rely on that. And that would be a significant carrot to hand out to these people without us formally making that representation. We can say, you know, is what the prosecutor has to say not what we say.

MR. OCARIZ: Okay, so it's clear on the record, Russ has not made any kinds of those statements to me yet in terms of abeyance or anything, I don't know. I know this, they are being investigated. I don't know at what stage of that process they are. I don't know what stage Mr. Edgar's investigation is, but I do know that that is ongoing.

MR. READING: Commissioner Whitehead.

MR. WHITEHEAD: Is there a willingness on the part of the state attorneys office to work with these guys in not pursuing criminal charges if they do come up with restitution or something close to -- I mean, I understand the conversations may have been moving in that direction, but simply us saying, "Yes, guys, we'll write a letter saying drop --" again, I don't know what that means when Russ has got his teeth into something. Is he willing, you know, for the good of the community, I guess, to work with these people in a matter like this?

I mean, you've got two different things. You've got Russ who is pursuing something that's real good for his career, you know, and a settlement that's --

MR. MAGAHA: Surely you jest in that --

MR. WHITEHEAD: You know, it's simply - you know, it's an issue you have to deal with, and it may not be in his personal best interests to drop this, but it may be in the community's best interest.

MR. TUCKER: Commissioners, I know that Mr. Ocariz, every time he's been in here, I know that he has tried or has touched base with Russ, and I would expect he will do that today. I know that in the computer lease litigation, the state attorneys have been very helpful, making a lot of documentation available to us, which you will be discussing in the sunshine, in the attorney's reports, some aspects of that. So I have no reason to believe, given the level of cooperation that they've given us in the other litigation, that at some point when we need that specific level of that fact intensive material, when we reach that point, they would not be equally cooperative.

MR. READING: I guess one other observation is that, although generally speaking, Mr. Edgar may be considered to be the final word on this, in reality it's Curtis Golden.

MR. MAGAHA: I might share with you, Curtis Golden offered Russ Edgar's assistance in the federal case -- I'm talking about on the computer. And Russ actually came up and met with them, and I believe my attorneys talked with him or do you know, David?

MR. TUCKER: I'm sure that she has, but I know that Mr. Messer has spent a substantial amount of time with Russ, and he's made available documents that we did not have.

MR. MAGAHA: Well, my point is that they want to cooperate, and I don't have any reason to think they're going to start with the derivatives.

MR. READING: All right, then. It sounds like we have outlined some parameters. Do you think that we should go ahead and recite them to be sure that Mr. Ocariz is clear on them, or should we have him recite what he understands from our conversations. And then if we have heartburn with his understanding, we'll correct that.

MR. OCARIZ: Okay, that would probably be easier; I've got some notes I took.

Based on the 1.8 million in my letter, I will add one year to that consisting of two payments of three hundred thousand, so that the parameter on that settlement would be 2.4 million, with payments ending September 1998.

The second offer that we discussed would be a total of 2.5 million, structured in terms of eight hundred thousand, seven hundred thousand, six hundred thousand and four hundred thousand dollars, with payments ending in December, 1998.

And the third one that we discussed would be an offer for 2.6 million, and throw in the interest, and the structure of that settlement would be six hundred thousand by December 31 of this year, and then five hundred thousand in each of the subsequent four quarters, in 1996, '97, '98 and '99; and I would have to factor in whatever interest on top of that would be.

Those are the three that I have that we've discussed, and just in terms of general parameters, a four to five-year payout.

MR. READING: Commissioner Banjanin.

MR. BANJANIN: I think he has to have the flexibility to come up with whatever structure will work. But within the general parameters, we want to try to get all of our money back and get as much up front as quick as we can.

MR. OCARIZ: Right.

MR. READING: Do we need to make it any clearer that since it's apparent that none of us believe that we're going to get any interest or return on these dollars, that he has permission to drop that in the negotiations?

MR. BANJANIN: At some point, but he can use it as a bargaining tool right up front.

MR. READING: Right. Commissioner

Junior.

MR. JUNIOR: And lastly, the moneys to your firm will be structured according to what we receive?

MR. OCARIZ: Exactly.

MR. READING: Commissioner Bass.

MR. BASS: In terms of linkage with other firms and the other problems we have in collections, can we do any linkage with this case?

MR. OCARIZ: I suspect, in this particular case, First Montauk's counsel have been, I guess, taking the lead in the litigation in the sense that MGSI and LOP, Lehwald Orosey's counsel have pretty much followed suit with whatever has been filed with First Montauk.

Taking First Montauk out of the picture, I think, is going to start a domino effect with the other defendants. Lehwald Orosey is probably the easy one because the losses suffered with them or four hundred forty thousand only. And I think that if First Montauk falls out of this case, they will probably follow suit, and a settlement with them is much easier to structure.

I don't have any indication yet of what their financial position is, I'm trying to obtain that information.

MGSI Securities is the other defendant that's left in this case. That may be the more problematic one because the losses suffered with them are 7.2 million. So I'm trying to get a handle on what their financial condition is, and that will give us an indication of what we're going to do with this 7.2, but that is going to be the big nut in this case.

MR. EVAN: Where is the rest of it --

MR. OCARIZ: The Hart Securities, just to bring you up to date, Hart Securities filed for bankruptcy even before we filed suit, and as a result, we ended up not suing them. We went in and obtained copies of what their financial information was as presented to the bankruptcy court, and my recollection is there was less than ten cents on the dollar. So we made a decision not even to file a claim because you're really going to be spending good money going after bad.

MGSI also filed -- I'm sorry, not MGSI, but Merchants & Securities, which was a defendant in this case, and immediately after filing, we received a notice that they had filed for bankruptcy. And their financial position is along the same lines of Hart. So that's where it is as to those two.

The other ones that are remaining that we are handling are Raymond James and Coastal Securities. They were not defendants to this case because they had arbitration clauses. We had, early in the year, been negotiating with Raymond James when Jim Moye was here. They had been doing those negotiations direct.

Those ended up going nowhere. I have now a statement of claim prepared that I am going to file against Raymond James and Coastal Securities. I spoke with Raymond James' attorney day before yesterday, Paul McTecky (phonetic), and simply as a courtesy, our firm has dealt with them before in other litigation, and when it comes to the end of the year, my understanding is they may want to try to resolve these problems without having the public exposure and the press releases and the ongoing litigation. The losses with Raymond James are approximately two hundred fifty thousand, I believe. And so I have sent him, as a courtesy, a draft of the statement of claim that I am filing, which pretty much tracks the complaint in this case. The only difference is we're going to be in front of the arbitrators.

And Coastal Securities, I am trying to get ahold of their in-house counsel. The losses with Coastal are five hundred thousand. So that arbitration, we're looking at seven hundred fifty thousand that was lost there, so it's not as substantial as this case.

MR. BASS: What about the upward linkages to the Wall Street firms --

MR. OCARIZ: Well, actually, the Merrill Lynch lawsuit -- I just read it in the Wall Street Journal two days ago -- is reinstated, and interestingly enough --

MR. BASS: Refiled?

MR. OCARIZ: Well, it had been dismissed by the trial court, and the appellate court has now reversed that decision apparently saying there was, at least on the pleadings themselves, a claim. And the interesting fact was the article also mentioned they have -- apparently, they have a similar ultra vires claim.

MR. BASS: What are First Montauk's linkages to Wall Street?

MR. OCARIZ: I don't know.

MR. BASS: You are not pursuing it that way?

MR. OCARIZ: No. Tom and I had looked at, early on, under the belief that there might have been something going on in Wall Street which caused this dumping down to these guys, but we just haven't seen anything there that would give us the opportunity to present a claim against the Wall Street firms. I mean, we've been able to see no evidence that will give us some kind of linkage, so right now we've just been traveling on instinct. But unless something else breaks at this point, we're not pursuing that.

MR. READING: It seems to me like we have given some pretty good parameters to work with today. I would throw out one idea for contemplation.

We now have a security investment ordinance for the County. We may wish to contemplate whether or not we need to go back in and make a modification of that stating that we will only invest with brokers or firms that are on the big board, because that gives them an immediate financial basis that's going to be something that we can always count as money in the bank. Just having a seat on the big board is more expensive than some of these --

MR. WHITEHEAD: Well, buying government securities; doesn't matter who sells them to you.

MR. OCARIZ: Yes, that was my point. I mean, traditionally, the investment parameters were set under 28.33, which was government-backed securities; these were not. These were these agencies' securities, so I haven't seen your resolution, but that may be something the Board may want to consider in making --

MR. TUCKER: In keeping with the ordinance, that's not really litigation related, so I just have to suggest you probably shouldn't be discussing that aspect of it in the sunshine hearing.

MR. READING: Any other comments?

MR. TUCKER: The procedure, as we go back in, is you have to go and reconvene after the recess.

MR. READING: And that's where we've been.

MR. TUCKER: And then go back and announce where you've been, then adjourn this meeting, and then reconvene as the regular BCC meeting.

MR. READING: Okay, there being no further comments, this meeting is adjourned.

P R O C E E D I N G S

MR. TUCKER: For the benefit of the court reporter, could we go around and introduce ourselves. I'm David Tucker, the County Attorney.

MR. OCARIZ: Bert Ocariz, Counsel for the County.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Tom Banjanin Chairman, Board of County Commissioners.

COMMISSIONER BASS: Mike Bass, County Commissioner.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Mike Whitehead, County Commissioner.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: Wilson Robertson, County Commissioner.

MR. EVANS: Barry Evans, County Administrator.

COMMISSIONER JUNIOR: Willie Junior, County Commissioner.

MR. TUCKER: I felt we would start with the easy one first and that's the Escambia County versus MGSI.

MGSI is the only brokerage that we're still in court against. We're into them for seven million dollars, but they really don't have the money, and I'll let Bert summarize where we are with them, but it doesn't look like we can get them to approach a hundred thousand dollars in the settlement with them.

MR. OCARIZ: We filed suit against MGSI and two other brokerage firms last year, First Montauk and Lehwald, Orosey and Pepe. First Montauk was the first settlement. Commissioner Whitehead was involved with that one. We settled that one for nine hundred thousand dollars.

David Tucker and I just attended mediation a few weeks ago in Miami on the other defendant, Lehwald, Orosey and Pepe, and the loss against them was approximately five hundred thousand, and we settled for a hundred-eighty-seven, which included twelve thousand dollars to the State Attorney's Office to cover their expenses, so the net to the county on the civil side was a hundred seventy-five thousand.

MGSI, of the three brokerage firms, is the one that the county suffered the most losses with. Unfortunately, they're also the one with the weakest financial position. They have sent me financial statements twice over the course of the litigation and they have approximately three to four hundred thousand net assets after liabilities and everything. Of that amount, they have some money set aside for other litigation that they have pending, and this is all according to their counsel. They owe their attorneys approximately a hundred and fifty thousand dollars of that three hundred thousand pot that's available.

What they have told me is in terms of liquidity and cash they have about fifty to sixty thousand dollars that they could put toward the litigation in this case. That number had started lower. I've been negotiating with them, because I've at least taken the position that whatever they owe their lawyers or perhaps some of these other entities, I don't see why Escambia should come behind them, so that's caused a little shift in money. Their last offer is sixty thousand dollars -- an eighty thousand dollars total settlement, of which they could put down fifty thousand - I'm sorry not sixty - and then pay the remaining thirty. They want to pay it over a twelve month period. So that's where the litigation is in terms of the settlement offer.

From the liability side and where the lawsuit is, we filed earlier in the year a summary judgment motion, and the basis of the summary judgment motion was one of the theories in the case, which is this ultra virus theory. We've taken the position that under 28.33 of the Florida Statutes and Section 125.31, before the County was permitted to invest in these derivatives there had to be a Board resolution, because these types of investments are not specifically authorized under Florida law, and our position is and in interpretation of the Florida Statutes is that your surplus funds have to be invested one of two ways, either under 28.33, like the clerk's office does with its surplus funds, or alternatively, if this Board was to have passed a resolution saying 28.33 only authorizes five or six categories of investments, we want to go outside of that and use the ones enumerated in 125.31. A resolution from this Board authorizing that would have done it. That didn't occur in this case, so we've taken the position that Mr. Flowers' investments in these derivatives were ultra virus. That's the basis of the summary judgment. It's, quote, what I would call a clean head shot, because you really don't have a lot of factual issues. It's really a legal interpretation of what the Florida Statutes require.

MGSI responded to that and they pointed out several things trying to create this factual issue to defeat summary judgment. One of the things they pointed out there was that there was a bond offering by the County several years ago and interestingly enough that bond offering authorized the use of any of the funds that came in to be invested in these derivative type investments. So they're trying to make this quasi ratification type of argument that while it may not been specifically authorized in this particular case the County has invested its money in these types of investments, and, therefore, there was nothing ultra virus about what Mr. Flowers did.

They've also raised as an issue this federal statute and it's -- David and I have been looking at this for a while. This federal statute is interesting in the sense that it looks on its face to preempt 125.31, which requires a Board resolution. What the statute says is that if you have any limitation that requires an investment in direct obligations of the United States, which is what 28.33 does, they say that if you have investments in agencies, you're to treat these agency investments like Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, which is where these derivatives arrive, you're to treat that as a direct obligation of the United States. So they're raised this federal statute arguing that that preempts 125.31, and, therefore, none of the transactions were ultra virus and the County shouldn't be entitled to summary judgment.

Judge Vinson has had the motion now fully briefed since, I believe, March of last year and there's been no ruling from him. We don't have any indication of what the delay is. He normally has taken care of motions in this case very quickly. As soon as he got a notice from us that we were going to mediate with LOP he issued a order right away, go do that. I get the sense from him that he's having some difficulty with the issue. I don't know if it's this preemption argument or he's just letting it sit perhaps in the hopes of allowing the case to work itself out through settlement.

MR. TUCKER: Let me jump in at this point. If MGSI is correct and under federal law Flowers was authorized to invest in the derivatives, anything in state law prohibiting that is contrary, even all the state statutes, and even, in fact, probably Flowers indictment would have been wrong just because of the position of federal law. The state attorney doesn't agree with that interpretation of the statute, but to date no case or agency or court has ever interpreted the statute.

The down side risk for us pursuing this is that we might be the first and the judge might rule that, in fact, it does preempt. If that ruling came down and we were holding out, say, for the sake of an extra thirty or forty thousand dollars and Judge Vinson ruled that this federal statute did preempt it, it would, I think, seriously compromise our arbitration claims, because now we would have this -- you know, I think you can all take it down the path down the river road our position, so that's essentially why we're here about MGSI.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: How much money did we lose?

MR. TUCKER: Seven million dollars.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Their net worth is less than three hundred thousand?

MR. EVANS: How do they anticipate continuing their operation?

MR. TUCKER: They're not.

MR. OCARIZ: They actually have pulled their licenses voluntarily and all that they're doing now is some sort of investment advice service, which is generating very little money for them. So right now they're still not -- I don't know if that's just a tactic that they pulled in to let the storm go by and then they'll try to gear back up, but at least as of -- I want to say at least six months ago they voluntarily pulled their licenses and are not doing any brokerage service.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: Do we have any other federal situations pending, any others?

MR. OCARIZ: Well, this is the only one in federal court, but that argument, we have that same ultra virus claim in all of the cases that's we filed, because it was what we believed to be the cleanest shot in terms of trying to get liability against these brokerage firms, but that issue is pending in everyone of the pending cases with MGSI, Coastal, and Raymond James.

MR. TUCKER: But if the arbitrators decide that, it doesn't have the same damaging effect as if a federal judge decides that.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: Are any of the principal's personal assets be at risk or are they protected?

MR. OCARIZ: In the MGSI case presently, no. They all have the protection of the corporate structure. The only way to get around that would be to see if there is a basis for a fraudulent transfer claim.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: I just hate for them to skim off everything and have it in their own personal accounts and us sitting there with something -- it looks like we get three hundred thousand and they've got millions in their personal accounts.

MR. OCARIZ: The way that it would generally work is, we would have to prevail on liability against them and on some fraud base claim, and most of these brokerage -- brokers, individually, at the time made a lot of money. I think in one of the other cases one of the brokers was making about three, three hundred fifty thousand dollars a year, most of it which came on the Escambia transaction, but in order for us to get passed the corporate shield we would have to have a fraudulent transfer argument, and that, again, as you can see from the name would be proving a fraud based claim. So we would have to essentially prevail on the main case, have the fraud established there and then try to go after them individually, saying, well, you committed the fraud here, so all of these commissions that you earned personally you are now exposed for.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Could we prove that?

MR. OCARIZ: I'm sorry?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Could we prove the fraud?

MR. OCARIZ: Where the case has been -- where the cases have evolved since the last time I was here, the causation issue which kind of relates to the fraud claim has gotten a little bit more difficult in the sense that there have been several documents that have come out that were signed by Joe Flowers. Some of them are letters. There's one, I brought a copy of here, which I think is dated April '93, where he essentially talks about that at the beginning when he made these investments in these derivatives he didn't understand the risks, but by this point in time in '93, this letter seems to suggest that he now comprehended the risk and was trying to fix the problem. Obviously, if for nothing else, taking the letter at face value, that undercuts our liability claims a lot, because now the way the case law looks at that is, by continuing to invest in derivatives he made a separate investment decision each time with the knowledge, and what we had always believed and taken the position in these cases is that Joe Flowers didn't understand this, and I know from meeting personally with Joe Flowers at the beginning, and this is, I guess, after these letters, I still walked away with the impression that he didn't understand this. But we do have this letter out there from him and there are a couple other statements that he had supposedly made to that effect, some of which are reflected in telephone logs by some of the brokers that spoke to him, so that there are these statements where Joe Flowers at least sounds like he's telling people he understood and he has put it in writing, and while in a court of law we may do a little bit better with that because of evidentiary rulings than in arbitration where all these are are, all of these things will come in and the arbitrators will assign whatever weight they deem necessary to them, and what tends to happened in those kind of cases, is that they -- basically it's like a court of the equity. They will do that little balancing test. They may come up splitting the baby or may come up and say from this day forward Flowers knew what he was doing, so anything he purchased thereafter you're not entitled to recover from, so that will cut the window substantially of where our damage claims are.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: How much money did we make with this group?

MR. OCARIZ: Make?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Yes. In all of these things there tended to be on the front end you were making money. It wasn't until the interest rates turned around that you really started biting it.

MR. OCARIZ: Right.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Are we looking at the same kind of situation too though where if we say that one transaction is illegal they have an argument to say that we should void all of it?

MR. OCARIZ: Yes. That's the netting, cherry picking theory. They've accused us of cherry picking, only taking the losses and not taking a look at the ones that you made money on. There's an Eleventh Circuit case which would govern here. It's called the Cane case against Shearson. In that case because of the fraud provisions, said that you couldn't net, there was no authority to net, because you're really talking about who's going to the get the windfall, the victim or the culprit, and then basically said, set those other transactions aside, they're allowed to cherry pick. That one came up in the context of an arbitration, went up on appeal to the federal court and they reversed, because the arbitrators had netted, but there's still the argument out there, and I think it's going to depend personally on how each of these arbitrators view that. I think instinctively most people think that you should net and so there's a strong argument to be made and, in fact, the mediator that we were in front of in Miami thought that we would have a tough time cherry picking, that he thinks most arbitration panel would net.

So there is that concern out there that while we are right now cherry picking in establishing, for instance, in Coastal, five hundred thousand dollars worth of damages, that may come down some if we made money on some of the other transactions, and I say "if", because I haven't been able to get my hands on the numbers yet. Most of the reports that have been prepared by the County during this whole time period don't give me all the information I need. They compute losses and I think almost in everyone they exclude interest payments, which is something we have to add. I will tell you this, there is one report that suggested to me that if you netted you made money on several of these. I don't know if MGSI falls into that category because the loss against them is so high, approximately seven million dollars, but on some of these other brokers, including brokers we haven't sued, if you net, it appears that you made money.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: Are the arbitrators, I know a little bit about mediation, but I've never been in arbitration, will they find -- rule who is at guilt or will they place dollar value or what?

MR. OCARIZ: They will do both. The arbitration is essentially almost like a jury trial except you don't have the jury. You have a panel of three arbitrators who will hear the case. They basically take in all of the evidence and at the end they will meet and decide which way they're going to go on the claims that were presented and they will issue a written, what they call an award letter, either determining in favor of Escambia and awarding a dollar amount or determining in favor of the brokerage firms and no dollar amount.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: The reason I asked that, will they award a fair value regardless of the net worth of the assets of the corporation?

MR. OCARIZ: Absolutely.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: If that happens and their company can't settle the claim with their assets, what do you do then? Do you go after the personal assets?

MR. OCARIZ: Again, if they find liability on the fraud claims, what you would have first would be this judgment against the corporation and you try to levy on any remaining assets at the time, which means if they had this two hundred thousand sitting in the bank because they haven't paid the attorneys and haven't paid on those other claims you would go try and grab that first. To satisfy any remaining balance in the judgment, then we would be looking at things like the fraudulent transfer claim against the individuals and see if we could get passed the corporate veil.

MR. TUCKER: The company that doesn't have the money we're not in arbitration with. We strayed a little bit. They're the ones in federal court.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: I thought we had all of them in arbitration.

MR. TUCKER: We've got one in court, two in arbitration. But even if we got a judgment in court for the full amount then the company probably would go into bankruptcy. If they went into bankruptcy, essentially that would wipe it out and it would be years, if ever, before we could pierce all of that to get to the individuals.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: The seven million dollar claim where they only have three hundred, if we can't go after their personal assets, in my opinion, we ought to make the best settlement and get on with it. I mean, you're just wasting a lot of valuable expense and time to pursue it if the corporation is basically bankrupt, worth two hundred thousand and we want seven million.

COMMISSIONER BASS: Along those lines Wilson is talking about, you've never mentioned this Civil Rico action against the individuals we've talked about.

MR. OCARIZ: Yeah. The Civil Rico claims, they were kind of in vogue for a few years when they first came out and everybody started using them. In my experience, I'd say over the last five or six, including cases out of the United States Supreme Court, they've cut back on liability, either the Federal Rico or the state Civil Rico. It's much more difficult to prove the Rico claim, because you have to establish this pattern of fraud and link all of those transactions together. I mean, it's a much more complex fraud base claim than what we have in this law suit, because we've got the securities claims which basically make the common law claims like a statutory fraud claim, you know, you prove the misrepresentation and the omission, you prove the damages, and if you establish those two elements you're going to get an award. Under the Civil Rico there are a lot more hoops to jump through and that's the reason we stayed away from those claims, because they really didn't add anything to the lawsuit and it just made it more difficult and more complex and I thought would muddy the case too much.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Do they have other claims against them? Are they enough that they would be put in bankruptcy too?

MR. OCARIZ: As to MGSI, they mentioned that there is one more case against them. I forget if it's the State of Texas or the State Florida, but he said the state and I forget which one. They do have one other case that they've gone to and I think are in the process of settling and that's why he's saying that this money is getting depleted as we go along.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, here's what I'm wondering, if you thought this firm was going to come back, I wonder if we could negotiate a settlement for a lot more money but spread it out, even if it took ten years, if you thought that this firm was going to come back and start making money again, rather than taking a seven million dollar loss on the thing.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: They would probably come back in a different corporation, wouldn't they?

MR. OCARIZ: I suspect that's what would happen. It would be ridiculous for them to come back under the same name.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: They would have all the same liabilities to address all over again. So they're just going to bankrupt and come back under a different corporation.

MR. OCARIZ: Right now I don't have any information or even any suggestion that they're coming back. They, like I said, they have pulled their licenses and I personally confirmed that. I didn't take the lawyer's opinion on it. I called and confirmed that they had done that and they did. Right now I don't have any indication that they're coming back. They certainly haven't folded their tent. The lawyer said that's not what they want to do, because they don't want -- none of the individuals want the stigma that they were involved with corporations or a corporation that went into bankruptcy, because apparently that would affect them down the road. I get the impression that they're trying to wind up this corporation by avoiding the bankruptcy. I don't have any indication that they're trying to rework it, find cheap settlements and then gear it up again.

MR. TUCKER: The individuals may come back and we could probably put something in the settlement that if MGSI ever does do something again, that there would be -- you know, they would have to pay us, but, you know, I think that we all understand that if they do come back it might be the same individuals but they will have a different corporate entity. They will have wound this one down and closed it up and so if anybody asked them they could say, well that corporation served its purpose but now we have a new corporation, a new corporate entity.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: My final question would be, in your discovery did it appear that these commissions for individuals during the course of our business, all of a sudden their salaries went from one hundred thousand to three hundred fifty thousand?

MR. OCARIZ: Yeah, I mean --

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: That's the same as skimming off the money they were making and protecting it, but if we're not going to pursue it to the fullest, get a claim for fraud and all this and go after the individuals, then I think we need to get what little we can get out of the corporation and be done.

MR. OCARIZ: There has been in several of these cases, and it's not only limited to Escambia, during this period of derivatives, I think most brokerage firms and the individuals saw their salaries spike up just simply because of the volume of derivatives that were being sold. I liken it to the junk bond era. When junk bonds became in vogue everybody made tons of money, everybody was investing in them and this was really the next wave of investments. Derivatives had the same effect. The market went from nonexistent in the early '80s, to unmeasurable by the time Escambia got in these. So certainly I've seen the salaries spike up, but I wouldn't say it was anything unusual just to the Escambia cases. I think that happened across the board.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What is your recommendation?

MR. OCARIZ: With MGSI their last offer was eighty thousand dollars, of which they would pay fifty thousand lump sum and give the County a promissory note for thirty thousand to be paid in twelve months. That's the highest that we've gotten. They started out in the forty range, tried to lock themselves into fifty, and I just kept telling them fifty was not going to do it, so they went back and looked at their numbers. That's when they gave me the financials and they now have bumped it to this eighty. I don't know that we're going to get much more from them than the eighty, for this reason: they've got nothing to gain by giving us more money. They've got the other cases out there. They look at this as basically a sinking fund. They've got so much cash and it's a question of who gets to it first and after that they're going to put their hands up and say go get a paper judgment. You know, if we can't pay our lawyers anymore, go get a judgment in court, because there's no assets to collect against.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: What do you think are the chances of ever getting that thirty thousand if they're folding up? Either pay eighty up front now and be done with it, because I don't think we'll ever get the thirty.

MR. OCARIZ: I have been pushing for the eighty. I told them the County is not interested in the installments.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: I don't believe you will ever see that thirty, personally. The settlement will be made. They will fold up and you can just forget that note and the thirty thousand.

MR. OCARIZ: The only way around that would be which is what we convinced the defendant from Lehwald, Orosey and Pepe to do, which was personally guarantee the installment portion of their obligation.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: We might get it that way.

MR. OCARIZ: I haven't put that up to MGSI yet, because I've been pushing to try to get the eighty lump sum, telling them, you know, put the County ahead. I don't care about the lawyers. I don't care about whoever else is out there. You know, we lost seven million against you. Nobody has got that kind of claim that you're looking at, give us the eighty up front. So this is the last letter that I got. They upped the cash down, because I think they were only going to put twenty-five thousand initially, so they've upped that and I'm still pushing for the eighty lump sum, but I could put alternatively ---

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I would settle for fifty with a personal guarantee.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: Or eighty upfront.

MR. OCARIZ: I think if we could get the personal I would be a lot more comfortable, because then there's an incentive there to pay this off.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I move.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: I'll second.

COMMISSIONER JUNIOR: Question then, will this thing with Judge Vinson go away?

MR. OCARIZ: Yes, if we settle with MGSI, then the case before Judge Vinson is gone.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It would benefit then. I mean, we've still got other cases pending.

MR. OCARIZ: Absolutely. If Judge Vinson was to come down against the County on the ultra virus theory we now have a court of law that has interpreted these statutes and it could be used by the other brokers or conversely, if the arbitration panel decided against us on the ultra virus that basically has no value outside of that case, because Judge Vinson, for example, isn't going to take stock in anything the arbitrators do. So it would tend to be persuasive or binding in other cases if it came from Judge Vinson, where it wouldn't be the case the other way.

COMMISSIONER JUNIOR: So the thing now is you get the eighty thousand dollars, fifty up front, and a personal guarantee and if they can't provide the personal guarantee shouldn't we ask for the eighty?

MR. OCARIZ: Oh, yes. I will be pushing the eighty.

MR. BANJANIN: That was the motion.

MR. OCARIZ: As I understand my instructions are to get either eighty thousand up front, or fifty and thirty, with the thirty being guaranteed personally by the MGSI individuals.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Okay, we have a motion and a second. All in favor please raise their right hand.

(Whereupon the Commissioners Voted)

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: It passes unanimously.

MR. TUCKER: Now for --

MR. EVANS: This is the easy one?

MR. TUCKER: This is the easy one. The more difficult one is the -- and understand that we spent a substantial amount of time, particularly with MGSI, to see if there was some way we could pierce the corporate veil to go after the individuals, so this is not a decision not to go after individuals. This was basically we don't think that we have a claim against individuals at this time and if we thought we had an ability to tag individuals we would be there and we would be doing that. So we think that the corporate veil here is strong enough that we would not really have a shot to pierce it, but just so that you're aware we're not saying, well, let's punt on the individuals. We have looked at that and we have made efforts to try to pierce that veil to bring in the individuals.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: My only reason for bringing that out, I think those folks should have known that government should not be investing in derivatives.

MR. OCARIZ: And that essentially is our ultra virus claim, that the government shouldn't be in there. But in order to get them individually you need that fraud claim, which is that intent, they had an intent to defraud, and you've got to establish that intent up-front, and the problem there or at least part of the problem, again, is how much did Flowers know, because if they misrepresent a fact to Joe Flowers, but Joe Flowers has any knowledge independently of the misrepresentation, then you cannot prove the fraud.

That's where the question mark has now arisen since the last time we met, because of some of these statements that have been brought to light that Joe Flowers has made, either in writing or supposedly in telephone calls with some of these brokerage firms.

MR. TUCKER: The other thing to remember about the individuals is that ---

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: -- the only way you could prove fraud, I guess, would be if he was part of it, which, you know, I don't think anybody believes that.

MR. OCARIZ: I haven't seen any evidence to suggest that.

MR. TUCKER: The other thing is that the State Attorney is still out there and they're still churning around with MGSI, so they that have ways to get the individuals and we don't.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: We're running past time. Do you have another thing to decide?

MR. TUCKER: There are two more actually merged into one, because they're both arbitration with both the same rules. You've got this letter and the issue there is if we are not successful, and I wanted to bring this to your attention, if we are not successful in the arbitration either because they decide that Flowers really did know what he was doing, the County somehow ratified it, or just, you know, there is no claim, there is a possibility that the arbitrators could award attorneys fees against the County and then we would have to be -- at that point have to pay the attorneys fees of Coastal and Raymond James, so I didn't know how much tolerance for risk. I would like for Bert to explain that. It's not necessarily a large probability, but I don't want you proceeding with the idea that that risk is not out there.

MR. OCARIZ: In the Coastal case, the damages that were suffered by the County, and, again, this is under our cherry picking theory, is approximately five hundred thousand. In the Raymond James case it's approximately two hundred thousand.

The way that the attorney fee issue arises is, we have a claim under Florida Statute 517, the Florida Investor's Protection Act. That claim has a prevailing party award of fees, so whoever wins gets to recover their attorney fees. If we were to prevail they would have to pay my firm's attorneys fees, which would then leave basically almost a 100 percent recovery on your part. Alternatively, if they were to prevail, they could recover attorney fees, and I say "could", because the statute also has language in there that the prevailing party will recover fees unless to award it would be unjust.

The only case out there that has addressed this issue is this case, Newsome v. Dean Witter. It's a Florida First District case. In that case there was an elderly gentlemen. He lost money, but the brokerage firm prevailed on a statute of limitations defense and the panel found that it would be unjust in that case to award fees. So there is some precedent out there for finding that a brokerage house wins, but doesn't get its fees, because the particular facts of that case didn't justify an award of fees.

Certainly we've got that argument here. I can't predict for you what a panel would do. They may look at this case and perhaps in light of some of these statements made by Flowers, say, you know what, Flowers knew, we're going to go ahead and award fees, because this isn't the kind of case that would make it unjust, given the amount of information Mr. Flowers knew.

Alternatively, they could go the other way and say, well, we're talking about public funds here. It's really not the County that has brought this suit, it's the County on behalf of its taxpayers, which is the source of these funds and this being a governmental context, at least under the facts of this case, it would be unjust to award fees even though the County lost.

So those are the two sides of the coin that you're faced with. The risk is certainly out there. At this point in time I would say that Coastal and Raymond James -- Raymond James, let me start with them. They entered the picture a little bit later and they also were retained by the County to advise them on their portfolio, so of all the brokerage firms that I've litigated with, I would say Raymond James from a defense standpoint maybe in little bit better position, because they really came in at the tail end. They sold the county, I believe it was a principle only and an interest only derivative. There are two that we're suing on, which in the scheme of all of these derivatives, while they're all of a high risk, these are probably the less riskier ones of the group. So they have certain arguments that may appeal to an arbitration panel and have them come back in favor of Raymond James and also award them their fees.

It's the smallest case that we have out there, two hundred thousand dollars. We haven't really had any serious settlement discussion since the case was filed though. We had it sort of settled early on and Jim Moye was cranking the numbers at the time and I think we were about thirty thousand dollars apart and we ended up not settling because he wanted to try to close that gap a little bit more. So my next step would be to try to start settlement discussion with them and perhaps try to go to a mediation and get this resolved that route.

As to Coastal, Coastal has put on a four corners defense. They, at least to us, have taken the position they're going to defend this thing. They don't think they have any exposure. They're the ones that have brought a lot of the statements that Mr. Flowers has made in writing or through telephone logs, they've brought those to light. They have done their homework in an all out effort to defend this case. So at least in terms of how these brokerage firm have looked at these cases, I would say Coastal is now in the strongest defense. Sondock dug up a lot of stuff that these other brokerage firms had not, so the risk, I'd say, is a little bit higher in that case, that if we were not to prevail the arbitrators could certainly say we're going to go ahead and make an award of fees.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: How much are we talking about?

MR. OCARIZ: I don't have a number on their fees yet. It would be something that would be addressed after the liability phase, but I would say that the way that I've seen them run this case, I would be surprised if as to this point they don't have a hundred thousand in fees. I think they're over the hundred thousand dollar mark and if this was going to go to a full trial sometime in May or June, they would probably be close to the two hundred thousand dollar number.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: For each one?

MR. OCARIZ: No, just for Coastal. Raymond James, I don't have a feel for how they've defended this case yet, because they haven't even come and looked at documents, where Coastal has received our 18 boxes. They've gone through them. They did a lot of work upfront before we went to the mediation, which became apparent in their presentation, so they have a lot invested in there. That doesn't mean they're entitled to get it all back. There may be some redundancy.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Do you think you can negotiate settlement with both of them?

MR. OCARIZ: With Coastal, where we are right now, we left the mediation and they had put fifty thousand on the table. The mediator, a retired judge, told us that she believes she could get it up to seventy-five thousand. Informally through the mediator

I had told them that the County would consider anything north of a hundred and twenty-five thousand. She related that to Coastal. Their attorney wrote me back a few weeks ago and said, Well that's higher than we were considering. I think the push maybe around a hundred thousand dollars, because I got the feeling from the mediation that the seventy-five thousand was on the table unofficially. They didn't want to put it down, and given the fact that he just simply didn't outright reject the hundred and twenty-five and say we'll never pay anything close to that, I think we've got something north of the seventy-five thousand. That's what I want to explore with him over the course of the next few weeks.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: Well, is it reasonable to cherry pick? What would be our loss if we took the entire account?

MR. OCARIZ: With cherry picking it's five hundred thousand dollars. Net -- again, I don't have any of the net figures for any of these brokerage firms.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: It's less than that wasn't it?

MR. OCARIZ: It should be less than that.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: It seems a little unreasonable that we would want to take the bad account and not take the good account.

MR. OCARIZ: Intuitively, I think that that ---

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: --- I know we would like to.

MR. OCARIZ: And I think intuitively, that is everybody's reaction to it. Like I said, we do have case law in this circuit that says you're allowed to do that, but that's always contingent on proving our fraud base claim. So there is that cherry picking issue there.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: I'm not trying to put you on the spot, but what do you think our -- if we take the settlement then we have control of all of our fees. What do we think that would be? Are we just washing out?

MR. WHITEHEAD: They're on a contingency fee.

MR. OCARIZ: Attorney's fees with my firm? Yeah, we're on the contingency. We get a third of whatever we recover for you, so there's always a net to the County.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: I didn't know you were on a contingency.

COMMISSIONER BASS: What if we had a motion authorizing you on Coastal to settle at a hundred thousand and go to mediation?

MR. OCARIZ: We went to mediation.

COMMISSIONER BASS: That means we're going back to mediation.

MR. OCARIZ: No, going back with Raymond James, which we haven't mediated with.

MR. TUCKER: We could also go back with Coastal.

MR. OCARIZ: We could go back with Coastal if they would be willing to. There's no obligation to do that. We just did it voluntarily in an effort to try to resolve this.

MR. EVANS: If we could settle it we don't need to go back.

MR. OCARIZ: Right, exactly.

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: At the risk of all the legal fees that they can run up are a quarter of a million dollars, and y'all have settled million and millions of dollars in claims, I wasn't here, but I think y'all have done very well as a Board. I think we need to take these final amounts that are so much smaller and just get the best settlement and get on with it, because these things can drag out forever, and I would be afraid of that risk of the liability and all that.

MR. OCARIZ: Obviously, there's the time value of money, you know, if you get the money today --

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: Time is money.

MR. OCARIZ: And there is the risk of the exposure on the attorney fees issue. There's also the danger that given the way that Coastal has defended this case they may be able to bring things out that Raymond James could use and so the Raymond James case becomes a Coastal case in terms of defending it, and on the positive side, if you net -- I think that with a settlement in the range of a hundred thousand you may end up close to what your out-of-pocket was. I just don't have the figures to tell you with certainty, yes, here's the number, there's the number, but based on everything that I've seen, the loss calculations have always excluded interest, and from some of the interest payments that I've been able to find there were some of these things that there was fifteen thousand received in interest, twenty thousand received in interest, and if you start taking, you know, twelve, thirteen thousand dollars over the course of five or six of these things you're almost at a hundred thousand right there.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, why don't we have a motion to authorize him to negotiate settlements in these cases?

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: I move that we go -- if we can go back to the one that we mediated and try to get a hundred or better and then mediate the other one, which you said was only a couple hundred thousand.

I make a motion that we get the best settlement we can, no less than a hundred thousand on the one you've already mediated.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Do we have a second?

COMMISSIONER BASS: Second.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: All in favor please raise your right hand.

(Whereupon the Commissioners Voted)

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Unanimously approved.

COMMISSIONER BASS: Let me just say one other thing, Tom. You know, one of the concerns from the very beginning was that -- not to destroy any linkages we had with these regional firms with the national firms. You guys have not given a lot of encouragement in that direction.

MR. OCARIZ: I'm sorry?

MR. TUCKER: That's in the DLJ.

MR. OCARIZ: Oh, with DLJ.

COMMISSIONER BASS: Wasn't it Orange County where they went to -- who was it? Merrill Lynch.

MR. OCARIZ: Merrill Lynch. The one thing that we've discovered and it's a claim we've been looking at for several months is a claim against Donaldson Lufkin and Jenrette, DLJ. From the documents that we've obtained from the County, in 1990, DLJ, through a broker that was working at -- I forget. He might have been at First Montauk at the time. They came to the County and told Joe Flowers you need to revise your investment policy. This is prior to the derivative investment. They drafted an investment policy, which is one that they obtained from somewhere in California. I have not yet identified whether coincidentally it's Orange County or not, because everything has been stricken out of it, but I've got a copy of the draft. That became the draft of the County's investment policy. My understanding is that DLJ's legal department even looked at it and approved it, never considering what Florida Statutes would require, and that's what Joe Flowers adopted. But our theory against DLJ is going to be along the lines of almost a domino effect, had their legal department, had DLJ done their homework upfront and realized that a board resolution was required, not simply the preparation of an investment policy, the County would have never gone into these things.

COMMISSIONER BASS: What's the potential?

MR. OCARIZ: We go back to the causation issue and Mr. Flowers. The problems becomes that DLJ's draft was in early 1990. I believe the County started making these investments in late '91, '92, and toward the tail end of '92 or '93, is when some of these statements come out where Mr. Flowers is saying he didn't understand it back then, but he understands it now. So if that was accepted, then we would be in court with DLJ and not in arbitration. The window may get closed to a point in time where the County had not made a significant investment in the derivative, and substantially reduced the exposure. My theory is going to be to shoot for the whole bottle of wax if we proceed with this case, which is going to be from day one, had you told us, we went in, so but for your bad advice, you know, we want our nine million in losses or whatever it is that is netted up to that point and that will be settlement.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: If we pursued that case and we lost would we be liable for attorney fees?

MR. OCARIZ: No. The way I'm going to handle that case in all likelihood will be in federal court, and the way I'm going to handle that case is to keep it with straight common law theories, so that there would not be an attorney's fee exposure in that case in the event that DLJ was to prevail.

MR. TUCKER: There's no exposure to the attorney's fees in any of these cases that are in court. That problem only arises where we're in the arbitration proceedings. So if we decided that we were able to pursue DLJ that would be in federal court, so you wouldn't have the same issues.

The difficulty Bert mentioned is that for a long time under the DLJ policy the County was making money and by the time the County started losing money there's enough intervention activity by the other brokers, by Flowers himself, and that information with DLJ may have the defense that said, yes, we screwed up, but then Flowers knew enough that he should have made a different decision. He didn't and all these other people who should have told him differently, they didn't do their job either, and so even if we're responsible for the beginning, our responsibility, you know, the minimum should be offset by whatever percentage is attributed to these other people's failure to give Flowers good advice.

MR. WHITEHEAD: Except that Flowers wasn't able to do it in the first place.

COMMISSIONER BASS: But DLJ does not want to be in the Wall Street Journal either.

MR. OCARIZ: Yeah. I mean, I think it's something I'm going to try to finalize within the next couple weeks and then perhaps provide you a little bit more thorough briefing on which way we should go.

COMMISSIONER BASS: Do they know that we're looking hard at this?

MR. OCARIZ: Yes.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Meeting adjourned.

(The meeting was adjourned at 9:15 a.m.)

BE IT REMEMBERED that the following proceedings were had in the above-entitled and numbered cause in the Escambia County Courthouse, Board of County Commission Conference Room, in the City of Pensacola, County of Escambia, in the State of Florida, on the 3rd day of June, 1999, to wit:

P R O C E E D I N G S

MR. TUCKER: We're on the record. This is a attorney/client session authorized under the Sunshine Law. I'm county attorney David Tucker. Going down --

COMMISSIONER ROBERTSON: Commissioner Wilson Robertson.

COMMISSIONER BASS: Commission Mike Bass.

MR. EVANS: County Administrator Barry Evans.

COMMISSIONER JUNIOR: Commissioner Willie Junior.

MR. TUCKER: When we last met regarding Frankenmuth, we were on the verge of mediation. It was a telephonic mediation ordered by the Federal Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals. We've been talking with them back and forth over the telephone and there's several, I think, disappointing aspects to the way the mediation has been going.

First of all, when we finally got to the point of putting a number on the table, we discovered that the attorney for Frankenmuth did not have any kind of settlement authority from Frankenmuth, which is one of the prerequisites of going into mediation. So that was the first strike.

The second strike was that we went ahead and we offered then $400,000 to settle the case. At that point they were asking, I think, about five point one million dollars, but as a condition for going forward with the negotiations we requested they come back at or under two point four million dollars with a counter-offer, not that we would settle for that amount of money, but just as an idea to see if there was any movement there. What they have responded with is, they have requested a face-to-face meeting and they're bringing the head of Frankenmuth down and someone from Chicorp, the finance company that sold the paper to Frankenmuth, which led to this litigation, but they haven't come back with anything, a numerical counter-offer.

So, you know, I guess the question is, where do you want us to go with that? I mean, I think we can -- let the record reflect that Commissioner Whitehead has joined us.

(Commissioner Whitehead entered.)

MR. TUCKER: I guess the question is, do we go forward with the face-to-face meeting and hear what they have to say? Do we just cancel it, you know, tell them where to go? How do we proceed with that?

Internally we have, I guess, something of a difference of opinion within the county's legal staff. One person, of course, recommends terminating the mediation all together. I don't know that that's -- in the larger theme, that's in the best interest of the County, but again, I don't know, so I wanted to put it to you on how we should go forward with that.

COMMISSIONER JUNIOR: Question, Mr. Chairman?

COMMISSIONER BASS: Yes.

COMMISSIONER JUNIOR: If the mediators think -- I mean in mediation you were supposed to have the ability to make an offer, then why can't we raise an argument that they didn't do what they were to do and reschedule it and hopefully they can accept an offer?

MR. TUCKER: Well, because with this one when we have the face-to-face meeting, there will be the person there from Frankenmuth who supposedly could settle the case right there on the spot. So that will be fixed.

(Commissioner Banjanim entered.)

COMMISSIONER JUNIOR: Why try to fix it, why can't we just go ahead and raise the issue now by virtue of the fact that they didn't do what they were supposed to do?

MR. TUCKER: We have raised it and that's one of reasons -- what they're doing is they are bringing their guy there to the face-to-face if it goes forward.

COMMISSIONER JUNIOR: Will you raise the issue since you were saying it's part of mediation, this is something --

MR. TUCKER: That they were supposed to have done?

COMMISSIONER JUNIOR: -- that they didn't do so send that to whoever ordered the mediation and then go with the face-to-face.

MR. TUCKER: Okay.

COMMISSIONER JUNIOR: Do it simultaneously. I wouldn't have a problem with that.

MR. TUCKER: We've done that.

COMMISSIONER BASS: I'd like to know what the recommendation of our chief litigator is to you.

MR. TUCKER: Well --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Sue.

MR. TUCKER: The chief litigation attorney recommends terminating the mediation, period.

MR. EVANS: Then we go where, Atlanta?

MR. TUCKER: Well, yeah. The mediation is scheduled for June 10th. Oral argument is scheduled for June 23rd.

COMMISSIONER BASS: His recommendation to you, by attorney, was to drop the mediation all together.

MR. TUCKER: Well, that's what I thought it was at one time. Then when I put that in the hopper and told the attorney for Frankenmuth that we were considering that as an option, the chief litigation attorney got wishy-washy on whether he really wanted the mediation cancelled. So if your motion would be to accept the recommendation of the chief litigation attorney to cancel the mediation, I can't tell you as we sit here today that that would be his actual recommendation. Understand there will be other opportunities to mediate and, you know, there are other -- will be other times, but that's certainly one one way to proceed.

COMMISSIONER JUNIOR: I would like to go back to what I said earlier and put it in the form of a motion, go ahead and deal with the fact that they didn't do what they were doing in mediation and go ahead and have the face-to-face.

COMMISSIONER BASS: Do I hear a second?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Yeah, I second.

COMMISSIONER BASS: Motion made and seconded.

Discussion?

MR. EVANS: That means we will still have the mediation next Thursday and Friday? Is that what you're talking about?

MR. TUCKER: Well -- right. What I was thinking that we would also do is we would cancel all our previous offers and just go to the mediation and listen to them, but just show up as much as -- almost as a courtesy to the Court rather than with any kind of settlement, and then if it looks like there's any possibility of settling, we would ask that the face-to-face be recessed and maybe we could ask -- I could bring anything back to you to see how we are proceeding with that. But I think it's imperative that we not -- I mean, I would like to be able to do something short of cancelling the mediation, you know, and I think just rescinding any previous offers or any previous negotiation instructions would be one way to go with that.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Would it make any sense to address something to the Court noting that they have failed to comply with the requirements that had been set forth by the Court, and that was to have an offer, because isn't that the place where they actually dropped the ball?

MR. TUCKER: That's one place where they dropped. We --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: We made an offer and they didn't make a counter one.

MR. TUCKER: Well, initially they didn't even have the settlement authority and then they're supposed to. Now the problem -- you know, we can do that, but what happens is, you know, they get their wrists slapped.

COMMISSIONER BASS: Are they in contempt?

MR. TUCKER: No. Because they will say, "Yes, we made a mistake. That's why we're bringing the President of Frankenmuth to Pensacola because he will have that authority."

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: What if you were to couch your approach from the perspective of, in light of the fact that they had no one with authority to settle, all of our offers are withdrawn, without actually communicating to the Court specifically a complaint.

MR. TUCKER: Right. That's fair.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: If you have the ability to do that, in that fashion, that conveys the message that they weren't negotiating in good faith and it also puts them on notice that you're aware that they weren't.

MR. TUCKER: Yes, I think that's --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That ability to withdraw, I don't have a problem with that at all.

COMMISSIONER BASS: Is that acceptable with everyone?

COMMISSIONER JUNIOR: I'm acceptable to it.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I want to give you as many clubs as you need.

COMMISSIONER BASS: Tom? Wilson?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIM: Sure.

MR. TUCKER: We may walk out of mediation, you know, just to see that. One of the things that the mediator said is that he wanted to put Barry alone in a room with, you know, Mr. Frankenmuth and --

MR. BANJANIM: With a pair of gloves.

MR. TUCKER: Yes, basically. And keep the lawyers out of it, but I think that, you know, if that's where the mediator wants to go with that, then Barry needs to be armed with the ability to say no. I want you guys to be aware of that, you know; either if we cancel the mediation or if we withdraw our offers or whatever, that we're not trying to be intransigent. You know, we feel like that -- you know, just reviewing the strength of our case, we do have a relatively strong case. The weakness is that we did hold onto the equipment, so at some level we may get called on to pay some money, because we have held the equipment this long.

MR. EVANS: We've written them several letters.

MR. TUCKER: That's true, but that goes to limiting and they've done nothing to litigate whatever damages they may have, so when we've made an effort to give the equipment back, but the fact remains that we did keep it and we were actually using it for a time that we weren't paying rent on it and that's the practical weakness in our case.

MR. EVANS: I understand that you asked Bob to send it back and the truckers who were to take it down said to call first to find out if the people will accept it. If they won't accept it, they won't pick it up and take it down in the first place.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: But we continue to use it.

MR. TUCKER: We don't use it. We haven't used it for several years.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: But we continued to use it after that date for some reason.

MR. TUCKER: Right. We continued to use it without paying for it until, we think, some time between 1996 and sometime in 1997.

COMMISSIONER JUNIOR: But as part of the final settlement that comes out, as the fact that if they have a request for the usage, then obviously there's an ability to determine how you would pay it, so I don't see that being a problem.

MR. TUCKER: But see, that's the weakness. The strength of our case, we think, and this is just a law school analysis, because in many situations you can't predict what judges are going to do, we think that on several legal theories they've backed themselves into a corner; and if some of their legal theories are right and then they had bad consequences that happened to them; if they're wrong and others of their theories are right and the same thing happens, because they're just not real familiar with some of the ins and outs of the local government finance law, and that's a real advantage.

If we were to settle it, we would want to pay them, I think, for some value for the usage; and I think previously we had talked about, you know, two years, which is about, you know, a compromise of what we did use it for. But I think that we don't want to give away at the negotiating table that we think we're winning and we can win in court, but we also don't want to be unreasonable if there's some opening to get it settled. I think we want to have some additional flexibility to limit what we would offer and be able to represent that you've pulled the reins in on us in terms of our ability to settle in light of Frankenmuth's bad faith.

COMMISSIONER BASS: Everybody in favor of the motion?

(Ayes)

COMMISSIONER BASS: Opposed by like sign. Passes five to zero.

(The Out of the Sunshine Meeting was concluded at 5:30 p.m.)

P R O C E E D I N G S

MS. LANDER: Let me point out to the court reporter and to everyone present, there is -- we can never go off the record. Everything that will be said will be transcribed and at some point it will be subject to the public record.

I would like to introduce to you Mr. Charlie Peppler. Charlie does the litigation for Escambia County and he joined the County Attorney's Office in January?

MR. PEPPLER: That's correct, January.

MS. LANDER: Charlie has a vast array of experience in employment law. He is board certified in civil law and was previously board certified in criminal law. At this point I'm going to turn this conference over to Charlie, but I want to just remind you that if you have any questions of Charlie as he proceeds through, just interrupt him. This is the only opportunity that you're going to have to talk to him one on one, without the public watching you, at this stage of the game.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: We have to say our names so they know who it is?

MS. LANDER: Correct.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Said Commissioner Gilley.

MR. PEPPLER: Well, just like Janet said, we want to make this as informal as possible and even though we're on the record, feel free to interrupt me and ask me questions. We want you to fully understand what's going on.

As Janet said when we were in the Sunshine, we're coming to you to get advice. We are also going to be giving you advice or giving you our recommendations concerning this lawsuit. And the lawsuit is Tracie Watson versus Escambia County, Willie J. Junior, and the Court Administrator of the First Judicial Circuit, and that's a state agency and Wayne Peacock is the Court Administrator for the First Judicial Circuit.

Ms. Watson, through her attorney, Ronnie Williams, who is an attorney in Mobile, Alabama, has brought basically three claims against the County and Mr. Junior. His complaint -- it's an amended complaint. It's a document that he files in the court file -- is a little bit confusing, but from looking at it, he's filed against Mr. Junior and the County a lawsuit under Title 7, which is known as the Civil Rights Act of 1964, sexual harassment involving Mr. Junior. Basically, what he's saying in this lawsuit or what she is saying in the lawsuit is that the County and Mr. Junior deprived Ms. Watson of rights she was entitled to as an employee.

The second count is similar. He's saying that the County and Mr. Junior deprived her of rights because of her race. There was a racial remark made by Ms. Vickery, and this attorney is trying to connect us to that racial remark and in some assignments that were made during the course of -- COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: Question -- Commissioner Wright -- who is Ms. Vickery?

MR. PEPPLER: Good question. I can throw these names out. Ms. Vickery is the Deputy Senior Court Administrator for Mr. Peacock's office and she handles the administrative end of that office. Maybe some of you may not -- and I'm not trying to insult your intelligence. The court administrator handles all the benefits and the scheduling for the judges and their judicial assistants there at the courthouse, so they act almost like a human resource department. They also have a probation department, so they handle the County probation, the community control and have probation officers and that's also under their jurisdiction. We provide funding for some of those positions, several of those positions, even though they are a state agency. We have a similar relationship, the County does, with the sheriff's department where we fund the sheriff, but the deputies are employed by the sheriff. All the personnel in the court administrator's office are employed by the court administrator. All we do is just fund salaries and benefits.

The third count that's been brought against the County and Mr. Junior is for intentional infliction of emotional distress. What they're saying is, she's claiming that -- well, in her deposition, I took her deposition April 18th, she's saying from the beginning of their relationship -- and Mr. Junior had a personal, consensual sexual relationship with this young woman. But she's contending that from the beginning it was nonconsensual. In fact, I asked her during her deposition, not to be dramatic, but I asked her, So are you telling me that every time you had a sexual encountered with Mr. Junior it was tantamount to rape? She said, Yes. So she's claiming that from the beginning the relationship was coercive and due to that coercive nature of the relationship, she's saying that the County and Mr. Junior intentionally inflicted emotional distress on her. So those are the three main claims of the lawsuit as it exists now.

In federal court, at least for the Title 7 claim, she has to file a charge of discrimination, which she did. She did that on September 12th of 2001. The EEOC has an opportunity to review it. They passed on it and she was given a right to sue letter and so she went ahead and filed suit in federal court on December 26.

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: Another question. Commission Wright. What do you mean when you say passed on it, what action does that imply?

MR. PEPPLER: Under the law they could take it under advisement and investigate the claim, but the EEOC is a nationwide federal agency and handles thousands of claims, so obviously, they do triage and on some of the claims they say, you know, If you want to go ahead and sue, here's your right to sue letter. Other claims, they say, Hold on, and give us another 90, 180 days and will investigate it. Other claims they aggressively investigate.

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: But the basis for the triage, I would assume, is their estimation of the merits of the case?

MR. PEPPLER: That's one of the factors. So that could be a factor in their passing on this one. So they issued the right to sue letter. She filed suit in federal court. She filed suit on her own. She didn't have an attorney to begin with. I'm assuming she went to various attorneys here in the area and they declined to represent her and eventually, she hired Mr. Williams in Mobile and he filed this amended complaint that I was describing to you and that's what's pending before the Court.

The Court has given us until September 30th, I believe, to either finalize a settlement or let the Court know whether we haven't approved a settlement and, therefore, proceed to trial or we revive the lawsuit. The Court, by the way, three of you know him pretty good, it's Judge Collier, who is the judge in this case.

So getting back to what brought us here, as I alluded, Mr. Junior and Ms. Watson had a personal relationship. She grew up in Brewton, didn't really have -- I don't think -- a substantial work history in administrative duties. In fact, part of the time she was a bartender for some family-owned bars in Atmore. But she got involved in the VISTA program. Mr. Junior met her through, I guess, his activities with -- Janet, what's the name of that group that he's the executive director of?

MS. LANDER: Community Action Program.

MR. PEPPLER: The Community Action Program. They met at a cocktail party, you know, romance blossomed and eventually he invited her to move into his residence and she was looking -- go ahead.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: This is Ms. Gilley. Is he not married?

MR. PEPPLER: He is married, but he's living apart from his spouse.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Okay.

MR. PEPPLER: And the conversation turned to getting a better job. He mentioned that perhaps he could find a job for Ms. Watson in the court administrator's office because Mr. Peacock was looking to add a personnel technician in his human resources department. They communicate on a frequent basis. It's not unusual, I think, for public officials to swap information about employees. I don't think that's unusual. Mr. Peacock says, Yeah, I need funding for a personnel technician. The County Commission at that point, Mr. Banjanin, who was a member of the County Commission, along with Mr. Junior and the other three others, voted to approve this position and fund the position. I think you might have that paperwork in front of you. This was at a regular convened meeting on November 4th of 1999.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Tom Banjanin. As far as I'm concerned, I knew nothing about his personal involvement, knew nothing about this lady, knew nothing about the circumstances. I think it was -- I think it was the court administrator's office had asked for the position. They needed it, so I had no reason to know anything that would be detrimental to simply providing them personnel.

MR. PEPPLER: Right, and I'm just mentioning that because of the facts.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Right, but I want it in the record.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Cliff Barnhart. You said she was living with him?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: How long had she been living with him?

MR. PEPPLER: The evidence is not that clear, but I think at least a month or so before she got the job.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: How could that be rape, if she was living with him?

MR. PEPPLER: I'm just telling you what she said during her deposition. Obviously, she's giving a spin to the facts to help her claim against the County, Mr. Junior and the Court Administrator. But I agree with you that I would find it hard to believe, and perhaps a jury, hard to believe that she was engaged in this coercive relationship and didn't leave the house or whatever.

MS. LANDER: Charlie, explain to the commissioners how Commissioner Junior's personal behavior relates and exposes the County to potential liability.

MR. PEPPLER: Mr. Junior, his behavior in the sense of contacting Mr. Peacock, saying, I know who can fill that position. I believe Mr. Junior was responsible for -- at least I think they could show that he was responsible for getting this agenda item on the agenda, having the position funded, the fact that he communicated on a frequent basis with Mr. Peacock, they were friends, they communicated about many things, the County funds the court administrator's office, so there's going to be a close relationship anyway between the County and the court administrator's office. The plaintiff's attorney can use that to show that Mr. Peacock and Mr. Junior were in connivance or conspiring together with regard to Ms. Watson.

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: Commissioner Wright again. Was Mr. Peacock aware of the sexual relationship between Mr. Junior and the lady?

MR. PEPPLER: I believe he knew that there was a personal relationship, yeah, because I think he had seen them together at social occasions and there was no mistaking -- I mean, he was not hiding her. I mean he went to football games, cocktail parties, you know, as Ms. Watson as his girlfriend. I'm talking about Mr. Junior.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: This is Commissioner Gilley again. What date -- I'm sorry, what date did you say that transpired, the month after she had been living with him that the job offer came open?

MR. PEPPLER: The Board approved the funding November the 4th at the regular meeting.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Of what year?

MR. PEPPLER: Of '99.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Of '99, okay.

MR. PEPPLER: And then she began work there November 15th of '99. During the course of work, she was not a very good employee. It came to light that she had very poor grammar skills and writing skills. She was frequently late. She had problems completing tasks. Come -- let me look at my time line here.

There came a period of time --

MS. LANDER: If I can, not to disrupt your train of thought, but can we talk about the quid pro quo aspects of liability attaching to the County, because when it was their -- when their relationship terminated, she lost her job.

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah, that's what I was trying to get into. Here's where Janet is trying to, I guess, get me to focus a little bit here, and what I'm trying to lead up to is that this woman had also filed a sexual harassment claim against another individual that she worked with at Jefferson Davis Community College. She was seeing a doctor -- and this is just a weird coincidence of living in a small town -- a Dr. Lisa Tucker, who is David Tucker's wife, as an OB/GYN, and disclosed to her that she was feeling stress and mental depression because of the sexual harassment claim with this other individual that she worked with at Jefferson Davis Community College. The reason I mention that is because much of her claim that she's basing today is saying that due to the actions of Mr. Junior, Ms. Vickery and Wayne Peacock, now she's experiencing depression and a mental emotional disorder. But I think there's evidence that she experienced that before she became employed.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Cliff Barnhart. Did she file any suit against the college?

MR. PEPPLER: She denied it and we haven't been able to find any suit, but she may have filed a charge of discrimination.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: This is not a fact that she's had previously?

MR. PEPPLER: I mean, I think we could make an argument, and that's something we would explore, if this settlement is not approved, as to whether she has a practice of filing sexual harassment charges. But that's something that's left to be explored. We don't have firm evidence on that.

Getting back to whether there's evidence of sexual harassment that ties into this lawsuit, their relationship, as you know any relationship that's probably not based on marriage, although some marriages experience this also, was rather stormy. At one point she moved out. She came back and was living in his residence in March of 2000. During this period of time she was still not clicking with Ms. Vickery as her immediate supervisor. That summer, the summer of 2000, her relationship with Mr. Junior really began to deteriorate. There's some instances, I think, that will even come to light of domestic violence, physical confrontation between Mr. Junior and Ms. Watson. It came to the point that Mr. Junior then said, Look, you need to leave my residence. I've even got a restraining order from Judge Shackelford. And he removed her from his residence.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Was the domestic violence her against him? Ms. Gilley.

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

I think -- correct me if I'm wrong, Linda, you recognize everyone? So you don't really need to say your name.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Oh, I thought she was just going by the recorder.

MR. PEPPLER: To answer your question --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: It was her domestic violence on him, so he got the restraining order.

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

It's an interesting case. So she left work without notice and she was gone for about seven or eight weeks. They took her back because during that period of time she did have certain doctors' certificates that she was under treatment for stress and other medical problems. She began living -- you know, obviously, she established her own residence. When she came back in October, Mr. Peacock made the decision, Look, you're not really working out here in administrative services. I think you would better be suited if you worked in the Probation Department, and that's under the supervision of Joe Ward, who's the Deputy Senior Court Administrator. So she began working in the Probation Department as a probation assistant. She's contending in this lawsuit that that was discriminatory. That was what Janet was talking about, the quid pro quo. You kicked me out of my house and now you banish me to the Probation Department when I was administrative assistant in the personnel department. They did not see each other.

MR. TOUART: From personnel -- George Touart. From a personnel standpoint, was there documentation of her poor work habits?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes. There was a six-month evaluation by Ms. Vickery.

MR. TOUART: And it documented her poor work habits?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

MR. TOUART: Before she was transferred?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: But then she said Ms.

Vickery said ugly things about her.

MR. PEPPLER: The day she came back from her leave, according to her, Ms. Vickery in explaining the transfer called her -- and I'm going to use the word, because you're going to have to hear it -- called her a nigger slut. Now, whether -- to me, you know Ms. Vickery. You know, it's almost impossible that she would make that statement and that she would make that statement in the context of someone coming back to work and here I am going to transfer you to probation and I'm going to call you this racial slur.

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: Ms. Vickery denies saying that?

MR. PEPPLER: Oh, yeah, vigorously.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: She works in the Court system, right? I mean, she knows the law, Ms. Vickery does?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes, she is -- in fact -- right, she would know that would be a no no.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: She shouldn't say it anyway, but she would know the legal.

MR. PEPPLER: During that time she began seeing -- I'm talking about Ms. Watson -- began seeing doctors for various elements. She claims that her office was washed with bleach. That caused her respiratory problems. She was seen by an allergist, Dr. Westbrook. He found that a lot of her problems preexisted her employment with the court administrator's office. He administered a methacholine challenge test, which would try to uncover evidence that she had inhaled organic compounds such as what's contained in Clorox or bleach, and found it negative. During this period of time, her relationship with Mr. Ward deteriorated as far as a supervisory relationship because, again, she was hard to work with, wouldn't follow directions and was rude to the personnel, in addition to her probationers.

MR. TOUART: Once again, was that documented?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes. That was my next statement, that he did send her a memo saying you need to basically clean up your act.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: And, also, what was the time frame again on this one, this employment era?

MR. PEPPLER: The memo from Mr. Ward?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: The time frame.

MR. PEPPLER: We're talking about October.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: October of 2000?

MR. PEPPLER: To March 1st, 2001.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Six months.

MR. PEPPLER: That she was in the probation department.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Okay.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Did that evaluation -- did he do an evaluation?

MR. PEPPLER: He didn't do an evaluation because she hadn't been there a year under his supervision.

At this point, like I said, there's no relationship, as far as we know, between she and Mr. Junior. And the County is funding this position, but is not controlling how she does her job. It's all up to Mr. Ward as the employee of Mr. Peacock, who is an employee of the State of Florida.

Mr. Ward, I guess, gets at the end of his rope and sends her a memo saying effective March the 15th you're going to be terminated. You have two weeks of leave, you know, you're no longer working here. She leaves and basically the suit is filed and she files a charge of discrimination about six months later and this suit is filed December 26th of last year. That's a thumbnail sketch of where we are.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: At what point did and what person found out that she had said she had a college degree and she did not when she applied for that job?

MR. PEPPLER: That's part of the scenario, too. Sometime in that summer --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Of what?

MR. PEPPLER: -- of 2000, she asked permission from Mr. Peacock, I am trying obtain an advance degree -- meaning that she was trying to obtain a degree beyond her Bachelor's degree -- can I get off at four o'clock, so I can travel to Mobile to go to Faulkner University to get criminal justice and one other course. Mr. Peacock said, Show me the evidence that you have your Bachelor's degree and I'll look into it. And she couldn't produce it, although, contrary to what she represented in her resume', that she had received her Bachelor's degree in December of '99. So there was -- she never corrected that resume' and she couldn't produce a degree when requested by Mr. Peacock. She eventually got her degree in December of 2000, a Bachelor's degree.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: But she did not have it at the time she took the job. Was a Bachelor's degree a requirement of the position?

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: So that was not truthful.

MR. PEPPLER: Well, she put on her resume' that she expected to earn it in December of '99.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: She didn't say she had it?

MR. PEPPLER: No. The untruthful part is the memo to Mr. Peacock stating -- not clarifying the fact that I didn't receive it in December of '99, I'm working towards an advance degree. That's untruthfulness.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: So he knew she did not have a degree at the time he employed her?

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: But the job required a degree?

MR. PEPPLER: Or similar experience.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Or she represented that.

MR. PEPPLER: Yes. But there are other misstatements that she's made. I can spend -- we're at four o'clock right now, but I could spend another 40 minutes telling you about some other inconsistencies in her testimony.

Let me get to -- as you've read in the paper and I want to clarify here today, the court administrator through the Division of the Risk Management State of Florida, offered to settle her claim for 17,500. I made an offer at the mediation to settle for 22,500.

You may be asking, Well, Charlie why the heck did you do that, because the picture you're painting now seems pretty bad and seems like we would win at trial?

There's always the risk of losing at trial or incurring more money. One of the things that Janet and I discussed prior to coming down here today is, if we don't settle this case, does that mean we just sail ahead, move for a summary judgment, meaning that everything taken -- taking everything she said is true, could she prove her case in front of the jury? Then Judge Collier would then look at the deposition transcripts and all the documentary evidence and make a decision. Well, I don't think she's stated a claim here. She's out of court. He could do that. Or he could say, No, I think there's enough evidence here that a jury could rule in her favor. I can't grant your motion, Mr. Peppler. You're going to have to go to trial. That's the other way he could do it.

In either scenario it looks like I'm going to have to -- or the County Attorney's office is going to have to withdraw for Mr. Junior. That is because he is being sued for this state tort of intentional infliction of emotional stress, which alleges he acted in bad faith and intentional conduct. Under our law -- and Janet can help me if I trip a little bit in explaining this. Under our law, state law, we can not indemnify or represent an employee or an officer who's had that claim made against them.

There's also the question of -- as you all know, Mr. Junior is under criminal indictment. I just communicated with his attorney this morning, Michael Griffin, and asked him, If his deposition is taken -- and this was a concern even before the mediation -- will Mr. Junior be pleading the Fifth Amendment? He said, You're darn right he will be. Every question he's going to plead the Fifth. The way our system of justice is, you cannot defend a civil claim and plead the Fifth at the same time. Judge Collier would more than likely enter a sanction to that or allow the jury to hear him plead the Fifth and say, You can draw an inference that the reason he's pleading the Fifth is because the evidence he would give would be detrimental to his defense.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: But then he would have to go on the stand.

MR. PEPPLER: Yes, he can be called by the plaintiff.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Oh, by the plaintiff.

MR. PEPPLER: It's not like a criminal case where you don't have to testify. He can be compelled to testify.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Let me ask a question about the settlement. According to this settlement it says, number one, the State will pay 17,500 and the County and Mr. Junior will pay 22,500. And number three also says, payments by Escambia County and Willie J. Junior are 22,500. Does that mean that we split, he pays 11,250 and we pay 11,250 or are you talking about the County and Mr. Junior as one?

MR. PEPPLER: As one.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, then I think the mediation should state that.

MR. PEPPLER: That's my handwriting, so...

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: Now I'm confused. You mean the County is going to pay the whole 22,500?

MR. PEPPLER: Correct, because we're providing a defense for him at this point. If we go beyond this meeting, I don't think we can continue representing Mr. Junior and we could be saddled with his attorney fees if he prevails at trial.

MS. LANDER: Also, the other problem is that in all likelihood the other side will file a motion to disqualify the County Attorney's office from representing the County because of disclosures that were made by Commissioner Junior when he was a Commissioner to Mr. Peppler, so that means that even if everybody wins -- and I think that there probably would be a good likelihood of prevailing on the merits, but it will cost the County more than $22,000 to prevail. However, you know, that's certainly -- if you wish to do that, we can do that.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: When you say more than 22,000, what would you estimate the costs would be?

MS. LANDER: Probably to represent Escambia County would probably cost about $50,000, and then to represent Commissioner Junior -- and if he were successful the County would have to reimburse him for his legal fees.

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: Why? I don't understand why.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Now, you're using the County and Mr. Junior, and before you said Mr. Junior and the County as one.

MS. LANDER: There are two defendants. The County is a defendant and Mr. Junior is a defendant. Now, there is a statute, there is a Florida Statute, that authorizes the County to provide an attorney to defend any civil action arising out of a complaint for damages or injury suffered as a result of any act or omission of any of its officer, employees or agents. And unless, in the case of the tort action, the officer acted in bad faith with malicious purpose or in a manner exhibiting wanton and willful disregard of human rights, safety or property, the County can either provide a defense as the case goes along, which in most instances the County does when there are individually named defendants, or in the event the County can't represent the individual, the County hires an attorney for that individual.

Now, if they lose, that individual is responsible under this statute to reimburse the County for its legal fees. However, if they prevail in that action, the County would have to reimburse him for his reasonable legal fees. This is civil. This is a civil suit action that we have here.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: How did we arrive at the 22,500? How did we arrive at the 22 -- or is the 17,500 for the County's part of it?

MR. PEPPLER: It's almost like tea leaves. You get a feel for what these cases are worth. A lot of it is based on really exposure to attorney fees, because I think we have some pretty good defenses. The 22,500, coupled with the 17,500 comes to 40 and if you take 40 percent of that, Mr. Williams gets 16 and Ms. Watson get 24, which is a one-year salary, and that may have been his reasoning in accepting the 40. But, you know, what Janet was saying is that one thing we have to be concerned about is winning, but paying part of the freight. If we have to cut Mr. Junior adrift for legal reasons only, we may have to reimburse him his fees.

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: Okay, let's say the worse thing happens and both of us win -- and I say that somewhat tongue and cheek -- what's the bottom line?

MR. PEPPLER: As we're looking at it right now, we can't -- we would have to get authorization from you. Our recommendation would be that Mr. Junior would have to have separate counsel. So we would be paying at least 22,500 for separate counsel and by winning we're paying 22,500 over to a learned member of the bar here in Escambia County. But can we get back our costs and fees from Ms. Watson? No, because she's a single woman.

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: My question is this: Let's suppose it's going to cost us 22,500 if we settle. Okay?

MR. PEPPLER: Okay.

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: If we don't settle and Mr. Junior gets his own, he has to get his own, we have to pay, he wins so we have to pay for that, and you say we may even not be able to -- you may not even be able to defend the County so we have to pay for that. What's your estimate of -- what's the dealt of between 22,500 and what it's going to cost in the scenario that you talked about, just rough ballpark?

MR. PEPPLER: Probably 50 to 70,000.

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: Total?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes. We're talking about the County going full bore and taking as many depositions, filing a memorandum of law in support of the motion for summary judgment and if we lose the summary judgment, then going full bore for a trial which could last three or four days.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, with that background of what happened previously, what's you're feeling about this if we went to court?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I'm sorry. Answer his question first.

MR. PEPPLER: I have mixed emotions.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: You haven't done any investigation, you said, about whether she's done this before or won or lost, it's two times or what?

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Don't you think we ought to know that before we make a decision on something like this?

MR. PEPPLER: If we hadn't settled or had the mediation conference early in the discovery period -- see the Court only gave us until about June 15th to complete taking depositions and doing our investigation. But the Court ordered us to have a mediation conference within 45 days of filing what's known as a scheduling report. So he ordered us to mediate before we had completed our investigation.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Can you ask for an extension to Judge Collier?

MR. PEPPLER: I could have, but from what I learned through that other suit, I think that -- you know, I don't think it's going to pan out. I think I have other ammunition I can use against her other than that other charge of discrimination.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: My question is about the summary judgment. Do you have to give an answer about this before you go to summary judgment? So we have to turn down the mediation before you can even talk about summary judgment?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes. Right now the suit is dismissed.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Okay, so let me ask you this: If you go to summary judgment, how much of the evidence do you get to show? I mean, I don't know how much about what you can talk about, so I don't know if you can bring in those external factors about former cases and discussions with physicians. I don't know what kind of evidence you can bring in.

MR. PEPPLER: I would have to complete Ms. Watson's deposition. We didn't complete it because we took it like three days before mediation. Then I would have to take Dr. Tucker, there's Dr. Sarkhoche. There's a doctor in Brewton, Alabama, where he was seeing her for mental problems before she even --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Okay.

MR. PEPPLER: And then --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: So you could do that as the County Attorney, we wouldn't have to go out for that summary judgment? You're talking if we go to trial you would have to go outside?

MR. PEPPLER: Right. Until some lawyer makes a motion to disqualify our office, yeah, I could do that.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: It seems to me that we need a longer period of time for investigation before we can make a decision on this. Is that possible?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes. To give you a short answer, that's possible. By rejecting this mediation the Court would get us back on the calendar and we would get probably another 90 days.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, I'm just feeling, you know, there may be background here that certainly would benefit us to make a decision. Right now there's not much to look at other than 40,000 on one side and 70,000 on another.

MR. PEPPLER: Well, part of it -- we only have an hour. I could --

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: I understand that.

MR. PEPPLER: -- bring you down all the documents I've obtained, the medical records. In fact, for the mediation I prepared not only a summary letter of law on the facts, but I prepared a chronology. I prepared a chronology of what I thought were the inconsistent statements she had made during the course of the litigation.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: What would it hurt if we took another 90 days, what would that costs us or would it?

MR. PEPPLER: That would costs us having Mr. Junior having another attorney and paying that attorney.

MS. LANDER: We cannot provide anymore representation for Commissioner Junior. However, can we take it through summary judgment representing Commissioner Junior?

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's what I wonder.

MS. LANDER: I think we can. I don't think that we have to say anything that would be contrary to his interest in the motion for summary judgment. And if we could do that --

MR. PEPPLER: Well, the thing is -- I mean, the other attorney is going to fight tooth and nail a motion for summary judgment. He's going to notice Mr. Junior for deposition. Mr. Junior is going to be pleading the Fifth and will not answer any questions. That might have some bearing on what Judge Collier will do with regards to the summary judgment.

MS. LANDER: But the issue is that we're not the employer.

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

MS. LANDER: It's a question of law. We could try to take it through summary judgment. I mean, even if we turned down this proposal, it doesn't mean that you can never make another settlement proposal if things get dicey as the case wears on, as the winds of war shift in one direction or another. And we certainly don't want to create the impression that we think you need to settle this case right now. All we're trying to do is -- one way of looking at it is just pure dollars and cents. Another way of looking at it the merits, the principles involved, is this a scam that someone is running on the County, is $30,000 or $50,000 or $70,000 worth putting off a scam or fighting it to the end, whether it's by my office or an outside law firm representing the County? I don't think it would necessarily break the budget, but we just need for you to be aware that we may have to expend some more than anticipated legal fees in order to defend this case and we might not even be able to do it personally. But we don't think that there's any compelling legal reason for you to settle this case. We're just sensitive to the financial needs of the County right now.

MR. PEPPLER: If I could add something, the other thing is, I guess, how much public exposure do you want to give to the case, because once it's known --

MR. TOUART: Believe me, it's out.

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: And if she loses, then I think that's the exposure that we would want out.

MR. PEPPLER: That's the exposure that I would want, too.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: The exposure is already there. I don't think there's any question about that. We have already had people come to the Board and express their feelings about it, so I think the exposure is there. I don't think it would take --

MR. TOUART: Judge Collier is going to hear this case, he's not going to recuse himself?

MS. LANDER: No.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: He doesn't have to recuse himself.

MR. TOUART: He's a state employee, he's a state judge.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: He's federal.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: He's federal.

MR. TOUART: Oh, Collier. The other side of the coin here, if you do ask for summary judgment and it's not granted, can you still offer this settlement?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Sure.

MR. TOUART: So we haven't lost anything.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's my point. I think that -- might not do it.

MS. LANDER: The bottom line, the damages may go up a little bit if they sense victory, but that's not where the real money is going to come on this case. The real money, realistically, is always going to be attorney fees. It costs a lot of money. Trial lawyers cost a lot of money. We are very cost-effective for the County when do things in-house and we do just about everything we can in-house. But people sometimes try to have us disqualified, either because we're too good or because there is a basis for the disqualification. We have an ethical obligation, also, to Commissioner Junior to the extent that we have been representing him up until this point and we will not breach any ethical obligation we may have to him as an individual, so we as attorneys have to be very careful, also. But as the Board of County Commissioners, if you feel that there is a principle involved and that we should proceed to defend this case, we will make sure that the case is defended.

MR. TOUART: I'll tell you what, talking about flood gates.

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: Is it appropriate for us to express opinions at this point? I'm not sure.

MS. LANDER: Oh, you can certainly express opinions. We will go back out there and the recommendation is -- we have to propose the settlement to you because it was a court ordered mediation and at that point you will vote it up or you will vote it down, but you can certainly continue our discussion here.

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: Okay. Let's just talk in here. Unless George feels that the monetary issues override, I think we ought to go ahead and press ahead. I really do.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: And do a little more investigation.

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: I think that's going to happen, Cliff, as we go through this requesting the summary judgment.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's what I mean, so we take the summary and go ahead with it.

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Where is the money coming from?

MR. TOUART: It will have to come out of the general funds. I don't know how this attorney office is run. Some attorneys don't always put money aside for litigation settlements.

MS. LANDER: We have money set aside and I have outside counsel in my budget and if it overruns the budget, I'll come back to the Board for a budget amendment.

MR. TOUART: That's not the compelling issue. I've been doing this for long time. Of course, you're an attorney here from the state attorney's office, perhaps federal, but the bottom line is guys, what this guy has just told us, if we settle this thing, you're opening up Pandora's box. There's no secrets in county government. Don't think what happens in this room is not going to get out, because she's going to tell it. If she settles this case, they can tell her all day long, don't share. She's going -- and I'm certainly not trying to be your lawyer. I'm trying to be the administrator. But if you still have an option for settlement after the request for summary judgment, then you might want to reconsider that. But this lady is terrible. Her morals are horrible. I wouldn't call --

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: I certainly -- my opinion is we certainly ought to at least go that far and even if the summary judgment doesn't work out, to me it's worth $50,000 to make this point.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I was going to say, Mr. Banjanin, you haven't said a word and you've been here the longest. Do y'all do these frequently?

Have y'all done this frequently?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: On this Board?

MR. TOUART: You're a lawyer, you probably have better insight than anybody else.

MR. BANJANIN: Well, I defer to our legal counsel.

MR. TOUART: Typical lawyer.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: A good lawyer says, I'll defer. So we have to make a motion. We need to make a motion one way or the other.

MS. LANDER: Right. We'll go out in the Sunshine, but if there are anymore questions that you would like to ask here while we're out of the Sunshine, we still have a few minutes.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: And we can't discuss this, right?

MR. PEPPLER: Well, you can, but we sort of advise you not to.

MS. LANDER: Well, you can go out and say -- it's perfectly fine for you to go out and say, for example, there's a motion on the floor -- someone can make a motion to reject the recommendation brought forth as a result of the mediation, and then a second, and then any discussion.

MR. PEPPLER: What I was making reference to was our thought processes, our opinions.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: No, you wouldn't want to do that. That's what I was saying.

COMMISSIONER WRIGHT: I would suggest that that part we just make a motion and second. I assume we're all in agreement, make a motion and a second. Any discussion? No. Have a vote and boom it's done.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I agree.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: You can do that.

MR. TOUART: Another thought process is how long is her lawyer going to go, because I'm quite sure she's not paying him either.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: He's probably working on a percentage anyhow.

MS. LANDER: If he were to prevail in his civil rights claim they would award attorneys fees to him, yes. Unfortunately, that's why a lot of these cases, they get settled, because people shy away from the attorney fees issue. They can't afford it. Fortunately, the County can afford to proceed on principle, but a lot of people can't.

MR. PEPPLER: Let me ask you this, since we've got six more minutes: This attorney, when I call him up and say the Board voted 5/0.

MS. LANDER: Well, we don't know what the vote is going to be, Charlie.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: We don't know.

MS. LANDER: We're not in the Sunshine yet.

MR. PEPPLER: That's what it sounds like.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Hypothetical.

MR. PEPPLER: If I were looking in a crystal ball, I would think that that was going to be the vote.

MS. LANDER: So you call him and you tell him and then what happens?

MR. PEPPLER: What if he says, Well, what money would it take to settle it?

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: I don't think we're in the mood to pass out money.

MR. PEPPLER: I just want to be able to tell them how I think --

MS. LANDER: Just that the Board wants us to proceed on the merits.

MR. TOUART: Good offense.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Do we need to make a motion to adjourn the special session?

MS. LANDER: No, we go back out and Ms. Young will reconvene the Board in the Sunshine and then the recommendation will be presented.

(The conference concluded at 4:26 p.m.)

Mrs. Doris Harris, Deputy Clerk to the Board

CALL TO ORDER/PURPOSE OF THE MEETING

Commissioner Young called the Meeting of the Board of County Commissioners to order at 3:08 p.m., and County Attorney Lander advised that the purpose of the Meeting was for the Commissioners to convene an Attorney-Client Session regarding Earnest Stanberry, Jr., v. Escambia County, Florida and Randolph Robbert, Judith Robbert, Suzanne Robbert and Kevin Hutchinson v. Escambia County, Florida, et al., and that the Meeting was advertised in the Sunday, September 28, 2003, edition of the Pensacola News Journal, with the Meeting to recess and the Board to meet in a private Attorney-Client Session, with only the following present:

Commissioner Young	County Administrator Touart
Commissioner Banjanin	County Attorney Lander
Commissioner Barnhart	Charles Peppler, Chief Litigation Attorney
Commissioner Dickson	A certified court reporter
Commissioner Gilley

3:09 P.M. – MEETING RECESSED
4:14 P.M. – MEETING RECONVENED

MINUTES OF THE BCC ATTORNEY-CLIENT SESSION – Continued

EARNEST STANBERRY, JR., V. ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA

Motion made by Commissioner Barnhart, seconded by Commissioner Gilley, and carried 4-0, with Commissioner Dickson out of Board Chambers, authorizing the County Attorney's Office to negotiate to purchase improvements and real property of Mr. Earnest Stanberry, Jr., located at 8719 North Orange Avenue, in exchange for the execution of a warranty deed and general release of all claims in settlement of the pending litigation.

RANDOLPH ROBBERT, JUDITH ROBBERT, SUZANNE ROBBERT AND KEVIN HUTCHINSON V. ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, et al.

Motion made by Commissioner Barnhart, seconded by Commissioner Gilley, and carried 4-0, with Commissioner Dickson out of Board Chambers, authorizing the County Attorney's Office to engage in settlement negotiations to bring the litigation involving Escambia County to a settlement in exchange for the Robberts' and Mr. Hutchinson executing a general release of all claims, and the giving of an easement for the expansion of an outfall structure to 60" pipe.

ADJOURNMENT

There being no further business, Chairman Young declared the Attorney-Client Session of the Board of County Commissioners adjourned at 4:16 p.m.

P R O C E E D I N G S

MS. LANDER: Thank you for agreeing to the meeting, Commissioners. Everything that we say in this room is being transcribed by our court reporter, Linda Crowe. At the conclusion of this meeting, she will promptly transcribe this and it will be sealed and given to the Clerk for safekeeping and no one will be able to open it until the absolute conclusion of both cases. So if it takes years and years for these cases to go through the appellate process or whatever, they will not be subject to the public records law until such time that all litigation has been completed. And at that time, anyone who wishes to inspect the transcripts may do so.

There are two cases. What the cases have in common, the Stanberry case and the Robberts' case, is that both cases involve problems with retention ponds with resulting flooding to private homeowners. The Robberts' case involved multiple homeowners and we have already settled with all of the other plaintiffs in the Robberts' case. Robberts is the only plaintiff who would not settle, represented by Lisa Minshew. The other plaintiff's were represented by Sammy Bearman and they have settled. The County has exhausted its statutory cap of $200,000 per occurrence on this, which means that if the Robberts -- even if it goes to a jury trial and if the Robberts recover $25 from a jury verdict, we can't even pay the first $25 of that jury verdict without a Claims Bill because the cap has already been topped. But, of course, there's always the possibility that the legislature would say go ahead and pay, command the County to pay the Claims Bill. One of the advantages to settlement is that it gives you control over the amount of money that's flowing out from the public treasury.

The Robberts' case is almost ready for trial. Trial is scheduled for November. Is it November, Charlie?

MR. PEPPLER: It's been continued to April.

MS. LANDER: Continued to April. That gives us a little bit more leeway, but it's still getting very close. One of the things that motivated me to ask for this meeting was, recently in deposition of the County's expert witness, Wayne Newsom, our expert sort of tanked on us in deposition. He had previously agreed with Charlie to sign certain Interrogatories and in deposition he disclaimed the position that he had taken previously. That sort of thing can be devastating to the case, to the defense.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Say that again, please.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: On the Robberts' case?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Is this the one we're talking about?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's Robberts'.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Say that again, though. Say what you just said.

MS. LANDER: Our expert that we had retained to testify on our behalf in engineering matters in court, when he had his deposition taken he equivocated to the point where his testimony is essentially worthless at this point.

MR. PEPPLER: Let me just -- if I could just add to what Janet is saying. If you look at this topo, colored topo, the pond -- you will see the pond here at the bottom, and originally, when the subdivisions were put in, there was no pond and the property shown by the red block was owned by John and Erisa Baines and they were complaining to the County Commissioners, your predecessors, in the mid 1980s that, Hey our property is still flooding. These private developers aren't doing anything about it. So the County says, Well, you know, you comply with our ordinances. You're going to have to put a pond in there. And a pond was constructed without an outflow structure. In other words, an outflow structure is sort of like a safety valve. When it gets to a certain point, the water would then proceed down this pipe into Man-O-War Circle and then down this other pipe to what's shown here as Eleven Mile Creek, which is in actuality a branch of Eleven Mile Creek and this is actually called Ten Mile Creek.

During the time that the developers were getting ready to transfer the infrastructure, including the ponds and the roads, over to the County, the flooding problem hadn't been solved. So the County says to the developer, Well, design an outfall structure that will hold a 25-year, 24-hour storm, which was our design criteria at that time. And Bob Ward, who was the developer's engineer, did that using a 36-inch pipe.

In the meantime, our county engineer at that point said to Joe DeStefano, who was one of our engineers in the department, Look this over and tell me if you think this is appropriate. And Mr. DeStefano looked it over and said, No, I don't think a 36-inch pipe is appropriate, I think a 48-inch pipe is appropriate and, by the way, while we're at it, I want to put a dam up here in the top of the topo for the blue pit, because I want to slow down the water as it comes down through the subdivision and heads its way down -- you will see this other pipe goes down Windmill Road and then ends into the pond. And DeStefano's reasoning was, Well, the reason we have to do that is because we're also going to be getting water coming into this pond. This pond, also, when it reaches its maximum capacity, would then flow down the street into the pond directly north of the Robberts' property. So we need this 48-inch pipe.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Where is the Robberts' property?

MR. PEPPLER: The red block.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: The red block is the Robberts' property.

MR. PEPPLER: It was previously owned by the Baines. The Baines complained in the mid 1980s. We did something about it. We required the developers to put in the 36-inch pipe, though, we rejected our own engineer's recommendation, who was hired -- was a employee of the County, Mr. DeStefano, as far as the 48-inch pipe.

Now, Wayne Newsom, after the flooding took place in March 8th, 1998 -- there was that big rainstorm that hit southwest Alabama, and then after Hurricane Georges hit the area in September 1998 -- was hired by the County to do the Eleven Mile Creek Drainage Study. In August of 1999, he completed his study and he recommended, just like Mr. DeStefano did, a 48-inch pipe coming from the pond and in order to insure that the pond would never -- or not never, but in the event of a hurricane, could handle a hurricane, which is normally a 100-year storm, we can put in a 60-inch pipe. That was part of his recommendation. Now, Mr. Newsom was retained, as part of that drainage study, and asked by me, Look, I'm not asking you to defend the pond the way it's sized. All I'm asking you to do is tell me that back in 1990, when the County had two choices, you could have gone with Mr. Ward's calculations of a 36-inch pipe or you could have gone with Mr. DeStefano's calculations of a 48-inch pipe, Mr. Newsom, just tell me: Was that a reasonable choice on the part of the County? And he said, Yes. That -- that -- based on -- hopefully, that won't go on the record as a sheep mooing or something -- that based on what we knew back in the 1990s, without computer modeling, it was appropriate to use a 36-inch pipe? And that's all I wanted Mr. Newsom to say or that's what he was willing to say.

Come time for his deposition, he totally backed off that position. He even gave testimony that, you know, with DeStefano reviewing the calculations, the County should have picked Mr. DeStefano's calculations. Ms. Minshew asked him, you know, What is the size of this pond? What kind of storm could it hold now? He said, Well, I don't see it holding more than a 10-year storm. That means a storm that happens in any particular year, 10 percent of the time. Whereas, before he was saying, Well, you know, it was reasonable for the County to go with Ward's calculations.

I mean, after the deposition, I talked to him in a spirited manner in the parking lot and I said, Hey, why did you say that when you told me something different? And he was backing and filling and said, Well, yeah, I think I can agree to the way the Answers to Interrogatories were originally framed. But still, the damage is done. He's given one statement under oath and even though he'll retract it, I mean, he's still subject to the jury looking upon him as if he just changed his mind depending on which attorney talks to him the last.

So that's -- you know, that was one of the reasons why we wanted to meet with you, to let you know that we really don't have a good shot at impressing upon the jury that we had two reasonable choices. We may have gone with the choice that didn't work out in hindsight and we have Wayne Newsom here, who did the 1999 drainage study, and has no reason really to go on either side, either the County's side or the plaintiff's side, saying it was reasonable for the County to go with the design of the 36-inch pipe. But that is pretty much out the window now. The other --

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Let me ask you a question. Did they use the 36-inch pipe?

MR. PEPPLER: Correct.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's what they put in?

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: And it didn't handle the situation?

MR. PEPPLER: Right. Apparently, it won't handle even a 25-year, 24-hour storm, which is what our ordinances call for.

So we wanted to bring up -- and then, help me on this Janet as far as, you know, what proposals or what options we have for your consideration.

MS. LANDER: Some of you may recall -- Commissioner Banjanin, you may remember Mrs. Robberts came and spoke to the Board years ago. She contracted hepatitis after the storm; do you remember?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN Yes.

MS. LANDER: That's the case that we're talking about. There was a ruptured sewer main and the sewage floated from the main into the retention pond and from the retention pond into the Robberts' living room, and probably as the result of the exposure -- is it Type A Hepatitis that she contracted?

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

MS. LANDER: She contracted Type A Hepatitis and more probably than not it was a result of the exposure to the raw sewage. Now, she's not -- her liver isn't too badly damaged. The damage that she claims on that is that she will always test positive for the Hepatitis A antibody, but there are damages, clearly.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Whose sewer line is it?

MS. LANDER: It was ECUA's sewer line.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I mean, so how does that make us responsible for the sewer? I understand the holding pond, but, I mean, they obviously contributed to the capacity in the holding pond.

MS. LANDER: Some people argue we diluted, our holding pond diluted the coliform bacteria so that she didn't get as many as she would have gotten, but the point is they were damaged as a result of fact that the holding pond could not even keep enough water in there for a 25-year event.

MR. PEPPLER: In other words, if the holding pond hadn't overtopped --

MS. LANDER: None of the sewage --

MR. PEPPLER: -- the sewage wouldn't have reached her.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: But the point I'm saying is, that the sewage contributed to the capacity of the pond. I mean, was it just all solid, there was no fluid?

MR. PEPPLER: It was like -- the way the ECUA repairman described it -- no, it was watery.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's what I'm saying, it contributed to the --

MS. LANDER: What was the volume?

MR. PEPPLER: The way he explained it, it came to the pipe and it was like a spray coming out of the gasket. The only thing he did was just clamp down the gasket and that solved the problem. It wasn't like it was a broken pipe and you could see this flood of sewage coming out.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: So they're not party to this?

MS. LANDER: No.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I don't understand why they're not party to this?

MR. PEPPLER: Well, they can't -- see, once we paid out -- like Janet said, once we paid out the 200,000 to the property owners -- see Ten Mile Creek overflowed its banks, so we paid out to them a $200,000 settlement.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: To who?

MR. PEPPLER: To the property owners along --

MS. LANDER: They all sued us. The whole neighborhood sued the County.

MR. PEPPLER: I think there's one up here, up on Man-O-War Circle, that's not abutting the creek that we paid, as well. But that $200,000 cap applies to any government agency, so you can't say I'll get 200,000 from Escambia County and I'll get $200,000 from ECUA for the same event.

MS. LANDER: This is a very sympathetic witness. This lady comes forward and she would play well to a jury. The bulk of the damage isn't that it's related to hepatitis. That's just icing on the cake.

MR. PEPPLER: There's repairs to the house.

They're claiming that the house is valueless now.

MS. LANDER: And there's some interesting glitches here, too, more plot twists, stay tuned. They're in foreclosure. Their appraiser came forward and testified that the present value of their property is zero dollars, so they've decided that they're not going to pay their mortgage anymore, so the bank is going to foreclose on the mortgage in November and then it will go up for auction on the courthouse steps. We actually discussed, Charlie and I, and we're discussing it with you now, we're almost hesitant to even ask, because it's so in politics, but it's your choice whether you want us to bid, have a representative of the County there to bid at the foreclosure sale.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Can we buy it and give it back to them?

MS. LANDER: We can buy it and do whatever we want with it, but that won't make the lawsuit go away. That would just give us some control over the parcel. What we need to do is put in a bigger pipe. That's the only way to do anything that will help this parcel. The Robberts will not give the County an easement. We've offered to purchased an easement between their property and the house next door and they absolutely refuse.

Now, we can condemn the easement through imminent domain. We can do all kinds of things. We've talked to Richard Duane, your county engineer. He doesn't really need the property. An easement is really all that he needs. So we wouldn't condemn more than the amount of space necessary to put in a larger pipe, if we go that route. But there will still be some damages.

The first choice that we would like to explore with you, there are two other codefendants. Connell & Manziek is being sued, as well as the prior owners, for not disclosing that the property had been flooded before and that there was some danger from the retention pond and so they are, I guess, suing for damage and/or recision. I don't know what their cause of action is.

MR. PEPPLER: Just damages.

MS. LANDER: Just damages, okay. So there are three defendants.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: What's the name of the previous owners?

MS. LANDER: Baines.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I mean, what are their --

MR. PEPPLER: John and Erisa Baines.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: What is the value of the property now?

MS. LANDER: According to their appraiser, zero. But what does Chris Jones value it at for tax purposes?

MR. PEPPLER: Well, they bought it for 110 in 1997, 110,000.

MR. TOUART: How much property is there?

MS. LANDER: It's an average -- what is it, a quarter acre lot?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

MS. LANDER: Average subdivision size.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: What are you proposing?

MS. LANDER: The first option that we would like to explore -- we have no control over it ultimately, these are just offers that we can make -- is for Charlie to get together with the other two codefendants and if the other two codefendants each offer to put in $50,000, that the County contribute $50,000, and that way they would not have to go and get a Claims Bill from the legislature, so that would save them some money and then they would have a total of $150,000. They could redeem their mortgage. We would also like them, as part of that settlement, to give us the easement so that we can fix the problem and restore stability to the area from the stormwater perspective.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You're saying that the county would put up 50 of the 150, but I thought we were at our cap?

MS. LANDER: Well, we are. You cannot be judicially ordered to pay in excess of $200,000. You can pay. We're self-insured. You can do more, if you want.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So we just voluntarily --

MS. LANDER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I just want to make sure I get it right.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: When they put in the 36-inch pipe, didn't they get an easement to do that?

MR. PEPPLER: There was an existing utility easement.

MS. LANDER: There is, it's four feet. It's inadequate for us to do anything more.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: You can't put a 48-inch pipe in that four feet?

MR. PEPPLER: It's 60.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Oh, yes, it is. So you need at least five feet and we only have four.

MR. PEPPLER: Actually, engineering recommended

20 feet.

MS. LANDER: You've got to get in there with your backhoes and...

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So that's one option. Do we have a backup option? Is there another one?

MS. LANDER: What's option number two there, Charlie?

MR. PEPPLER: Option number two would be to condemn an easement, you know, through imminent domain procedures, and then place the 60-inch pipe in there.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: But that still doesn't get us out of the lawsuit. All that does is get us a place to put the pipe.

MR. PEPPLER: That forecloses any future liability in case Hurricane Larry forms and comes up the coast.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: And it also causes a negative feeling, that we've gone in and taken advantage of them.

MS. LANDER: We could make another offer to purchase the easement just to have it on the record so that if they are damaged again, we'll have that as an affirmative defense that we made every effort to correct the problem. The County, therefore, has satisfied -- we have an obligation under the law to either correct it or warn.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Has it been discussed in any way at all with the other two parties of their feelings towards this at the present time?

MS. LANDER: Charlie has not been able to.

MR. PEPPLER: I haven't gotten any firm feelings from them, but, you know, after a round of deposition taking took place in the past two weeks, no one's expert really withstood cross-examination by the other party. See Mr. and Ms. Baines have a claim for punitive damage against them brought by the Robberts, because the Judge was convinced that there was some fraud involved and the claim for punitive damages should be decided by the jury, so that attorney has some motivation to try to settle, because he wants to reduce exposure to his clients for punitive damages. Connell & Manziek is a well-known real estate agent. I think they're insured and, of course, insurance companies look to diminish their losses whenever possible.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: If we do nothing and we just let it take its course through the court, we stand to lose more, substantially more, depending on what the jury comes up with?

MR. PEPPLER: There also might be a parting of the ways. Right now the defendants are sort of traveling together, but from what the expert retained by the Baines is saying, he's sort of coming on-line that the pond was pretty inadequate so now, not only would I be fighting an employee of ours, as far as how the pond was sized, I would also be fighting with an expert retained by the other side, so, you know, their -- it may be that I have to move for a separate trial, that the County be tried separately from the other two codefendants, because we have antagonistic defenses. In other words, they're going to be putting on testimony that it's the County's fault for allowing this pond to operate in the beginning and I'm going to be pointing the finger back to them, No, it's because they didn't disclose properly that our, you know, inadequate pond flooded.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: I think if you get out of it with $50,000, that's cheap.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: I'm trying to find out the role of the Baines. You said the Baines owned the property?

MR. PEPPLER: They sold it to the Robberts.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: But they didn't tell them about the flooding that happened before.

MR. PEPPLER: That's what the Robberts are claiming.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: I think that if you can get the other two to go along with you at 50,000, that's awful cheap and we're out of it and we get the right-of-way and everything is finished.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: The real question is whether Lisa Minshew --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I was just fixing to say that, that's the --

MR. TOUART: I tell you she's --

MR. PEPPLER: They're involved in the codefendants.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: So let's say that option one, everybody seems to think option one is okay, the 50,000 and get the easement. That's part of it.

But option two -- have you seen it? Do we have pictures of this house?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Could you live in it? Is it habitable?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes, they're living in it right now.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Okay. What happens if they don't take option one and we suggest option two, which is we bid on the house, which means then we control the property, which means we then do the work that we need to improve it, but we do it in the way -- how old are these people? And let them live there.

MR. PEPPLER: They're young people in their 50s.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's what I mean? Does it hurt us to let them -- I guess we have liability, though, if we let them live in the house that we own.

MS. LANDER: Yeah. One thing we haven't talked about is, rather than bid on it, to offer to -- we could just wait and see what happens. If the bank forecloses, then we can ask the bank to give us an easement to replace it and it pretty much caps the Robberts' damages at the difference between what they paid for it and what -- well, actually, what would be the measure of damages if it goes into foreclosure, Charlie?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Damages for what?

MR. PEPPLER: There would still be the loss of value for their property.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, they're going to have a deficiency judgment against them.

MS. LANDER: They could.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I don't think anybody is going to pay $150.

MS. LANDER: They could, but against the County. They paid $110,000 for the property. It's currently valued at zero. They may owe the bank money on it. All these will be factored into the damages that they could go after, but they're not going to get 150,000 for it, so maybe the three-way, maybe it will fly.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's what I'm saying, the first one sounds like the best idea.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, I think we ought to try.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: But we need to have a plan B, though, if that one doesn't work, because I think Tom is right about Ms. Minshew. I mean she probably has --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Yeah, how much is she asking?

MR. TOUART: It's 150 bucks.

MS. LANDER: Well, she can't have more than 25 percent. Under the statute, she can't have more than 25 percent of the recovery in attorney fees.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I mean, what is she asking for in settlement?

MS. LANDER: She won't give you a number.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: That's what I mean, how much is her complaint for?

MR. PEPPLER: It's unspecified. Probably what she's looking at, she's probably looking at -- she's probably looking at a total figure of around 200.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: That's what I'm thinking.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, why don't try this and if she doesn't accept it, come back and let us know?

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Right. Would that include her fee?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

MS. LANDER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: A 150,000 in fee.

MR. PEPPLER: No, 150,000. She can get 40 percent against the other codefendants. She can only deduct 25 percent of the amount.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You said that the person that appraised the property was their appraiser, right?

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Well, obviously, they're going to get -- if I tell somebody to go out and appraise something, I'm probably going to say, Hey, I hope you come in with a figure. You know what I'm saying? I mean, we might go out and have it appraised and our appraiser may say, Well, I disagree with that. I think it's maybe still worth 110. I don't know.

MR. PEPPLER: Right. In fact, that's what -- I have been talking to Terry Hoffman, used to be partners with Mr. Swaine, who I think is on the Planning Board, and Jane Belmont, and he was telling me he doesn't see where that property is valueless and that he would willing to act as an appraiser for us.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Especially not in that area. Even if that house is gone, that property is not worth zero. I mean, I think it's a terrible situation. We need to try to do something.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: I think we ought to take the first option and try it and go along with it and see what happens and then go back.

MS. LANDER: Then, if that doesn't work, we'll come up with another plan and bring it back to you.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's right.

MR. TOUART: Okay. The other thing you've got to ask the Board, in my opinion, is how long -- number one, how long you give her to accept this offer, because if, in fact, she accepts the offer, you can probably stop this foreclosure, so if you give her, say, 30 days. And the banks understand that, they will prolong that foreclosure. They don't want the house. They want their money. So y'all have to tell Janet how long y'all want --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Yeah, can we do that?

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah. I mean it's scheduled right now. The sale is scheduled for October 20th.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I mean, that looks like we're trying to help out the homeowners and trying to keep them from going through foreclosure.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: We've got to make sure we get the easement to put the pipe in, too.

MR. PEPPLER: Right. That would be part of it.

MR. TOUART: Well, foreclosure is going to ruin their credit.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Give them 30 days.

MR. TOUART: That's up to y'all. That's what Janet has got to hear or Charlie's got to hear from y'all.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: I think 30 days.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, let's say the end of November, so that would be 60 days, right? You said they were going to foreclose in November?

MS. LANDER: Actually, it's October.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: October 20th.

MR. TOUART: But don't you think if the bank thinks we're in real negotiations they would possibly hold off on foreclosure?

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, if they thought they were going to get their money they would.

MS. LANDER: Actually, I think that this is what's going to happen. The pressure of the foreclosure will probably force the plaintiffs to respond before the date of the foreclosure, so we can hold it open, but what the bank does, the bank does.

MR. TOUART: Which bank is it?

MR. PEPPLER: It's Countrywide Mortgage Company.

MR. TOUART: Oh, they've sold the mortgage to somebody. That's who's got mine.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Janet, what about Lisa's fee? You know, sometimes if you give 150,000 and they've got to pay the fee out of that, is that going to be enough to recoup?

MS. LANDER: Well, they will have to pay 25 -- she'll get 25 percent of the County's 50 and then she can get more of a percent, whatever agreement she has with her clients, and apply to Connell & Manziek and the Baines, because the statute doesn't apply to her fees to them, they're private persons. But when you sue the County, under 768.28, she's limited to -- what's 25 percent of --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: It would be about 55,000.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: She's looking at $55,000, 25 from us.

MR. PEPPLER: Well, it would be 12,500 from us, 25 percent of 50.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: 52,500 is what she would -- 52,500.

MR. TOUART: So that gives them roughly 100 grand.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Plus, they get the house and we get a drainage ditch.

MS. LANDER: And we fix it.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: She's happy. She gets 50,000.

MS. LANDER: Then their house has value.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: They're only happy if they're not expecting a million, and that's what I'm saying and, I mean, that's not our fault.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Right now they're in a position they're going to lose everything.

MR. TOUART: They don't want a foreclosure nowadays, I can tell you.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I think that's reasonable.

I mean, it's a terrible situation, but it tries to help resolve the --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I think it's worth a try, but I don't know about the attorney. Isn't she the one that won that big --

MS. LANDER: Stanberry, yes, that's part two.

MR. PEPPLER: That's the next one coming up.

MR. TOUART: Stay tuned.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, it's worth a try.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: The worse that can happen is they come back and say no.

MS. LANDER: Right. We will try that. When we reconvene in the Sunshine, we'll give you a motion for one of you to authorize the County Attorney's Office to negotiate. Now, Charlie doesn't want you to put the amount in, so we're going to have to bring it back to you, but just to authorize us to negotiate a settlement in conjunction with the other defendants.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Can we say something that's related to the fact that we are concerned about the pending foreclosure or is that too sympathetic?

MS. LANDER: I wouldn't go beyond the -- because Charlie can play that in the deliberations. He'll definitely play that up.

Stanberry, is little farther along, but it's basically the same type of case. We've got a situation where you've got a home adjacent to a retention pond. The retention pond, when the County built it, was inadequate. It didn't come up to our standards even at that time. The reason being that we didn't have enough room to make it as big as it needed to be. It did improve the situation for the residents in the area, but Mr. Stanberry is at the low point in the subdivision. He is about four inches over the top of the retention pond, so he has an extremely high likelihood of flooding. The reason that he hasn't flooded this year is because they did some channelization on the pond and, apparently, it has increased the capacity more than anyone thought it would. Art Meade has done some work out there.

Richard went out the other day with Wayne Newsom to see if there was a way that we could berm Mr. Stanberry's --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Wayne Newsom? He's our expert witness?

MR. PEPPLER: He didn't say that. Wayne didn't say anything.

MS. LANDER: Wayne, the same guy. To see if they could berm the backyard of Mr. Stanberry, because in Phase Three of the Regional Stormwater Retrofit that the County is spending millions of dollars for in the Ensley area, Phase Three will involve Mr. Stanberry's subdivision, but Phase Three isn't even funded yet, so that will come from the next LOST funding. So meanwhile, our concern is, okay, it's possible that he's going to flood again. He's going to be right back at square one, so what can we do about that in the meantime?

But we can't berm it. Richard said he does not need -- we thought about offering to purchase his property, but Richard does not need all that property for the expansion of the retention pond and with imminent domain you can never take more than need, so we would have a hard time establishing that we needed to condemn the entire parcel. So he's fairly comfortable that for now he's going to be -- Stanberry is going to be okay.

So what we would like to do, though, is -- here's the risk that Mr. Stanberry faces in continuing the lawsuit. Oral argument was held a few weeks ago before the First DCA. The judges had some very interesting questions for Charlie that suggested that they didn't think that Lisa had properly proved her damages in the jury trial that wound up with a $600,000 verdict that was subsequently reduced by the judge to --

MR. PEPPLER: 260,000.

MS. LANDER: -- 260,000. So Charlie got the impression from the panel's questions that it's possible that they may order it retried just as to damages. And the most that we think are awardable in a new trial for damages would be how much, Charlie?

MR. PEPPLER: Well, that's the property damages for the house and the house has actually increased in value from when it was appraised in '94 and '72. In 1997, it was at 82,500, and that's subsequent to when the flooding took place on November 1st of 1995.

MS. LANDER: So it's either the decrease in value or the cost of repairs.

MR. PEPPLER: Right, so if all of her experts are saying the property can't be repaired, therefore, all you're entitled to the loss in value, which they haven't shown. That's what the judges were saying, Ms. Minshew, You haven't shown there has been any loss in value. And you just can't get -- like in an insurance policy, you just can't get the jury to award you replacement cost, because they hadn't brought in testimony that it would cost around 339,000 to build a whole new house, and the judges were saying -- without really saying it, they're saying this isn't a homeowner's policy. I mean, you have certain rules of damages and you haven't followed them. So I think what the judges are saying is, County I don't like your arguments, but I don't like Ms. Minshew arguments as to property damages, so I think I'm going to throw that out and make you retry that. Or they may say you haven't proved it at all and you can't recover any property damages.

MS. LANDER: Or they may say sovereign immunity precludes them from recovering.

MR. PEPPLER: Correct. And I was just giving you my gut instinct that based on their questions of me, they weren't too thrill with our sovereign immunity defense.

MS. LANDER: So let's assume they're going to let some damages in. There's already a $40,000 verdict for personal inconvenience, personal damages, personal injury?

MR. PEPPLER: Right, it's 10 plus -- 35,000.

MS. LANDER: Thirty-five thousand, that's a given.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: In addition to the 270?

MS. LANDER: Well, the other verdict is out because we have to wait. The Court is either going to say --

MR. PEPPLER: It's 225 for property damages.

MS. LANDER: That includes everything, right?

MR. PEPPLER: The 225,000 for property damage, 35,000 for personal injury.

MS. LANDER: So that brings us to 240.

MR. PEPPLER: No, 260.

MS. LANDER: Okay, 260. Thank you. All right. I'll get these figures straight. But the personal injury damages, they will remain no matter what, because we're not seeking to have another trial on that. So that's a given.

The risk that Lisa takes in refusing to settle -- now, what we can do is we can offer Mr. Stanberry the limit. We can offer up to 100,000 per individual, per claim, 200 per occurrence. We didn't pay anything to Mr. Shannon who lives next door. The jury came back with a zero verdict on that case, so there's still another 100,000 and someone else could come by with, but the statute of limitations has run. But as to Stanberry, the maximum that the County can be ordered to pay, without a legislative Claims Bill, is $100,000. We can offer them that and Charlie can point out that, Look, Mr. Stanberry, you have the possibility that the Court will order a new trial on the property damages, in which case you will have to prove how much your property was devalued after the flood, as opposed to before the flood, because you can't repair it. But if you can't prove any devaluation, that means you can't prove any damages, and all he would be entitled to would be the personal injury damages. So there's a certain risk for him to go to another trial, whereas, he would be guaranteed 100,000 without having to go through all the rigmarole of another trial. But because the damages -- we don't feel that a higher offer would be appropriate, because we just don't see that the damages are that high.

Have you worked these figures, Charlie?

MR. PEPPLER: As to what our maximum exposure would be?

MS. LANDER: You mean if we win or if we lose?

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah.

MS. LANDER: Well, if we lose, but what damages do we think are provable and that there wouldn't be any point in appealing it anymore.

MR. PEPPLER: Well, the way we attacked this was, you know, we felt it shouldn't have gone to the jury anyway, so if the judge feels that the only claim that Stanberry has is the fact that the pond was negligently maintained -- in other words, there is some testimony that we didn't go in and scour it out the way we should have and we didn't maintain the pumps in a proper manner -- then the amount of damages based on what we know now, it would be -- just like Janet said, they haven't shown any loss in value and there may be some damages about, you know, pain and suffering or annoyance and sickness. So it could be a maximum around 35,000, but, you know, I'm pretty sure she's going to come up with an appraiser that's going to say that the property had been devalued in some amount, so we're talking probably 70 to $75,000.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Does that include -- the 100,000, does that include Minshew's fees, also.

MR. PEPPLER: The only way she can get fees is if she made another what's known as a proposal for settlement under the statutes and the jury awards more than 100 -- more than 25 percent of what she's asked for and -- you know, right now she's entitled to attorney fees beyond the 25 percent under the statute because she did file a proposal for settlement and the jury awarded more than her proposal, which was around 70,000. The jury awarded 600 and then came down to 260, so she's entitled to attorney fees around $43,000.

MS. LANDER: But that will come out of the 100.

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That comes out the hundred.

MR. PEPPLER: If we win --

MS. LANDER: She can only get 25.

MR. PEPPLER: She can only get 25 percent, and then her own client has to pay that.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: It appraised for 80,000 after the damages?

MR. PEPPLER: 82,500.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: After the damages?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Let me ask you this: You say you don't dispute the 35,000, that's pretty much done. That only leaves us 65,000 we're talking about between that and the 100,000 that we statutorily are capped at, so how much is it going to cost us to keep fighting?

MS. LANDER: Nothing, because we're salaried employees. We only pay the costs of experts and depositions.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, let me ask you this: Didn't you just say that they will start talking about how we aren't maintaining those things properly and stuff like that? Don't you think that makes other people's wheels start turning?

MS. LANDER: Well, there is some indication that even if the pumps were working, it would not have made any difference, because the pumps don't pump out that fast anyway. The pond is working very well now and it has increased capacity because they did some rechannelization. I don't know what else we can do except hope that we don't get any catastrophic storms between now and Phase Three, when the Ensley drainage project will go and be completed.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, how long have you been dealing with this one?

MS. LANDER: Since '97, '98.

MR. PEPPLER: About '98. See, one of the other proposals we were going to at least talk to you about was purchasing the property, but, you know, after talking with the engineering department, they said, Well, we don't really need the property to operate this pond.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: But that would cost more anyway because you're going to pay them the 35, because you already owe it, and the appraisal was around 80, so that's over 100, and we're better at 100, if they will take it. I mean, this is a gentleman that has come to us several times and said, Y'all just make an offer. I mean, if we just make an offer --

MR. PEPPLER: But I think he's not really being --

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: But she is --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: But we make the offer. It's the same situation.

MR. PEPPLER: But I don't think he's really being precise in what he's saying. He's saying he wants the County to pay the 260.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Oh, I understand that, but we can't.

MR. TOUART: He wants 600.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I remember him saying the last time 600.

MR. TOUART: Emphatically.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: What are you suggesting right now on this?

MS. LANDER: What's our first option?

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, let's not have too many options.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Let's jump right in there with an option.

MR. PEPPLER: We were thinking about recommending that we purchase the property, you know, at its fair market value, in exchange for a warranty deed and general release of all claims.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What's the estimate of what it would be worth?

MS. LANDER: We would have to get an appraisal.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Do you have any comps in the area? What do the houses generally sell for?

MR. PEPPLER: Well, in 1997 it was 82,500. It's probably pretty close to 100 by now.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: For $100,000 we get the property and that's it.

MS. LANDER: Well, we can offer him $100,000 and he keeps the property.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: He keeps it?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

MR. PEPPLER: Because this an ancestral home for him. It was given to him by his dad in '65, I think, when he was 16 years old or something. I really don't see him giving up his property.

MS. LANDER: Well, we can ask. I don't think --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I don't think that's very nice. That sounds terrible. I'm sorry.

MR. TOUART: It's not neighborly, is it?

MS. LANDER: One of the things we're concerned with is reflooding. We're a little bit concerned about it happening again and they can't protect him.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: You know, talking to him and listening to him, $100,000?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: You don't think he'll take it?

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: No.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: It doesn't matter. The point is that we've extended the olive branch and right now it looks like we're not even extending an olive branch, so, I mean, it probably ultimately won't matter what our olive branch is.

MR. PEPPLER: Since we're in the shade, one of the things that neither Janet nor I could talk about, you know, when he would come up with these things in the meeting --

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, let me get this straight. You're going to offer him 100,000 and also give him the house, he keeps the house?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: So we're just handing him $100,000. What do we get in return?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: We get him off our back.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Okay, other than that.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I see what you're saying, though. What he's saying, though, do we get a commitment that if it floods again we have no liability?

MS. LANDER: No.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That was my point.

MR. PEPPLER: We don't.

MS. LANDER: No.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Janet, says we can't do that. I didn't know that.

MR. PEPPLER: Unless we purchase the property.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, okay.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Maybe we should just buy it.

MS. LANDER: What we wanted to do was purchase it or condemn it. If we condemn it we still have the other aspect of the damages. I would rather purchase it.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Don't condemn it. That makes us the big bad wolf. Let's buy the damm thing and get it off our back.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: And turn it into a park, a neighborhood park with swings on it.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Whatever.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Name it after his dad.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: And name it after his dad.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: But just to give him $100,000 doesn't really -- COMMISSIONER DICKSON: What were you going to say? You said, In the...

MR. PEPPLER: I just want to correct the record in the shade, because we couldn't say --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: In the dark.

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah, in the dark. What we couldn't say outside is that we have offered Mr. Stanberry $100,000.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: You have?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Already?

MR. PEPPLER: Through his attorney and the mediation through the District Court of Appeal.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: They turned it down.

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, then that's not an option.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: How come we can't say that publicly?

MR. PEPPLER: So now we're in a situation where we've thrown Ms. Minshew back on her heels a little bit, because the judges have said, Hey, this property damage claim isn't going to fly.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Okay. So what you're saying is go back again and offer 100,000?

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That makes sense. Then find out what he says.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Don't you think we ought to buy it from him, because the next time it floods he will be suing us again.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: What if we bought it and let him lease the thing from us. If he's got that much attachment to it, we buy it and lease it back to him for some reasonable amount and he may still want to live there, but that way we own it.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What if he gets hepatitis? Then he's going to sue us for a million bucks.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: We can give him 100,000, but we can't -- he could come back on us if another flood comes along, so we can't eliminate that.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Per occurrence.

MS. LANDER: Per incident.

MR. PEPPLER: Well, we can eliminate it if we show that we acted with reasonable care. That would be a jury making that summation.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, that's the point.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: What about the jury -- I mean, the attorney's fees out of the $100,000?

MS. LANDER: She would get 25 percent.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Wouldn't that be -- the balance would be even less than what the market value of the house is?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: But he would have kept the house under that scenario.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's 75,000.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: He's got the homestead.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Under that scenario, he keeps the house and he gets the money.

What we're talking about now is if we buy the house, we just go out there and purchase it and he's out of the picture.

MS. LANDER: Well, we could offer him more than the hundred.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: How do you do that?

MS. LANDER: Well, if you settle it, you can settle for more.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: What if you offered 125,000, which takes care of -- gives him 100,000. At least he gets his $100,000 and she gets the 25, and that's 25 more than we offered him before.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: What about the --

MR. PEPPLER: And we should get the house, I think.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Yeah.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's what we're saying. We're saying for the house, because if this is per incident, then you're right, if it floods again next year, then this whole rigmarole starts again.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's right. So let's offer him 125 and we take the house. Then we're out of it.

MR. TOUART: Actually 25 percent of 125 is more, but you could stipulate to the 25 would be her fee.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, whatever.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: What was the last offer we made, was it 260,000?

MS. LANDER: The reduction in the award was 260, right, Charlie?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: And 35 of that we do not dispute.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's right.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Then the difference is what, 225,000?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Give or take.

MR. PEPPLER: But, Ms. Gilley, just to be accurate about it, we're disputing the whole verdict.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Okay, you should say that.

MS. LANDER: Well, we are, but we're not going to retry the personal injury.

MR. PEPPLER: Right. If we lose, if the Court says, Well, no, there's liability there, but the new trial on the issue of damages will be limited to property damages.

MR. TOUART: The other thing, how long would this be tied up in court if we just keep the appeal going just like it's going now? That's his big complaint to us, that it's been tied up for so long. He doesn't understand the court system. How much longer can you keep it tied up?

MS. LANDER: We have to have a new trial. But Commissioner Barnhart has a question.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: I would like to go back and offer 125,000 with an answer in 30 days. If they don't give us an answer, give or take --

MR. TOUART: And he keeps the house.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's right.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: No. No. He doesn't keep the house.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: No. No. We get the house.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: We get the house, right.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Why is it that we can't keep it from flooding again?

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Who knows.

MS. LANDER: The pond is too small.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: It's four inches -- the topography of it is 124.8, the pond is, and then his elevation is at 125 feet.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Why can't we make the pond deeper?

MS. LANDER: Well, we've done some. We've done some and it has averted the kind of flooding that he surely would have had with the rain we had last summer.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: We're gambling that there's not going to be big flood --

MS. LANDER: But if we get a 100-year event --

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: -- but if we get one, we're right back where we started.

MR. PEPPLER: Commissioner Banjanin, one of the problems was that there was a limited amount of area to build a pond, so without condemning the property --

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: You haven't got anything.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, if we get his property, can we make it big enough? Is anybody else threatened by flooding?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Yeah, there's a man next door.

MS. LANDER: Well, Mr. Shannon, he's been flooded once. He was flooded once.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: But the statute has run out on that particular instance.

MR. PEPPLER: Well, actually, the case was tried and we got a verdict in our favor.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Oh, I thought you said the statute ran?

MS. LANDER: Well, for other people.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Oh, for other people.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: He came in and he talked about our paying off other people and he hinted the racial thing, so where are we with that? How can we come back that far? How much have we paid on these the other people and the Robberts?

MR. PEPPLER: We paid five families or five homeowners 200,000.

MS. LANDER: It's about 40,000 each.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Forty thousand each.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Oh, 40,000 each.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: So we're giving him, offering him 125.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: I'm just trying to see.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I think that's something that we do have to consider, as long as there hasn't been something else like this.

MS. LANDER: There aren't too many ponds that we've gone out and built under specifications. Fortunately, there's not a whole lot of this. We talked to Richard the other day. Is there anything else that he flagged?

MR. PEPPLER: No. I mean, there's one out by that bay involving Ms. Johnson. But a lot of these decisions were made in the early '90s, late '80s, when things were a little bit -- not as tight as we would like them.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Did we build this pond or did a developer build this pond?

MS. LANDER: A developer built it, but we accepted it for ownership and maintenance, so it became ours and we knew what we were taking when we took it.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, I hope we've changed our policy on that and we make sure that things are adequate.

MR. TOUART: I can promise you that.

Can I ask a question? What type of structure is this home?

MR. PEPPLER: You mean Stanberry? It's on a concrete pier, slab.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Cardboard.

MR. TOUART: It's on a slab.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Is it brick or frame?

MR. PEPPLER: No, it's --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Stucco?

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah, stucco.

MR. TOUART: Could the house be raised, is my point?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Oh, lifted up.

MR. TOUART: Where I'm going with this is, we've had a lot situations in flood zones, not as many here as we had in Mississippi, but what we've done in the past in Mississippi is we've gone in and paid the claims, but then we have actually paid, which is not a lot of money, to have the house raised. You're talking about 15 or $20,000, and have the house raised to prevent further liability on us, quite frankly. And to have the house raised to a 100-year flood plain we're not talking very much here, actually.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: How much was that house?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, see it goes from like 132. It's only an eight foot difference.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: To raise it 10 feet, you're going to have to build an arc to get up to it.

MR. TOUART: Well, actually, the pond takes care of most of that. I don't know what we would be talking about as far as raising the house.

MS. LANDER: I don't honestly know if that's something that Richard thought about. His thought was that we could build a dike around the house, a berm, and he thought that would at least be a temporary prevention of flooding until we got the Phase Three under way in the Ensley area, but then he said, No, it can't be done. It would be in his living room.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: You know what's going to happen, Marie hit it before, we're going to get back to the race issue on this, that we're not taking care of him with cash as we did other people, that we're raising it up 10 feet, we're putting a dike around it, we're doing everything. Let's offer him the money. That's what he wants. That's the only thing that's going to satisfy him.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, the only thing we can do then, I think, is just try to buy it.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's right.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Otherwise, we're buying a future lawsuit. If we just pay him, they'll be suing us.

MR. TOUART: If we buy the house, I would certainly recommend demolishing the house immediately.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, whatever. We might want to live in it. We might have our meetings out there.

MR. TOUART: Keep in mind this is all being taped here.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Well, we could turn around -- you could sell the house, have somebody remove it off the property, depending on what kind of shape it's in. If it's in decent shape, you could actually sell the house and you could take it and move it someplace else.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: We could use it as a jail, you know.

MS. LANDER: We would probably demolish the house --

MR. TOUART: Thank you.

MS. LANDER: -- and use the area for pop off.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: We could pay him for the house, right?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Yes.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Okay, pay him for the house and give him $200,000 and call it quits.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: How much?

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Two hundred.

MR. TOUART: Plus the cost of the house?

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Yes.

MR. TOUART: No, I think what they're saying is 125 is included in the cost of the house.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Right. That's what I would try first.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: I'm trying to help you.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, go with 125 and then let's find out what he says.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: They could come back and say 150. I think you go in with 125.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: I'm talking about furniture and all of the things that he's lost in all of these years and all that kind of stuff.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Marie, if we offer something, at least the first offer is on the table.

Let's find out what his feeling is on that. Give him 30 days to think. At the end of 30 days, he can come back again to us and say he's not taking 120.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: What you've got to remember is what was said earlier. Right now they stand a chance of going back in court and losing.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's right.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: And they know that. So while they may not have been real receptive before, because there was no incentive there, there may be an incentive now, to say hey -- they may come back and say, We don't accept your offer, but we'll counter offer with 150. Look at it.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: The only thing I'm thinking about is a jury awarded them $600,000. They came back and then it was 260.

MR. PEPPLER: The Judge reduced it to 260, and they haven't appealed that, so they're stuck with 260. That's what they've got. They've got $260,000.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Well, that's what I was saying, maybe we should go offer them 260,000 and, hopefully, that will take care of it.

MS. LANDER: Well, you can direct us to do that. There is a verdict, but we can only pay 100 and then he has to get a Claims Bill for the other 160, because that was pursuant to verdict.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: What is a Claims Bill?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: The legislature forces us to pay it.

MS. LANDER: Or we can agree not to fight it. You know, you can have friendly Claims Bill.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: I think we should start negotiating and start with 125 and work from there.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: And we can come back and discuss it all.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Within 30 days he'll be back.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, the 125, that's for the house. All right, then you have the 35, which we are not disagreeing with.

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That puts us at 160.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's 160 total.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's 160. So that's 100,000 less than what he has right now, but still that puts us in a -- because we're kind of not disputing the 35. I know we are for the record, but we're kind of not. So then the 125 is just for the house. That puts us at 160.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: You're right.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: He'll ask for 40,000 more, I bet you.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, let him say that. In 30 days he can come back to us. Does that make sense to you?

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah. It all makes sense.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You still have some good arguments on why they may want to take that. They do risk if they say -- we can say, no, that we won't go there and we'll just retry the thing, and he may not get anything other than the 35 out of it. He stands to lose right now.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: He stands to only get 35.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's right.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's right. He stands to only get the 35.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: He's going to get something for the damage.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I mean, the worse case, if he lost --

MR. BANJANIN: I mean, if they gave him that he's going to get something for the damage. The thing is do we have any idea what those houses are selling for in that area now?

MR. PEPPLER: We would have to get an appraisal.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Because, see, if we had somebody get an informal from a real estate person or find out what the comps are, call somebody, then we would have a better idea of what the likelihood is of what they would get when they come back on damages.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Would you feel --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Although -- I'm sorry -- they would have to be calculated at the time, though, right, not today's value.

MR. PEPPLER: I think it would be today. He's asking for the loss value as it stands today.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Would you feel safe or satisfied to go with them with that and see what happens?

MR. PEPPLER: You mean the 125?

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Yes.

MS. LANDER: I thought it was 160.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: The 35 is separate. The 125 is the house and the 35 is separate.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Let's go with Cliff on that, but I think you really need to get some realtor to check the comps so -- my guess is they're going to turn this down. Now, they will come back to us. We need to have some idea if we come back to trial what's that going to be proven up in terms of an appraisal, some ballpark.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, you can get that from real estate people.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: That's what I'm saying, we need to find that out. Then we can be in a position to up it perhaps to what they might get. See if they will settle. Then if they don't, well, then shoot, let's throw the dice and see what the Court does. But it amazes me that when it was reduced it was only reduced to 270-something. There must have been testimony. There were appraisals at the trial, right?

MR. PEPPLER: No. I mean, that's what the judges were amazed at.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: There was no evidence?

MR. PEPPLER: Other than his, other than Mr. Stanberry.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's what he said earlier about why.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, that's what I mean, if we have some idea what it's really going to appraise.

MR. PEPPLER: In fact, I asked her was this a tactical decision that you made not to bring an appraiser.

MR. TOUART: Okay, y'all have got 15 minutes.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Go with 160.

MS. LANDER: When we go back out in the Sunshine, do you want a number?

MR. PEPPLER: No.

MS. LANDER: All right. You just want to authorize, you just want to direct -- the Board will direct Charlie to make an offer of settlement and then bring it back to the Board. If we don't give him a number, it will have to come back to you, but it's better not to put out the number just yet.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, no.

MR. PEPPLER: Can I ask what is the number that you all --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: What we said, 125. I'm sorry, which one are we talking about?

MS. LANDER: We're talking still about Stanberry now.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I thought we said 125 and plus they get the 35.

MR. PEPPLER: Right, 160.

MS. LANDER: Do you have the motions ready for the commissioners?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Why don't you let Cliff

do it. It was his idea.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Let the Chairman do it.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: I can't.

MS. LANDER: Well, she can't do it.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I don't care. One of us is going to do it. Here's the thing, tell him, also, that if he doesn't go along, we're going to have the appraiser appraise his property as waterfront property.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: I'll make a motion, Marie.

Stanberry Case.....03

Frankenmuth Case.....43

Certificate of Reporter.....55

P R O C E E D I N G S

MS. LANDER: It looks like we're all here. Linda Crowe is our court reporter and she will be taking down everything that we say. Thank you for agreeing to this session on this very busy day that you have. I'm going to turn it over to Charlie and, first, he'll talk to about the Frankenmuth case, and we're talking about the Federal -- the State court case for Frankenmuth. The only thing in the Federal court is the attorney's fees issue and we're working on an appeal with that. There's no number on that, but he'll -- the State court case is the one where they're seeking damages for breach of contract. That's what we want to talk to you about on that.

Charlie, it's all yours.

MR. PEPPLER: Thank you. Actually, I was going to talk about Stanberry first.

MS. LANDER: I'm sorry. Go ahead.

MR. PEPPLER: Stanberry is the case, as you recall, with the gentleman who lives out on North Orange Avenue with the pond that abuts his property, which overtopped back in November of '95, and you recall the verdict of 600,000, which was eventually reduced down to 260,000. Then we had an attorney/client session a couple months ago and you gave us authority to try to reach a settlement. You gave us the authority of a maximum of 160,000, plus obtaining title to the property from him, and then he would have to give us a satisfaction of judgment for the undisturbed portion of the judgment, which is the $35,000 for the pain and suffering and loss of use.

We communicated that to Ms. Minshew, who is representing Mr. Stanberry, and we went just below that, at 150,000, just to give us some room. She came back with a counteroffer. She would say, Okay. Here's our top dollar, 160,000. Well, she came back with a counteroffer, but it was for $250,000, and Mr. Stanberry would keep the property. I'm sure she would execute, or Mr. Stanberry would execute a general release. So we're coming back to you again to get your advice and feelings on this $250,000 counteroffer, and to sort of give our recommendations as to what we think would be a good counteroffer. My recommendation is not to accept the 250,000.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I thought we got something in writing about that case?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I did, too. I thought we got something.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: We got something in writing that said there had been some other -- that all she was awarded was attorney's fees.

MS. LANDER: Well, the 1st DCA vacated the judgment. They vacated the $260,000 judgment, not the 35,000, but the 260,000 because --

MR. PEPPLER: Well, the property damage portion, the 225,000, they threw out because of the fact that the jury was given the wrong measure or standard to award damages. So what the Court said was, Well, we're going to throw that out, but, you know, Stanberry you have two choices, either you accept a reduced judgment for the fair market value of the property or you can have a new trial. We filed a motion for clarification with the 1st District Court of Appeal saying, Well, there's no evidence of any loss of fair market value or any diminution in value. So, you know, this 1st District Court of Appeal, you're giving the trial judge an impossible task. There's nothing he can latch onto in the record to say that there's been some loss of value to the property, think it over again. I'm putting it in layman's terms what the motion is about and it's still pending before the 1st District Court of Appeal, so, apparently we caught their attention that maybe they used the wrong language in the opinion.

MS. LANDER: But at the end of the day, it will either be --

MR. PEPPLER: A new trial. We'll have to have a new trial.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: If they don't accept this offer?

MS. LANDER: No.

MR. PEPPLER: If the 1st District Court of Appeal says, Yeah, you're right, County. We fashioned that opinion, drafted that opinion in the wrong manner. We're just going to give -- we going to grant your wish and you get a new trial on the issue of property damages.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Can he live in that house?

MR. TOUART: He is living in the house.

MS. LANDER: He is living in the house, but the two things we're concerned with are the possibility of reflooding, which would put us all back at ground zero, and we cannot protect his property from another 100-year event for several years out, until the Ensley drainage project is completed. So there is that potential, that he would be damaged again.

The second thing is, the man was damaged and the issue of liability. We're not arguing liability here. We're arguing damages. This has gone on and on for a very long time and he has lost a lot. If you go to his house, you will see a lot of his personal possessions have been destroyed.

Now, we always look at this from the legal perspective, and we're, killers, legally, and we can pretty much wipe everything out. What we're bringing to you is the human perspective that we have a situation here where someone has suffered as a result of what is deemed to be the negligence of the County in maintaining that retention pond, which was never great in the first place -- it's been retrofitted a little bit -- and we would like to get Mr. Stanberry out of that house and into a new house, so that he could maintain his standard of living at the current market price for his standard of living. And at some point the County, after the Ensley drainage project is completed, we could put that property back on the market. So it's not like the money is going out and it will never, ever come back.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So if we don't accept what Ms. Minshew has offered, which is the 250, we go back again with our counteroffer and say, Okay, 160. Let's just say that's turns out to be what it is. And we get title to the property, though, is what we said before. So if he's willing to accept 160 and he moves -- now, we're not responsible for his moving.

MR. PEPPLER: Moving expenses.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: He would have to pay for that.

MS. LANDER: It would be inclusive of all costs and attorney's fees, whatever number we come up with. Now, remember that Lisa is going to get 25 percent of whatever the County offers.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's right, because the attorney's fees were separate.

MS. LANDER: Right. So that reduces the ability that he has to relocate into that.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Then you're saying we then own the property.

MS. LANDER: We would own the property.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: And then at some point down the road, when it's safe, we could turn around and sell it and get your money back.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Didn't we already offer 160, plus the house?

MS. LANDER: We went up to 150, but, obviously, $10,000 is not in the ballpark.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, remember that he made the comment about this was his father's property and that was his hesitation to leave, was that it was family property. Now, that being said, I mean, folks all the time are moved out of the river -- out of the flood plain into another place. So, you know, my concern -- I think that whatever the amount is, we do need to get title to that property, only because it could happen again. I mean, it's not an uncommon circumstance for someone to be living in the flood plain.

MS. LANDER: You've got to move him out.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Because you said they're not going to sign off on it.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Do you have to move him out? What if he were to sign something that says, I hold the County harmless in the future as long as you let me stay in the house? You can't do that?

MS. LANDER: Well, if he were to sell it to a subsequent purchaser, they would not be benefited by that. We've got to get the property.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: She told you they won't give us the property.

MS. LANDER: They won't give it at this price, but if we sweeten the offer, I think -- I think we can buy this property from Stanberry. I think we can do it. I think we're going to have to offer him more money to do it, but remember, if it goes back to trial and they win the damages, we don't get the property. We just have to pay the damages and we still don't own the property. So that's the risk that you need to weigh. He will get something, but the Court -- it's not an imminent domain case. We cannot amend it to be an imminent domain case. It's a damages case.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: You know, I talked to Janet about this and I went out to see it. It's awful. I don't think -- I don't know if any of us have had an opportunity to go out there and look at this property, to look how he's living, to look what that water has done. I went out there and I did not discuss anything with him. I told him that I would come and just take a look. Inside of that house, the water line is all the way, even to the property outside. He has furniture, oak holdings, stacked up in a room, that was destroyed by water. It is really bad. It's much worse than all of us can sit here and understand. You wouldn't want it to happen to anybody.

Not only that, I talked with Richard about this last big --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Right, in July.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: It didn't happen to his house because Engineering has done something to eliminate whatever that big flood was at first, even though there's still the Ensley drainage and we're working Phase One, Phase Two, or whatever phase it is, and it's going to be clear.

But I'm suggesting that if we don't want to be bothered with the Ensley drainage requirement -- which we have to do anyway, because it not only affects his house, it affects the whole area out there. We're going to have to do it anyway -- either we give this man enough money that he can pay his lawyer and have enough to want to get out, or find a way to just give him enough money. I recommend $300,000 and offer to maybe either let him keep the property, if he wants to. Because the man is in dire need of money. He has borrowed, borrowed and borrowed. He doesn't have a job. He's a retiree and it hurts.

Now, he doesn't hear me saying this, but I'm going to tell you something, I don't think we want to let our people suffer like this. When you go in the house, you can see all around the walls where the water came up, even outside, where it has damaged. It's a beautiful place outside. Some kind of way he's into music. It destroyed all of his instruments and all of those things. And, see, we're not even thinking like that at all.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Is he keeping all that because of the court cases? I mean, is he having to keep all that for damages?

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: No, he's not keeping it for damage, because they haven't really brought that up, really. But it's his and he just has it there.

MR. PEPPLER: Do you know why he has it? He didn't include all that in his lawsuit.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: I don't know.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's what I'm wondering. Is he keeping all that for the damages, evidence -- estimate. That's what I meant. That's the word I was looking for.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: I don't know whether that has been answered, but it's been a long-time problem.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: They've offered 250. I say split the difference. I mean, if you want to do something -- we offered 150. They offered 250 -- if you want to, split the difference.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Charlie, what do you think? Will they take that?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: And give us the property.

MR. PEPPLER: You want my honest opinion?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Yes, that's what we're asking you.

MR. PEPPLER: Probably not. I think that's what we should do. I mean, I don't think we should go -- with all due deference to Commissioner Young, I just don't see paying him 300,000 and not taking title to the property.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: They're offering 250.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: And doing what?

MR. PEPPLER: And not taking title to the property.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: What if we say the 250, plus the title to the property? That's a difference.

MS. LANDER: That's a counteroffer.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Yeah, maybe we can do that.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Because the 200 -- if you don't think they're going to give us title to the property, that's really what we need to keep this from going on.

MR. PEPPLER: But, also, you have to sort of keep in mind that we don't want to set a precedent. We have to pay damages based on what the evidence shows, and the jury, or at least the trial judge, did reduce the verdict to 35,000 for pain and suffering and loss of use. What we're really talking about is: What property damage did he suffer? So we don't want to -- this is me talking. We don't want to give more than what his property is worth.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, what was it?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What is the market value of the houses in that area?

MR. PEPPLER: That's the question. We would have to get an appraisal to really be sure.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: You didn't have one when you went to Court?

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah, we did.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, what was it?

MR. PEPPLER: It was 82,500.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Oh, really?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That was all of his stuff?

MS. LANDER: No.

MR. PEPPLER: That was just the real property.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Just the property and the house.

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: But still, that's down --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: So the 150, that would double.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: That wasn't a bad offer for that. If we go to trial, what do you think?

MR. PEPPLER: Well, I'm sure there will be a battle of the appraisers. He's going to have an appraiser that's going to say it's worth zero because it's in a flood plain or it's right next to a pond that has the possibility of flooding. We'll bring on an appraiser to say, no, I think it's of equal value or maybe just a little bit off. Usually, we'll be able to find an appraiser to say that, that there's some diminution in value, but not all the way to zero.

MR. TOUART: You've got to add in the contents. He's lost all his contents. You've got to put a value on that, if it wasn't part of the appraisal, too. I don't know what kind of contents he has. He probably lost everything.

MR. PEPPLER: In the first trial, though, he didn't claim all the contents.

MS. LANDER: He gets to do that in the second trial, right?

MR. TOUART: It's the right thing to do. You're speaking as a lawyer. I'm speaking as a human being here, not that you're not. But seriously --

MR. PEPPLER: Let the record reflect I'm a human being.

MR. TOUART: I didn't mean it that way. He did lose his contents. We've all been well aware he lost everything there, so there is a value there.

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah. I'm not saying the man has no damages.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, let's be honest. The real damage is the first jury said 600,000. That's what the real damage is to this whole thing. If he did not have it in his head that he was deserving to get $600,000, we would probably not be sitting here today. That's where the real damage is.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: But then the Court lowered it.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I understand. But I'm just saying this gentleman has it in his head now. And I'm not saying that's right or wrong. I'm just saying that he has that expectation of something.

I guess what we need you to tell us -- so 82 was the appraisal when it first came out?

MS. LANDER: Just for the realty.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Just for the realty.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Did he have an appraiser?

MR. PEPPLER: He never called an appraiser as part of his lawsuit.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, if he doesn't prove up the value, then he gets nothing.

MS. LANDER: That's why the Court threw it out.

MR. PEPPLER: That's one of the questions the Court had to her.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: It may be that he didn't have the money to get an appraisal.

MR. PEPPLER: He had an engineer. He had Joe Edmisten, who is the ecologist, testify. He had an engineer testify. He had a man who's an expert in house renovations testify, so he had all the experts. This is Ms. Minshew fronting the money for that.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: How long ago was that appraisal?

MR. PEPPLER: Back in '97.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: So that's a long time.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Seven years ago.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: It was before the Super Wal-Mart was put in.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I just think we go back with a counteroffer on this thing and see. I mean, what's the worse? They can come back and tell us no, right, say no, and then we'll find out how hard-nosed they are.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Yeah, it sets us back some.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's right. But, I mean --

MS. LANDER: It's certainly possible to keep it going back and forth, but I would like to follow up on what Commissioner Gilley said. We're dealing with one of our citizens who initially won a $600,000 verdict from a jury and only -- you know, in the blink of an eye, to have that reduced by the Judge to --

MR. PEPPLER: 260,000.

MS. LANDER: -- $260,000. Thank you. Then, to have all of that taken away on legal technicalities, on burdens of proof by the appellate court. Now, he's a lay person. He doesn't understand why we win, why these things happen, and it's a bitter pill to swallow. It is a very bitter pill to swallow.

Since we recognize our responsibility to compensate him for his damages -- and I think that it is a win/win situation for the County to come up with a number that will enable us to actually -- it's not just damages, if we can get him to agree to sell the property, because at least then, whatever the County gets back a few years from now, when the Ensley drainage project makes this a more developable parcel, then that's money back into the general fund and that will reduce the actual amount that the County has to spend to settle this case. So even though we may go up to -- you said --

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Three hundred.

MS. LANDER: You said 300. If you get back 100 on it, then you're really settling for 200. And I don't know what the jury is going to do on a new trial. You never know. The last jury said 600. And how long are we going to keep this man waiting for some sort of fair compensation from the County for the flooding of his property?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Can he get punitive damages?

MS. LANDER: No.

MR. PEPPLER: No.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Why don't we do this as a suggestion, why don't we authorize our legal people to negotiate anywhere from the 160 up to 250, they have to give us, sell us the house as part of that, and let them do the best they can. If it has to go to 250, then if they will give us the house, let's do it. If Minshew is going to be so hard-nosed at that point and she wants to keep the house, plus the money, let's just go to court and let the jury decide.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Does that sound reasonable to you or is that too high?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I can go 250. I figured if we went back at 200, they were going to come back at maybe 225.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Charlie can start at 160, and say I said 150.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I don't have a problem with that, you know. Or the other thing, let's just say as a fall back, let's just say that they're just absolutely bent over on keeping that property, they do not. Then we lower it by 100. In other words, we say, Okay, fine, 150 and you keep the property. You've just told me the property is worth 82, so you subtract 100,000 off --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Six years ago.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You subtract 100,000 off. I mean, that would be your fall back position. If they just say we're not going to give you the property, just say, Okay, fine. Then we would lower it.

MS. LANDER: Well, they've already rejected that.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Minshew is not going to do that.

MS. LANDER: They've rejected 150.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: But they rejected that because we also wanted the title to the property. I'm saying if they want the title, then let them keep it and do the 150. You see what I'm saying? Then that's our fall back. I agree that we go -- that we let you guys negotiate and try, one, get the title, up to 250, if you can do that. Again, you may get in there and they say, I don't care. We don't want to give the title up. Then say, Okay, fine. Our other position is you can keep the property, because they don't want to give it up anyway, but we're going to reduce our offer to you by 100,000, because that's roughly what the property is worth, because the appraisal came in at 82 in '97, so we'll give you 150 and you keep the property, and that should be enough.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Do you think that project in two years will solve the problem?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: If we made a deal like Bill suggested, maybe we could get them to agree that we could sandbag that property, so if it does have a flood in the next two years, the water will go around the place instead of through it.

MR. PEPPLER: Richard Duane already looked into that, as far as building up the berm around the pond.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: And he could. I think he only got two inches out of it or something, wasn't it?

MR. PEPPLER: It was not feasible.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: The actual property, his property, could we sandbag it to keep it from flooding?

MR. TOUART: Commissioner, it's not only his property. Let me tell you the problem there. Number one, even with all the rains last summer, and y'all know we had floods all over this County, Mr. Stanberry's property did not flood. So our staff has corrected the immediate problem. What Janet is talking about is the permanent solution we hope to get done in the next two years.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What if we have a hurricane next summer? Then we've got another lawsuit against us for a million bucks.

MR. TOUART: Certainly.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: We're going to have to pay him up the gum stump. That's a problem with keeping that, letting them keep it.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I agree.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Why couldn't you pay him 300 and ask for the deed to the house?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: We don't have to pay him 300. The most they're asking --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I'll go 250.

MR. PEPPLER: I'm just thinking --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN I see your point.

MR. PEPPLER: One thing, I remember recommending a settlement in the Tracy Watson case for 22,500 and the citizenry was outraged that Willie Junior -- I mean, that we would be paying that on behalf of Willie Junior. One thing you have to look out for is that getting out in the news that we're paying Mr. Stanberry $200,000 for a house that may only be worth 125. How is that going to look?

MS. LANDER: And we're not exactly getting the benefit of the good press for anything lately.

MR. PEPPLER: We don't want to set a precedent.

MS. LANDER: Get it all out.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I think Ms. Minshew, though, might.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I think we go with the thing, where you just say, all right, you go negotiate up to 250 and we get the title. And if they're just absolutely hard over -- like I say, if this thing is for sentimental reasons in the family and he just says I'm not giving up the title, then say, Okay, fine. You get to keep the property. I mean, we would like to get him out of there, but if he just refuses to move, he says I'm not going to give you the title, then say, Okay, we'll give you 150 and we'll let you keep the property.

MS. LANDER: The other thing that we might be able to include that might make it more palpable is to give him the right of first refusal, when the property goes back on the market, when it's safe to give him the right to purchase it, to repurchase it at fair market value or less. I mean, for settlement purposes, we could agree on an appraised value for today, for whatever today's appraised value is, to give him the right of first refusal at today's appraisal.

In other words, if he wanted to, he could rent for a few years or he could make a modest investment and make interest on his money for a few years. There may be a way to put him in the position where he would be as well off as if we had given him 300, but at the end of the day, he may be able to reoccupy his homestead. If he saves his money, he can make the kinds of repairs that he could not otherwise afford to do. Maybe that would be a bargaining chip.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Let me ask you something. The $250,000 that they're requesting, is that with or without the house?

MR. PEPPLER: They keep the house.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: So they keep the house.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: That's the problem. Let me ask you this: What would it cost to get an appraisal now so we know what a house in that area goes for?

MS. LANDER: About $350.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Why don't we get the appraisal and then add on enough to cover her 25 percent and maybe a little extra and see what that number turns out to be and, then, let's offer it. Because it's supposed to be compensation. The value of the house would be the compensation. If that's the market value, okay, we're giving it to you. This is unreasonable to ask for more. I mean, if we add on her attorney fees, it's unreasonable to ask for more than that.

MR. TOUART: Commissioner, remember if you hire a competent appraiser and they appraise it as is condition out there, the house is damaged.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What I'm saying is, what are the houses that are not damaged in that neighborhood -- in other words, it would be the kind of thing where you may can use a Realtor that we can even get a figure of what the fair market is in that area and we use that as a basis.

MR. TOUART: You certainly couldn't use this house for an appraisal.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Oh, no. I didn't mean that. I'm sorry. I wasn't clear. We would try to find out what an undamaged house in that neighborhood would appraise at roughly or be put on the market for.

MS. LANDER: What's the average value.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Yeah, that's it or something. And we could even add a little more if it's not that high. Of course, it's six years. It was 80-something. It might be up 100,000 by now.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's the reason I used 100,000 to back out, figuring there had been some appreciation out there.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: So we could use that, tie that in. It might get us up close to -- you know.

MS. LANDER: What was the measure of damages that the Court, the 1st District Court was looking at? The cost of repairs, Charlie, is that one of the measures?

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah. Either -- if the property cannot be repaired, then you have to look at how the property has diminished in value. If the property can be repaired, then you're entitled to the cost of repairs. And all the testimony was, at least from the experts called by Mr. Stanberry, was that the property could not -- the house could not be repaired.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Oh, is that right?

MR. PEPPLER: She wasn't entitled to get the cost of repairs.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: It is in bad shape.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Right, if they found that.

MR. TOUART: Personally, I've had a house flooded three times and I want to tell you, it's almost as bad as a fire. I've only met Mr. Stanberry a couple of times, but I can tell you, you've got to take everything out. You've got to take the floors up. You've got to take the Sheetrock off the walls, the insulation. You don't just replace -- the insurance companies will try to make you replace halfway down the wall, which don't ever let them do that. But the other factor is the mildew factor. Which I haven't been to Mr. Stanberry's house, but I've had a house in Mississippi flooded three times, and they are finally doing something to correct that now in Mississippi. But honest to God, it's the worse thing I've ever lived through in my entire life. You lose clothes, you lose everything. So I'm not trying to -- you know, obviously, y'all will settle the thing. But I wouldn't want to live in this house.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: He's going to have to take up all the carpet, the floors --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: We also have to look at it from the public's perspective, as was pointed out. We just can't -- I mean, you have to be sentimental, but, I mean, yes, but still we have to be good stewards of the public's money and we've got to do something here. You know, if it wasn't that we just go out there and, say, give him this and that would make it great, but we can't. We've got to be -- like Charlie said, we've got to justify this sometime. I mean, if somebody comes back and says, Why in the hell did you do it? I can't say, Well, it was very emotional and we felt like we had to do this thing.

I mean, we've got to be realistic here. And that's the reason I think --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Yeah. Why don't we do this. Let's get the appraisal for 350. Let's do that. Then, to that, we add on the attorney fees, and if we're getting up close, we add on something for the furniture to be fair to the man and so forth. Then let's see where we are. If we're pretty close, we make her an offer for the house using that figure. But once we know all that, that's probably what the damages should be, if they go to trial, and at that point -- I think we've got to get that house back, because we're going to end up with the same. In two years, who knows, even after that, I don't know if you're going to put people back on that property or not, but we would be running through another 200,000. We don't need to do that, or else we call out the National Guard and sandbag the whole place.

MR. TOUART: Another thing that is important to remember when y'all make your decision is I don't think Mr. Stanberry's house -- Commissioner Gilley mentioned flood plain. Correct me if I'm wrong. I don't think his house is actually in a flood plain, so he doesn't have to have flood insurance. This is an act of natural -- so that's a big question there and that's a big thing to remember. He was not in a flood plain nor would he have to have flood insurance.

MR. PEPPLER: Nobody's said that.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I did insinuate that maybe he was in a place that was low.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Did he have flood insurance?

MR. TOUART: No, he was not required to have flood insurance.

MR. PEPPLER: He's lower than that pond.

MR. TOUART: That's the problem.

MS. LANDER: Would it make any sense, Charlie, to get a high/low and then go into mediation with it, rather than be sending offers back and forth, with the authority to mediate up to a certain amount and then bring that back to the Board? Would that make more sense?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: That would cover us better. That's a good idea. Then we can always say it went to mediation and that's what they -- that would give us --

MS. LANDER: I really think this case needs to be mediated, because we need to have Mr. Stanberry in the same room that we're in when we're talking about these things. Also, before the mediation, we should go ahead and get a comparable study, you know, get the value of the comparables in the area. It may be higher than we think it is. And then figure out what her -- plus the damage to all of his possessions. I don't know typically what people insure their personal possessions for within a house, but usually it's about as much as the house itself.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Maybe that's why they made no claim, they got insurance for that.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: They may have.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That could be why.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: It seems strange they didn't make a claim on that.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: They probably did.

MR. TOUART: Well, if there was insurance money, it would be subrogated by the insurance company anyway. Mr. Stanberry wouldn't get that. If he's already had an insurance claim, that would be subrogation.

MS. LANDER: What happens when you file a claim is that your premium goes up. So I'm not too worried about whether or not he has insurance or not, because George is right.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: All right. So you're suggesting -- because we've got --

MS. LANDER: I would say let's mediate it. Let's get our information, as Commissioner Banjanin suggested, and then go into the mediation with the maximum of 250, with title, to mediate it, see if we can do better, but we can go that far without having to impasse. What do you think, Charlie?

MR. PEPPLER: Okay. Because if you look at what's not been touched by the 1st District Court of Appeal, that's $35,000 that we're going to have to pay anyway. If you add the 58,000 for attorney's fees and costs, which she originally won or he originally won, because of a proposal for settlement he made, then we're up to 93,000. If you add in the 129,000 that his experts say would be the cost to repair, you're up to 220,000, and you round it off, to 250.

MS. LANDER: It's a justifiable figure.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's fine.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: You just figured that up?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Does that give us our justification? Could you go back and offer -- say, We'll take your 250 offer, but we have to have title.

MS. LANDER: I think it might be more effective to do in the mediation setting, because then we're not dependant upon Lisa. We get to talk to Mr. Stanberry.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Yeah, because she may not agree.

MR. TOUART: How long does all that take, to set the mediation?

MS. LANDER: Well, we just have to wait for the mediator's schedule. First you have to agree -- what we need when we go back into the Sunshine, is authority from this Board to attempt to mediate the suit within the parameters of what we've discussed here. We won't say the numbers out there, but just, you know, within our basis of authority, so that when we go into mediation we have authority to settle. They don't know how much authority we have, but we have authority to settle up to a certain amount. Then, of course, all mediations still have to be approved by the Board of County Commissioners. We have to still bring it back to you, if we are successful, and you would authorize us to do that in the Sunshine, and then the rest we'll bring back to you as it's completed.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Is Lisa going to agree to mediate?

MS. LANDER: I think that she would be hard-pressed not to.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Based on that last DCA ruling?

MS. LANDER: Yes. And, of course, we can always ask the Court to order mediation. So at some point, if she refuses, Charlie will have to ask the Court to order mediation and then she'll have to go.

Commissioner Young, you --

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: You know --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: They offered the 250.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: I know it. I think what happened, what I'm really thinking in my mind, you set the cap at 250, plus the house, and I personally don't agree with that. If we're going to take the house, I think we go to 300, as high as 300, if you're going to take the house. Because I think he needs enough money to pay Lisa and then have enough money to try to buy a place and then take care of his other --

MS. LANDER: Debts.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: -- debts and stuff. That's all.

MS. LANDER: Are those kinds of damages that are ancillary to the flood damage, where he had to be away from work and all of those economic damages, are they recoverable?

MR. PEPPLER: No.

MR. TOUART: He's retired. He doesn't work.

MS. LANDER: He doesn't work now.

MR. TOUART: I don't know when he retired. I don't know what he's retired from.

MS. LANDER: Has he retired for reasons related to the flood?

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: I don't know. I just know he's retired.

MS. LANDER: Is there any support to go higher than 250, to go into mediation?

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: If you're going to take the house, that's what I'm saying. If you're going to ask for the house, I think we ought to pay him three.

MS. LANDER: Remember that the house is worth -- the property at the end of the day will probably be worth, even if the house were to be leveled, it would probably have an inherent value of about $75,000 without the --

MR. PEPPLER: You mean the land?

MS. LANDER: Yes. Just the land would be worth that much.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What street is it on?

MR. PEPPLER: North Orange Avenue.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: It's off of the old highway. You know Hood Drive comes into the old highway there in Ensley? You know, where Wickes Lumber, you know, Barnes Feed Store, it's back -- if you're going south, it's on the west side, back in there.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: A lot out there is worth $75,000? I wouldn't think a lot would be worth that much there.

MR. TOUART: I don't think that high. I think what they're talking about is with the house on it, the comparable value of the land.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: No, they were saying if you take off the house. I think that's pretty high.

MS. LANDER: Well, maybe it is. Maybe 75 would be high.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: See, our problem, Marie, is, as Bill mentioned, we have a responsibility to the public, too, and we can't just give money away. We have to have a basis for doing that.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: And the reason I say that is because they have offered the 250. That's a figure we've got to look at. Now, they didn't offer the title with that, that's because we offered 150. I mean, we need to kind of go back -- that's the reason we're giving -- saying we give you the authority to go negotiate here. They may then say, okay, fine. That would be okay. The worse that can happen is they come back and say no, and then we can come back and say, Okay, let's try the three. I mean, I'm not just saying try three, knowing that they're the ones that threw the 250 out on the table. That's the only reason I say that.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, then we could probably do better than that going to trial.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Excuse me.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I'm sorry.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: If they put the 250 on the table, but they want to keep the house.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Yeah, but that's their side of it. They want to get as much as they can.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: They want to keep the house, but if we were going to approve that, then we need to consider future damages. And Richard has told us that he's got that under control for now and, of course, later on we still intend to use the Ensley project.

MR. PEPPLER: Try to complete it.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: To try to complete it. So they're saying, give me 250 and let me keep the house. That would be one good way to get rid of this whole thing.

MR. PEPPLER: That's assuming we don't have anymore floods, or that he doesn't experience anymore flooding, because, obviously, he's going to sue us.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: The other concern I have with this is, if we're too -- if we don't go according to what they're really entitled to, all these other lawyers are watching this thing. We've got floods going on everywhere. We might have 100 cases filed against us. I think that 600,000 really woke up these guys about potentially making some money from the County on these flooding things. So I think the better we do on settling this one, we're going to save ourselves a lot of money in the future, hopefully, if it's not out of sight.

MR. PEPPLER: It woke up Ms. Minshew.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Have we had a flood problem, you know, with someone filing against us, to your knowledge?

MR. PEPPLER: In another area?

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Yes.

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah. The Robberts' case is mediating tomorrow. That's over in the Copper Forest area.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Where?

MR. PEPPLER: Copper Forest, off --

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Where is that?

MR. PEPPLER: Off of Pine Forest.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: That's your district

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's the one where the sewage went in and the lady got hepatitis.

MR. PEPPLER: That's what she's claiming.

MS. LANDER: We're not allowed to talk about that case.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Oh, I'm sorry. That was just from our previous discussion.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: If I might, let's go back to our idea, Bill, about getting an appraisal, see what it's worth from the general area, add on the attorney's fees and maybe something else and see where we are. If we can get into a reasonable range there, if we have to add a little more money to get the title to the property, maybe we'll be all right, but take it up to 250 for now and let's see what that turns out to be. That way we've got a basis to proceed on. If it's way less -- I mean, this house may only be worth, in that neighborhood, may only be worth 100,000. We can't go giving away an extra 100,000. I mean, if you go from -- say the attorney's fees would be how much, 50-something?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Fifty-eight.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: So you're talking about 158. If we add another hundred, I mean, that's just giving money away and we're going to open the door on other suits. We might -- if it's that low. Now, maybe it will be more, but maybe we can add on something to justify. But if we go -- we might be better off if it's too out of line just letting them sue us again and do the best we can.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Try to do the mediation.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Or the mediation. I'm not sure Minshew is going to agree to that.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: The $250,000 is really -- you've got 250 and you're going to let them negotiate up to 250. All I'm saying is $50 more and keep the house.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Fifty thousand.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Fifty thousand. Well, you know, they keep the house and let it go. But anyway, whatever.

MS. LANDER: If the last word on that is -- if they come back at mediation and if they say we'll go 300 with the house, then what we will do is we'll call another executive session, and we can go back into mediation after that point, if we have the authorization to do so or, or, we can bring it in the Sunshine back to you and we can say that we represented that we could not speak for the County. This is contingent upon approval by the Board, or do you not want us to bring anything in excess of 250 back to you as an alternative? Like, I don't have authorization to go up to anything more than 250 in mediation. But if they say we'll settle this for 300, you can have the house, you can have title, I don't have authorization to go that high, so I have to come back to you either in the Sunshine or in the shade. What would be your preference?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: The shade.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: The shade, yeah. We can talk.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Because you've got to justify those numbers no matter what those numbers are.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: We can't just go giving away --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: We don't know what the appraisal is going to come back as. I would not want that to be discussed. That wouldn't be fair to them either, to have that discussed, probably.

MR. PEPPLER: This appraisal that we're going to get done with your permission should be confidential.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Yeah, that's what I'm saying. I would not want that out in public.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Well, all of this is confidential.

MS. LANDER: It's called work product.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Up until the time that it's all done. But then it's going to be public record, so all the lawyers in town will be reading all this.

MS. LANDER: It won't be public record, right, but when it's all over it will be. There aren't too many lawyers in town who have had $600,000 verdicts. And when a jury brings you back a verdict of 600,000 -- and they were not -- they were not a bizarre group of jurors. They looked like the average typical jurors, so something about this case --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I can't look at that, because they didn't end up -- the Court overruled that, so there were some reasons. You know, I wasn't in there. I can't tell you why they came back with that, but, obviously, they --

MS. LANDER: They came back with it because the proof wasn't there to support the verdict.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Well, that's what I mean.

MS. LANDER: But they've been educated. These are educated plaintiffs now, so now they get the proof to conform in the future. I mean, Lisa now knows how to do her case properly, because the appeals court has told her this is what you have to do.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Okay, we've beat this thing to death. I think we know where we are. We've given you the authorization to go do that. You said if they just throw out the 300-something and you want to bring that back and bring it back in here in the shade -- is that what we call it, shade -- we'll rediscuss it. We've got another whole case to go here.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I think one thing we have to realize is we all have a responsibility not to discuss any of these numbers with anybody, because then we're violating our duty, because -- I mean, we represent the people.

MS. LANDER: We're waiving the privilege.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Yeah. And I then that tips them off and they will -- I mean, there will be no negotiating anywhere, so I think we all have to keep that in mind.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: I don't think any of us have ever done that or would even think of doing something like that.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, I'm just saying.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: I think most of us in here are pretty intelligent about dealing with this kind of thing.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I mean, sometimes these people approach, you know -- I always say I can't discuss it.

MS. LANDER: Let me add to that that Commissioner Barnhart can't be privy to any of this, because he wasn't here today.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Yeah, that's right.

MS. LANDER: So he's out of it. I can't share this information with him. He's just going to have to stay back.

All right. On to Frankenmuth.

MR. PEPPLER: This is the matter in which the lease was entered into by Joe Flowers with Unisys for the equipment. There was an action in Federal court to determine whether the County had ratified that lease, because in public meetings we had appropriated payments for the lease. The Eleventh Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals finally said, Yeah, you've ratified the lease. It went back down to Judge Collier in the District Court. The Frankenmuth, who took possession of the lease or became the assignee of the lease from Unisys, requested attorney's fees under the terms of the lease. Judge Collier said, No, you're not entitled to it. The Eleventh Circuit said, Yes, you are. And now we have a motion for rehearing pending on that particular issue in Federal court.

But getting down to the State court, while the Federal case is pending, Frankenmuth filed an action in State court saying, We'll you've not paid the lease, you've breached it, and now you owe us all of the payments under the lease. The issues in that case really boil down to what does the term -- I mean, what do the terms of the lease provide? We're saying that the lease provisions say you're only limited to one year of lease payments, and they're saying, No, because you kept the equipment and didn't give it back to us, we're entitled to all lease payments for the number of years under the lease. And they're saying, We're entitled to 10 million dollars, basically, if everything goes their way. We're saying, No, the most we think you could ever get is about one point three million.

So what we want to do on this case, there's been -- I was trying to get --

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: You find a way to reduce that.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I'm with you on that one, Marie.

MR. PEPPLER: How about a $100,000 offer?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: So let's explain the one point three. What's your justification?

MR. PEPPLER: That when we said we're not going to make any more payments on it, we were liable for the payments that were due in the fiscal year that we said that, and that was back in '95, so we're liable for $419,000 plus 120,000. That's been accruing at 18 percent interest since that time.

MR. TOUART: Eighteen.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Why 18?

MR. PEPPLER: That's what the lease provided for.

MR. TOUART: Holy gees.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Who signed that lease?

MS. LANDER: Joe Flowers. And the County

wouldn't -- he wouldn't even let the County see the lease. We never saw it until he was out of office, but because the Board of County Commissioners approved a budget that had a line item for debt service -- that, by the way, was pretty much the same from year to year, the same amount. But what he was doing was he was folding over debt into refinancing agreements and not telling the County. I mean, this is the hard -- this case breaks my heart more than any other case on legal grounds, because the County has really taken a beating from the Court.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Where was Wanda?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That was before that.

MR. PEPPLER: Then Mr. Magaha was given the authority to take over the duties. His office was abolished, Flowers' office was abolished.

MS. LANDER: Right, was abolished by the legislature.

MR. PEPPLER: He was indited for entering into this lease.

MS. LANDER: Then he was given probation, right --

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

MS. LANDER: Withheld adjudication, and then he died.

MR. TOUART: Before any of this ever came to trial or anything?

MS. LANDER: Yes. And everybody -- and the guy that he was doing business with, his friend at Unisys, he died, so all the people who have firsthand knowledge of how the lease was entered into are gone. They're all dead.

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah. And the reason we brought this before you is because we're thinking of making what's known as a proposal for settlement, also known as an offer of judgment, for a certain amount that we thought would be appropriate, to put the ball in their court, to see if they would settle. But we want to do a little more discovery, send out some written questions to them and request for admissions, to get a better feel as to why they're saying they're entitled to all the lease payments under the lease, when the language of the lease doesn't even provide for that.

MS. LANDER: We also want to box them in to admissions, because we have tendered the equipment back to them in writing on several occasions years ago, and their response has always been, Just give us all the money. They won't give us direction as to where to deliver the equipment. You can't sell it now, because it has no market value.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: It's obsolete.

MS. LANDER: It's worthless. It was worthless to the County when Flowers bought it. This is a major hosing.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Could we countersue for fraud?

MS. LANDER: We have, as a matter of fact, alleged the affirmative defense of fraud.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Which I think we should. If it was worthless when he bought it, they defrauded the man.

MS. LANDER: That's right.

MR. PEPPLER: Also, we have another count.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Did we get a ruling on that?

MR. PEPPLER: No.

MS. LANDER: No. This was all raised in the form of affirmative defenses before Judge Collier, but Judge Collier shortcut everything, entered summary judgment declaring the nonsubstitution clause to be unconstitutional, for the lease to be otherwise valid and enforceable against Escambia County, and he's stated but he makes no ruling as to all the other issues that were raised. So when they filed in State court, Charlie took all of those unresolved issues and he brought them into the defense of the County in a counterclaim on behalf of the County.

But what we worry about is that we don't really argue that there is a one-year, we owe them for a one-year payment for each of two schedules. We're trying stop this case from hemorrhaging dollars and the way to do that is to try to put a fair value on the case, make an offer of judgment -- we're not ready to give you a number today, but we'll come back with that -- and if they don't get at least 125 percent of that offer of judgment from a jury, then they will have to pay all of Charlie's attorney's fees.

Did I mess up the percentage again, Charlie?

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah, it's 75 percent. When the defendant makes the offer of settlement, if the jury comes back with a verdict of 75 percent or less than the offer of judgment, then the plaintiff would have to pay your attorney's fees.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: At your rate of pay, we'll be able to get about a million dollars.

MR. PEPPLER: That's right.

MS. LANDER: That's right.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: For how many years?

MS. LANDER: Well --

MR. PEPPLER: It's from the date that we make the --

MS. LANDER: From the date that we make the offer of judgment, that it's recorded. But we're not quite ready to do that, because we have to do a little bit more discovery, because once you make it, you don't want to keep changing your number. You want it to be a good, sound number based on things that you can support and, so, we want to do a little bit of pre-offer discovery, with admissions and interrogatories. We're going to prepare Request for Admissions and Interrogatories. Then we're going to come back to you for permission to file that offer of judgment. And we don't really need to do that in the shade, do we? Because after all, the amount is the amount.

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

MS. LANDER: We won't have to have another meeting in the shade. We'll just bring it back on the County Attorney's Report and, then, if our predictions are correct, Frankenmuth will have to think long and hard about rejecting this offer of judgment or they're going to have to pay everything that Charlie charges per hour from that time on, through the trial of the case.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Do you have any feel, just roughly, what kind of money we're talking about?

MS. LANDER: We've reserved -- we have available right now two point five million. If we make Amy come up with the other two five -- I have five million in reserves, but she doesn't actually have her hands on that other two point five. We will have to cut other County projects to make good on that other two point five, because we value the case in the worse case scenario at five million. That's our worse case scenario.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Now, is this the original company?

MS. LANDER: No. Frankenmuth is twice removed from Unisys.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I was going to say, so I thought.

MS. LANDER: Unisys was assigned to Tri Corp and then Tri Corp assigned to Frankenmuth for consideration. But these companies don't want computers. They want money. They bought debt. They bought paper. They bought commercial paper and that's what they want.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: And what was it, 30 years?

What was the note?

MS. LANDER: It's a multi year --

MR. PEPPLER: Lease.

MS. LANDER: Nineteen years? I don't know what the payback is, but they paid millions of dollars for that note.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What I meant was in the offer of judgment what kind of range are you looking at? I know you haven't pinned it down.

MS. LANDER: We have a rough range. What was it that we came up with Amy?

MR. PEPPLER: Between one point three and two point five.

MS. LANDER: Between one point three and two point five.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: You've got that money in reserve?

MS. LANDER: Oh, yeah. We could put our hands on two point five right now.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: So we don't have to raise taxes.

MS. LANDER: Not so far. But Frankenmuth is a horrible heartbreaking case.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Since there are computers, that's not capital? It can't be LOS?

MS. LANDER: Well --

MR. TOUART: I don't think so.

MS. LANDER: Computers don't have a life, a useful life of five years.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: This is sad. This is sad.

MR. TOUART: Eighteen percent interest.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Yeah, that's ridiculous.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: If it goes very far, I think we ought to really countersue. We already have, but, I mean, really go after them for fraud, because if we've got a decent case against them, that way would get them to work with us some, otherwise, my gosh.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: They would certainly be much more willing to negotiate something with us, rather than --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: A million bucks, right. We don't have that kind of money in the County.

MS. LANDER: I think we're done. We just have to go back into the Sunshine and recap that you're going to let us go into mediation.

P R O C E E D I N G S

MS. LANDER: Linda, do you want us to identify ourselves for the record?

MR. PEPPLER: Charlie Peppler, Chief Litigation Attorney at the County Attorney's office.

MS. LANDER: Janet Lander, County Attorney.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Bill Dickson, County Commissioner District II.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Tom Banjanin, County Commissioner District IV.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Cliff Barnhart, District I.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Marie Young, District III.

MR. TOUART: George Touart, Administrator.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Janice Gilley, Number V.

MR. PEPPLER: All right. This is a complicated case and I'll try to give a thumbnail sketch of it. This had its beginning when Joe Flowers as the comptroller entered into a lease with Unisys for certain computer equipment. Things went along for a couple of years. Joe got into problems with, you know, reverse repurchase derivative investments, and this came to light about this particular lease, that we were allocating payments to this lease without really knowing what lease equipment we had and what the advantages were of having this particular equipment.

When his office was abolished, it came to light that we shouldn't be paying for this equipment because he's the one that signed the lease and we really didn't advocate it or approve it. That caused Frankenmuth, who became sort of the assignee of or they took over the lease from Unisys. Unisys assigned the lease to Tri Corp Financial and Tri Corp Financial assigned it to Frankenmuth Mutual Insurance Company and then Frankenmuth went into court saying, Hey, you can't just stop paying on it because you all have been allocating for the past three years payments on the lease, you signed the lease, essentially.

Fast forward seven years, seven or eight years, the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeal said, Yeah, you're right, Frankenmuth. The County is on the hook for this lease. And we just recently, I think, came before the Board to pay attorneys' fees for defending that particular action brought by Frankenmuth. You approved to pay $235,000 in attorneys' fees.

Go back four years, and Frankenmuth charged into State court saying, Well, while we're waiting for the federal court to decide this, you've breached the lease by not making the payments on the lease. So that case has been on hold for a couple of years and when the Eleventh Circuit finally made the ruling and we disposed of the attorney fee issue, that case is going to be coming up for trial, hopefully, this year.

So the lease provision does contain -- excuse me. The lease does contain an attorney fee provision, which provides that Frankenmuth, if they win the case, are entitled to attorneys' fees. And we're defending this particular State court action on two grounds. First, we're saying that -- if the Court allows us to say this -- that the lease was entered into by the fraud of Joe Flowers and Unisys acting together. Unisys didn't really tell Joe Flowers the whole story about what equipment he was leasing, and Joe Flowers really made some bad decisions on entering into this lease and, Frankenmuth, you have to bear the burden of the fraud of the people that you got this lease from.

Our second defense is that the lease equipment or the lease -- excuse me, the computer equipment that we got was no good to begin with. You gave us equipment that was going to be capable of handling information for hundreds and hundreds of years and all we needed was equipment that would handle much less capacity than that, it quickly became outmoded, it was expensive to maintain, and we didn't get the benefit of our bargain. So this case now is in front of Judge Frank Bell. Like I said, we're waiting for trial.

The lease provisions themselves say that we have the right to say, Look, we're not going to allocate anymore funds under the lease, but we're only going to be liable for the fiscal year that we do that. So when we did that back in '95, we said, We're not going to pay anymore and we're only liable for that one year of lease payments. And I'm reading from the provisions of the lease.

Frankenmuth says, Wait a minute. That's insane. We just got a lease from Tri Corp and that lease goes to the year 2001. You mean to tell me that I'm only going to get one year of lease payments out of this when it goes to the year 2001? No way. We believe that we're entitled to the lease all the way through the year 2001, because you kept the equipment, you never gave it back to us. And, of course, our counter argument is that, Well, no, we told you to come pick up the equipment and you never came and picked it up. So that's going to be a factual issue.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Okay. We kept the equipment. Was it just like sitting in a room like this, not closed up?

MS. LANDER: Not all of it.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Was it being used?

MS. LANDER: We were using the A-11. And they wouldn't disconnect it. And this is before your time, George.

MR. TOUART: Thank you.

MS. LANDER: They told our office that they needed it until the Tracer was up and running, and they continued to use the A-11 -- so that's one piece of equipment that goes with one schedule -- beyond the point where we said we don't have an agreement with you.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You said that we, the County, told them we no longer wanted the equipment, come pick it up. We did that in writing?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

MR. PEPPLER: Yes, in August of '98, three years after we said we're not going to pay it anymore.

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: You didn't send the letter when we first said we're not paying it anymore?

MS. LANDER: We first terminated the lease in 1990 -- what was the date?

MR. PEPPLER: '95.

MS. LANDER: '95. We terminated the lease in '95, but they were continuing to use the A-frame. And despite the pleas of the County Attorney's Office, the County Administration -- not you -- at that time refused to disconnect it, because it would bring County operation to a halt. And so I could not send a letter of come and pick it up, because they were still using it. The minute they stopped using it, I sent the letter to come and pick up the equipment.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: And that was in '98.

MS. LANDER: Yes. That's when we were up and running on Tracer.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Can you turn that off? Oh, my God.

MR. PEPPLER: She can't.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Theoretically, though, they wouldn't have had any reason to come pick it up until they got the letter from us three years later, right?

MR. PEPPLER: Correct. One of -- see, we're still in the middle saying we're not on this lease, we're contesting the whole legality of the lease. So one of the things we said in our letter is we don't believe there is a lease, come and get your equipment. So they took it to me, Well, if we come and get the equipment, that means we're agreeing there's no lease. So they have an argument on their side, you're putting us in a, you know, a dilemma or legal dilemma by saying come and pick it up because there's no valid lease. Of course, they could have said, We're coming and picking it up and here's a letter stating --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Yeah, we're still going to challenge.

MR. PEPPLER: We're still going to -- right. Here's the letter stating, you know, this is still a valid lease, but you can't hold that against us, and that probably would have been the best way to do it.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So are you here to tell us today that we owe some money here?

MR. PEPPLER: You owe.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You're going to ask us, I guess, whether or not we want to agree to an amount or what -- go ahead and finish, I guess.

MR. PEPPLER: Right. Yeah, we owe some money, I think. We owe at least one year, if everything goes our way, and that's what that bottom portion of the handout -- Amy Lavoy prepared this for us and it shows the amount that would be due if we tried the case on April the 1st of this year, and that's one point three million and some change.

MS. LANDER: Of course, we're past that date already.

MR. PEPPLER: Right, so it would be a little bit more.

MS. LANDER: And that's the best case scenario, simple interest. If you compounded it, it's the upper block.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Are you saying that this is what they have agreed they will take?

MS. LANDER: Oh, no.

MR. PEPPLER: No. No. No. This is what they want.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: You're saying this is an offer?

MS. LANDER: This is our offer.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: This potentially would be an offer.

MS. LANDER: That's the low end of our proposal.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Where does this money come from?

MS. LANDER: We have two-and-a-half million. We have close to three million in reserves, Commissioner.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: You do?

MS. LANDER: Yeah. But what we need to do and what I've asked Amy to do is reserve five million dollars on this case. Now, in order to reserve five million dollars on this case, it's going to hurt. It has to come out of general funds. It's going to absolutely hurt everything that the County operates, with the exception of our Enterprise Funds and even Solid Waste would probably take a hit.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: So you have three million there now.

MR. PEPPLER: Two point --

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: You want to take another two million --

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: -- to put in this?

MS. LANDER: Right. Because this is the best case scenario that we have in this -- and I'll turn it back to Charlie in a minute. But we have to figure out a way to resolve this case, to settle this case, because I think that the results, if it goes before a jury, would be catastrophic. So what we would like to do is come out of here with some figure to start out with and, if necessary, a high end on it, a timed payment on an annual payout basis, if worse comes to worse. In other words, we may have to pay more over a longer period of time in order to avoid the exposure to the catastrophic, because they're thinking they can get eight million.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: How much?

MS. LANDER: Eight.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Based on what?

MS. LANDER: The whole lease, all the equipment for the whole period.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: For the whole time period.

MS. LANDER: I just wanted to --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Did Mr. Flowers -- Mr. Flowers died, right?

MS. LANDER: He died.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Okay.

MR. TOUART: The actual cost of this equipment was $539,000, the hard cost of the equipment; is that true, 124,019?

MS. LANDER: It's hard to tell, George, because it was a refinancing on previous monies that were owed for Unisys equipment. Joe Flowers refinanced it and bought new equipment and it was the same annual payment, so it was kind of buried in there in the budget and it was very hard to detect.

MR. TOUART: Who in the world would sign any lease at 18 percent, even in '95?

MS. LANDER: Joe Flowers.

MR. TOUART: And we have to abide by the 18 percent interest.

MR. PEPPLER: In the event of default.

MS. LANDER: It's not usurious.

MR. PEPPLER: No, it's not 18 percent as part of the lease.

MS. LANDER: The interest is on the schedule, the payment schedule.

MR. TOUART: So I assume you're here today to ask the Board to give you advice on a settlement offer?

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: What would you like to take out of this meeting today?

MR. PEPPLER: Authority from the Commission as to making a proposal for settlement.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: What would you say a proposal would be?

MR. PEPPLER: Let me answer that question with a long answer --

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Okay.

MR. PEPPLER: -- and then I'll summarize it. We propounded Interrogatories to Frankenmuth and asked them, Okay, tell us what your damages are. And we got back an answer. They think that they're owed, just in the lease payments themselves, as of April the 8th, 2004, approximately three point four million dollars without interest. And they're using 18 percent interest at the simple rate. So what I computed as far as a good settlement proposal -- and the reason I want to make a proposal for settlement -- this would be like a legal document that you would file with the Court is because I want to set us up to obtain attorneys' fees. See, under this lease, if the Judge were to award them one year, then they win and they're entitled to their attorneys' fees. So if we say, you know, we'll meet you halfway or give you a certain amount, they have to beat that amount by 25 percent or we're entitled to attorneys' fees. So that amount -- I guess getting to the short answer -- I figure between two point two five million and two point five million. And how I arrived at that was I took this one point -- one point four million and rounded it off, added 25 percent. That gave me about one point eight million. Then I added another year of lease payments and that gave me around two point three million, and then I sort of -- if everything --

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: What would be the total lease payments? How many years does that make that we've paid them?

MR. PEPPLER: In the two point five?

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Yeah.

MR. PEPPLER: Two years.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Two years.

MR. PEPPLER: Plus, you know, throwing in some interest and plus that 25 percent rubber, I guess you could call it.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: And we have three million in a pot?

MS. LANDER: Yeah, we had some left -- we had about three hundred thousand dollars left over, so we're close to three million in reserves right now.

MR. PEPPLER: A little bit more.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Is that just for this case or is that all your reserves for all your litigation?

MS. LANDER: No, just this.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Okay, good.

MR. PEPPLER: We think we can take some reserves from the federal case, because we settled that.

MS. LANDER: Yeah, I've included that in that.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Does our insurance cover any of this?

MS. LANDER: We're self-insured.

MR. TOUART: We didn't have any insurance?

MS. LANDER: No.

MR. TOUART: You mean to tell me they didn't reinsure anything in those days?

MS. LANDER: No.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: There was no insurance on this at all?

MS. LANDER: No, we're self-insured.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Oh, heavens.

MR. TOUART: You've got insurance now, Commissioner

MS. LANDER: Now, the problem is that since we wanted to have five million in reserves, but we don't have five million to put in it, we only have close to three, they're going to have to book at the audit -- if we can't settle this case before the audit report has to come out later this year, the auditors not only have to disclose it, but they're going to book it as a liability. They're going to book it and you don't like to be booking these liabilities.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Not publicly.

MS. LANDER: Right. So it is of the utmost importance that we settle this case.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, what is your odds of settling with what you plan to submit to them?

MR. PEPPLER: That's kind of a roll of the dice. We had mediation last year that Janet and I attended and their last demand at that point was three point -- around three point five million dollars, and we had offered the two point five and they never responded. So, you know, the mid-point, obviously, is three million.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Three million, yeah.

MR. PEPPLER: So I'm hoping the two point five million is a pretty close to what they want.

MS. LANDER: If we were to offer three, would that put us within the range of the rule regarding attorneys' fees?

MR. PEPPLER: Right. They would have to get a verdict from Judge Bell or from the jury for three point two five million or whatever 25 percent of three million is.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: What about two point seven? Would that be an insult to only go up a quarter of a million, two point seven five, I mean, versus going the full three?

MR. TOUART: Two point seven point eight --

MS. LANDER: Well, we're not saying -- this is for the purposes of the offer of judgment. If we were just mediating this case in a room -- and that's an option, too, we can always ask for another mediation. If we were mediating this case, we could start low within the authorization that you give us and then work our way up to the maximum. But for purposes of filing an offer of judgment or an offer of settlement in this case, you have to have your high figure. You give it to the Court and then the other side has to stop and think, Well, if I don't take this, I'm not able to get attorneys' fees and I might not get that much and then I'm going to have to pay their fees. So they will be thinking about all this, too. But we do have the option of requesting mediation on this case, because Judge Bell --

MR. TOUART: What happened in mediation last time?

MS. LANDER: They blew us off.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: I think if we offered two five and gave them also another 250,000 leeway, which would be two seven, but go back with two five with that in your --

MR. PEPPLER: Proposal for settlement.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: A quarter million in your pocket to deal with, if necessary.

MS. LANDER: Well, he wants to -- I think with --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Go back and talk, tell me about the -- you said we could go to mediation, I mean, before -- tell me about that, I mean, give me --

MS. LANDER: Well, we had a federal mediator. We were in the Eleventh Circuit. I think she was counterproductive to the process myself. She was a very, very interesting character. I think that it's worth a shot to try once more. But what Charlie is trying -- and I'm always for mediation, because you kind of get to test out how good your theory sounds when you say it out loud. The problem is this case is hemorrhaging dollars. The clock is running on interest everyday, so the longer we drag this out, the more we have to pay, if we're not able to settle this case at some sort of a manageable level. Now, they have -- how many days will they have to respond, Charlie?

MR. PEPPLER: Thirty.

MS. LANDER: They will have 30 days to respond to Charlie's offer of settlement. We could -- so whatever figure you give us to plug into that offer of settlement, we'll go with. If they reject it or if we don't hear from them within 30 days, we can ask the Court to order mediation.

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah, we can.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Now, time frame wise, how long does mediation take?

MS. LANDER: As soon as you can get the mediator and then usually you hammer things out if you're going to hammer them all in one day.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: When is the audit performed?

MS. LANDER: It will be in -- they will have to release the report as part of the budget around July, so we're still okay.

MR. PEPPLER: Now, one of the things I did say in my notice of trial so we could get on the trial docket was at the mediation we had reached an impasse, so -- you know, my thought is, you know, to make a proposal for settlement, but you give us authority to, you know, offer some money to make it go away. I think we can informally try to settle this through the attorneys.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Okay.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What's our exposure, if we go to trial?

MS. LANDER: Well, it depends on the jury. See, the weakness, the main -- we have strengths in this case. The strengths being Joe Flowers entered into this ridiculous arrangement unbeknownst to the Board of County Commissioners, consistently refused to let the Board of County Commissioners see what he had signed, deliberately withheld it. He fraudulently signed documents and he was a political subdivision. He fraudulently represented that he had obtained a resolution from the Board of County Commissioners, and all of the above. Here's the -- we're in good shape, until you get to the part where when we -- when Joe Flowers was removed from office and the office was abolished, instead of saying we repudiate this lease -- here is the equipment, take it away, it's not ours, we lay no claim to it -- we continued to use the A-11 for a specified period of time. Most of the equipments are for wide area networks and I don't know about the imaging system or not.

MR. PEPPLER: That was the one that had too much of capacity.

MS. LANDER: Yeah, we didn't need it.

MR. PEPPLER: It went for two or 300 years.

MS. LANDER: It was only the A-11 that we used. But it was a very -- it really carried on the County's daily operation. It was the main frame. So we couldn't have operated the County without it, but if that's the case, then we need to step up to the plate and say, All right, we're going to continue to use the equipment. And that's why we're going to lose the case.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Would you think we would only be liable for the three years or for the -- how long was the term of the lease?

MS. LANDER: I think we could probably cut off our liability in 1998. The schedules were something around seven years?

MR. PEPPLER: Seven or eight years.

MS. LANDER: Seven or eight years on the equipment, commencing around '94 or '95. One was in arrears, one came later. So we have --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: How much is --

MS. LANDER: The cutoff point, say, from '94 -- that one would probably be due the next year, '98 -- three or four years. We're looking at a maximum of three or four years.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: All right. Let's say four years, how much would we have to pay?

MS. LANDER: Four years would be between six and eight million.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Oh, my God.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I thought she said our upper exposure potentially was eight million.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Let's try to settle it.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I couldn't ever get back to the eight million, but now I get it. You're saying the daily percentage for three or four years is what gets you to the eight million.

MR. PEPPLER: The interest accruing.

MS. LANDER: Right, it's the interest that's killing us.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN Janice, if we postpone this to December 1st, you and I won't be here.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I'm for that. Y'all come back --

MS. LANDER: We have to settle it.

MR. TOUART: Obviously, I don't know anything about the past, but the AS-11, that is an IBM mainframe. That is a core -- I'm very familiar with those. We used them before, too. It was the most common type of mainframe back in those days, and that is approximately the cost, 419,000. We had two of them in Mississippi. But this other equipment, the WAN, that's one piece of equipment, guys, that's about the size of that table.

MS. LANDER: We never used it.

MR. TOUART: But the WAN equipment down there is a bunch of equipment that they could have come and picked up, and if y'all put them on notice to pick it up, that's definitely on y'all's side, because that was the equipment itself. The mainframe was -- the big part of the equipment was that W-A-N.

MR. PEPPLER: There's some good points on our side.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: What would the rent be, the lease on just the A-11; do we know that? Just if you said, Okay, we agree --

MS. LANDER: We could break it out.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Okay. Well, what if we broke it out and said, Okay, we feel like, you know, we owe you that, because we did use that piece of equipment, we used it for several years, but we didn't use this other and we did send you a letter asking you to come pick it up. Therefore, we really don't feel like we owe you for that, because you could have come and picked it up. And we've never touched it. It's still in the box or whatever.

MR. TOUART: That's a good point, because one does not correlate with the other.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Yeah. That's what I'm trying --

MS. LANDER: We have taken that path with them and we have consistently said, We will pay you for what we used and what we owe you. Quantum meruit is the legal term that we were tossing around, but they were not interested in quantum meruit. They wanted the benefit of their bargain with Tri Corp. The reason they never wanted the equipment back is because they're not computer companies, they're financial companies.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: They're finance companies.

MR. TOUART: That's exactly right. They're a leasing company.

MS. LANDER: And, also, the computer equipment becomes obsolete so quickly. It was virtually worthless within a few years.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, they would have taken three point five last year; is that what you said?

MS. LANDER: Would they have taken three point five last year, Charlie?

MR. TOUART: I thought you said three point four.

MR. PEPPLER: Right. We were trying to tie in the state proceeding, this lease proceeding in with the attorneys' fees issue.

MS. LANDER: When we were in mediation, we were looking for a global settlement. We wanted to settle both cases, if we're going to settle, not have one outstanding. We came out pretty good on the attorneys' fees, we really did, but we were never exposed to damages in the federal court case. It was always just attorneys' fees. This has always been the one that makes us afraid to exhale, because of the potential exposure there.

MR. PEPPLER: There were reasons -- we thought we had a good, and we still think we had a good case on the federal case using that over their head as a means to try and get them to settle on the state case, which is our weaker case.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: But they wouldn't respond. Y'all came to an impasse in mediation and they wouldn't respond.

MS. LANDER: They didn't want to do a global settlement.

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: So they're going to push this anyway.

MS. LANDER: See, Tri Corp paid the attorneys' fees for Frankenmuth in the federal case. Tri Corp was the one who assigned the paper to Frankenmuth and they knew they had breached their warranty by representing that everything that had to be done was done. There was a breach of warranty, and I argued to the Eleventh Circuit that Frankenmuth was bringing the wrong cause of action against the wrong party, and the Eleventh Circuit -- actually, I think they bought into that because they sent it to the Florida Supreme Court, but we got a new panel later and the new panel at the Eleventh Circuit was not as sympathetic as the original panel, so we wound up holding the bag on this contract. But what we really have is a breach of warranty on the part of Tri Corp to Frankenmuth. Tri Corp knew it, so Tri Corp has been picking up the tab on attorneys' fees in the Federal case for all these years. That's over now, but nobody is paying the attorneys' fees for Frankenmuth, so now Frankenmuth does have some motivation to settle, although under the lease they can still recover attorneys' fees, if they prevail.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What other things would be a motivation for them to settle?

MS. LANDER: Well, I think they're just tired of it. They're tired of it. And lawsuits are always uncertain. You know, even if you think you're going to win, you go into a lawsuit and you never know what the jury is going to do. It keeps everybody worried.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Can we counterclaim them somehow?

MS. LANDER: We have many defenses. We have affirmative defenses that we've raised.

MR. PEPPLER: Actually, we have counterclaimed.

MS. LANDER: We have counterclaimed?

MR. PEPPLER: One that's for fraud and the inducement --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Yeah, the fraud and the inducement.

MR. PEPPLER: -- to rescind the agreement. The second was --

MS. LANDER: Well, that would have to be with Tri Corp -- I mean, with Unisys.

MR. PEPPLER: We're saying that they carried the fraud with them, because they would be the assignee.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: See, something like that could be enough.

MS. LANDER: It won't.

MR. PEPPLER: The second count is that they gave us defective equipment.

MS. LANDER: These are things that you allege, but realistically --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: We need to settle it, but I'm thinking of stuff that we can throw at them that might make them think, well, maybe we better settle this thing instead --

(Phone ringing.)

MR. TOUART: It does that. I don't know why.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: -- of fighting it out.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Their tape is being turned over right now.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Yeah, right.

MS. LANDER: I'm sorry, Commissioner. I was distracted by the phone.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I mean, you've got a counterclaim for fraud, so that maybe they don't want the publicity, I don't know. There may be enough there that they will be reasonable, I guess. All we can do is try at this point.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: So how much do you say? I mean, how much as an attorney? I don't know.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I think you ought to go back, I guess -- well, you can go back informally. Why don't you go back informally and feel them out? Tell them, you know, we're willing to give you the two point or whatever it was we offered them and say do you want to make a counter offer to that, and let's see what they say and then maybe we can work it out. And then if they won't do it, you can make the offer of judgment and put some heat on them and then maybe they might.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: I think Tom is right. We ought to go back, as I said before, with the two point, but also let them have something that he can go a little further with, another quarter million, if he has to negotiate.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: You know, I think we ought to just authorize, just tell him up to three point five and let's try to --

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Whatever.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: -- and shoot for three.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Something that he has --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Right. And let's try to give him a little something, quite a bit to work with.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Something to negotiate with.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Right, that's another million, because this sounds real bad.

MR. TOUART: It's 20,000 a month in interest.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Two point five, you're saying?

MR. PEPPLER: You're saying -- let me just summarize -- and, of course, disagree with me -- make a proposal for settlement of two point, but give us authority to settle up to three million?

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's right.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, I'd say up three point five. I guess we could drum up another --

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: What have we got in the kitty?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: They've got three and they said they could get their hands on --

MS. LANDER: Almost -- we're just under three. We have two point.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Forget about anymore. That's what we have now, three?

MS. LANDER: Close to three.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Let's go with three. That's what we've got.

MS. LANDER: Not quite. That's why I said close to three.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I don't know. We've got to get this thing settled, because if we're running a risk of eight million, we're going to be --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Wait a minute. So we've got three and you think that there's a possibility that there's a couple hundred thousand out there? Well, why don't we go at a top of three point two five, whatever is close to three point five. I mean, it's kind of in-between.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, he's going to try to negotiate as low as he can. He's hoping that we can get the three, but I think we better give him enough.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's what I'm saying.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, I think three point five is good.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Why not go for three point two five?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Because then he's got to come back. We delay it. We've got to grab --

MR. PEPPLER: You can give me a settlement range right now.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: That's what we're talking about.

MR. TOUART: Now, Commissioner, keep in mind, anything above what they've got, that's money from the general fund.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I know that, but if we have to end up paying eight, you're talking five million that we don't have, not a half a million.

MS. LANDER: Plus we will have to take it out of the general fund and put it in reserve, two and a half million, if we don't settle the case within the next couple of months.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: So we're going to be up the --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I don't care if we go to three point five, but one of the things I do not want in the settlement is one of those damm clauses in there that says neither party can talk about it, because when this hits the press, I want to be able to say, Well, I'm sorry. This happened sometime ago. And I'm sorry --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: It's not our fault.

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: -- that Joe Flowers wasn't playing with a full deck and he made this -- you know, I don't want to sit there and take it.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: It sounds like he wasn't.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Well, I'm sorry. He obviously wasn't. Whatever the problem was --

MR. PEPPLER: You can't defame the dead.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So I don't want that, you know, what that standard clause is.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: He can't come after you with libel.

MS. LANDER: No confidentiality.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: No confidentiality.

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: It happened sometime ago and it's not our fault.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Exactly. Now we're cleaning up the mess.

MS. LANDER: At this point we have a range of two point five to three point five. And then Charlie will work that. Now when we go back out into the Sunshine, the Board doesn't have to take any action, because whatever Charlie is able to negotiate will have to come back to you for final action. Okay. All right. But what you're giving him here is authorization. However, nothing that he does with regard to Frankenmuth's attorney is going to be binding on the County until we bring it back at a meeting in the Sunshine.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: But he has the authority to go to three point five --

MS. LANDER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: -- without coming back.

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I think what you should do, in my opinion, is go back and say, you know, two point five.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Right.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: If they say no, then you say, Well, what's your counter offer? Let's find out what the range is, and if it's, say, three point five, then you can start negotiating and try to move toward three. But if they do say three point five, then if we can't get them down, we better grab the three point five and get this thing settled and get the heck out of Dodge.

MR. TOUART: May I make a suggestion to the Board for y'all's consideration on a time period that they've got to come back to y'all? In other words, this can't linger on for two or three months out there.

MS. LANDER: Right.

MR. TOUART: And the other thing, if, in fact, this fails, what kind of time frame is the Board looking at on mediation? I would think that would be the next step.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's what I was going to say. This negotiating window ought not be forever. I mean, there ought to be a time frame, because the time -- we have a time certain that we have to try to get this settled.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: What's the time?

MR. PEPPLER: I could make a proposal for settlement at three. We could make the proposal for settlement at three.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: They're going to say they want four if you do that. Or you could raise it a little bit, say, three --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Two point six.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Two point six. We come up a little bit. Good thing, Bill.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: How much time are you going to give them to answer you, Charlie?

MR. PEPPLER: Well, legally they have 30 days.

MS. LANDER: No, we're talking about informal offers back and forth --

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

MS. LANDER: -- would your client take, and then when you get to a number you draw up the settlement papers for the Board, which by the way can't be approved by the Board until -- so their deadline may be June 3rd. I hate to bring this as an add-on, but I may have to, because it costs 20,000 a month if I don't.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I don't think we would disagree with an add-on in that case.

MS. LANDER: So June 3rd is our cutoff date.

MR. TOUART: Keep in mind, also, that whatever I bring to the Board as a budget is highly impacted by this case.

MS. LANDER: Right.

MR. TOUART: Less general fund dollars.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, that's why we have to have a time.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: We will have to escrow another two point millon out of our budget, so we're going to be down another two point five. We better settle this thing right away.

MR. PEPPLER: The deadline to me will only really work if you give them your top dollar. If you're just going to, you know, chip away at each other, you can't set deadlines.

MR. TOUART: You never played poker?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I was fixing to say.

MR. PEPPLER: What they're going to say is -- Okay, I say, two point six million, take it or leave it by June the 2nd.

MS. LANDER: No. No.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, you don't say take it or leave it.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: No. No. It's not a take it; you offer that.

MR. PEPPLER: Get back by June 2nd.

MS. LANDER: No. No. Get back to me by close of business tomorrow.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Then, if they say no, then you say, Well, what is your counter offer, how much do you want? And then -- you know, if they see you're serious about it.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: If they're sick and tired of this.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Yeah. Otherwise --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: And if they're not, then they're going to know.

MR. PEPPLER: What if they say we don't have one?

MS. LANDER: Then we'll file the offer of judgment.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Then you do the official thing.

MS. LANDER: We file the offer of judgment. We can do it. If we file a three million dollar offer of judgment, they would have to take it. They would have to take it. So that's our fall back position.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Okay. You think they would have to take it. They couldn't run up the attorney costs?

MS. LANDER: Right.

MR. PEPPLER: They would be stupid to let it go by. They will have to take it.

MS. LANDER: I mean have to take it in the sense it would be insane.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Right, from a practical point

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: Well, then that's the place.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, let's go for it. Let's get this thing settled.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: No confidentiality clause in there.

MS. LANDER: No.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I want to be able to --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: He wants to bust their chops.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Because we're going to take the heat on this thing and we ought to be able to say, Look, this happened way back and, unfortunately poor old Joe didn't understand or something, but we settled the best we could for the County. I mean, we shouldn't have to take it.

MR. TOUART: Don't blame the County Commissioners.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: No confidentiality.

MR. PEPPLER: There's other confidentiality agreements that have to do with us and have to do with them.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That Frankenstein (sic) deal.

MR. PEPPLER: All right. Just in summary, the authority you've given me is two point five to three point five, right?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Right.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's correct.

MR. PEPPLER: Million.

MS. LANDER: Right. And if they don't accept that, you will go ahead and immediately file an offer of judgment for three point oh.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Let's go with it.

COMMISSIONER BARNHART: That's it.

MS. LANDER: Now, when we get back out there -- Commissioner Young, when we get back out there, we'll just say that the Board is not going to take any further action at this time or any action at this time and then we'll adjourn.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Do you want these papers back?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: They need to give you the documents.

MR. PEPPLER: Give me the papers.

(The attorney/client session concluded at 4:15 p.m.)

EMERALD LAKES (HERON'S FOREST)

Motion made by Commissioner Dickson, seconded by Commissioner Gilley, and carried 4-0, with Commissioner Barnhart absent, approving to accept, with the following four modifications, the Special Master's Report dated October 3, 2004, regarding Emerald Lakes (Heron's Forest Development Company):

A. Staff would be allowed to develop a TDR (Transfer of Development Rights) proposal that would be workable with both parties;

B. Each party would be responsible for future legal fees;

C. Heron's Forest would identify potential receiving parcels, which would be limited to approximately five to six different parcels, with the parcels to be identified in advance, if possible, and if advance identification is not possible, the County would consider allowing Heron's Forest to accept credits for future use; and

D. The final Agreement would have to come back to the Board of County Commissioners for final approval prior to the expenditure of approximately $135,600.

ADJOURNMENT

There being no further business to come before the Board, Chairman Young declared the 3:00 p.m. Attorney-Client Session of the Board of County Commissioners adjourned at 3:46 p.m.

in there. And when we recently did the JLUS Study, we included a new area called Area Bravo, which took in the rest of the property, which also impacted their density. So, obviously, because of that, they filed suit, I guess, right? At this point I'll let you explain it.

MS. PERDUE: Sort of. Yes, that's true. What I've got you guys all here for today is, I hope, for some -- a little bit of guidance. This is the Emerald Lakes matter, which is Heron's Forest Development Company, which -- it may start coming back to you -- has been before you at least twice in the last year for hearings. Robert Emmanuel is the attorney, Garrett Walton and Dick Baker are the developers. Essentially, this has to do with approximately 26 acres which is over off Gulf Beach Highway, which would be Emerald Lakes, the final phase of a multiphase master plan originally approved back in 1996. And the gist of it is, just as Commissioner Dickson has described, the bottom line is there have been some downzonings that have affected this property, cutting the potential density significantly. I think we all can concede that it was cut significantly.

The legal arguments stem over whether or not

P R O C E E D I N G S

MS. PERDUE: I'm handing each of you a map to refresh your memories of the location of Emerald Lakes, and I'm also handing you a copy of Mr. Lou Ray's Section 7045 Florida Statutes recommendation.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Do you want me to give the presentation, Alison?

MS. PERDUE: Yes. For some of you, you've heard this --

MS. LANDER: You've got some very useful background information.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Yes.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I don't even know what this is.

MS. LANDER: Go ahead.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You want me to go?

MS. LANDER: Sure.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: This is the property that was owned by Garrett Walton and Dick Baker out there off Gulf Beach Highway. They purchased the property some time ago and then at some point, a couple of years ago, the flight pattern on the state, we were told that the map was wrong, so they moved it, so part of their property ended up in an APZ, which reduced the density that they could have the County's position would be correct, which is that they should be subject to the downzonings regardless of any master plan approval. Five of the acres they didn't even own back in 1996. They added those on later. So we feel as though there are some fairly strong legal arguments that the downzonings do apply.

Their argument is, essentially, that they do have vested rights to this development, that they are essentially vested with the densities at the time they submitted their master plan for approval back in 1996, and that the County has essentially taken -- if you get the opportunity, in front of you is a copy of Mr. Lou Ray's recommendation. Their position is that the County has essentially taken the equivalent of 452 dwelling units from them and that the County is responsible to them for that taking, essentially, is what they're saying.

This has been and is in litigation in Circuit Court on a petition for cert. It has been before you on a couple of appeals out of the Board of Adjustment for various matters, and what has happened now is they have filed what is called a 70.51 Land Use Dispute Resolution Act claim against the County, and pursuant to that, we had to participate in a sort of mediation type proceeding, which Mr. Lou Ray acted as the Special Master/Mediator for that proceeding. Mr. Richard Duane helped out in that. He participated a little bit, as did Karen Thompson and Steve Fitzgibbons. We also had Lieutenant Ricketts from the Navy, who did show up and made some comments on behalf of the Navy.

Following all that proceeding with Mr. Ray, he has to, under the statutory scheme that brought us there, he has to issue this recommendation. You have a copy of it. I think it's four or five pages long. As Mr. Ray indicates in here, the Special Master mediation proceeding had to be declared an impasse. I mean, my position was we had strong legal positions and I was not going to concede to the large amount of money they claimed that they were entitled to. If you look at the figure, it's over two million dollars they claim they're entitled to. So Mr. Ray did what, I think I would have to say, is a creative potential compromise, and in his recommendation he lays out a four-prong solution or compromise to this ongoing litigation and dispute.

And the four parts are -- and they start there on page three, but, essentially, what he's saying is that, okay, here's what we'll do. For the 26 acres over here off Gulf Beach Highway, we will limit that to the JLUS standards. They can only do single-family detached residential or commercial or a blend, which would be allowed. It can only be done at the densities allowed under the current JLUS map and all that sort of thing. Okay, fine.

Then step two is, let's take those 452 dwelling units that this property would have been allowed to have a maximum density of back in '96, let's take that and let's transfer, let's allow Mr. Walton to transfer that to somewhere else in the County, except for another overlay area or a barrier island. He would not be allowed to transfer it there, but limit it to no more than three dwelling units per acre.

The third prong of his recommendation is that the County would have to enter into a settlement agreement that would be in the form of an actual development agreement with Heron's Forest that would outline what they would be allowed to do. In other words, yes, they can have their 452 units, yes, they can put them here, no more than three, you know, kind of outlining the details of what they would be allowed to do. And we would have the Navy basically show that they agree with this development agreement, as well as the Circuit Court where we do currently have a case involving Emerald Lakes pending at the moment.

And then the fourth prong of his recommendation is a payment of $135,000 to the developer. The formula was $300 per unit of what they claim was taken, but the idea behind what that amount would go to would be to help pay for engineering plans and their costs, maybe even some of effort that they claim they've put into this. That's clearly a lot less than the two point two million that they claim that they would be entitled to, but it is still a significant amount of money.

Anyway, that's kind of the four-prong recommendation that he has come up with. It does have its pros and its cons, which is why I've asked you guys to be here today. Of course, the biggest plus side would be that it would end any litigation, and Robert Emmanuel, their attorney, seems to think that the concept that's presented here is very, very much what they would like to see happen and they can see that, yes, if the County were willing to enter into something like this, that it would end the litigation, not only what is currently pending, but it would remove the possibility of them pursuing something that could potentially have a big money blow to the County, like maybe a taking claim, or there's a slight potential of a Burt Harris Act here, although my legal position would be that the statute of limitations has run on a Burt Harris claim. They may also want to attempt to establish that they have vested rights to develop this under the 1996 densities, which, of course, would present a real problem with regards to the Navy in that particular area. So this solution would remove those possibilities.

This is an acceptable solution to the Navy. I talked to Lieutenant Ricketts of the JAG Corps, who has spoken with Captain Pruitt about this. They're fine with this. Of course, he says that, from a policy perspective, this is a difficult question for the Commission, for you guys to struggle with, but that as far as this being in line with their JLUS densities and development restrictions, Captain Pruitt and the Navy would be fine with that. And the thing that I pointed out, which is, I think, Mr. Ray is proposing a creative and relatively inexpensive solution to this problem.

The downsides are, of course, we would be giving up our legal defenses, those arguments, we would be giving those up and basically conceding that there were 452 units that they can use somewhere else. That raises one of the other downsides. They've not indicated where they would want to use these units.

Now, that raises some issues about what Richard Duane, who seems to be pretty much in support of this recommendation, but his concern is that it would not be the County's responsibility to deal with things like the infrastructure that might be impacted by a potential development that would be the result of the transfer. So road widenings, drainage, sewer, all of that, it would have to be very clear that that would be the developer's responsibility should the proposed receiving area or areas be impacted such that those systems would need to be improved. And, of course, we don't know where it is. And one of the things that the recommendation points out is, well, they would be restricted to no more than three dwelling units per acre, but that they would not be subject to the PUD approval process. So it is possible that this would end up waiving some lot size restrictions and you don't have the same public participation in a settlement agreement as you would with, say, a PUD approval processor or even like a rezoning where you have significant public involvement. You kind of miss that step.

So it has its pros and it has its cons. I know -- if I could, I know Commissioner Dickson mentioned the possibility might exist that the $135,000 that is recommended here could be something that Enterprise Florida might be willing to jump in on. Now, I don't know how true that is and I would certainly leave that to Commissioner Dickson.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I put that as one of our lobbying things to see if we could get the money through the Florida Enterprise, and I've talked to some people about that, including Vann Goodloe at the Chamber, who puts in the form that you put in and he's willing to do that. So, in other words, what I'm saying is, hopefully, it may not cost us anything, if we decide to. If we were to say, Yeah, let's go ahead and accept this, then I'm not saying for sure, but I think we might have a good chance of getting a hundred and the reason being is because it reduces the density in an area that's sensitive to the Navy, so I think we have a good chance of getting that money.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: My question is, why did they send it to Charlie Crist, Department of Legal Affairs? Why didn't they send it to Pam Dana?

MS. PERDUE: I think it --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: For that, Pam Dana should get a copy if you're going to look for it.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: She will when we get there. We've got it on our list of things that we're asking the lobbyist to do.

MS. PERDUE: I'm somewhat sure that for Mr. Ray to meet his statutory requirements under the statutory scheme that we were acting under, that he had to send a copy of his recommendation on to Tallahassee. And there are --

MS. LANDER: That keeps the statistics out of the Attorney General's office, Burt Harris.

MS. PERDUE: There are very strict statutory requirements under this Land Use Dispute Resolution Act, which is one of the reasons I'm looking to the Board for guidance, because if the Board wants to approve the recommendation, then we have to take some step toward implementing it, meaning we either need to enter into a development agreement or something like that so that there is a step forward implementing the recommendation.

If the Board wants to reject it, then there's another step that we have to take, which is someone from the County will have to issue a letter to the developer outlining the uses that do exist and that are allowed for the subject property to show them that, no, we're not unfairly burdening your property because you can do X, Y and Z with it and here's our position on what you can still do with your property.

Of course, the Board has the other option, which is to kind of tailor their own solution, which is accept part and reject part, but in that case we would certainly want to outline that, as well. But the statute requires that we do take some sort of action with regards to the recommendation.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I have some questions. All right. Let's talk about the TDR.

MS. PERDUE: Can I make a comment on that, which is, it is true that under our Comp Plan and LDC we do not have a TDR, a transfer of development rights scheme. That is true. And under normal circumstances this proposal would not be allowed. However, under this very specific statutory scheme that we're acting under, this land use dispute resolution, one of the possible solutions or compromises is that we can do a transfer of densities, essentially.

MS. LANDER: I think that assuming within that maybe there's a specific parcel in mind.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's my question. My question is, all right, is this going to be little chunks of parcels or is this going to be transfer from one parcel to one other parcel? Because, you know, it could be chunked up in ten different parcels around the County.

MS. PERDUE: Like a bank, like a savings bank.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Yeah, like a TDR bank. That's my one concern about TDRs.

The second thing is that what was it that we had determined before that they could do currently with that property? I thought there was something they could do.

MS. PERDUE: They can develop it. There's no question that they can. It's just that our position is that they are limited to the current density for that property, which I think is going to limit them to the C-4 Overlay and the AIPD, whichever AIPD it is.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: So that comes out to the 70 dwellings?

MS. PERDUE: Yes.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's where the 452, the difference comes, so they can still go on and develop this at the 70.

MS. PERDUE: With single-family detached or commercial.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: They can do that. Then they can move the 452, but we don't know how many parcels that can be.

MS. PERDUE: We don't, but that's something that I can suggest that this Board could tailor, is accept part of this but say, only if you identify that it is one.

MS. LANDER: An identifiable parcel.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I don't mind if it's parcels. You don't want to do ten different parcels at 40 apiece or 45 apiece or whatever.

MS. PERDUE: Spread amongst no more than three receiving parcels or something like that.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I don't mind -- it would be hard for them probably to find one parcel, so we ought to at least give them the benefit of having three or four.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I don't mind that. I just don't want to open a door for saying, okay, there's ten parcels. Basically, from what you've told us, Alison, this would preempt anything that's already been done, because they're not running through the PUD process, they're not running through the rezoning process. Okay? You start putting -- I won't be here. This will be for these folks to deal with -- 10 different parcels out there that you go through without rezoning and without PUD, y'all are opening y'all's self up to a lot of, you know, really disgruntled people unnecessarily.

MS. LANDER: We can do it without running into the Sarasota case, which says you can't do contract zoning through a settlement agreement that was reached like this. We have hurdles. We do have hurdles, but if we can get some sort of a conceptual agreement --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Like five parcels or something like that, I mean.

MS. LANDER: If they identify specific parcels and then we get to look at those parcels and determine what the densities are on those parcels right now, then we can see what we need to do. We can probably come up with something creative, but I don't think we're going to be able to get to the finish line with this case today, but we can certainly give them some indication of our willingness to go further.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: When I first read this, I'll be honest with you, I went up and sat down with Alison and with Janet and talked to them, because I thought it's actually a pretty good initiative here to get us out of a situation that potentially could cost us a lot. I'm not sure they would win the case. I'm not sure they would win, but if they did, it would be substantially more than what this would cost us here. So I told them, I said, you know, it looks pretty good. I'm with you. I mean, I'm like you in that I think Lou has tried. I think he's tried to do a good job here coming up with kind of a solution that helps them out and it helps us out and we get this thing put to bed. But, again, there are some things I think we need to look at. I agree with you that we don't need to give them just a blank check and say go find parcels here and there. We say you can have up to the five parcels.

MS. PERDUE: With the math I think it comes to more than -- because they're saying they would not be developing more than three units per acre and if it's 452 acres, that's going to be 150 point something acres, that that would be in one.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Right.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I'm not so sure we -- I mean, I don't know if they would buy it, but we could go back to them and say we can't give you all of those, but we could give you some, in other words, whatever it is, 440, I think it is, whatever it is.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: 452.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: 452. We could say we'll round it off to 400. I don't know if they will buy that.

MS. LANDER: There's another thing that we can think about and that is creating marketable chits for them so that if -- it sounds to me like the County is serious about coming up with a TDR scheme in which we will identify potential receiving parcels in the County that will have like float zones in them for zoning, so maybe we can give them credits to apply to the future TDR plan when it is finally adopted so that if they don't have a site that they have in mind right now, they could essentially hold it as a credit with no expiration date until such time as the County develops this TDR scheme so that we have suitable parcels. Then they can sell them. Even if they don't necessarily want to use them, there a market that's created. They can broker it, so that's something to think about.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: The second question I have is this: We see how we've gone through this process. If you give them all that they ask for in this, what are you doing for your future cases? Are we now going to have every single one of these situations, which I don't know how many there are, go through this process and then y'all say, Well, you know, this was much easier than going to court or having to go through the PUD or the rezoning process. We'll just start doing this.

MS. PERDUE: I think what distinguishes this or what I believe distinguishes this -- you may know this better than I would -- they did have an approved master plan in 1996.

MR. TOUART: That's why we're here.

MS. PERDUE: This was -- the final designated phase was supposed to be Emerald Lakes and did proceed and develop all the previous phases as they did lay out in their 1996 master plan.

MR. TOUART: I don't know of any that are at this advanced stage.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: This is the only one I know of.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That's fine. That's all. I would just be careful of case precedence, because you don't want to open yourself up.

MR. TOUART: The only other one we've already bought, and that was the 48 acres. The only one that's this far along, we already own it, so...

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Let me ask a question. This $135,000, it represents $300 for each dwelling unit lost?

MS. LANDER: For the planning and engineering cost.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Surveying and stuff like that.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Oh, I see.

MR. TOUART: Developing the subdivision.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: I thought it represented maybe a parcel.

MR. TOUART: That's what they say they have in it to develop it so far.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: They get to keep the land, but they also get $300 for what they've put out of pocket for that master plan, right?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: And, again, I have talked to Vann Goodloe, and that's the reason I put it on that sheet, because I think we probably -- remember, we got for the 48 acres; remember, the State gave us quite a bit of money to help purchase that. We think in this case they probably would help us out again, because it is sensitive to the Navy there since it is in an APZ, so we may not necessarily have money out of our own pocket. Even though it's not a lot, but still anything we might get would help.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I would think the State would do it, because it's under 150. It shouldn't even be on the radar. That's what I'm saying, I mean, as soon as you can let them, you ought to get that to Dr. Dana and what's his name over there.

MR. TOUART: We did ask the Navy, too, and they said they are out of money.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Yeah, we did. Remember they gave us 500,000. We asked them on this and they said, Look, we just don't have it on this one. We can't. We did on the other, but we can't on this one. I understand, but we tried.

MS. PERDUE: One thing that I agreed to do is go into a more formal, you know, refer it to a mediation, where we try to work through more of the details about, yes, we agree in concept with what Mr. Ray has here, but now we need to go one step farther and, you know, set aside a day and just go into mediation and try to work through more of the ideas about receiving parcels.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Like you said, one of the things that has to be clearly stated is that they will take care of the infrastructure and all, that that's not a burden on the County.

MS. PERDUE: We do have to respond to the recommendation by statute, but we kind of jointly agreed along the way most of the time. Deadlines have been exceeded all along, in part because of the storm, just in part because we agreed that going slower was kind of working out better for everyone.

MS. LANDER: Here's what we can do under the Statute. We can accept the recommendation of the special magistrate as submitted and proceed to implement it by development agreement, which we've done before. We can modify the recommendation as submitted and proceed to implement it by development agreement where appropriate. And, then, we can reject. So it's accept, modify or reject it. It sounds like you're leaning towards a modification of the recommendation.

And, perhaps, Alli, rather than expend the mediation process, the actual development agreement is often like a mediation and if we could condition the approval of the final development agreement on the Board's final approval, because it's a little bit weird, it's a little off the wall, then it would eventually come back to them and it would not go off and begin executing itself without the Board's knowledge like most development agreements. So that's something that we can do. Because it sounds like we feel fairly comfortable about the money, the source of funding, and the only other issue is the TDR, which we do not have the scheme in place right now, but the County is serious about implementing one.

MS. PERDUE: In fact, we already had done under the JLUS, the new JLUS, one of our objectives that's being transmitted is a Comp Plan amendment that requires that we consider and evaluate and put one in place.

MS. LANDER: We definitely have a need. The important thing is in the Coastal High Hazard area we have a great need. Also, to preserve valuable agricultural land in the north end under a stewardship kind of program without punishing property owners for having rich soil and not letting them develop it. We don't want the rich soil to be turned into subdivisions, but on the other hand, you have to give those property owners the right to recover the fair value on their property, and one way in which you can do this is with a TDR scheme. And, so, it's definitely doable, but it depends on how impatient they are.

So their options are either identify receiving parcels right now for the amount of density transfers that you seek or agree to take credit from the County and at such time that we actually develop it, they can either use it or sell it or trade it. They can, you know, pretty much do whatever you would do with any other kind of credit or check.

MS. PERDUE: And I guess the idea would be with the County having some kind of veto power if we don't like what they identify?

MS. LANDER: Well, the County would have to approve the final development agreement that's negotiated by Staff at a public meeting. I wouldn't go so far as to make it a public hearing, but you always let people address you.

MR. TOUART: Did they address attorney's fees at any time?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That was number three, isn't it?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I do see that in here.

MS. PERDUE: What he's talking about is in the development agreement it should be addressed that if there is ever a court proceeding or there has to be litigation about enforcement of the development agreement, who would be responsible for the attorney's fees. That should be laid out in the development agreement. Pretty much all these are the same.

MR. TOUART: How about attorney's fees up to this point for past litigation?

MS. PERDUE: It's just been each side's responsibility.

MR. TOUART: The only reason I asked the question, I saw it in there and just for clarification.

MS. PERDUE: As I understand it from Mr. Emmanuel's representations to date, this would -- I mean, this would be it and the petition for cert that's in Circuit Court would be voluntarily dismissed and he's not persuing anything for his fees from us. Of course, you know, if we modify too much what Mr. Ray is recommending, then we risk that they balk.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, I don't think we're being unreasonable.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: No, I don't either.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Shouldn't both sides bear their own legal costs?

MS. LANDER: In the future you mean?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Yeah.

MS. LANDER: Well, when you have to -- I prefer that language, I do, that each side would bear its own legal costs.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Otherwise, they've got nothing to lose. It's encouraging them to sue.

MS. LANDER: All right. I'm much more comfortable with that.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Why don't we go with your outline, that we accept this basically with your points?

MS. PERDUE: Kind of negotiate a development agreement, identify the parcels.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I don't think you want to go to another mediator to introduce all kinds of stuff.

MS. PERDUE: My concern then becomes we have to make sure that we continue to operate under 7.51 or we can't do a TDR, because we don't have a scheme for that in place.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Right. You guys just negotiate. It sounds like they're ready to do something.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I think they are.

MS. PERDUE: What I will have to bring to you guys at one of the regular Board of County Commissioners meetings then is that we're essentially --

MS. LANDER: No, we can do that now. The Board can say -- when we reconvene in the Sunshine, one of you will make a motion that we accept the proposal as submitted by Mr. Ray, subject to the following modifications: First, that the parties work on the TDR aspect of the proposal in the course of developing the development agreement; two, that each party will bear its own costs in attorney's fees.

I think that will -- going back to the TDR portion, that we may consider -- if they can identify receiving parcels right now, we can include them in the development agreement for future approval by the Board. If they cannot identify receiving parcels now, we will treat them as credits to be applied in the future to the County's intended TDR plan.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Did you write all that down?

MS. LANDERS: She's got it.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: So the motion will be what, Ms. Janet?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: The motion will be to accept this with the conditions, the modifications, accept the proposal with modifications, which would allow us to work on the TDR proposal and that each party be responsible for future legal fees, that they would identify the receiving parcels or if that's not possible at this time, that they would agree to accept these as credits.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: For the future TDR.

MS. LANDER: And upon the approval of the development agreement by the Board, they would be paid their $135,600 as compensation for the planning and engineering costs incurred with the development of Heron's Forest that they can't use.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Which is a savings to the County of approximately 2.1 million dollars.

MS. LANDER: It's a lot cheaper than Bayou Grande.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Or -- what was that computer company? I forgot the name.

MS. LANDER: Frankenmuth.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Can you believe that's a name?

MS. PERDUE: Frankenstein.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Frankenstein, did you say?

MS. LANDER: Okay.

MS. GILLEY: I'll leave this here since we're going to come back. We'll adjourn and enter back.

MS. LANDER: They were separately advertised.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: We've got to go back out.

MS. LANDER: We have to go out and take final action on this, adjourn and then come back.

P R O C E E D I N G S

MR. PEPPLER: I guess we're on the record?

MS LANDER: Yes. Go ahead, Charlie.

MR. PEPPLER: Just to bring everyone up to date as to where we are, I thought I would print out this chronology just so -- because there's been some permutations of our offers and what the verdict is and what the judgment was.

Mr. Stanberry experienced flooding back in November of '95, and he filed suit in 1998. He made a demand for judgment, which is a proposal for settlement, under the rules back in December of '99, for 70,000, and why that is important is that if he receives a verdict or judgment 25 percent in excess of that amount, then he's entitled to his attorney's fees. Three years or two years later, he receives a verdict for $600,000

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I assume that in '99 they didn't accept that; is that the fact?

MR. PEPPLER: We didn't accept that.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's what I mean. We, the County, did not accept it.

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

MR. TOUART: Bad move.

MR. PEPPLER: In retrospect. The jury returns a verdict for $600,000. I left out there's a whole year of appeals there. Finally, the trial court enters a final judgment with the correct wording and Judge Geeker reduced the verdict down to $260,000. But he also awards fees and costs in the amount of 58,000, because even with the reduced judgment of 260,000, that's 25 percent more than the 70,000 and under the rules his attorney is entitled to fees.

So we take an appeal. We meet for the first time in an attorney/client session on September 22nd of last year, and you authorize us to make an offer to Mr. Stanberry of up to $160,000 and to purchase his property for that amount. That would include the $35,000 that Judge Geeker reduced back on October 15th for loss of use and pain and suffering.

We received an opinion from the Court, which was favorable, in between September 22nd and November 21st, and Janet and I decided to make an offer whereby -- and, of course, this would be pending Board approval -- whereby we would pay Mr. Stanberry 150,000, plus the 35,000 for the pain and suffering and loss of use, and obtain a warranty deed to his property. Mr. Stanberry did not accept that.

Now, we're still on appeal. I have filed a motion for clarification of the original opinion asking the Court that if you're going to throw out the $225,000 in property damage, then we need a new trial, and we decided it would be best to bring this again before the Board in the event we lost that motion and to try to cut our losses. So we met on January 20th of this year and you authorized us to make an offer to Mr. Stanberry of up to $250,000, with us getting title to his property, and this would include the $35,000 for the pain and suffering and loss of use.

A couple weeks later, the First District Court of Appeal grants my motion for clarification, tosses out the property damage award for $225,000, but says, No, you have to pay the $35,000 for pain and suffering and loss of use, said, then you would be entitled to a new trial, but it would only be on the property damages to his real property, his house on the real property.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: At that point the 225 stood -- well, wait a minute. It was the same in both.

MR. PEPPLER: The 225 disappears.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Okay.

MR. PEPPLER: So on March the 5th, we go ahead and pay the $35,000 as we were ordered by the Court and we have to include interest, so that's why it's that 38,000 and some change.

Pursuant to the authority given to us, we have a mediation conference and we reach a mediation agreement whereby we're going to pay Mr. Stanberry 200,000 over the $38,229.99 we've already paid him, in exchange for his executing a general release by not only himself, but his second wife, Linda, and, also, the execution of a warranty deed, so that we get title to his property and, you know, cut our losses from any future claims. The Board approved this settlement on April the 1st.

Ms. Minshew withdrew from representing Mr. Stanberry, and in the interim we found out -- and I can hand this out, too. We found out that when we got our title commitment, because we were going to take title to this property, we found out that Mr. Stanberry had a $100,000 mortgage on the property, a second mortgage for 70,000, and various other obligations that were liens on the property.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Is that what that 6-A -- it says Notice of Charging Lien Filed? What is that?

MR. PEPPLER: That's Ms. Minshew saying, Hey, I got you a $200,000 settlement and you owe me money on it. She's giving notice to all the parties that she's entitled to some percentage of that settlement, because it was her doings that -- based on her representation of Mr. Stanberry --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Stop.

MR. PEPPLER: Okay.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: March 19th, I remember this, we made that agreement to go up to 200,000, if he would give us the property, and you're saying they said no. Did they say no to that?

MR. PEPPLER: They agreed to that, but the problem is in order for us to take title to the property, Mr. Stanberry has to give us good and marketable title, and he can't.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Because the liens are 170, plus Ms. Minshew's 200?

MR. PEPPLER: No, she's not entitled to $200,000.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: A percentage.

MR. PEPPLER: She's only entitled to 25 percent of that amount.

MS. LANDER: But he was upside down. You've heard that expression when you go to closing?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I know what it means.

MS. LANDER: He would have owed the County money at closing, because the County would have been obligated to pay off the mortgages as the closing agent, pay off all the existing mortgages, debts and liens on the property, which would have meant that at the closing, Mr. Stanberry would have to give the County a check, in addition to transferring title over to the County.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: So -- that doesn't matter, I don't think.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Where are we?

MS. LANDER: Okay. Then along came Ivan. We had set this for our meeting in the shade as we are now before the hurricane and the hurricane put us back a little bit. Interestingly enough, we took some pictures and we asked Engineering to go out and look at the property. See, one of the concerns we had --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Right, that it would happen again.

MS. LANDER: -- was because we were afraid it would happen again. Well, they had done some little retrofitting on the pond and it didn't happen. It didn't flood. It had some shingle damage and some debris and tree stuff in the yard, but the residential dwelling is intact and the water line is well below the house. It didn't go anywhere near the house. There's an old line from the pictures, but that's from the first flood. So whatever the County did by way of going back and digging around and scooping it out in there, apparently, it's working well enough to give us a comfort margin that we don't have to have the house. We do not have to have the house. He can continue to live in the house. So I'm willing to recommend that we back off from the house, because if it didn't flood in Ivan, it probably won't flood.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Or last summer, because last summer we got like 20-something inches in the Ensley area in July. Between Ensley and Cantonment, we got 20-something inches, and it didn't happen last summer either.

MS. LANDER: So I think we can exhale on the idea of it happening again. So the question then is: How much will it take to make this case go away instead of going to trial?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, the only reason why we went to the 200,000 last time was because we wanted title to that property so that it wouldn't happen again. Okay? That was the only reason why I thought we said we would go that high.

MR. TOUART: Well, let me tell you -- I guess this is where I come in. Mr. Stanberry contacted or called me several times. He's called and left messages with Commissioner Young and she asked me, please, because she felt awkward in calling him herself, she asked me to call him and I did on her behalf and on the Board's behalf, and Mr. Stanberry -- in fact, he's called me today several times, because we told him this was coming up today. I told him he could not be part of the closed session on advice of Janet. But his final offer today to settle this is $325,000 and he keeps the house. And I asked if it was negotiable and he said, See what the Board says.

My thing is here, Mr. Stanberry is upside down in the house. He also asked me would he have to pay off the lien if he got any money. I said, Mr. Stanberry, we can't require to do anything if you keep the house. That's between you and your mortgage company, but certainly the intent of you getting the money is for you to pay off your bills.

Anyway, Mr. Stanberry asked me to please bring to y'all, and I am in good faith for Mr. Stanberry, that he would like $325,000 and he keeps his home, with no stipulation that he be required to pay anything. But if he keeps his home, like I explained to him, that's your business, not ours.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, let me ask this question.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's crazy. Why would we do that? That ain't even close. I mean, before we were offering 200,000 and we got the property. Why would we give him 300-and-something?

MR. TOUART: Well, he's going back to -- in all fairness to him, he's got this figure. You've got to talk to Mr. Stanberry to understand Mr. Stanberry. You know, the first -- I think the opinion y'all got of Mr. Stanberry was when he stood up in front of the Board and was real -- he was real mad. Quite frankly, he was mad. He didn't feel like Lisa Minshew represented him well. He felt like he had gotten shafted by the Court and everybody was just falling -- his life was falling in on him. He got $600,000, and when he walked out of the courtroom and the jury says, you're awarded $600,000, most people think you get a check the next day. They don't understand the legal system. Like I said this morning, the people at Pensacola Beach don't understand taxes. But the normal average person does not understand all the rights of remedy that are accessible to both sides. He got caught up in the legal system. He thought he would get a check for $600,000 and he started spending the money. That's literally the case. So by the time he found out that that wasn't the case, he had already obligated himself for several thousand dollars.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: This is my question, George. He got a second mortgage on a home that, quote, unquote, is supposed to be destroyed. How is the mortgage company going to give him a second mortgage? Didn't you say he got a $70,000 --

MS. LANDER: Charlie thinks he knows the answer to that. It was an advance and the collateral for it was the $260,000 judgment that he had from when the Court reduced it from 600 to 260. People go through the public records and they loan people money on funds, like inheritances or the lottery, if you win, and they will offer you loans. We were speculating that perhaps that's how that second mortgage was obtained, which is well in excess of the value of this.

MR. TOUART: It's not unusual to get upside down on a house. These finance companies and banks --

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Yeah, but the whole point of this to begin with was that his house was completely destroyed and he deserved some compensation for that. That's all I'm saying. So I can't believe a mortgage company would go and loan him another 70,000 on a house that was completely destroyed, but you're saying they were hedging on the bet.

MS. LANDER: That's my feelings.

MR. TOUART: They didn't care what the house was worth, quite frankly.

MS. LANDER: The house assessed for as much as they loaned him.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I can tell you that I certainly will not support what he has proposed. I wouldn't even come close to that.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: You know what I think, if all of us had a chance to really go out there and had an opportunity to just see what this man has gone through there, I think you might think a little bit different, because look how long this has been. And it really doesn't make sense. It really doesn't. I've been there. I've seen clothes stacked up in the closet from where it got wet. He lost furniture. He's lost everything and he was having to borrow money to just survive.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I feel sorry for him, Marie, but I'm not going to change my opinion on what -- I mean, once before we sat in here and made an agreement that we would offer 200,000 and we would take title to the house, and now he wants 325 and he's keeping the house.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: That would just cover everything. I mean, to me, even to keep it this long, Bill, is enough to just even go through this. We need to let this thing go away, Bill. I mean, we do try to deal fairly with people and I don't see why we just can't let this go away and take care of business. He was offered 600,000 from the Court, even though it didn't stand.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That was overruled. I mean, the final court decision was 260. You've got to forget the 600,000. That doesn't play.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Well, I'm only one person. I know it and I know how you feel about it and I'm sure that you're going to vote your conscience or whatever, but I voted against it before. I'm going to vote -- I still think 300. Even the 300,000, which I asked for a long time ago, I didn't feel was too much. You know, you have to kind of see yourself sometimes in another person's shoes. To me this is not too much when you go out there and look at the situation. It really isn't.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: It's Tom's turn.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Charlie, if we were -- what would happen here if we didn't do anything? Does this go back for a new trial?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Would the property damage be a litigation issue or did the Court say they weren't entitled to property damage?

MR. PEPPLER: No, that would be the new issue. That would be the only issue at trial, would be how much money is he -- how much money would the jury determine that he is owed for property damage, either the costs of repairs, or if the repairs exceed the value of the property, it would be what's called a diminution in value, diminishment reduction in value of the property because of the damage. He can't claim --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, why did --

MS. LANDER: That's the issue. Has it run on that?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

MS. LANDER: Personal.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Personal furniture and clothes.

MR. PEPPLER: The statute has run on that.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: He didn't get anything for that anyway, did he?

MR. PEPPLER: He didn't claim it.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Well, that may have been -- he didn't claim it?

MR. PEPPLER: No.

MS. LANDER: That was part of the -- COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's his fault.

MS. LANDER: Or his attorney's fault.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Or his attorney's fault. That's not ours.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Why did the Court of Appeals throw out the damage claim completely?

MR. PEPPLER: Because of the fact that the jury was instructed that you can award for replacement costs and that's not the law. Your insurance policy may give you replacement cost, but under the law of Florida, you're only entitled to the cost of repairs or if the cost of repairs exceeds the value of the property, then what that property has been reduced in value because of the flooding or the other incident that caused injury to the property.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: But the Court ruled that the trial court could not revise the amount, you would just have to have a retrial?

MR. PEPPLER: Well, he gave the wrong instruction to the jury. He gave the jury the option of replacement cost, and under our laws, you cannot just say, well, it's going to cost $250,000 to rebuild a house and let me write you a check for that amount.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: So that invalidated the remitter?

MR. PEPPLER: Or invalidated the award for property damage.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Oh, yeah. Well, how much did it cost him to fix up that place, repair costs?

MR. TOUART: He hasn't fixed it up, yet. He hasn't done anything.

MR. PEPPLER: He's gotten estimates from several experts that it will cost 200,000.

MR. TOUART: What's happened to Mr. Stanberry -- and, Marie, she's been out there. But what's happened to Mr. Stanberry is the money you would think that he would have borrowed to fix the house up based on the bank loaning him money, he's spent for other things. Mr. Stanberry has got close to $200,000 in loans on the house, but has not used the money to fix the house up.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Well, he has used some of the money to fix the house up.

MR. TOUART: To live in, but he's still got boxes stacked up.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: To make it habitable.

MR. TOUART: He's still got a problem.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: It's not really back as it was, you know. You know, you can still see where the water --

MR. TOUART: That's what I'm talking about. He hasn't replaced any of that.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG -- is on his wall, in his house rather.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: How did that not get mold, though, Marie? We've got people that just had a hurricane five weeks ago and they've got black mold up to their roof.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: That's what he's living in.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: If he took a second mortgage for 70,000, he could have fixed the place back up. I mean, that's what I don't understand.

MS. LANDER: He wasn't working and he had to use that money to pay his debts as they were coming due and his living expenses. Pretty much the bottom fell out of life for him for a while. I know that's not your problem, but that's the answer to your question.

Charlie, if the jury at that time had applied the proper -- if the judge had given the proper instruction, what would have been the appropriate measure of damages and what number would in all likelihood the jury have come up with? Have you thought about it from that angle, if they had been given the right instruction based on the evidence that was presented to them at the time?

MR. PEPPLER: They could have awarded -- we had one appraisal done by Eugene Presley. He felt like approximately 25 to $30,000 had been what the value of the property had been reduced by that amount, 25 to $30,000.

MS. LANDER: So that would be the low end.

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

MS. LANDER: What would be the high end?

MR. PEPPLER: I guess, if they come up with at the new trial an appraiser saying that the property is worthless, then it would be the fair market value of the property, which could be anywhere from 85 to 110,000.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Right. That's what we've been arguing over from the beginning. We've done 150 and 200. I mean, we've gone up. We haven't gone down in what we've offered. We went 150 and then we went 250, and then we got that other information and we went to two, but it had to be for a deed, remember? And we've already paid him 38,229. We've been very diligent in our negotiations with this.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Yes, sir. And I agree with Janet, the bottom line is we don't want the property now, because we don't want to have to pay that thing off. He would have to pay it off, but, I mean, rather than do that, since it looks likes it wouldn't flood again, what we ought to do if we want to make him an offer, make him an offer and forget about the title, but it would have to be something -- I mean, I don't know that I would go much more than about $100,000. I mean, I don't know I can go that. I'm just saying, you know, but I wouldn't go anymore than that and let him keep the house and he keeps the title to it.

Is that close to what you --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What do you think is a reasonable amount for repairs?

MS. LANDER: I would say 25 or 30,000.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: You say the low end is 25 or 30, and the market value is 200?

MR. PEPPLER: Well, we have an appraisal that the market value, if you don't take into consideration that the property will flood, at 110,000.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Okay. So somewhere between 110 and 35.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's the reason I said 100,000.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I'm thinking even less than that, 90.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I would go with that.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, the thing that is upsetting to me is we have made three separate offers that I think were fairly substantial. I'm sorry that it's not that 600,000, but we didn't make that commitment in the first place, somebody else did. When we went to this 250 last year, that was more than what he was originally awarded, the 225.

MR. TOUART: Have you got a number in mind?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: What?

MR. TOUART: Have you got a number in mind?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Well, our last offer was 200,000.

MR. TOUART: What I'm saying -- no, him keeping the house, do you have a number in mind that you would settle for, because we've got to get something. We've got a meeting at 5:30.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: We just said it. I think Commissioner Banjanin and I just said, based on the figures that we have right there, between the 35 and the 110, you know, go with 100 or 90. I know you said 90.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I was saying just the house, if we add on the 38.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: We've already paid the 38.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's already been paid.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Oh, we already paid the 38?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: We gave him a check for the 38.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: We gave him a check for 38,000.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: That was the loss and stuff.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I wouldn't go anymore than 100, to be honest with you, and let him keep the house.

MR. TOUART: Is there any support for 200 and let him keep the house?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: No.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: No.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: That's way over.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's way over.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: It's not our fault.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's right, you know.

MR. PEPPLER: Another thing, you know, we have to throw in the mix is that we have to have a hearing and Ms. Minshew's charging lien will have to be disposed of one way or the other.

MR. TOUART: Is that our problem?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes, we have notice of it.

MR. TOUART: She's filed against us? In other words, whatever the Court offers, she's got a lien against it?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

MR. PEPPLER: We have notice.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Tell me what that means.

MR. PEPPLER: That means --

MR. TOUART: She has first right.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: We have to pay her? We don't have to pay her.

MR. PEPPLER: It will come out of it, but the Judge has to say, Well, yeah, you're entitled to a certain amount of the funds.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: She's going to get at least a third to begin with, right?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: But that's an offer, it may not be on 200.

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

MS. LANDER: It will be on whatever the amount.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: It will be on the amount, so the less we make it, the less she gets anyway.

MR. TOUART: Out of the 38, did he pay Ms. Minshew any money out of that or does anybody know?

MR. PEPPLER: I don't know.

MS. LANDER: We don't know, but she had not filed a charging lien at that point, so we're not responsible for that.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Okay.

MR. TOUART: Does she really stand a chance of getting any money out of it?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Would we be better off going to court?

MR. PEPPLER: She's still going to fight for some percentage, even if we go to court.

MR. TOUART: Well, the last thing you've got down here is 7704. He's got another attorney, Gary Siplin. I have not talked to another attorney. He indicated to me he does not have another attorney. I asked him the other day. He said he did not have another attorney. Is this the one gentleman from out of town that called?

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah, this is the gentleman from Orlando. He filed a notice of appearance.

MR. TOUART: Actually, he called me months ago and I didn't know who he was. I mentioned that to you. I think he called you after that. He told me -- he didn't tell me he had taken the case. He told me he had been contacted by Mr. Stanberry and he was asking me for information. I referred him to you, Janet.

MR. PEPPLER: He filed a notice of appearance.

MR. TOUART: Oh, he did? Did he ever appear anywhere?

MS. LANDER: That means attorney of record.

MR. PEPPLER: He's the attorney of record now for Mr. Stanberry, so he's going to have to move to withdraw if he wants to.

MR. TOUART: Does he understand what all this chronological situation is?

MR. PEPPLER: I haven't shared that with him. He hasn't returned my calls.

MR. TOUART: Any attorney that touches this is crazy.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Well, I know we've got to get moving here. My feeling is we offer him 100,000. He's already gotten 38. That's 138, plus he keeps the house.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Would you try the case, Charlie?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Okay. Well, we've got a very competent attorney. The original verdict was outrageous.

MS. LANDER: The jury will come back with an award. There's no doubt about it. The man was damaged.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: If he doesn't accept the 100.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: But he can't get pain and suffering. We've already settled that.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: We've already settled that.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: It's strictly the property damage.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Let me ask you this: Let's say we go to court, we should not rescind our 31904 agreement, because if we start going backwards --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That was if we get the warranty of the house, too.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: We were going to get the house.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: My point is that if you're going to send him into court, if for some reason he still disagrees with this and you send him into court, we've made a good faith, due diligence effort and progressively increased our -- okay, but if we go backwards now, that could, I would think, might play to a jury and they might say, well, you know --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, you can't introduce that. You can't introduce settlement negotiations as evidence.

MR. PEPPLER: No.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Oh, you can't? Okay.

MS. LANDER: Although, they've broken that before. They did that. They managed to get all kinds of inadmissible evidence before the jury in the last case, which probably explains it.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: We've got a good lawyer that's going to stop that.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Not only that, it gets back to the fact we were going to get the warranty and we're not now.

MR. TOUART: I want one of y'all to go talk to Mr. Stanberry. I don't want to talk to him.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Let me ask this --

MR. PEPPLER: She's taking this down, so we can't all talk at one time.

MS. LANDER: All right. We'll go back out into the Sunshine and you can direct us. You can direct us to make the offer to Mr. Stanberry for $100,000 and that he can keep the house.

MR. TOUART: How much was the house valued at?

MS. LANDER: It's valued at between 80 and 110, did you say, or is it 90 and 110?

MR. PEPPLER: Between 80 and 110 by our own appraiser.

MS. LANDER: So we selected the middle ground. We subtracted 100,000 from the original $200,000 offer and he keeps it rather than having to pay us money at the closing.

MR. PEPPLER: Let me throw something else out. I'm thinking out loud. So that's going to bring -- the 100,000 is going to bring it above 87,500, which is 25 percent more than 70,000. Does that mean we owe Mr. Stanberry attorney's fees?

MS. LANDER: It might. Is the Board willing to pay the --

MR. PEPPLER: The 58.

MS. LANDER: -- attorney's fees, the 58?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: How much more do we have to give him to avoid that?

MS. LANDER: According to this, he's had an award, but this was reversed, as well. But ballpark would be -- on the $260,000 recovery, it was 58,000, so if it was reduced to 100, then the attorney's fees on that would be maybe 25.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: How do we fix that to where the number comes up?

MS. LANDER: We can say up to $25,000 in attorney's, in addition to the 100,000.

MR. TOUART: Wasn't there something we discussed once before that that's all she would be entitled to anyway, $25,000?

MS. LANDER: It's 25 percent of his recovery and that would be 25,000.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: We said that before.

MR. TOUART: I thought we did, too.

MS. LANDER: That way he would net 100,000.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So the recommendation would be 100,000, he keeps the warranty, he keeps the house, and we would pay up to 25 percent.

MS. LANDER: Twenty-five thousand in attorney's fees.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Twenty-five thousand dollars in attorney's fees.

MR. TOUART: He gets to keep the 38,229.99?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: He's already got that. He's already got it.

MS. LANDER: Right. So that brings the value of the settlement up above 150 and he gets to keep the house. And if he rejects it, then we have to go to trial.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: We'll go to trial.

MR. TOUART: You're ready to go to trial?

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I don't understand why he rejected that one. I still don't understand why he rejected the 200,000.

MS. LANDER: Because he was upside down. At closing, he would have owed us money.

MR. TOUART: He would still owe us about $30,000.

MS. LANDER: At closing we would have paid off the mortgages with the proceeds.

MR. PEPPLER: He would have to write us a check for the mortgages he had.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: I thought you said it was only 170 is what he owed?

MR. PEPPLER: Right. But once he paid off his lawyer and his costs --

MR. PEPPLER: He had other liens.

MS. LANDER: He had child support.

MR. TOUART: He had more bills.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: We can't make him financially whole.

MS. LANDER: No, with this action we've extricated ourselves from his personal business.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: Okay. So it would cover what the cost of our damages are, the 100,000. It would cover what the cost of the County's damages were to the house?

MR. PEPPLER: We would get a general release, if he accepted this offer.

COMMISSIONER GILLEY: All right.

P R O C E E D I N G S

MS. LANDER: Charlie is handing out a chronology.

MR. PEPPLER: I guess we're ready?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

MR. PEPPLER: We're here on this Torrey Village Apartments versus Escambia County matter. And before, I guess, we talk about the settlement proposal made by Torrey Village, I think it would be helpful just to go over this real briefly. I know we gave you the 41-page order by Judge Collier and I'm sure you have all read it, but maybe this will give a better overview --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: There wasn't much of a plot.

MR. PEPPLER: -- of what happened. Torrey Village is owned by Elkin Corporation, which is out of Waukesha, Wisconsin. They own dairy farms and trucking companies and, apparently, the son is now running the company. The father purchased this property back in '91 to put up these apartments. And they're located -- the existing apartments are located right at I-110 and Atwood Drive and --

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Davis Highway.

MR. PEPPLER: Davis Highway, right. And the existing apartments are in this area.

(Mr. Touart enters.)

MR. PEPPLER: I don't know if you all recognize anything here, but there's the Peking Gardens Restaurant. Davis Highway runs along the bottom.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Sit on this side.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: George, you've got to sit over here. Lawyers are on that side.

MR. TOUART: I didn't notice that.

MS. LANDER: I told you let's see where he sits.

MR. PEPPLER: Thanks for pointing that out, Commissioner, because it makes it a lot better for my presentation.

Here are the existing apartments, Torrey Village Apartments. Here's I-10 or I-110, Davis Highway, and this is the area that the Elkin Corporation or Torrey Village purchased back in November of '91. And then what they intended to do was to expand the apartments and eventually build new apartments in this area. So they purchased this property in '91.

They applied for a land disturbance and a tree management permit from the County in December of 2001. We granted it with certain conditions that because our tree ordinance protects certain trees and they have to be 12 inches in diameter of a certain species, they could go ahead and clear the land of pine trees and shrubs, but they had to leave the protected trees in place and not injure them. We required that they not operate heavy machinery within the drip lines of those protected trees.

Well, when clearing the property, their contractor, along with the resident manager of the Torrey Village Apartments, operated a bulldozer and a root rake and did do damage to the protected trees. That came to the attention of our Environmental Quality Division of the NESD and Timothy Day of the Environmental Quality Division went out and inspected, saw that there was damage to protected trees, got the County forester from the State Division of Forestry, Craig Iverson, involved to look at the trees, Beth Bolles from the Extension Service to look at it, and they all concluded, yes, the trees had been damaged through the root raking process.

While this is going on, Torrey Village management -- Richard Weiss is the manager there. Scott Meinerz is the principal from Waukesha, who, I guess, is president of Elkin and, also, is president of Torrey Village. He's trying to get his board to approve development of the vacant property. The board meets on May the 2nd and decides well, this isn't going to turn a profit, we're not going to go forward with the development, and they vote down the development. They have already retained an engineering company from Crestview. Fred Cook is the engineer and he cancels the preapplication meeting with our DRC.

At the same time, the morning that he cancelled it, the Code Enforcement Division of our County goes ahead and serves Richard Weiss with a notice of violation for the damage done to the protected trees.

What happens then is kind of a series of errors, but our Code Enforcement starts chugging along and they retain Sam Revis, who is a respected forester or arborist here, and he determines, well, yeah, root raking took place, but I don't really see any damage. In fact, I see 27 trees that should have been removed because they're dead or dying. So we say, ah ha, you're not going to get that over us. We're going to retain an arborist from Tallahassee, Sam Hand. He confirms that, yes, the 34 trees that were the subject of the Code Enforcement proceeding were injured and he identifies 19 others.

So we -- I think we set a hearing/ or the last time a hearing was set was late October and another division of the County comes into play, the Engineering Department. Because Atwood Drive has been closed off by the FDOT because they're doing all this work with I-110 and Davis Highway, they closed off Atwood Drive so that there's not more congestion here on Davis Highway. And Torrey Village, in order -- they think in order to make their apartment complex more profitable, wants a road to go from Lilac Lane to Davis Highway and they want the Code Enforcement proceeding dropped.

So we dismiss without prejudice the Code Enforcement proceeding and try to work with Torrey Village and with the Engineering Department to see if we can put a road in that would connect Davis Highway to Lilac and make their project viable.

So that's the meeting of November 6th. And that's where you see Richard Duane, our County Engineer, Keith Wilkins, who is the Director of NESD, Scott Meinerz, Richard Weiss, the Montanas -- they operated Montanas Restaurant, which eventually closed, I think, last year -- because they were interested in having that road because that would give more traffic to their restaurant, which was failing because of all the construction along Davis Highway, and Kirk Stull, who was the engineer, HDR engineer retained by the County to look into the various situations and determine what alternatives there would be to Atwood Drive and connect Lilac and this neighborhood with Davis Highway.

Well, Mr. Meinerz was insisting that before he would agree to donate any property for this particular road we would have to pay him the attorney's fees that he incurred to defend the Code Enforcement proceeding. That was by Ms. Minshew. And, also, there was some other money involved that he wanted paid. And our County people are saying, well, no. Most people donate the right-of-way because they know that the road is going to help their development or their commercial project and we just don't see -- we have a limited amount of funds that the FDOT has given us to put in a road and we just can't give you $100,000, which is basically what they were demanding, so we could put this road in.

So the Code Enforcement proceeding sort of resurrects itself or is going to be reinstituted. That's what happens during May and August of 2003.

We have our arborist come back from Tallahassee, Sam Hand, to do another investigation and assessment of the trees. Settlement discussions take place between Ms. Minshew and I think George gets involved with the settlement discussions, and we finally agree that if you pay us a fine for each tree that you damaged, $400 times 34 trees, that's $13,600, and pay for the expert witness fees of Mr. Hand, we'll drop the whole thing and you can go ahead with your development, if you so wish. They would have to apply again, because they withdrew their application or didn't go forward with their application.

Well, Torrey Village says no to that and so Code Enforcement serves notice to appear on Richard Weiss, the manager, because he did admit he operated a bulldozer and performed some damage to the trees and he was served with criminal charges for the 34 protected trees. When the prosecutor got the case, she forgot that there's a one year statute of limitations and that case had to be dismissed. That's kind of complicated the situation here, comedy of error.

MS. LANDER: State Attorney.

MR. PEPPLER: Yes. So before the criminal prosecution was dismissed, Torrey Village filed suit against the County and says, first of all, you violated my civil rights by trying to use the Code Enforcement proceeding to extract this road from me and it's extortion, it's a violation of my civil rights. You've taken my property because of the fact that you have this Code Enforcement proceeding hanging over my head and I can't develop the property. And there's some other counts that the attorney put in there.

Fast forward 18 months. Judge Collier, based on the motions I filed on behalf of the County and the three -- she also sued or Torrey Village also sued Keith Wilkins as the Director of NESD, sued Timothy Day, who is with the Environmental Quality Division who performed the initial inspection, and his supervisor, Doyle Butler, for violating the rights of Torrey Village, and the Court grants our motions and the case is dismissed. Torrey Village then files a notice of appeal with the Eleventh Circuit.

And the reason that we're meeting today is that in order -- what Torrey Village is proposing -- and I think that was attached to the last page of the 41-page order, the letter from Ms. Thieman-Greene.

And what they want, they want us to dismiss all the Code Enforcement proceedings with prejudice, not bring them up again, and then you will see the four points that they've listed there.

I have discussed this with Mr. Wilkins, with Mr. Walker, who is the Chief of Code Enforcement, with Richard Duane and Joy Blackmon from Engineering.

Do you have that?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIM: At the very end?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

MS. LANDER: You only have one page.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIM: I only have the one page.

MS. LANDER: You can look at mine.

MR. PEPPLER: I'm going to be handing this out.

MS. LANDER: You haven't handed it out yet?

MR. PEPPLER: No, because I wanted to go over the facts first.

But you will see the four points that they're wanting to pursue as a settlement. What you see in the letter from Ms. Thieman-Greene is sort of ignorance or intentional ignorance of the fact that we won the case and we're in the upper hand position, because as the -- they're appealing it and one of the principles of appellate law is that the judgment of the Court is presumed correct. So they are dealing behind a burden of persuasion that's very great.

So our recommended counterproposal after discussing with staff is that, well, you have to -- if we're going to go forward with dismissing all the Code Enforcement proceedings, that you have to pay what we originally proposed two years ago, which would be the fines for the damaged trees, the 13,600, you pay Mr. Hand's expert witness fees of 4,000, and you pay all of our expert witness fees that we've had to incur because we defended this lawsuit and the Court ruled you shouldn't have filed it from the beginning or there was no legal ground to pursue the claims, and that's to the tune of around ten five.

There was also -- we had a court-imposed mediation and we each had to pay our share of the mediator's fees. That's around 2,700. And, also, we had taken almost 43 depositions of various witnesses and experts and there were photocopying and exhibit expenses involved with regard to filing these motions for summary judgment, and that amounts to $9,315 and change.

Our recommendation is if they were to pay the $40,049 and change, then we could agree to dismiss with prejudice the Code Enforcement proceedings as long as they executed a general release of all claims.

So, basically, that's why we have to meet. We're required to meet with you because they made a settlement proposal. We don't believe that the settlement proposal is a fair one, but this counterproposal we recommend that the Board pursue.

MR. TOUART: Keep in mind that they've taken the proposal from our office, which I consulted, obviously, with our staff before I made that decision, which is the seventeen five seventy-seven fifty. They flat turned us down there, so we're back to square one as far as I'm concerned.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Actually, we're better than at square one because we've got a judgement.

MR. TOUART: We won the judgment against them.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I think we should move forward with the counterproposal.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I agree. I think we're in the driver's seat on this.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIM: So they want us to drop that and then not charge them anything?

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That's not going to happen.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Will the State pay for the road?

MR. PEPPLER: Well, Engineering is not going to go forward with this proposal. They want to -- Whitmire Lane goes back this way or maybe that way. They're going to make some improvements to Whitmire.

MR. TOUART: I don't know if y'all remember, actually with the cost of the road we went -- it would probably be more southeast or west, I guess, not east. We found another way to do this and the FDOT did approve it. We don't need the road. The road situation -- they were trying to hold us, basically, for lack of a better word, hostage over the road situation, so Engineering went and found another way to do it.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I would play hard ball. I really would.

MS. LANDER: Now what we can do is we'll return to the public and someone will make a motion that we counter offer in accordance with the guidance given in the executive session and then Charlie will --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIM: Could I ask a question?

MS. LANDER: Sure.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIM: Now, if they we reject, where are we?

MS. LANDER: In the Eleventh Circuit. It's their appeal, but their likelihood of success is not very good at all.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: All right. Say the Eleventh Circuit upholds the decision, then where are we?

MS. LANDER: Well, then the mandate will be issued from the Eleventh Circuit advising the District Court that they affirm the District Court's decision, and then they have to pay costs. They will have to pay all the costs. I don't know how many of these are recoverable costs.

MR. PEPPLER: The last figure, the 9,300, would be what the Federal Court could give us. Under the Federal Rules, expert witness fees cannot be paid, but yet --

MS. LANDER: And we could proceed --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: We could go after the fines then.

MR. PEPPLER: Yes. The Code Enforcement proceeding could be reinstituted.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Put a lien on the property.

MS. LANDER: The weakness that we have on the Code Enforcement is that Hurricane Ivan came along and it would be virtually impossible for us to get anyone to testify as to whether it was the root rake or the hurricane that fatally damaged the trees.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Didn't we take some pictures way back there in 2003?

MS. LANDER: There are more trees. There are two pending -- there's one action that involved the original 34 trees, but then there are probably more trees that have been damaged by the root rake, but we can't prove what was the cause of that.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: This is all fine, but where do we end up with the property just sitting there? Do they sell it? Do we have an eyesore? I mean, are we going to lose the property taxes of this development? Are they going to get back up? If they do the development, where will we be?

MS. LANDER: They made a decision early in the game that it just wasn't cost effective. That was several years ago, but with the prices that have changed as a result of the hurricane and the shortage of apartment units, they may revisit that, so I would be very surprised if this property remained vacant and undeveloped.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIM: So you think either they'll do it or they will just sell it?

MS. LANDER: (Witness nodding head.)

COMMISSIONER BANJANIM: Because that's prime property in there and we could get some decent tax money out of that.

MR. PEPPLER: What Janet is suggesting though --

MR. TOUART: Let me interject this, too, Escambia County has a tree ordinance, a pretty strict tree ordinance, and it was devised many years ago. You may have been on the Board. I don't know when it came into effect, but my staff has enforced the tree ordinance. That's what this boils down to. And I back staff and y'all are backing staff.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIM: I'm just thinking ahead on the property.

MR. TOUART: But this whole thing was done by an arborist and staff in conjunction with our tree ordinance.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIM: I understand. No problem.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So we'll go out. We'll entertain a motion to accept the recommended counterproposal.

MS. LANDER: Counterproposal.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Counterproposal as discussed during our meeting in the shade.

MR. PEPPLER: Right. You don't have to state a specific figure.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Oh, no, I'm not.

MR. PEPPLER: Any questions?

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: He answered the question I was going to ask.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Even if they sat on the property, we would still collect the property taxes from the land.

MR. TOUART: Sure.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Do you want these?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

MS. LANDER: You can keep the chronology, I think.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Yeah.

MS. LANDER: You can see how long that case was going on.

MR. TOUART: Off the record, but can we go back out there --

MS. LANDER: There is no off the record.

MR. TOUART: Can we talk out there about, you know, where we're going today or who I've talked to about this tax situation? I've got some updates for the Board.

MS. LANDER: This is a special --

MR. TOUART: I'm talking about when we go back out there.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: When we go back out there, we can.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Once we have adjourned from this.

MS. LANDER: You can. Do you need any Board action, George?

MR. TOUART: No, I just want bring them up to where we are.

Chairman Dickson called the Attorney-Client Session of the Board of County Commissioners (BCC) to order at 4:02 p.m., and County Attorney Lander advised that the Meeting (regarding Emerald Lakes [Heron's Forest]) was advertised (in a block ad and in the Board of County Commissioners – Escambia County, Florida, Meeting Schedule September 12-16, 2005 – Legal No. 68303) in the Sunday, September 11, 2005, issue of the Pensacola News Journal, and that the Commissioners and the following individuals would retire to the BCC Conference Room for the out-of-sunshine Meeting:

George Touart, County Administrator
Janet Lander, County Attorney
Alison Perdue Rogers, Deputy County Attorney
A Certified Court Reporter

4:03 P.M. – MEETING RECESSED
4:40 P.M. – MEETING RECONVENED

2. Emerald Lakes (Heron's Forest)

Motion made by Commissioner White, seconded by Commissioner Whitehead, and carried unanimously, approving that, if and when a settlement is reached between the parties, it will be brought back to the Board for a vote in open session.

MINUTES OF THE ATTORNEY-CLIENT SESSION – Continued

ADJOURNMENT

There being no further business to come before the Board, Chairman Dickson declared the Attorney-Client Session of the Board of County Commissioners adjourned at 4:41 p.m.

P R O C E E D I N G S

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: At this time we'll turn it over to our attorneys to brief us on this case, which I think it's called the Emerald Lakes case.

MS. LANDER: Right. And while Alison is setting up, let me remind you all that the only thing we're allowed to talk about is the case Emerald Lakes and the settlement discussion. We can't talk about anything else. And everything that you say is on the record. There's no such thing as going off the record at all in these sessions. And this will be sealed until the conclusion of the case, after which time it will be transcribed and delivered to the clerk and it will be a public record, so govern yourselves accordingly.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Okay. You got it. You're doing it? Okay.

MS. ROGERS: Let me just pass out a few things. I realize -- I know, especially Commissioner White was not involved in the previous deliberations that the Board did with regards to this matter, so I want to make sure that you have at least the basic background in front of you so you can actually see what happened.

This is the Emerald Lakes matter. It is in litigation. It has been in litigation for a while. If you look at the little -- just to remind you very quickly about what happened, I have the little diagram in front of you there that shows the Emerald Lakes development, proposed development area. It's owned by Garrett Walton and Dick Baker, the Heron's Forest Development Company. It's approximately 26-and-a-third acres in size. You can see there you've got really two separate zonings, underlying zonings that apply to the area; it's got C-1 for part and R-1 for another part. And what happened was in the 2000, 2001 round of JLUS --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That was AICUZ.

MS. ROGERS: AICUZ. In the 2000 and 2001 round of that, an APZ-2 was essentially put right over this particular parcel. It literally bisects it.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Is that what this line is here?

MS. ROGERS: No, that's actually a zoning line, I believe. It is a curved line and it affects -- it literally goes through the center of this proposed development area and it vastly downzoned the proposed development site.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I think out of the 26 acres, when they overlaid the APZ -- this was back, now, around 2000 when they overlaid that -- all but eight acres fell into the APZ, so it obviously meant that it was downzoned. So eight acres stayed outside.

MS. ROGERS: Under current zoning there are only approximately 71 or 70.52 or something like that units that would be allowed on this particular development site. That's down substantially from the more than 500 that potentially could have gone on the site had the maximum development possible been done on the site prior to the AICUZ. And just on a technical point, I think it now falls in a C-4 Overlay, is what it's called there.

This was the sixth of six phases in a multiphase Heron's Forest Development Company multiphase master plan, so this was the last and final phase that they were going to development. They did the other five and they got to this one and, of course, by the time they got to it, it had been downzoned.

When they went to the County to commence the development of this particular area, essentially the County's position was that they were subject to the downzoning. And if any of you -- I think Commissioner Dickson will remember that Mr. Walton was, in fact, involved in the 2000, 2001 AICUZ proceeding, so he was very much aware that this had happened to his property.

To make a long story short, they disputed that the downzoning applied. The County stood by its guns and said that it did and they ended up appealing the administrative decision that the downzoning was going to apply to them to the BOA. The BOA decision was appealed to the Board of County Commissioners. The Board of County Commissioners sent it back to Staff. It got appealed again to the BOA. It went again from BOA to BCC. The BCC stood by its guns that the downzoning did apply and it got appealed across the street under a petition for certiorari. That is where it stands today.

However, last year, at Mr. Walton's request, we did an alternative land use dispute resolution proceeding whereby a mediator, in this case it was Lou Ray, was brought in to listen to the dispute and the different sides of the story and he made a determination, which I've put in front of each of you, that says under the statute that we used him under he had to supply to you all a report.

And under that report, which some of you may recall from last year, he did, in fact, find that this property had been essentially unduly burdened by this downzoning and he proposed a fairly novel solution having to do with allowing the Heron's Forest Development Company to take -- to leave the 70 units on the site, but taking the additional 452 units that under the maximum potential could have been used there and allowing them to go somewhere else in the County.

Under the statute that we used Mr. Ray under, a transfer of density is allowable. This report was brought to you all in November of '04, and you can see that's in the minutes that I gave each of you.

(Commissioner Whitehead enters.)

MS. ROGERS: And at that time the Board agreed to accept Mr. Ray's report and essentially instructed the legal department to work with Mr. Emmanuel, who is Mr. Walton's attorney, and to try to negotiate out some way of putting that proposed novel solution into action.

And this is why I'm coming to you at this point. Obviously, it's been almost a year and there have been a couple of reasons for that delay in getting back to you. One, I think, is Mr. Walton got sidetracked with Rebuild Northwest Florida. I think that took some months of his time. There was the shooting at Emmanuel Sheppard. That kind of distracted them. And in addition to that, when we finally got down to business, there is a little bit of a difference of opinion in how to put this into effect.

The difference of opinion is under the Board's previous action -- and it's there in the minutes -- what this Board directed was that the receiving parcels -- this Board said that there could be five or six receiving parcels for that 452 units of density, but that Mr. Walton needed to identify those five or six receiving parcels ahead of time and that then we would essentially allow him, pursuant to a development agreement, to put those units on those five or six receiving parcels.

Well, this is where the hang-up is, because Mr. Walton's response to that is, well, I can't go out and buy receiving parcels. He says he doesn't own five or six receiving parcels in an area of the county where it would be financially beneficial to him to move this density to and he doesn't want to put himself in a financial hardship position by purchasing them before he knows that this Board will allow him to put the density there.

So instead, what Mr. Walton proposes is he wants to be able to have more like a carte blanche sort of development or settlement agreement whereby we agree ahead of time that as long as your receiving parcels are limited to five or six, or whatever this Board wanted to indicate, as long as your receiving parcels were limited, as long as your receiving parcels are not on a barrier island, as long as they are not in an airport overlay -- and if there were any other particular sensitive areas that you had concerns about, we could probably have those in there, as well -- that as long as those units are not put in those areas, you can put them wherever you wish, but pursuant to Mr. Ray's recommendation that you have in front of you, he would be limited to allowing no more than three units per acre wherever he puts them.

My best guess is that he's going to want to put these units, probably all of them, in the central part of the county where a lot of the growth is, where in those areas it may currently be zoned for, say, two units an acre, and he would be allowed therefore to put an additional unit per acre in those areas and, obviously, for him, that presents a great financial possibility.

He does not want to have to be in a situation where, as was proposed to him by our office, that we do a development agreement to agree on the basic underlying principles, but then each time he buys a receiving parcel, we come back before the Board and do an amendment to the development agreement. Because his concern is well, then, he's in the same position, he's bought the receiving parcel without the knowledge about whether or not the Board was going to approve that site and if for some reasons members of the public from that area of the county show up in mass, then he risks -- he's taking a great financial risk, because then this Board may be under pressure to deny that particular location to put the units.

So we got to a position where I felt it was appropriate to come back to this Board, because we were starting to stray from the direction the Board gave in November of '04, which is there in the minutes, Mr. Whitehead, what happened in November of '04.

So at this point, I think it's important for this Board to either make some sort of direction that we want to continue along the route that Mr. Walton is proposing, where he essentially gets -- we would negotiate out a development agreement that would basically allow him to put those units wherever he wants, as long as it's not in those restricted areas, and he would not have to come back to the Board for any amendments and not have to have an additional public hearing.

Or do we at this point change course from the Board's previous direction and say that we've been unable to negotiate anything to conclusion with Mr. Walton and allow it to continue forth back at the Circuit Court level or do we take some other third option? I'm not sure. And there's one -- I'm sorry.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: And there's even a little bit more to it. This goes -- like I say, back in 2000 when they initially put the APZ over the property and downzoned the property, and then when the JLUS study was done in 2003, I think is when we did that, we further impacted that eight acres that remember I said was not in.

However, I mean, the Board at that time -- I'm talking about the Board here -- we agreed to that. I mean, we passed that. And so then when this thing was going to trial, I guess, or going to wherever it was going to go and they agreed to have the mediator come in, the Special Master listen and hear the case, at that point, I guess, they were trying to come up with a settlement agreement. Part of that involved some money. However, we have the money. That's one of the things I worked on this past legislative session was to get the 135,000 that was part of the deal. And we have it. We got that. So there's not any money out of our pocket from a cash standpoint.

I have some mixed emotions with them. I understand where he's coming from. He kind of got caught between a rock and the hard place, to be honest with you. And he is a friend. I have to tell you that up front, but still I voted against him when it came up the last time. I hated to do it, but I really felt like we were taking the right approach.

Personally, I think we're probably in a good position to get ourselves out of this case. I don't know whether we'll win it or lose it if it goes forward. I think he's got some strong arguments and, of course, our legal counsel can tell us whether or not they think, you know, what our chances would be like. I think he's got probably a fair chance. I mean, you know, he did get downzoned twice because of things beyond his control.

So if there's a way to come out of this thing with a settlement that everybody can agree to, I think we ought to try to do it. It seems like that we're pretty close to that point. And I guess the sticky -- the only -- the money is not a lot, is not an issue, because we have that. We just received it. And I guess as far as the property itself, he will be allowed to develop it to some degree, but he has agreed to do that within the confines of the JLUS study. So, again, he will still have that piece of property he can do something with, but he's not going to have nearly the density he had. So the sticky thing is, I guess, is whether or not we allow him to transfer it out, which we said before we would consider doing that, but now, I guess, the hang-up is whether or not he has to identify the parcels.

Now, I understand his problem personally, because he's not sure where he wants to buy that property out there. He's looking kind of up in the MU-6 area, because he knows future development is going up that way, as we've told everybody, but since he doesn't own the property yet, he doesn't want to go out there and invest a lot of money and then find out that we won't allow him to do, I guess, to develop what he wants to do.

I mean, I'm for trying to move forward and get ourselves out of this thing. When I say get ourselves out, it's nothing that we personally did, but there are some extenuating circumstances, I think that are unique to this case and I think they are trying to be, I hope -- I think they're trying to be fair. You think they're trying to be fair to try to come up with something that we can all live with?

MS. ROGERS: They are working more or less within what Mr. Ray proposed --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Right.

MS. ROGERS: -- which last year this Board did accept and indicate a desire to work within, which is where the $135,000 figure comes from. That was recommended in Mr. Ray's report last year that we, in addition to the transferring of the density, make a payment of $135,600, which represents $300 per unit for engineering and other costs related to that, and through a grant that Commissioner Dickson was able to get, we have 122,000 of that sitting and waiting.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Was there a development order issued for this project?

MS. ROGERS: There was a 1996 -- no, this is where the hang-up occurred was that they -- with Emerald Lakes. Now, there was a multiphased master plan in 1996 which was approved.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: The master plan is not the same as a development order.

MS. ROGERS: Right. With Emerald Lakes -- this is where the problem began is when they went to start Emerald Lakes, they got hung up at the initial, the initial, just very beginning of the DRC process. When the initial DRC comments came back that basically said, you know, you can't do this, you're not zoned for this anymore, and there were some other comments that were in question. That's where the dispute started right there, so it ended up being an administrative appeal of those Staff decisions to the BOA.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: How can they claim vested dwelling units if they don't have a development order?

MS. ROGERS: Well, that's one of the issues. They claim that they were vested because the master plan in '96 had been approved by the County and there's no specific expiration of the master plan approval in the code, is what they claim.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: But unless a development order has been issues, aren't we free legislatively to change zoning and make changes?

MS. LANDER: Oh, sure. The problem and the weakness with that position is that Staff had an internal policy of treating them as vested at the master plan stage.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Is that documented somewhere?

MS. LANDER: It can be elicited in testimony in deposition.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That is actual policy then or had been?

MS. LANDER: It's not Board policy and it's not adopted policy, but that was the practice. They treated them as vested once they approved their master plan. It's dead wrong. There's no support for that, but nevertheless that was the representation that was made by Staff. So we've got some estoppel arguments arising, just showing you the weakness of the defense of the case.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I agree. If that's been the Staff's position, that kind of shoots that one in the hip.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: There's a lot more to this case, there really is.

MS. ROGERS: I could talk about it for hours and I thought not to do that.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Let me ask something. When you look at this map, there's houses all around, subdivisions all around this piece of property.

MS. ROGERS: Yes, most of them built by this company.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I mean, do we really need to -- I mean, do we really need not to let him go ahead and build this?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Yes, because it's right in the APZ.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: But there's others there.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I know, but you don't want anymore in there than you've already got and some of those are actually a little bit out.

What happened was, going way back, you remember the Laguna project? There were some people that wanted to swap land with the Navy on the water. Am I allowed to say this?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You may remember this case. And what they were trying to do is get all the property that was in the APZs out for the Navy and they were going to get the property down on the water from the Navy and they were going to put a convention center/golf course thing down there. You remember that went through Congress. The House passed it and the Senate did not.

So what happened was they had gone out and purchased this property up here in good faith, at least they thought, to make the swap, because everybody was going to come out -- it was going to be a win/win for the County, which these would have never been developed up there. This would all have been vacant up there and the County was kind of -- they weren't involved in the negotiations, but they were aware of kind of what was being done in order to help out with the density in the APZs. Well, when that deal fell apart, then they were stuck with the property, so they went ahead and started the development.

One of the other things that hung them up down here was because at the last minute when they were developing this up here, everybody said, wait a minute. We may now be able to go back and do the initial project, so they stopped work again for eight months while they were in limbo. They said, okay, if you can still come in and do it, we'll be happy to work the deal. Again, they thought everybody was going to come out of it happy. Well, that fell through, so then they said we don't have any recourse but to go ahead and develop it.

So this is in a critical area. That's the reason when we did the JLUS thing, we went ahead and changed the zoning again, knowing that eight acres -- the 26 acres was impacted by the 2000 ruling way back there and then the eight acres is what was left.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Where is the runway in relation to this?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: It's right over here, come over here, kind of in this area.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Over here?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Yes.

MS. ROGERS: This is right near the rear gate to NAS.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Back gate to NAS.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: In other words, on the other side of all this development?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Some of it is. This is Heron's Forest down here.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: The field is over here?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: No, the field is almost due west -- due east, I'm sorry, due east of there. In other words, the field is over here.

MS. LANDER: To the right.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: To the right.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Are you sure that that's much of a problem?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Yeah, it is. It goes right over it. I've got it over my office.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, there are all these other houses there.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: And that's part of the problem.

MS. ROGERS: Absolutely. May I just make sure you understand one thing? This is in court right now on a cert petition. It is not in court right now on a Harris Act or a takings claim. It's a cert, meaning an appeal from when this Board went through the appeal last year.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: The thing is in the mediator's report here they're talking about the taking is valued in the order of two million two hundred and sixty thousand dollars.

MS. LANDER: I think that that will follow if we're unable to resolve this.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: That's what I'm thinking. That's what I'm trying to figure out. And on the other end -- on this end, if we go ahead with the litigation, if they get the cert and it goes back, we may end up facing two million two sixty.

Now, on the other end of it, we're going to have five pieces of property out there we have no idea what kind of public problem it is, political problem that's going to be.

MS. ROGERS: The only other side --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: The people in that area --

COMMISSIONER WHITE: It's going to be right in my district --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: -- they don't want that much density.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: But you're only talking increasing the density from two to three units per acre, a third acre lots. That's bigger than anything you've got in the city.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: But you may have to go through that five times. Then the issue is we made a deal to help out this --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: No, you're probably only going to do it once, because the size of developments that Walton does, he's not going to go out and do some mini subdivision. He's going to go 500 --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: If you look at all his developments, they're large. He's looking for a piece of property to do the whole thing at one time.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Rezoning might --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: You would still have to do rezoning.

I know she can't keep track of all the conversations. We thought you were better than that.

MS. LANDER: It gets dicey there, too, because --

MS. ROGERS: That's why we're here.

MS. LANDER: The question is whether or not we have to do a rezoning, and if we have to do a rezoning, is it contract zoning and, therefore, unlawful? Everywhere you go you bump into something. There are problems everywhere in this case, so what you have to think about is, you know, which is your least obnoxious scenario.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Well, if I might, it would seem to me the appropriate route to go -- because a significant portion of that area there is zoned AG and that's where your problem falls.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Make it residential, one per one acre.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Or less. It would seem to me the appropriate route to go would be that he could transfer this density to any residentially zoned property as opposed to any parcel, which puts the onus on him then to go out and get the residential zoning into whatever category. He can transfer density once you've done that, because you're not dealing with contract zoning then. He has to go through a regular rezoning process to go from his AG to whatever classification of residential it is. At that point, he then has his density bonus that he could transfer. That gets you out of the contract zoning.

MS. LANDER: Coming from AG or R-R to R-1 and then he can add an additional unit onto that.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That would seem to be a very logical way to go.

MS. LANDER: Does that crunch with our density under R-1?

MS. ROGERS: Well, he may -- well, no.

MS. LANDER: It would be more agricultural or VR-1?

MS. ROGERS: I can tell you that may address the issue that he has, which is that if this Board puts him in a position of having to buy the property and then come back for either rezoning hearings or PUDs or anything else that requires public hearings, he's going to balk, because he's going to say, then I'm still at the whim of the public, essentially the Board, but if there's enough pressure, you're forced. So that may address that issue, which is -- that keeps us from saying, okay, tell us what the parcels are and then go get them rezoned.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Exactly.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I mean, that's fine. Like I say, we've got the money.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Would it have to still be rezoned?

MS. ROGERS: Well, I think what we're proposing is that because the statute that Mr. Ray was operating under specifically provides that you can transfer density as a solution to a problem where there's a perceived unduly burdening of a property owner. I think legally you can attempt to operate under that.

MS. LANDER: We could, but he doesn't have any parcels to transfer it to, so we can't do an open-ended transfer of density.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: No, but what you can do is give him 452 density credits to be used on a residential parcel.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's kind of what I've been saying, go ahead and give him the credits and let him -- I mean -- MS. ROGERS: As long as he can do that now and he doesn't have to just hold them indefinitely for when we actually get a TDR scheme in place, which is what he says, well, if everyone else can bank them, then I lose the financial benefit of it.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Wouldn't he have to purchase the lots still?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: These guys go out and do deals all the time contingent on rezoning. That's typically how that works. They go out and buy 1,000 acres contingent on getting it rezoned.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: He already owns this.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: They own that.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: So what would that be, just land that they own? We wouldn't have to give them anything?

MS. ROGERS: Under current -- no. Under current zoning, they can put up to like 70.56 or 71 or some such number units on this property.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: And you're reducing that out of the number that they could have put on there.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Subtracting that amount from that?

MS. ROGERS: There are 452 other units above and beyond the 71 that are still there to be put somewhere.

MS. LANDER: Wouldn't it take an awful lot of land, though, for him to -- if he can't put more than three units on an acre, then that's an awful lot of acreage.

MS. ROGERS: Less than Nature Walk.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: If it's zoned for two units per acre, you would eat it up in 500 acres, 450 acres, actually. That's not a lot. That's a typical golf course type development.

MS. LANDER: What I'm saying is it's a little confining. I was hoping that rather than restrict it per acre that he might want to do some clustering. He might want to do all kinds of things that work into planned unit developments, affordable housing. We could do all kinds of things with this and try to make some lemonade out of it.

If it's too restrictive on an acre by acre, I think that's going to box him in.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: You could have wording in it that says the one unit per acre and then insert wording that says nothing in this would prohibit him from submitting a PUD or some other type of clustering arrangement, but the overall density wouldn't change. If he's got a 200-acre parcel, the most he could do, even with clustering, would be 200 additional units in there somewhere. I'm not suggesting it has to be on each and every acre an additional unit. That's not the way you develop anyway.

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: He may end up doing a couple of different projects.

MS. ROGERS: Oh, yeah, up to five or six is what the Board has recommended.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: But like we were saying earlier, he may go out there and buy one large piece, but he may have another piece someplace else that he wants to put --

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Three or four smaller pieces.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: -- he may want to put a PUD on there, so I would leave it open for him to come in and be able to do that.

MS. LANDER: Be creative.

MS. ROGERS: There's a reference in Mr. Ray's report to the performance standards that would apply. He recommends that the receiving parcels would be subject to R-6 residential performance standards.

MS. LANDER: I wouldn't even want to go there because, again, that's restrictive. That was our -- you know, that's our yeoman's version of density transfer and it's very primitive. The more primitive the solution, the more primitive the housing picture is going to be up there. So I would like to give -- I mean, he's a proven developer and I don't feel it's necessary to put too many constraints on him. And I really am concerned about the decrease in overall density from 500 to 71.52. That makes you blink. That's pretty significant.

So, all right, is it the consensus that -- we'll have to vote on this in the public, but I want to make sure I understand that before we go back and we allow Mr. Walton to take those 400 and --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I wouldn't use Mr.

Walton. I think I would just use Heron's Forest Development Company.

MS. LANDER: Heron's Forest Development Company to take those 452 residential density units and use them as credits that he can transfer up to one additional unit per acre overall. And he can cluster it however he wants. It doesn't preclude him from planning his development the way he otherwise would.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: He can't cluster any way he wants. I wouldn't even say the word. I would say subject to whatever --

MS. LANDER: But he doesn't want to go through anything, you know, but there's a limit to what we can --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: He's got to go through the development -- he's go to go through the DRC. He would have to do that anyway.

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: What we're saying is we're going to give you the additional bonus in terms of credits, but we're not going to let him build a 40-story building in Cantonment and use up all the density in one spot. I don't think --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: It has to be reasonable.

MS. ROGERS: Should we bring it back in the form of a settlement agreement at a later meeting?

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: You better talk to him.

MS. LANDER: What happened is we would offer it. First we would get the permission from the Board to make the offer.

MS. ROGERS: I think Mr. Emmanuel is here.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I saw Dick Baker walk in while we were up there, so he may be here.

MS. LANDER: We offer it and if they're here and if they want to accept it, then they can. What I would prefer to do is that they authorize my office to make the offer. You're not making the offer in open forum. You're authorizing us to make the offer. We will sit down with them and we will get it reduced to writing, get all the parties to sign, and then we file it in court and it's a done deal and, of course, we've reported that as the Board.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: So all we do when we go back is make the motion to have y'all make the offer to them?

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: We don't have to go into the details. All we have to do is say --

MS. LANDER: I'll put it this way: As discussed.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: As discussed.

MS. LANDER: Right. And then if we do it like that, if we don't come right out and say what we've discussed, then it will have to be -- the settlement agreement will have to come back to you for approval. Which is okay, I'll put it on the County Attorney's report.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: That's fine. Let's do it that way.

MS. LANDER: Yeah.

MR. TOUART: I heard the Staff's name mentioned a minute ago. I have to take up for Staff. This started in 1996 and Staff did exactly what Staff was supposed to do in 1996.

It also states here in 2001 that the final eight acres of JLUS -- as Bill said, that was actually 2003 when JLUS was completed, so, you know, Staff was on Board with JLUS and everything else when the eight acres was done here.

Does this agreement bind future Boards?

MS. LANDER: Absolutely.

MR. TOUART: What happens -- what happens -- we live in a political world. What happens if District

I or V, where this probably will go when the density is transferred, has to be rezoned and this place is packed out here and the Board chooses not to approve a particular location?

MS. ROGERS: Well, that's the problem we're trying to avoid.

MR. TOUART: I agree. Has anybody even thought about passing this by Mr. Baker and Mr. Walton? I agree with the density transfer credits, but the methodology that you're portraying to this Board is very complicated.

MS. ROGERS: We've been talking to them for almost a year.

MR. TOUART: So they've agreed to everything you just said?

MS. LANDER: No, they want to dodge the public hearing aspect.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: This is going to go back to them.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: You can't dodge the public hearing aspect, because they're going into an area there where is it significantly downzoned from what they need. That's the reason I believe that the onus is on them to get the residential zoning. Once they get the residential zoning, transferring the residential density credit, I don't have a problem. They can't transfer residential density credit in the Agricultural zoning, because you have changed the zoning without a hearing. And you can't agree to change the zoning, because then you're into contract zoning. I mean, he can't have it both ways. We can give him credits for residential that he can use if and when he gets rezoning. I don't think -- I cannot imagine a Board that's going to unreasonably withhold a rezoning request, especially in this environment today when we're trying to push that growth up there.

MR. TOUART: Let me ask one other question. MU-6 is coming back before this Board very shortly. Some of these zoning issues may be addressed and solved with MU-6.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: It may take care of itself.

MR. TOUART: It may take care of some of the problems that are zoned AG now, because it's a blanket AG zone up there right now. From what I've preliminarily heard about MU-6, it may take care of itself in that most of your high downzoned areas are going to be in this MU-6 area. So, hopefully, the developers will choose some future property that's being rezoned and that will solve their problems and not have to go before the public.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: And, you know, that's probably what they're going to try.

MR. TOUART: I sincerely would think so. These are smart guys. If we get out of this thing that easy --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's what I'm trying to say. I mean, moneywise, it didn't really cost anything because we got the grant to take care of that part of it. I think we should just do --

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: The 135,000?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: We got the -- well, we got 122 out of the 135.

MR. TOUART: The State gave us that.

MS. ROGERS: We have a year to use it?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: We have a year and we've got to get the application in. I mean, it's there. All we've got to do is send the application in and we'll get it.

MS. LANDER: If they're getting all their units, if they were originally at 500 and they will have 452 plus 71.52, the money represents the difference in the value of the units built off the area where it was originally contemplated.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's my understanding.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Well, actually, I think what it says in there is the value of the engineering and design services that went into the original plan, we're reimbursing them for that, which I don't have a problem with. We're forcing them all the way back through that redesign process.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Okay.

P R O C E E D I N G S

MS. ROGERS: You are here -- as you may recall, on September the 15th we had a shade meeting on the Emerald Lakes matter. Very briefly to refresh your memory, the Emerald Lakes matter had to do with approximately 26 acres near the NAS airfield that was downzoned. We had one of the Florida statutorily allowed Special Magistrate mediations that basically determined that the County had unfairly burdened the property in this case, which is owned by Heron's Forest, represented by Mr. Garrett Walton and Dick Baker.

At that shade meeting on September the 15th, just to remind you, essentially what the Board agreed to was three big points: That they could take 452 dwelling units and up to the 71 other units that would normally have stayed with the Emerald Lakes property, that those units could be transferred to up to six receiving parcels elsewhere in the county. There would be no public hearings required such as PUDs or rezonings. However, any project would need to go through DRC and live up to the building codes. They could take up to three dwelling units per acre onto the receiving parcels. But the kicker and the reason that I believe we're here today is because what this Board decided was that, however, any receiving parcel must already have residential zoning designation. This is the problem and this did not go over with the plaintiff in the case.

Their concern was that Heron's Forest needs something that is not readily available to any other developer. The point being, first of all, that the Central County Study is very likely to result in rezoning by the County of much of the areas that are probably going to be residential where these places would have a market. And in addition to that, if they had to go through the entire hearing process of obtaining any rezonings for receiving parcels, they would probably be able to get three dwelling units an acre or close to that anyway. So their point was what are we getting? How does this benefit us? You're not really giving us anything that we couldn't get anyway.

So they, in return, sent what they have determined or declared is their best offer in order to settle the matter and, of course, it's our obligation to make sure we bring that to your attention to see if we want to reject it or not.

MR. TOUART: Just for clarification, you keep using the term Heron's Forest. Since we are being recorded, make sure you use Heron's Development Company, because there is a Heron's Forest and this is about Emerald Lakes.

MS. ROGERS: Yes. Heron's Forest was one project in the multi-phased development. Heron's Forest Development Company is the owner and developer, but the specific project was going to be the Emerald Lakes, which is approximately 26 acres in the southwest part of the town.

I have provided you with a copy of the settlement agreement that they have drafted and said they are proposing as their best offer. The highlights here are essentially that they can take the 452 units plus up to the 71 other dwelling units that might normally have stayed behind on the Emerald Lakes parcel and take them, not to exceed three dwelling units an acre, up to six receiving parcels, not subject to PUDs, they would have essentially R-6 performance standards, but that they don't have -- essentially, that they can put them wherever they want as long as it's on the six receiving parcels and there are no rezonings, regardless of what the zoning of that receiving parcel is, other than the fact that they would not put it in an agricultural or an airfield overlay or a barrier island.

In response to that, I took this and sat down with Peter Aluotto out at Planning and Zoning just to see what his take was on this. His concern is urban sprawl, which is a planner-oriented concern, and his ideal settlement would be to allow this proposed settlement agreement to happen, but that the northward boundary of the receiving parcels would be Barrineau Park Road, which is why I have the diagrams in front of you here so you can see. Barrineau Park Road is approximately in the center of this map and Peter Aluotto was also willing to include Activity Area 13.

In response to that, the Heron's Forest Development Company said, no, we're not willing to go along with that, but what we are willing to go along with is the settlement agreement we've previously proposed. If you're going to hold us to the Barrineau Park Road and Activity Area 13, we want six dwelling units an acre, if you let us go up to somewhat just south of where Pine Barren Road comes into -- I think that's Highway 29 there at the top of your map, which if you can do an imaginary east/west line, they did provide a map that was based on a real estate section map. But if you can imagine an east/west line going slightly south of that Pine Barren Road intersection, if you let us go up as northward as we wish, which is that east/west line, then the three dwelling units an acre would be acceptable, of course, with all the things we've already discussed, no rezonings required, no PUDs, they would go through DRC and the other requirements that are there in the settlement agreement.

So the one thing about the six units an acre is that from an urban sprawl sort of planner perspective; that maybe keeps more density closer to town and closer to the existing infrastructure. It seems clear to me that what they would prefer is to be able to do the three dwelling units an acre, which is what the Special Magistrate did recommend, but to be allowed to go to this more northward line, with the no rezonings and with the no PUDs.

So the settlement agreement that is before you is what they are saying is their best and final offer. There is, just to remind you, the petition for cert that is pending, although it has been stayed or basically suspended while these negotiations have continued. And then what they say, well, if we can't agree with this, we'll have that stay lifted and proceed there in court.

Now, under petition for cert, if the judge found that we had not properly addressed the BOA decision way back when, it may come back to you again to address with some sort of direction from the Court or it possibly could to be successful. We still have not had them file some sort of takings claim. Just to remind you, because I know Commissioner Banjanin had some concerns, the Special Magistrate did address what the plaintiff's profits would have been had they not been downzoned and it was approximately 2.2 million dollars, which really was only about a $5,000 profit figure per unit, which was approximately 452 units at $5,000 profit.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Why do they want to switch the 71 that they could put on there?

MS. ROGERS: They want the freedom to be able to either leave behind --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: The whole thing out there?

MS. ROGERS: They could either leave behind under current zoning 71 units or they want the right to be able to transfer some of those units to some of these receiving parcels.

It's my understanding that there is only one receiving, potential receiving parcel, that is actually currently owned by Heron's Forest Development Company. The others, which is what they've claimed all along, we can't risk buying receiving parcels until we know that the Commission is going to be willing to let us put our units there and that we're not at the whim of the public by having to risk that 400 people will show up at either a rezoning or a PUD public hearing process.

So that's why you're here. It's been difficult as you can tell. This is now the third shade meeting we've had on this and I know it's been a bit of a struggle. So I leave it to you for direction. Otherwise, we'll --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You said they already own one parcel. Is that up in this area or you don't know?

MS. ROGERS: I honestly do not know and it was sort of an informal reference, well, we only own one that might even be able to be used anyway. We certainly can't risk putting that amount of money for these large acreages out there until we know that we're assured that we can use it as we desire.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Does the transfer of building rights expire at any point in time or does it go on indefinitely?

MS. ROGERS: The agreement there says it has a duration of ten years. And I guess they -- and just to point out the reason that this lawsuit really came about anyway was because they were doing a multiphased development that began in 1996, and about five or six years passed before they got to the sixth phase and basically the clock ran out on them.

MR. TOUART: 5.1 addresses the terms.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Well, what happened was, even before I was elected, you remember the County map had incorrectly shown the APZ and so when they shifted it over -- see, initially their whole thing was not impacted, but back in '99 or something, they shifted this thing, maybe 2000, I can't remember, but anyway, they shifted it and the County moved the line. So when it did, it impacted like -- I want to say out of the 25 or 26 acres, it impacted like 18 or 19 of them. So then we came along with the JLUS Study, which impacted the additional eight that was left over to some degree, so that was kind of some of the background.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: You said that they have agreed not to use agricultural?

MS. ROGERS: I believe it's in there that it would be with the exception of agricultural, airfield environs and barrier islands.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I'm looking for that.

MS. ROGERS: I'm pretty sure that is in here.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Let's see. It says anywhere other than an incorporated municipality, airport environs or barrier island. It doesn't say anything at all about the agricultural.

The reason I say that is because this is all agricultural. I mean, this whole area is zoned agricultural. But if Peter was willing to throw in AA-13 --

MS. ROGERS: Which he was.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: -- you're really only talking about a relatively small parcel, most of which is inaccessible, because you don't have roads. They're only talking 175 acres maximum. If you took the entire 71 units and added it to the 452, divide that by the three units allowable, 150 acres out of this is not an awful lot of dirt.

MS. ROGERS: I may have misspoken. It may be that they do want to include Agricultural.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I would assume that they do because of the location.

MS. ROGERS: They did have their eye, I think, on some VAG type zoning, but again, I don't know exactly what.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: The majority of this is under Blue Sky. This is the area that they're actually selling off.

MS. ROGERS: I don't know if this helps any. It's not a very good map, but you can see the east/west line.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: That's all IP property.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It's all under play right now, because Blue Sky, which is the real estate arm of IP, has a good chunk of this. In fact, I think everything south of the Atmore cutoff they're looking at selling.

MR. TOUART: Blue Sky has got it for sale.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: About 40,000 acres.

MS. ROGERS: That would make sense then.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Which would explain why they're looking potentially at this area in here. Actually, it's north and south of that cutoff.

I don't have a lot of problem with it myself.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I don't either, to be honest.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It's not a huge leap from where we're at to what they're asking for and I think we need to put this thing to bed, because the exposure, as Tom indicated, is a couple of million dollars.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I'll be certainly happy to make a motion out there that we --

MS. LANDER: That we approve the proposed settlement agreement.

MS. ROGERS: Do we want to allow them the option of either six units per acre up to Barrineau Road and up to three farther north?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: No. I like the three period.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Three period.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Six becomes problematic, if we're allowing it anywhere, because that becomes town homes or apartment type dwellings.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I agree.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: There's an infrastructure problem, potentially, if you're looking at that type of density. The other problem, the other problem they're going to run into at six units per acre is they're going to have to have sewer and --

COMMISSIONER WHITE: It's not there.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: -- I think that's probably one of the reasons they're a little bit concerned. There is a no sewer available anywhere along that stretch until you get all the way back down to --

COMMISSIONER WHITE: To the commerce park?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Yes.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: That's where the sewer line ends.

MS. ROGERS: There is -- one of the Future Land Use Maps that recently went to the Planning Board, they were talking about building their own sewage treatment facility.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Oh, it wouldn't be the first time it's been done in this county.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: It's typically a lift station, probably.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: No, actually we've got examples of private sewer systems. Innerarity Island has a private system.

MS. ROGERS: So this would be --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: (Inaudible.)

MS. LANDER: Wait. Everybody's talking. We can only have one person talking at a time, because everything has to be transcribed.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Sorry.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: You'll have fun with that one.

MS. ROGERS: If you want to look at this map more clearly --

COMMISSIONER WHITE: I know.

MS. ROGERS: -- but the gist of it, of course, that would be without rezonings and PUDs. This is in your district.

MR. TOUART: Alison, please explain to the Board there's no monetary responsibility on our part.

MS. ROGERS: That's not true because --

COMMISSIONER WHITE: There's $135,000.

MR. TOUART: Other than what's stated here.

MS. ROGERS: But as we have discussed, $122,000 of that has been obtained by grant, which we still have approximately nine months of life on that we can access. We would, of course, be responsible for the difference.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Let me ask --

MR. TOUART: Minimal exposure, I should say.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: How many units are they planning to put on the property down there that they have now?

MS. ROGERS: Seventy-one units would remain, but they're asking in their settlement agreement that they could also access those 71 units and take them to a receiving parcel, as well.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Seventy-one is the maximum they can development down there. They could do less and what they're saying is if they only end up using 60 or 50, if they go to larger lot sizes, then they would like to have the ability to transfer the balance of that 71 with this.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: The other 400-and-something are going to go somewhere else?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: They go somewhere else.

MS. ROGERS: And it could be a commercial type. They're asking limited to C-1 commercial use, which frankly is more in line with the Navy's request during the JLUS process, because they don't like, obviously, to have a lot of people living on top of each other close to the airfield.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: This sounds like a reasonable settlement.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I think it's very reasonable.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Let's go for it.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Yes. Do we need a motion in here?

MS. LANDER: We have to state the motion out there.

MS. ROGERS: Up to the northern line that they've indicated.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I'll make the motion.

(The attorney/client meeting concluded at 4:20 p.m.)

P R O C E E D I N G S

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I'll turn it over to the attorney.

MS. LANDER: Everything that you say is being transcribed. There is no off the record. The transcription will be sealed until the conclusion of all possible litigation or appeals and then will become a public record.

So with that in mind, Steve is going to present to you the status of the Cranford case. It started a long time ago. He'll go over all that. We just want you to be aware of where it is and we may need some advice from you as to where we go from here.

MR. WEST: Commissioners, this is a real property dispute. It involves property occupied by the County and the Cranfords out on Mobile Highway.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: That's your district, isn't it?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Yes.

MR. WEST: I asked Janet to schedule this meeting just to make you aware of what the problem is that gave rise to this lawsuit, to just make you aware of what efforts we've made to try and resolve it and explain why it has not resolved, make recommendations to you about how to go forward with this litigation and some of the issues with that.

Some of you may remember that this issue came before the Board about 18 months ago. The Cranfords and their attorney appeared under Written Communication and asked for assistance in addressing what they represented to be a title problem with their property out on Mobile Highway. Hopefully, you will understand in a few minutes that this is not a problem with the title, it's a problem with location.

But based on the Board's direction at that meeting, our office went forward and had a survey done by the county surveyor, Rob Working, who did a considerable amount of work reviewing all the different properties involved, looking at old records, surveying the properties and trying to help me with my work and understanding of what happened and what the problem was. He had a very extensive title search report that he had prepared. We did a considerable amount of legal research. All of the documents that were generated were made available to the Cranfords and their attorney at no cost.

The cause of this problem we were never able to determine except to say that it's as a result of an error that occurred probably 70 or 80 years ago.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Seventy or 80?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

MR. WEST: It has been perpetuated just by all the different owners, but it occurred long before the County had any interest in the property, long before the Cranfords had any interest in the property. Both parties in the lawsuit are really unfortunate victims of that error, but neither is more or less responsible than the other, and I think that's important to keep in mind as we discuss this.

The problem is easily -- most easily understood, I think, if you refer to that map that's in front of you there. It's an aerial photograph. Starting from left to right, the pink area is what is described in the Cranfords' deed. They do not or did not recognize that they owned that area. They occupy only the easternmost portion of that pink area. However, most of what they occupy and where the primary structures are located is on County property, which is shown in green. The County owns the green area. The Cranfords do not have title to the green area, even though that's where the houses and the structures that they occupy are primarily located.

The County acquired the green area back in the 2002, early 2003 time frame. At that point they bought what they thought was the red area --

COMMISSIONER WHITE: God Almighty.

MR. WEST: -- from a man who was thinking the same thing, that he actually owned the red area. And if you look in the middle of that red outline there, there's a house there. That was where he was living. The house is no longer there. The County demolished it after they purchased the property, but the deed he gave to the County actually describes the green area.

There is no document in the public record right now that shows -- that has the description shown in the red. That's just an artificial boundary that I drew in there to show what the seller --

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Who actually owns the red area?

MR. WEST: That's a good question. That was my next point. What actually falls mostly within that blue outline, that is a piece of property that is owned or was owned at the start of this whole mess by a company called General Improvement Company. They were the ones that owned most of the property in that area. They subsequently sold everything off except for that blue area and then they dissolved back in the early sixties. They have not been in existence for almost five decades.

I want to stop there to make sure that everybody understands what I've told you, because I know that's kind of complicated. I wanted to let you ask me any questions.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Just one question just to reiterate what I thought I heard you say. The County thought they were buying the area in red. That was based on what?

MR. WEST: Simply that -- our office did not handle the closing on this. It was done by Staff. It was based solely on --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Where did we get the borders for the red, a survey or based on --

MR. WEST: It was simply -- the legal description in the deed to the County was taken directly off the deed that the seller had. No one surveyed the property. It was based solely on the assumption that that's where the man who sold it to us was living. He thought he owned it and that's what the County thought they were buying.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Maybe I'm missing something. It's a very unique shape. If you were saying that we were buying 10 acres, you know, 200 by whatever, I could understand that, but for us to have this delineation, to have assumed that was what we were purchasing, somewhere along the line somebody had to --

MR. WEST: That red border is my artificial construction of what the property would look like if I moved the green boundaries over 250 feet.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Maybe that explains it. What you're saying then is the area in green was described in the deed?

MR. WEST: Yes.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: We assumed that we were buying -- this is all wetlands, if I'm not mistaken, at this site. We assumed that we were purchasing the wetlands that were actually adjacent to that bridge?

MR. WEST: That's what staff told me. They had some grant money. There was a big dispute between Mr. Edwards, who actually lived in that house in the red area, and Staff felt like at that point they wanted to use those grant funds to purchase the property, demolish the structures and use that as a, basically, stormwater --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: We bought the area in green, is what you're saying?

MR. WEST: Unknowingly.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Who did we actually buy it from?

MR. WEST: His name was Edwards.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: He actually owned it, the area in green, even though he was living in the area in red? Did he know that he was living --

MR. WEST: Apparently not.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I guess my question is, so the ownership of the area in blue has been the defunct corporation or whoever the successors to that corporation, they still currently own everything in blue?

MR. WEST: Well, I'm getting to that. Give me --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Okay, but up to that point, he was the essentially squatting on the area in blue. He had a deed for the area in green, which is what transferred to Escambia County. I know we went through this back in the October and November session. You simply constructed the area in red by moving that over, assuming -- that's what we assumed we were buying.

MR. WEST: This is just a guess, but I think it's a reasonable guess.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: When did we buy it? I'm just curious.

MR. WEST: The transaction started in late 2002 and concluded early 2003.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: And we didn't get a survey?

MR. WEST: No. At that point there was a gap that was between -- my predecessor, Margaret Stopp, had left at that point. I had not come on and so the staff went forward.

There are procedures in place now that, if they're followed, this will not happen again. That's why you get those checklists whenever there's a real property purchase that are signed off by the surveyor, but they did not get a survey.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: May I ask a question? The people, the Cranfords, this is their property right here, but they have buildings over here on this piece of property because they thought --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That's their home.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: They thought this was part of their property, even when it belonged to the guy that we bought it from, but he owned this. So he's living here.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Was.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Was. He was living here. They are living here, so everybody thinks they're further to, I guess, that's east, than they really are?

MR. WEST: Yes.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: You did that pretty good. That's a pretty good recap.

MR. WEST: The bottom line, in order to resolve this, is that if the Cranfords are to get title to the property that they occupy, they have to get it from the County, one way or the other.

The County can't give property away so that was not an option. We offered to recommend to the Board that the County put it up for sell and have the Cranfords bid on it. They didn't want to consider purchasing the property.

The only other option I could think of was the County go through a property exchange with the Cranfords. That was, I think, a reasonable option, but the problem was the Cranfords didn't have anything to exchange.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: There's nothing there, because if they transferred some of that and their line would go -- that's a house that they own -- from there over to here and we take something over there.

MR. WEST: There's some problems. And I say that this is described in the Cranford's deed, this pink area. There are some title problems, I think, associated with that. It's tied up in a probate estate. There are also some other issues that they would have to resolve in order to give the County good title.

What I suggested to the Cranfords' attorney as a way to resolve this fairly easily, was that he look into trying to acquire the interest that General Improvement Company had in that property and if he could acquire the area that was occupied by the County, we would each have what the other wanted and we could simply exchange deeds. That would put everybody in the position that they want to be in.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: But that incurs an expense on their part significantly, potentially.

MR. WEST: Some. We didn't know at the time how expensive it was going to be.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: How many acres are we talking about?

MR. WEST: I would have to look. I think it's probably two or three.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That's all?

MR. WEST: It's not a large parcel of property. We've got surveys that I can --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That's okay. I'm just curious.

MR. WEST: The problem, of course, is that the corporation that had the title to that red and blue area is defunct, but there is a provision in the Florida Statutes that allows a court to appoint a trustee for the purpose of disposing of property that is left over after a corporation dissolves.

So I proposed to the Cranfords' attorney that we go with them to the Court and we ask them to appoint a trustee, and if they were able to get a trustee to convey an interest, that we can swap deeds.

I was able to locate the son of the last surviving director of General Improvement Company and I spoke with him. I explained the situation. He was familiar with the company and some of the transactions. He had served in a similar representative capacity in a different transaction, so he expressed to me that he was willing to consider this. I put him in touch with the Cranfords' attorney.

As it turned out, some of the partners at the other law firm involved were friends with this man and so they were able to get a quit claim deed from the dissolved corporation for basically no cost, other than the expenses it took for correspondence and getting the Court to appoint a trustee.

So once they had the deed, we were each in a position to make this problem go away very easily just by exchanging deeds with each other.

Unfortunately, when it came to that point, Mr. Cranford refused to go forward with the exchange because he felt that certain comments made to him by commissioners, which I think he probably misunderstood, but he was led to believe that he would get all of his attorney fees and costs paid for.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I didn't say that, did I?

MR. WEST: Well, that's what he believes.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That I said it?

MR. WEST: No, he believes -- and he didn't express who said what -- COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I don't recall saying anything like that. I met with him.

MR. WEST: There was one comment made by Commissioner Gilley that I think he misinterpreted.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: That's before we got here.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I don't think I've ever met with the man.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Because I met with him right after I got here -- no, I met with him the night before we were sworn, the next day, because they were there that night.

MS. LANDER: Right. Tell them what Commissioner Gilley said.

MR. WEST: She said -- and this is why I wanted to emphasize to you that neither party was more or less responsible for this situation. But Commissioner Gilley's comment was: If the County caused this problem, then I think we should pay this man's attorney's fees.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: How much are we talking about in attorney's fees?

MR. WEST: I'll address that in just a second. In any case, we went to a mediation. They wanted to proceed with their lawsuit. The Court didn't want to address some of the convoluted facts and law that was involved, so Judge Terrell first ordered us to mediation. That was really the only issue at the mediation to be resolved. I think everything else was agreed upon by the parties.

But we walked into the mediation, Mr. Cranford acknowledged that he didn't think that the County had done anything wrong, but he felt that since he didn't do anything wrong that he should not have to pay anything in connection with the resolution of this problem.

We asked how much attorney's fees he thought he was entitled to and the response was $15,000. I think that was outrageous considering the County had done probably 90 percent of the work in trying to get this to the point where it could be resolved.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: His attorney said $15,000.

MR. WEST: We asked for them to provide some kind of justification for that, time records of the attorney, billing statements, something that would explain how they were able to run up $15,000 worth of attorney's fees. They were not able to do that. I think that is suspicious considering that really was the only issue.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: And that, actually, was the last conversation I had with him. That's where we were at in December and we had this discussion about the $15,000 and trying to get documentation and do the followup and I talked to them. They called me and my response was document it and we can talk about it. If you can't document it, we've got nowhere to go. That's where I left it with them.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: That's the best way to leave it with them, too.

MR. WEST: After the fact, I think it's kind of a nonissue. I think it's ingenious at best for them to walk into a mediation -- and that was really the only issue -- with nothing, no hard evidence of what could support the $15,000 claim for attorney's fees.

I tried to use my best estimate as to what I think I would have incurred in fees if I was a private attorney to go to the Court and get a trustee appointed and correspond with the man who agreed to be the trustee and actually get a deed from him. Being very, very generous, I thought probably $3,500 was about as much as I could reasonably charge for that.

So that was the maximum offer that we could extend. During the mediation, I periodically called Janet to make sure that she's in agreement. They came down considerably. They went from the 15 to 12, and the mediator, I think, thought they would go to seven or so, 7,500, but I think at that point -- again, we're just really guessing at what their real attorney's fees were, so the mediation was declared an impasse.

I discussed this with Janet. I think the recommendation we would have now is to go to trial. We scheduled this shade meeting several weeks ago just to bring the Board up to speed on this issue. Ironically, the Cranfords' attorney called us two days ago and said that they wanted to set a trial date, so that's where it's at.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Heck. I was going to say offer them five and see if they will take that and be done with it, but if they want to go to trial, then we'll go to trial.

MR. WEST: I think the law and the facts favor the County, even though we are dealing with a very -- only a few thousand dollars separate the two parties, but at this point, again, we're really only dealing with a guess as to what their attorney's fees are.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: They probably will go to 15 if it goes to trial.

MR. WEST: Well, I think -- again, I think the law and the facts favor the County. There are always risks with going forward with trial.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: What's the result of a trial? I mean, what do you end up with? They're obviously suing us for what? What are they wanting, specifically wanting?

MR. WEST: Essentially, what they want is what we have agreed to do, with the exception of attorney's fees. They want title to the property, which we said we would be willing to give them. We, of course, wanted some title in return, which they have, at least some minimal interest that would be sufficient for a property exchange. But the real issue is --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You say they have title to it. You're talking about to the red part that they got from this company, they do have it?

MR. WEST: It is a quit claim deed.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That's the area outside of the green. They have the area that's red, because they don't own that green.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: No, that's what I'm saying. They've got this.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: No, they've got this. They don't own this, because the County owns that portion.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Well -- I'm sorry, you're right. They've got what we want. They've got the title now to that, right?

COMMISSIONER WHITE: We've got title to what they want.

MR. WEST: We worked with the County surveyor to construct new legal descriptions so that everybody has the same dimensions as they would have had. Basically, the pink and green parcel were slid over about 250 feet.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Who owns the pink?

MR. WEST: They do.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Maybe I'm wrong, are they not really holding themselves out at risk? I mean, we own the property their house sits on. What is to prevent us from sending a deputy out there and evicting them?

MR. WEST: Well, that's what I wanted to talk about.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I think it's time to play hardball. We've made a legitimate offer. They're not wanting to do it. They've got an attorney who's trying to rack up fees and if Remington wants to play that game with his client, that's fine. We don't have to play in the game; start evictions proceedings.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: When were these buildings built?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: They've been there for years. That house is probably 30 or 40 years old.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: At least.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That gives them no right to the property. I think we really would throw them a curve if you started eviction proceedings and just made it clear, if that's where you're headed, we're not interested, sue us and see where you get. We own the property and we expect you off of it. We have title to the property.

MR. WEST: That's, I think, the recommendation we're making. Like I said, the law and the facts, I think, support the County's position, but there are risks and some issues aside from the law and the facts that I think work in the Cranfords' favor and I want you to be aware of those before we go forward any further.

First, the law and the facts are somewhat complicated, as I'm sure you're probably realizing, and because they are complicated, I think it's more of a risk that a judge or a jury may misinterpret them. That's one risk.

Second, judges and juries tend to be a little more sympathetic to living, breathing people as opposed to impersonal entities like governments and corporations. If the County loses, the loss would be really born by no one person. It will be distributed among --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: What do we lose?

MR. WEST: Well, again, I don't think they will be successful.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: The property?

And even if we did, what's the downside for us, we lose the property we don't have right now by virtue of the fact they're squatting on it now.

MS. LANDER: Actually, they were suing for recision of the contract between the County and Edwards. That was their first --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Then they have to give us the money.

MS. LANDER: But Edwards has not been named in the lawsuit. They haven't done a very good job. They haven't clarified their position. What they want is basically to be held harmless by the County for something that the County is just as much an innocence victim as they were. So what we tried to do, I think, was fair. We're willing to compensate them for doing what we told them to do. We're willing to make them whole on that, because they did have to go and get a trustee appointed. We couldn't, because they had to get title in their name. We don't have a problem with that, but they're really trying to extract a lot more from the County.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: I think they're getting bad legal advice myself. What if we were just to offer them like five grand?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: They're not going to take it.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: You don't think they would?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: No, because at this point they are probably over five thousand in legal fees.

MS. LANDER: Well, what we can do is we can proceed to trial. We can counterclaim for ejectment.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I think that -- if you want to get their attention and their attorney's attention, I think we should start an eviction proceeding and at the same time say -- you know, maybe we can go to them and say, Look, we really don't want to do this, but you're not leaving us any choice. We can settle this thing and settle it for a fair amount.

At this point in the game I would be willing to go 7,500, I think probably because of the time that's ensued and I'm sure -- I mean, every time I talk to my attorney it's $125 on the phone.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: You've got to get yourself a different attorney.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: In my mind I can probably go to 7,500 and not feel real bad about it, because to me it is just absolutely atrocious that Escambia County bought a piece of property like that without getting a survey. I mean, that is just -- in 2002. If this had happened in the '80s, I would say, Grady and those guys -- but in 2002 that's almost unconscionable, and I do feel like we have a significant -- we're supposed to be enlightened buyers here.

MR. TOUART: I feel compelled to speak up here. The department that handled this is not in this room right now and I bet you there's two sides to every story, because my department doesn't do anything without consulting somebody in legal. Now, Margaret Stopp may have been the one, but Margaret Stopp is not here to defend herself.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: The only thing is there is no survey. I would never buy a piece of property without a survey.

MR. TOUART: I will find out was there consultation with --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It doesn't matter. You got bad legal advice. I've bought enough property just in the limited transactions -- I will not buy a piece of dirt without a survey. You just don't do it. That's a given.

MR. TOUART: If you transpose red over green, it's almost identical.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It is identical. That's what he did. He moved it over there.

MR. TOUART: This is a human error situation, but I heard you say earlier, if I'm not mistaken, that the mediation went to $7,000.

MR. WEST: The maximum amount we offered was 3,500 and the mediator said that she thought that they would come down to 7,500, but that was where the impasse was declared.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Well, offer them 7,500. Take that or we go to court or evict them, like you said.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I think we can do both the, take us to court and start the eviction

proceedings.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: If you don't take the 7,500.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Yeah.

MR. WEST: There's two other issues that I just want to make you aware of, one you probably know about and one that you don't before we kind of wrap this up, but they work in the Cranfords' favor even though they're not law or fact.

One, of course, judges and juries are swayed by what's happening in the County with regard to real estate in the last years. There's a tremendous amount of distrust that arises out of scandals like the soccer complex. The perception is or misperception is that the County has a lot of money to throw around when it comes to real estate and that there's something underhanded going on when the County deals in real estate.

More importantly, though, and this is what you don't realize, but understand that what the Cranfords use this property for or one of the uses is that they mentally handicapped relatives that they have living there. That's their residence. So it's going to be very easy for the Cranfords' attorney, before a judge or a jury, to characterize this as the County throwing retarded people out of their land and onto the street. So it's a political issue, not a legal or a factual issue, but it's something that will make the County look very bad in a litigation situation.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: If they are concerned about their mentally handicapped offspring or relatives, they would accept the offer and they won't put them in jeopardy of losing their home. I think that's what it boils down to. Are they trying to extract money -- the real flip side of this whole discussion is the County really doesn't have anything at risk.

MR. WEST: I mean, there's always a chance of an adverse judgment in an attorney's fees action.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That's it.

MR. WEST: Staff has told us that the property really has very little value.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: There's not any value in the property that we were trying to acquire. It's wet. I mean, it's jurisdictional wetlands. I know that area real well. Actually, most of the Cranfords' property that they own is also jurisdictional. That's probably the reason they built the house where they did.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Why don't we do this. Why don't you try to negotiate as best you can to negotiate and then come back to us. In other words, let's don't authorize anything further than that at this point. Let's see what you can do.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: He's in a better negotiating position if he's able to say the County has authorized him to go ahead and start eviction proceedings.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Take the 7,500 or we're going to evict you.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It puts him in a much better negotiating position.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: It gives him leverage.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Right now he's got no leverage. They're just going to say nothing to worry about. Their attorney is going to do that.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I'm not much interested in evicting a bunch of handicapped people.

MR. WEST: That's what they're representing, that there are handicapped relatives.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: There's a difference in starting a proceeding and going through with it. I think you've got to give them a hammer, because otherwise you don't have anything to work with here.

It's a tough sale just to walk in.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What do you think, Steve? Janet, what do you think?

MS. LANDER: Well, because it involves -- I would want to counterclaim. You know, there's a part of me that would love to hammer them because they're being so pigheaded and unreasonable about it. However, it will only buy us grief. It will only make us look like, you know, we don't know what we're doing, we're mean spirited, we're skinflints.

So what I think we need to do is -- right now we're occupying the high ground because we've been very cooperative. We've been giving them everything we can. We gave them a template on how to fix the situation, so, so far we're standing very well in front of the judge and in front of the jury. We haven't done anything mean. We've been nothing but helpful.

So if they want to try it, they can try it. We'll just let the chips fall where they may.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: When they start bringing handicapped people in court, you know, that's going to be a media nightmare.

MS. LANDER: Only if we try to evict them.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I think what we're saying is that at least go back and make them the offer of 7,000 or 7,500, whatever we come up with, but let's say we go back and offer them that and see whether they will take it or not. We can always then -- then the fallback position can always be to take it to court.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: And start eviction.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Decide whether or not we want to be heavy handed on it or not.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Can't we pay the $7,500?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: They may not accept it.

MS. LANDER: They want a lot more.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: They wanted 15.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I would be willing to go, say, 10,000 just to get rid of it. I tell you, sometimes you're buying yourself a lot of grief over $2,000 that you don't need. If we can work out some kind of a settlement, I think, in my opinion, we would better off to settle it.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: How about if you approach it in this respect, if you go to them and you say, what is your final and best offer, recognizing that if you lose this you may lose your home? They need to understand that is a risk that is out there, because I guarantee you Remington hasn't told them that, you know, and it is. I mean, that's -- we don't have to give authorization to start eviction proceedings. If they lose the fight, that would be -- actually, that would be the next step we probably should take.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Would they come in the green space, Mike? Is that what you're saying?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: We're trying to give them the green space. We're trying to swap the green for the red.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: So we would give them the money plus the green?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: In exchange for the deed to this red.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Okay. You don't think they will accept the green plus the 75?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I personally don't think they will. I think that they've got an attorney that's blowing smoke big time and he's telling them how much he's going to do. But I don't have a problem with going to them and making an offer, but I think part and parcel of that discussion should be recognition that if you lose, your home is at risk and that of all of your kids, relatives or whoever it is. I think that statement needs to be made.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: You say, if they lose, what do you mean?

COMMISSIONER WHITE: If they go to court and lose, they're going to get thrown out on their ear with nothing.

MS. LANDER: We don't want to do that, because we don't have anything on the property that we are actually occupying and we don't intend to.

Can this house be moved?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: No, it's on a slab.

MS. LANDER: I think the only thing we can do with this, without a lot of political brouhaha, if they won't settle it -- because you've authorized it for trial, if they won't settle it --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Well, I didn't suggest that we -- I said we're not authorizing the eviction, but I do think they should understand that is the eventuality if they lose. If they have not been told that, they should know.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I don't think we should make any threats.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It's not a threat.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: It's not a threat. It's all true.

MS. LANDER: It doesn't give us any advantage to do that because of the group that we're dealing with.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It sure as hell would me. If I'm sitting out there and I've got my home site and you're trying to settle this thing and I'm going I don't want to do it, I mean, if you tell me that I'm at risk of losing my home, that's going to absolutely change my perspective. And I'm as big a fighter as anybody, I mean, but I would have to think twice.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What it is, though, they're a bunch of handicapped people.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I didn't say throw them out.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I mean, my gosh.

MS. LANDER: The house was damaged in the hurricane and they couldn't pull -- they found out about all this when they went to pull a permit for repairs after Ivan and they can't make the repairs because they don't own the property.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That should be another incentive to get the thing settled so they can get the permit.

MS. LANDER: Right. Their behavior is patently unreasonable and they're shooting themselves in the foot and they're hurting themselves.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: They've got an attorney blowing smoke. He's saying we're going to get money for you. That's the way the system work.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: I'll go along with Tom. What's 10 grand to make it go away? Let's get it over with.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Maybe it's me. I'm going to be a point of light before it's over with.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: You're already a point of light, Mike.

MS. LANDER: They probably won't accept it.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: They won't accept 10?

MS. LANDER: I'm sure they have more than 15 in attorney's fees, now, so...

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: They haven't documented the first dime.

MS. LANDER: No, they haven't. You know, I feel kind of bad about it. If they're unable to document it, it really, I feel -- they can't ask us. They have to prove it to the judge. You know, the judge isn't going to give it to them either unless they can document reasonable fees and they don't have a record.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Tell them that's our final offer or we go to court and be done with it.

MS. LANDER: And if they can document it.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It's got to be documented.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Of course, if it's documented. I don't mean just write them a check for 10 grand and take their word for it. No. That's what I was saying --

MR. TOUART: Make them an offer of ten.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: If they can't document it, we have nowhere to go. We can't write a check.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well...

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Oh, we would look foolish, Tom.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: We're settling the case.

MS. LANDER: They haven't asked you for damages, and usually attorney's fees, in court they still have to prove the attorney's fees.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: If they don't accept it, then they're going to court. They've already told us that. It's a moot point. I mean, Tom said we'll give you 10 as long as you can document it. If they say, no, we're not going to do it. We say, well, either document it or go to court.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: The last offer we actually made was three-something and then it impassed. If the mediator felt like they would come to 75, I would start at 75 and then you can make up it to 10 and let's see what happens, but if the mediator felt that way, there's a good chance that maybe they will take it.

MR. TOUART: You've also got to look at what it's costing in staff time.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Well, that's true. We would be tying up our people with going to court.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Well, like I say, the bottom line is if they don't accept it, they've already told you they're going to court. Let's take a chance.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: We'll take our chance and you take your chance --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: -- can end up trying to use that against us.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Of course, they will.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: With the judge or somebody. It isn't helpful to our litigation.

MS. LANDER: When we go back out the appropriate direction would be that the County

Attorney's Office proceed with the settlement authority that's been conferred upon them by the Board and anything -- if the parties agree to the settlement, it will be brought back to the Board for final approval. So that way we don't have to tip our hand at this stage.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That sounds good. Do we make that motion?

MS. LANDER: Well, outside.

(The proceedings concluded at 4:30 p.m.)

1-2. Call to Order/Purpose of Attorney-Client Session

Chairman Whitehead called the Meeting of the Board of County Commissioners to order at 4:00 p.m., and advised that the Board would conduct an Attorney-Client Session regarding Department of Community Affairs and Perdido Key Association, Inc., v. Escambia County and WCI Communities, Inc. (with Commissioners D. M. "Mike" Whitehead, James W. "Bill" Dickson, Marie Young, Tom Banjanin and Kevin White, County Administrator George Touart, Attorneys representing Escambia County, Janet Lander and Alison Perdue Rogers, and a certified court reporter attending).

Motion made by Commissioner White, seconded by Commissioner Dickson, and carried unanimously, taking the following action concerning the Attorney-Client Session to discuss pending litigation regarding Department of Community Affairs and Perdido Key Association, Inc., vs. Escambia County and WCI Communities, Inc.:

A. Ratifying the scheduling of a private meeting with the Board's attorneys to discuss pending litigation, in accordance with Section 286.011 (8), Florida Statutes, for Thursday, April 20, 2006, at 4:00 p.m.; and

B. Ratifying the public notice, which was published in the Pensacola News Journal along with the weekly notice of Meetings (in a block ad [Legal No. 69173] and in the Board of County Commissioners – Escambia County, Florida, Meeting Schedule April 17-21, 2006 – Legal No. 69172, on Sunday, April 16, 2006).

4:01 P.M. – MEETING RECESSED
4:32 P.M. – MEETING RECONVENED

MINUTES OF THE ATTORNEY-CLIENT SESSION – Continued

3. Scheduling of a Public Hearing

Motion made by Commissioner Dickson, seconded by Commissioner White, and carried unanimously, approving to schedule a Public Hearing (for May 4, 2006, at 5:35 p.m., to consider adopting an Ordinance) to repeal Ordinance Number 2005-60 (which eliminated the cap on Perdido Key dwelling units in favor of reliance on zoning, performance standards and concurrency, and removed the MU-4 dwelling unit cap).

ADJOURNMENT

There being no further business to come before the Board, Chairman Whitehead declared the Attorney-Client Session of the Board of County Commissioners adjourned at 4:33 p.m.

PROCEEDINGS

MS. LANDER: Commissioners, I've requested this shade meeting to get some advice from you and make suggestions to you with regard to the Perdido Key caps case.

In the course of preparing for this case, it became obvious that we had certain deficiencies in our data and analysis that we submitted with the amendment at the time that the amendment was submitted, and although there is evidence that can prove what we need to prove to make our case, we can't do it after the fact, and missing is the hurricane evacuation information, and you can't fix the fact that you didn't submit it when you submitted your amendment for review and that was the basis upon which they turned us down. The door is closed to you to introduce new evidence after the submission is made.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: What you're saying is that we submitted a Comp Plan amendment without hurricane evacuation information for increasing the caps on the barrier islands?

MS. LANDER: Correct.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: And we didn't submit the hurricane evacuation information.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: -- could have waited?

MS. LANDER: That makes it especially -- the other problem is that the Department of Community Affairs has taken a very hard line stand throughout the state of increasing density in the Coastal High Hazard Areas without any offset mitigation.

In preparing for this DOAH, this administrative hearing, I was working with Mike Broussard and Mike was crunching the number, because one of the challenges is to show that we're not concentrating population in the Coastal High Hazard Area, so Mike was crunching the numbers for me. We do that by showing the relative proportion between the folks who live in Coastal -- the number of dwelling units in the Coastal High Hazard Area and the number of dwelling units in the balance of the county remains fairly constant during the time period. I can prove that with numbers. There is one jump. The jump goes from 1990 -- well, it would be from 2004 to 2005, because that's when we had proposed last year to increase those caps on Perdido Key by 2000.

As we looked at it, we saw that we have four discrete Future Land Use categories that encompass the Coastal High Hazard Area, MU-3, MU-4, MU-5 and a little bit of Agricultural in the Coastal High Hazard Area. So the total number of dwelling units that can ever be built under the present regulatory scheme within those four areas was slightly over 22,000 dwelling units.

Now, Mike Broussard is of the opinion that we will never be able to develop, use up 8,000 dwelling units in MU-3. He thinks that there's too much wetland there, there's too much public land property. There are some dry uplands and they are going to be developed and there has been some push to develop the dry uplands and that's not a problem, but we're theorizing at this point that we can probably take some of those dwelling units that are in the MU-3 Coastal Mainland High Hazard Area right now and shove them over to Perdido Key without increasing the overall density in the Coastal High Hazard Area. That kind of setoff will buy us some goodwill with the Department of Community Affairs because we are not increasing density, we're just redistributing density. So that's one thing.

The other thing is we have to shore up the data we present, which includes the hurricane evacuation. That hasn't been presented. We have to present the model with them. And we have to show -- they're taking an attitude of maintain or reduce, which is another reason why it's very important for us not to increase the overall number of dwelling units in the Coastal High Hazard Area. If we maintain the number but reallocate the density, we have much better chance of demonstrating that we're maintaining or reducing our evacuation roadway clearance time. That's very important. That's what they look at.

The danger in going forward with the case as it stands right now is that you've heard me bounce around the term from time to time about administrative res judicata. If we go to DOAH and the DOAH finds in favor of the Department and against the County, that is administrative res judicata as to Escambia County and we cannot propose the amendment to the caps again unless we can demonstrate a significant change in circumstances, and I don't see a significant change of circumstances arising in and of itself and if any of you do, please, tell me, let me know.

The other disadvantage --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: With the exception of potentially the road, changes to the road that we are working on in expanding it.

MS. LANDER: Right. And that's something else that was a deficiency. We kind of put the cart before the horse on increasing the density on the barrier island. We had promised the Department way back when -- and Commissioner Whitehead remembers that this was part of the discussion we had at the round table in Tallahassee, that we would widen Perdido Key Drive. The belief at that time was that we would not be able to get beyond 4,000 dwelling units without making significant improvements to Perdido Key Drive, but as you do more and more sophisticated travel model studies, you can peak out more and more trips and we are able to develop up to almost 6,000 units without significant road widening efforts. But we've got the trip money now. We've got the TIF ready to be considered by this Board. The trip money will take care of the PB&E study and the balance will be taken care of, the lion's share of that balance will be taken care of by the TIF and a little bit from the local option sales tax and a little bit from grant money. The TIF is not going to impact the County negatively as far as general funds because we're going to program in anywhere between three and 25 percent a year for growth that we would keep in the general fund, and what's over that goes to debt service until the debt service amount is recouped and then anything we recover above that in ad valorem taxes, again, goes back into the general fund, so it's not your typical TIF. It's very, very carefully structured.

As soon as we get the revenue bonds sold, we satisfy concurrency. We can build out to the Key. We can do those 1,000 lodging units. We can do all the way up 7,150 dwelling units because the road capacity will be there. And demand to develop isn't that bad pressing right now. We have some time to regroup and do this right. There's a bill pending and I'll talk to you about that a little bit later.

I think what we're coming up with, the plan is -- here is what I would recommend. That we appeal the ordinance that is pending before DOAH right now, we repeal the ordinance that has been found to be not in compliance because that was the recommended activity of the Department. But we don't give up there. This is our chance to shore up those weaknesses. We have a defensable strategy. It is creative. It will require some work internally through channels to the Department of Community Affairs because they hate surprises and so we will work that.

And here's what we're going to do. As far as the densities and the Coastal High Hazard Area, instead of having MU-3 8,800 dwelling units, MU-4, 7,150, MU-5, 4,128, and 42 in the AG Coastal High Hazard Area, we will say CHHA and then parenthetically we'll reference the four categories that compose the Coastal High Hazard Area, and then we'll put 20,250 or whatever that exact number is.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: 20,205.

MS. LANDER: Thank you, 20,205. We will put that as the cap for development in the Coastal High Hazard Area, but we will not put that cap in those Future Land Use categories. What we will have to do is we will have to impose density restrictions indirectly in the text by multiplying out the areawide density so that it can't go crazy.

And there is a bill pending. I've got a map that shows you what the effect of that bill is going to be. But there's a lot happening. Meanwhile, if we repeal this ordinance, the DOAH goes away, and we start to work immediately on a new packet, and we will use Mike Broussard for population concentration, Don Lewis for hurricane evacuation model, Vicki Garrett for concurrency. We do have a shelter deficiency that we need to address. We can mitigate shelter deficiency by imposing impact fees, mitigation fees on development as it is approved and that will count under the proposed legislation, which is really a green light for local government and I'll go over that with you in detail. That doesn't require a shade meeting.

But the bill that all the local governments are so fond of right now, House Bill 1359, has gotten out of all the committees except one. It has one stop to go and then it goes to the floor for a vote, so it may become law by July 1st. What that bill will do is it will change the definition of the Coastal High Hazard Area. It will affect how densities are permitted in Coastal High Hazard Areas and it will allow local governments to increase density in the Coastal High Hazard Area if they meet certain requirements that are set forth in that bill.

Let me talk about the downside. The downside is that there is a perception that this may cost some time if we withdraw the ordinance now, and it may be said out there that we're throwing a monkey wrench in the progress machinery, but this is the pipeline. This is the amended pipeline that I prepared for our meeting today. As you can see, the best case scenario -- and this is with the hearing date absolutely set for the 5th of June, even knowing now, which we didn't know at the beginning when the hearing was going to be held, we couldn't be finished with the final order. And this is an estimate, the end of October. It could just as easily be the end of November, but we're estimating the end of October. Assuming that we lose at that stage, there we would be in November with nothing started and no ordinance, because at that point we either repeal that ordinance or we face sanctions from the administration commission. At that point we can't just start over, because administrative res judicata will preclude us from bringing up the same facts without a significant -- we can allege the road is a change in circumstances and allege the statute is a change in circumstance, but we're already on the defensive, if we take that route.

So I have consulted at great length with the Intervenor's counsel, the Intervenor WCI. They are totally on board with this. They have talked it over among their partners and they support this plan. It is creative. It is unusual. To our knowledge, no one has ever presented a solution to development in the Coastal High Hazard Areas like this, but then, again, nobody else has caps in the Coastal High Hazard Areas.

Doug Rillstone is well-acquainted with the general counsel of the Department of Community Affairs, as well as Val Hubbard who is their director of planning and the secretary of the Department of Community Affairs, and he is going to float the balloon. He's going to break it to them gently. He's going to get a temperature reading on how well this is going to be received so that we don't catch them by surprise.

But this pending legislation may actually work very much in our favor because -- I've got maps for all of you to look at and I've brought a big one so that you can see what -- it's a little bit hard to read, the part down there, and I don't want there to be any confusion.

So if this pending legislation goes through, the Coastal High Hazard Area that is presently designated on the map as a yellow, in yellow, that's the present Coastal High Hazard Area. If you look closely at what looks like the green cross-hatched areas, that is actually blue, but yellow and blue is green, so that's the overlay. And you can see the definition is going to change from the Hurricane One Mandatory Evacuation Zone -- that's the current definition in the Coastal High Hazard Area -- to Category One Hurricane Wind Surge Area. And what's really interesting, if you look at the upper right side, if you look at Commissioner Banjanin's district -- part of this may also be in your district because it goes all the way up to Quintette Road -- you're actually going to have some Coastal High Hazard Areas in your district, too, under the new definition.

I would imagine that the -- so this is the challenge. Do I go and say in the proposed amendment we'll stay at 20/30 or in the proposed amendment do I have to say, well, we're going to have to factor in, subtract out the existing densities in the newly added Coastal High Hazard Areas, so I think we're going to have to probably do a little bit of dancing with that.

We're also going to have to amend our Comprehensive Plan under the proposed legislation by July 2008 to recognize the new definition of the Coastal High Hazard Area. We're going to have to make sure that -- one way that we can allow for increased density in the Coastal High Hazard Area is to make it possible for folks to get to shelters within 12 hours or less or charge development for mitigation for the cost of building shelters. There are many ways that we're going to be able to comply with this. So it comes at a very opportune time for coastal hazard. That's why it looks like it's going to skate right through. It's made many a slip, of course, as they say, so I don't know if this is will be vetoed by the Governor. You know how strongly the Governor feels right now about development in Coastal High Hazard Areas. He's the one that has that committee to study it throughout the state. Anything is possible in politics, but this is getting closer and closer to being a reality. It would be more difficult to deal with, but it certainly presents an interesting challenge.

All right. So to recap, I propose that we schedule a public hearing to consider the repeal of Ordinance 2005-60 and then that's all we have to do in the public at this point. If anyone asks any of you why you're doing it, if it generates a lot of interest, then the reason that we are doing this is -- well, there are multiple reasons.

Number one, we think that we can rewrite it in a more defensible way, in a more planner friendly way. We are perhaps anticipating some changes in the definition of the Coastal High Hazard Areas and I think it will just give us a more defensible strategy to allow some development in the Coastal High Hazard Areas without running afoul of the State.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: You don't want to say that.

MS. LANDER: What do you want me to say? I mean, I don't know.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: You're just asking for criticism if you say that we're looking to increase density in the Coastal High Hazard Areas. The approach to this is to say we have changed our tactics and that we are not requesting an increase in the Coastal High Hazard Areas. That's exactly what we're doing. We're permitted for 20,205 and we don't want to change the number. We're going back to the DCA saying we agree with that number. That number makes sense. We want to be able to allocate it as we see fit at the local level. Because legislation with regard to Coastal High Hazard does not say barrier island versus mainland. We have Coastal High Hazard Areas on both.

So what we're saying, the caps as they're applied to the specific land use districts are inappropriate. They're taking local control away. We agree we are limiting development in the Coastal High Hazard Areas to the number that DCA established. DCA is going to be hard pressed to turn us down because we're not asking for an increase and that should eliminate a lot of questions from people who are antidevelopment. Again, our tact is we are not going to increase the number. It is a very salable plan in that fashion.

You know, I wouldn't even discuss this. It's pending legislation. It may happen. It may not happen. If this happens, it may give us another 3,000, 4,000 units. I sat down with Broussard yesterday and went over it in detail. That's a real big if right now because you do lose some property up in Districts Four and Five. I think our tact should be we're reconsidering it. What we had was not defensible, in our opinion. We're going back, we're going to acquiesce to DCA. We're not asking for an increase, but we are asking for local control about how we spread it. That to me is something we can all get behind because we do believe in local control and we're not looking to increase the Coastal High Hazard population. We meet the letter and the spirit of the law doing it that way. But I wouldn't go any further than that.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I agree with that and I also agree that there are some areas out here that we know are not going to develop and so by allowing us to kind of reposition those only makes sense. I mean, we can see that there's going to be some areas that are not ever going to be probably developed or certainly at a minimum density. So I think --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: MU-3 has over 8,000 permitted dwellings, 8,800 or something. It's not some huge amount. There's only 2,500 existing, I think, today, and a good bit of that includes Tarkiln Bayou. The pitcher plant areas are right on the water, it includes the state park down there by Gulf Beach Highway. A lot of these properties will never permit -- Bronson Field, all that is incorporated in there.

When they change these rules --

MS. LANDER: ECUA.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: -- ECUA owns a ton of property 600, 700 acres that all falls in that area, and when you start carving that out, if the legislation is approved, then we potentially do pick up a significant number there. So the net impact of this is an additional 6,000 buildable units, if the legislation changes and they approve this change in the plan.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: But not necessarily?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It's not over the cap. What it means is simply we'll be able to access them. We'll be able to direct where they go. We're not looking to increase the number of units in the Coastal High Hazard. That's the beauty of this plan. We're going to stay with what DCA gave us in the settlement.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: The 20,000?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: The 20,000. We're not asking to increase it.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: They can be allocated?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: We're saying they should be allocated in the Coastal, yes.

MS. LANDER: The way you feel, they should be allocated.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: And, also, Janet briefed me and I think -- I guess she briefed all of you. I asked her, what do you feel is our percentage if we move forward, and it wasn't all that good. I would rather not take that chance, because if we lose, then we're really behind the eight ball.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: We're done for.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I think this is a good approach.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Well, this is actually even a better approach than what we're asking for. In terms of long impact on Escambia County, we could be 40 years before we ever go look for another increase in cap. It's not inconceivable. There's that much development potential that we can shift and we can redirect. It really is a win/win. And, again, the people I've talked to so far say that the DCA is going to be hard pressed to say no, because the legislation does not talk about barrier islands, it talks about Coastal High Hazard. We're saying you're right, your number is a good number.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: We'll live with it, but let us kind of distribute as we see fit.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: This is really shrinking the land area that is affected.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: If they used the storm surge model, it would significantly decrease in some areas, but obviously in the north end it picks up quite a bit. Most of that actually is the Escambia County River swamp. The only area it picks up is right there --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Along the bluffs.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: -- just above the Interstate and then it runs up. There is very little development potential there anyway. The bluffs are preserved.

MR. TOUART: Janet, when was the hearing scheduled?

MS. LANDER: June 5th.

MR. TOUART: I'm not going to divulge the way I know this, but there is concern among DCA, as well, that they don't want to be embarrassed with this hearing and lawsuit. They have sent word to me and I have shared this with you and some of the Board members, they would like a way out of this thing, too. They don't want to have to go through a lawsuit.

MS. LANDER: This will do it.

MR. TOUART: Before you bring this to the Board to repeal this, we've got a little -- we've got, say, 30 days, two weeks anyway.

MS. LANDER: Actually, we really don't. We would have to move on with discovery.

MR. TOUART: Here's what I'm suggesting. Even if it's tomorrow. Before you go out there and try to talk to the news people about trying to understand what's going on here, you might want to give a phone call to your counterpart at DCA and you can tell them whatever you want to tell them -- you've got (inaudible) anyway. But say, hey, guys, we don't want to sue y'all. Y'all don't want to sue us. We would like to negotiate our way out of this. Here's our idea.

MS. LANDER: Not like that. Here's how we're going to do it, George.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I was going to say, now wait a minute. She and I already talked.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Resubmit the Comp Plan.

MS. LANDER: We have to get the Intervenors out of the case and the only way to get -- otherwise, I'm going to be negotiating with the Perdido Key Association and that will go on for a year.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You don't want that.

MS. LANDER: Plus, we have to break it to them gently in Tallahassee. We're going to have Doug Rillstone talk to the folks in Tallahassee and tell them this is what we're thinking we're going to do and work through his --

MR. TOUART: WCI attorneys. You're doing the same thing Jesse is doing through WCI third party attorneys. They want out, too. They don't want the embarrassment of a lawsuit.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So when we go outside,

you want a motion to schedule a public hearing?

MS. LANDER: Authorize me to schedule a public hearing to consider the repeal of Ordinance 2005-60.

MS. ROGERS: Did you want to touch a little bit on the actual drafting part?

MS. LANDER: All right. This is an excellent opportunity for us to get some really good changes made to our Comprehensive Plan, there is a lot wrong with the Comprehensive Plan so there are two ways we can do this. We can rush it through and kind of do the best we can and use the "hurry up now and pay later approach" or we can do it in a thoughtful, considerate manner and, if necessary, George, have the folks in Planning farm it out as far as writing the text, the amendment text, and changing the other portions of the Comprehensive Plan that need to be addressed at the same time because we've got Article 7 and Article 11 to deal with, plus we have to amend the capital improvement plan. I will continue with my people to provide the data and analysis that will support the text amendment, but this is a chance for us to do it right. Now, if we hurry, hurry, hurry, we're already late as far as getting it to the Planning Board in time for consideration for the second amendment submission of the year. They told me, Staff has told me already, that we're already too late for that, but if the Board directed me to do so, to move forward with all possible speed, we could have the Planning Board have extra meetings.

Alison spoke today with Peter and Karen and explained the situation to them and that we were going to ask the Board to appeal this ordinance and move on with the rewrite, and although I do have faith in both Karen and Peter as far as their ability to draft a nice amendment, they are, of course, strapped for time and they do not have a lot of personnel. So the logistics of how we're going to do this -- I mean, I'm on board to work with whomever it is, to do the population concentration studies, the concurrency studies, the hurricane evacuation and the shelter study. We're going to do all that. And the roads, CIP, TIF, all of that is going to be in the data and analysis, but we need somebody to sit down and say, all right, now, this is how we phrase all this good idea in a Comprehensive Plan text amendment.

We can certainly think about it. All we have to do for now is repeal the amendment that is pending before DOAH and that takes everything off the table.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I can tell you, I would like to see it farmed out. I don't share the confidence that you have and I don't mean that to insult, but I'm still somewhat baffled by the omission that occurred. I know it was a rush job, but there are points that you're supposed to cover and if you've been involved -- and these people have in the state of Florida. It's not like they're new to the state of Florida and the Comprehensive Plan process. We should have had a more defensable product and I'm a little concerned and I think this is too important an issue not to get it right the first time.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: And I share this.

MR. TOUART: I've just got to say this. When staff wrote this, everything we write legal signed off. Who in your staff reviewed this?

MS. LANDER: We never reviewed this in our office, George. It was never sent to my office. I would not have known that they had not put in the hurricane evacuation.

MR. TOUART: They got direction from the Board.

MS. LANDER: I helped them with the text. I did help them with the text.

MR. TOUART: I know it's easy to blame.

MS. LANDER: I'm not trying to blame them, George. You know I'm not.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: But still we did have a problem and I share Mike's concern that, you know, if we had done this right in the first place we wouldn't be where we are right now and I don't know whether staff has the expertise to do this or not. I am concerned why they didn't think about it. That's a major issue. That's one of the major things we have been talking about is hurricane evacuation. So I think that if we're going to get a one shot bite at the apple here, I think we ought to do it right and make sure we do it correctly.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: The direction from the Board when we went forward with this thing was to use the Solan report for the basis for the Comprehensive Plan amendment, but that, I don't think -- and I would say this if Peter and Karen were sitting here, that does not absolve staff in the preparation of the text and the data and analysis from making sure what goes in is a complete submission. So, again, in the state of Florida hurricane evacuation on a barrier island, how you do not address that is a huge blaring oversight. And if -- I guess this is what really gets me. If we didn't have the technical expertise or the staff or the physical time to do it, someone should have come and said, hey, we need help in the form of outside assistance, because this Board has been there when it comes to providing that type of expertise. That's my frustration. We don't have to belabor that point.

The bottom line is where we're headed potentially is much, much better than where we would have been had they done the thing right. Maybe their screw-up in this case has benefited us and I think it probably has. I mean, it's not like -- I'm not upset about it, because I really do think we win and we're in a much more defensible position and we really put the DCA on the defense if they try to oppose us on this one. I don't think they can.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I'll make the motion when we get out there and somebody second it.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: I'll second it.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Let's just take our time and do everything right. It sounds like an awful lot of data and stuff to develop. We better just -- you know, no rush.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: We're looking at a December amendment, not June.

MS. LANDER: Right, we'll be submitting it in early January.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Early January, end of the year.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: So let's do it right, no rushing on it. No blame.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I'm not blaming anybody. We got lucky.

MS. LANDER: Staff really has nothing to do with the case.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What about the rest of this?

MS. LANDER: The pipeline, y'all keep it.

MS. ROGERS: I'll pick it up, if you don't want it.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I would like to have this map.

(The Attorney/Client session concluded at 4:35 p.m. and the Board reconvened in the Sunshine.)

Mrs. Doris Harris, Deputy Clerk to the Board

1-2. Call to Order/Purpose of Attorney-Client Session

Chairman Whitehead called the Meeting of the Board of County Commissioners to order at 4:00 p.m., and advised that the Board would conduct an Attorney-Client Session regarding Department of Community Affairs and Perdido Key Association, Inc., v. Escambia County and WCI Communities, Inc. (with Commissioners D. M. "Mike" Whitehead, James W. "Bill" Dickson, Marie Young, Tom Banjanin and Kevin White, County Administrator George Touart, Attorneys representing Escambia County, Janet Lander and Alison Perdue Rogers, and a certified court reporter attending).

Motion made by Commissioner White, seconded by Commissioner Dickson, and carried unanimously, taking the following action concerning the Attorney-Client Session to discuss pending litigation regarding Department of Community Affairs and Perdido Key Association, Inc., vs. Escambia County and WCI Communities, Inc.:

A. Ratifying the scheduling of a private meeting with the Board's attorneys to discuss pending litigation, in accordance with Section 286.011 (8), Florida Statutes, for Thursday, April 20, 2006, at 4:00 p.m.; and

B. Ratifying the public notice, which was published in the Pensacola News Journal along with the weekly notice of Meetings (in a block ad [Legal No. 69173] and in the Board of County Commissioners – Escambia County, Florida, Meeting Schedule April 17-21, 2006 – Legal No. 69172, on Sunday, April 16, 2006).

4:01 P.M. – MEETING RECESSED
4:32 P.M. – MEETING RECONVENED

MINUTES OF THE ATTORNEY-CLIENT SESSION – Continued

3. Scheduling of a Public Hearing

Motion made by Commissioner Dickson, seconded by Commissioner White, and carried unanimously, approving to schedule a Public Hearing (for May 4, 2006, at 5:35 p.m., to consider adopting an Ordinance) to repeal Ordinance Number 2005-60 (which eliminated the cap on Perdido Key dwelling units in favor of reliance on zoning, performance standards and concurrency, and removed the MU-4 dwelling unit cap).

ADJOURNMENT

There being no further business to come before the Board, Chairman Whitehead declared the Attorney-Client Session of the Board of County Commissioners adjourned at 4:33 p.m.

P R O C E E D I N G S

MS. LANDER: Commissioners, I've requested this shade meeting to get some advice from you and make suggestions to you with regard to the Perdido Key caps case.

In the course of preparing for this case, it became obvious that we had certain deficiencies in our data and analysis that we submitted with the amendment at the time that the amendment was submitted, and although there is evidence that can prove what we need to prove to make our case, we can't do it after the fact, and missing is the hurricane evacuation information, and you can't fix the fact that you didn't submit it when you submitted your amendment for review and that was the basis upon which they turned us down. The door is closed to you to introduce new evidence after the submission is made.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: What you're saying is that we submitted a Comp Plan amendment without hurricane evacuation information for increasing the caps on the barrier islands?

MS. LANDER: Correct.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: And we didn't submit the hurricane evacuation information.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: -- could have waited?

MS. LANDER: That makes it especially -- the other problem is that the Department of Community Affairs has taken a very hard line stand throughout the state of increasing density in the Coastal High Hazard Areas without any offset mitigation.

In preparing for this DOAH, this administrative hearing, I was working with Mike Broussard and Mike was crunching the number, because one of the challenges is to show that we're not concentrating population in the Coastal High Hazard Area, so Mike was crunching the numbers for me. We do that by showing the relative proportion between the folks who live in Coastal -- the number of dwelling units in the Coastal High Hazard Area and the number of dwelling units in the balance of the county remains fairly constant during the time period. I can prove that with numbers. There is one jump. The jump goes from 1990 -- well, it would be from 2004 to 2005, because that's when we had proposed last year to increase those caps on Perdido Key by 2000.

As we looked at it, we saw that we have four discrete Future Land Use categories that encompass the Coastal High Hazard Area, MU-3, MU-4, MU-5 and a little bit of Agricultural in the Coastal High Hazard Area. So the total number of dwelling units that can ever be built under the present regulatory scheme within those four areas was slightly over 22,000 dwelling units.

Now, Mike Broussard is of the opinion that we will never be able to develop, use up 8,000 dwelling units in MU-3. He thinks that there's too much wetland there, there's too much public land property. There are some dry uplands and they are going to be developed and there has been some push to develop the dry uplands and that's not a problem, but we're theorizing at this point that we can probably take some of those dwelling units that are in the MU-3 Coastal Mainland High Hazard Area right now and shove them over to Perdido Key without increasing the overall density in the Coastal High Hazard Area. That kind of setoff will buy us some goodwill with the Department of Community Affairs because we are not increasing density, we're just redistributing density. So that's one thing.

The other thing is we have to shore up the data we present, which includes the hurricane evacuation. That hasn't been presented. We have to present the model with them. And we have to show -- they're taking an attitude of maintain or reduce, which is another reason why it's very important for us not to increase the overall number of dwelling units in the Coastal High Hazard Area. If we maintain the number but reallocate the density, we have much better chance of demonstrating that we're maintaining or reducing our evacuation roadway clearance time. That's very important. That's what they look at.

The danger in going forward with the case as it stands right now is that you've heard me bounce around the term from time to time about administrative res judicata. If we go to DOAH and the DOAH finds in favor of the Department and against the County, that is administrative res judicata as to Escambia County and we cannot propose the amendment to the caps again unless we can demonstrate a significant change in circumstances, and I don't see a significant change of circumstances arising in and of itself and if any of you do, please, tell me, let me know.

The other disadvantage --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: With the exception of potentially the road, changes to the road that we are working on in expanding it.

MS. LANDER: Right. And that's something else that was a deficiency. We kind of put the cart before the horse on increasing the density on the barrier island. We had promised the Department way back when -- and Commissioner Whitehead remembers that this was part of the discussion we had at the round table in Tallahassee, that we would widen Perdido Key Drive. The belief at that time was that we would not be able to get beyond 4,000 dwelling units without making significant improvements to Perdido Key Drive, but as you do more and more sophisticated travel model studies, you can peak out more and more trips and we are able to develop up to almost 6,000 units without significant road widening efforts. But we've got the trip money now. We've got the TIF ready to be considered by this Board. The trip money will take care of the PB&E study and the balance will be taken care of, the lion's share of that balance will be taken care of by the TIF and a little bit from the local option sales tax and a little bit from grant money. The TIF is not going to impact the County negatively as far as general funds because we're going to program in anywhere between three and 25 percent a year for growth that we would keep in the general fund, and what's over that goes to debt service until the debt service amount is recouped and then anything we recover above that in ad valorem taxes, again, goes back into the general fund, so it's not your typical TIF. It's very, very carefully structured.

As soon as we get the revenue bonds sold, we satisfy concurrency. We can build out to the Key. We can do those 1,000 lodging units. We can do all the way up 7,150 dwelling units because the road capacity will be there. And demand to develop isn't that bad pressing right now. We have some time to regroup and do this right. There's a bill pending and I'll talk to you about that a little bit later.

I think what we're coming up with, the plan is -- here is what I would recommend. That we appeal the ordinance that is pending before DOAH right now, we repeal the ordinance that has been found to be not in compliance because that was the recommended activity of the Department. But we don't give up there. This is our chance to shore up those weaknesses. We have a defensable strategy. It is creative. It will require some work internally through channels to the Department of Community Affairs because they hate surprises and so we will work that.

And here's what we're going to do. As far as the densities and the Coastal High Hazard Area, instead of having MU-3 8,800 dwelling units, MU-4, 7,150, MU-5, 4,128, and 42 in the AG Coastal High Hazard Area, we will say CHHA and then parenthetically we'll reference the four categories that compose the Coastal High Hazard Area, and then we'll put 20,250 or whatever that exact number is.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: 20,205.

MS. LANDER: Thank you, 20,205. We will put that as the cap for development in the Coastal High Hazard Area, but we will not put that cap in those Future Land Use categories. What we will have to do is we will have to impose density restrictions indirectly in the text by multiplying out the areawide density so that it can't go crazy.

And there is a bill pending. I've got a map that shows you what the effect of that bill is going to be. But there's a lot happening. Meanwhile, if we repeal this ordinance, the DOAH goes away, and we start to work immediately on a new packet, and we will use Mike Broussard for population concentration, Don Lewis for hurricane evacuation model, Vicki Garrett for concurrency. We do have a shelter deficiency that we need to address. We can mitigate shelter deficiency by imposing impact fees, mitigation fees on development as it is approved and that will count under the proposed legislation, which is really a green light for local government and I'll go over that with you in detail. That doesn't require a shade meeting.

But the bill that all the local governments are so fond of right now, House Bill 1359, has gotten out of all the committees except one. It has one stop to go and then it goes to the floor for a vote, so it may become law by July 1st. What that bill will do is it will change the definition of the Coastal High Hazard Area. It will affect how densities are permitted in Coastal High Hazard Areas and it will allow local governments to increase density in the Coastal High Hazard Area if they meet certain requirements that are set forth in that bill.

Let me talk about the downside. The downside is that there is a perception that this may cost some time if we withdraw the ordinance now, and it may be said out there that we're throwing a monkey wrench in the progress machinery, but this is the pipeline. This is the amended pipeline that I prepared for our meeting today. As you can see, the best case scenario -- and this is with the hearing date absolutely set for the 5th of June, even knowing now, which we didn't know at the beginning when the hearing was going to be held, we couldn't be finished with the final order. And this is an estimate, the end of October. It could just as easily be the end of November, but we're estimating the end of October. Assuming that we lose at that stage, there we would be in November with nothing started and no ordinance, because at that point we either repeal that ordinance or we face sanctions from the administration commission. At that point we can't just start over, because administrative res judicata will preclude us from bringing up the same facts without a significant -- we can allege the road is a change in circumstances and allege the statute is a change in circumstance, but we're already on the defensive, if we take that route.

So I have consulted at great length with the Intervenor's counsel, the Intervenor WCI. They are totally on board with this. They have talked it over among their partners and they support this plan. It is creative. It is unusual. To our knowledge, no one has ever presented a solution to development in the Coastal High Hazard Areas like this, but then, again, nobody else has caps in the Coastal High Hazard Areas.

Doug Rillstone is well-acquainted with the general counsel of the Department of Community Affairs, as well as Val Hubbard who is their director of planning and the secretary of the Department of Community Affairs, and he is going to float the balloon. He's going to break it to them gently. He's going to get a temperature reading on how well this is going to be received so that we don't catch them by surprise.

But this pending legislation may actually work very much in our favor because -- I've got maps for all of you to look at and I've brought a big one so that you can see what -- it's a little bit hard to read, the part down there, and I don't want there to be any confusion.

So if this pending legislation goes through, the Coastal High Hazard Area that is presently designated on the map as a yellow, in yellow, that's the present Coastal High Hazard Area. If you look closely at what looks like the green cross-hatched areas, that is actually blue, but yellow and blue is green, so that's the overlay. And you can see the definition is going to change from the Hurricane One Mandatory Evacuation Zone -- that's the current definition in the Coastal High Hazard Area -- to Category One Hurricane Wind Surge Area. And what's really interesting, if you look at the upper right side, if you look at Commissioner Banjanin's district -- part of this may also be in your district because it goes all the way up to Quintette Road -- you're actually going to have some Coastal High Hazard Areas in your district, too, under the new definition.

I would imagine that the -- so this is the challenge. Do I go and say in the proposed amendment we'll stay at 20/30 or in the proposed amendment do I have to say, well, we're going to have to factor in, subtract out the existing densities in the newly added Coastal High Hazard Areas, so I think we're going to have to probably do a little bit of dancing with that.

We're also going to have to amend our Comprehensive Plan under the proposed legislation by July 2008 to recognize the new definition of the Coastal High Hazard Area. We're going to have to make sure that -- one way that we can allow for increased density in the Coastal High Hazard Area is to make it possible for folks to get to shelters within 12 hours or less or charge development for mitigation for the cost of building shelters. There are many ways that we're going to be able to comply with this. So it comes at a very opportune time for coastal hazard. That's why it looks like it's going to skate right through. It's made many a slip, of course, as they say, so I don't know if this is will be vetoed by the Governor. You know how strongly the Governor feels right now about development in Coastal High Hazard Areas. He's the one that has that committee to study it throughout the state. Anything is possible in politics, but this is getting closer and closer to being a reality. It would be more difficult to deal with, but it certainly presents an interesting challenge.

All right. So to recap, I propose that we schedule a public hearing to consider the repeal of Ordinance 2005-60 and then that's all we have to do in the public at this point. If anyone asks any of you why you're doing it, if it generates a lot of interest, then the reason that we are doing this is -- well, there are multiple reasons.

Number one, we think that we can rewrite it in a more defensible way, in a more planner friendly way. We are perhaps anticipating some changes in the definition of the Coastal High Hazard Areas and I think it will just give us a more defensible strategy to allow some development in the Coastal High Hazard Areas without running afoul of the State.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: You don't want to say that.

MS. LANDER: What do you want me to say? I mean, I don't know.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: You're just asking for criticism if you say that we're looking to increase density in the Coastal High Hazard Areas. The approach to this is to say we have changed our tactics and that we are not requesting an increase in the Coastal High Hazard Areas. That's exactly what we're doing. We're permitted for 20,205 and we don't want to change the number. We're going back to the DCA saying we agree with that number. That number makes sense. We want to be able to allocate it as we see fit at the local level. Because legislation with regard to Coastal High Hazard does not say barrier island versus mainland. We have Coastal High Hazard Areas on both.

So what we're saying, the caps as they're applied to the specific land use districts are inappropriate. They're taking local control away. We agree we are limiting development in the Coastal

High Hazard Areas to the number that DCA established. DCA is going to be hard pressed to turn us down because we're not asking for an increase and that should eliminate a lot of questions from people who are antidevelopment. Again, our tact is we are not going to increase the number. It is a very salable plan in that fashion.

You know, I wouldn't even discuss this. It's pending legislation. It may happen. It may not happen. If this happens, it may give us another 3,000, 4,000 units. I sat down with Broussard yesterday and went over it in detail. That's a real big if right now because you do lose some property up in Districts Four and Five. I think our tact should be we're reconsidering it. What we had was not defensible, in our opinion. We're going back, we're going to acquiesce to DCA. We're not asking for an increase, but we are asking for local control about how we spread it. That to me is something we can all get behind because we do believe in local control and we're not looking to increase the Coastal High Hazard population. We meet the letter and the spirit of the law doing it that way. But I wouldn't go any further than that.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I agree with that and I also agree that there are some areas out here that we know are not going to develop and so by allowing us to kind of reposition those only makes sense. I mean, we can see that there's going to be some areas that are not ever going to be probably developed or certainly at a minimum density. So I think --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: MU-3 has over 8,000 permitted dwellings, 8,800 or something. It's not some huge amount. There's only 2,500 existing, I think, today, and a good bit of that includes Tarkiln Bayou. The pitcher plant areas are right on the water, it includes the state park down there by Gulf Beach Highway. A lot of these properties will never permit -- Bronson Field, all that is incorporated in there.

When they change these rules --

MS. LANDER: ECUA.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: -- ECUA owns a ton of property 600, 700 acres that all falls in that area, and when you start carving that out, if the legislation is approved, then we potentially do pick up a significant number there. So the net impact of this is an additional 6,000 buildable units, if the legislation changes and they approve this change in the plan.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: But not necessarily?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It's not over the cap. What it means is simply we'll be able to access them. We'll be able to direct where they go. We're not looking to increase the number of units in the Coastal High Hazard. That's the beauty of this plan. We're going to stay with what DCA gave us in the settlement.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: The 20,000?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: The 20,000. We're not asking to increase it.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: They can be allocated?

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: We're saying they should be allocated in the Coastal, yes.

MS. LANDER: The way you feel, they should be allocated.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: And, also, Janet briefed me and I think -- I guess she briefed all of you. I asked her, what do you feel is our percentage if we move forward, and it wasn't all that good. I would rather not take that chance, because if we lose, then we're really behind the eight ball.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: We're done for.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I think this is a good approach.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Well, this is actually even a better approach than what we're asking for. In terms of long impact on Escambia County, we could be 40 years before we ever go look for another increase in cap. It's not inconceivable. There's that much development potential that we can shift and we can redirect. It really is a win/win. And, again, the people I've talked to so far say that the DCA is going to be hard pressed to say no, because the legislation does not talk about barrier islands, it talks about Coastal High Hazard. We're saying you're right, your number is a good number.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: We'll live with it, but let us kind of distribute as we see fit.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: This is really shrinking the land area that is affected.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: If they used the storm surge model, it would significantly decrease in some areas, but obviously in the north end it picks up quite a bit. Most of that actually is the Escambia County River swamp. The only area it picks up is right there --

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Along the bluffs.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: -- just above the Interstate and then it runs up. There is very little development potential there anyway. The bluffs are preserved.

MR. TOUART: Janet, when was the hearing scheduled?

MS. LANDER: June 5th.

MR. TOUART: I'm not going to divulge the way I know this, but there is concern among DCA, as well, that they don't want to be embarrassed with this hearing and lawsuit. They have sent word to me and I have shared this with you and some of the Board members, they would like a way out of this thing, too. They don't want to have to go through a lawsuit.

MS. LANDER: This will do it.

MR. TOUART: Before you bring this to the Board to repeal this, we've got a little -- we've got, say, 30 days, two weeks anyway.

MS. LANDER: Actually, we really don't. We would have to move on with discovery.

MR. TOUART: Here's what I'm suggesting. Even if it's tomorrow. Before you go out there and try to talk to the news people about trying to understand what's going on here, you might want to give a phone call to your counterpart at DCA and you can tell them whatever you want to tell them -- you've got (inaudible) anyway. But say, hey, guys, we don't want to sue y'all. Y'all don't want to sue us. We would like to negotiate our way out of this. Here's our idea.

MS. LANDER: Not like that. Here's how we're going to do it, George.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I was going to say, now wait a minute. She and I already talked.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Resubmit the Comp Plan.

MS. LANDER: We have to get the Intervenors out of the case and the only way to get -- otherwise, I'm going to be negotiating with the Perdido Key Association and that will go on for a year.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You don't want that.

MS. LANDER: Plus, we have to break it to them gently in Tallahassee. We're going to have Doug Rillstone talk to the folks in Tallahassee and tell them this is what we're thinking we're going to do and work through his --

MR. TOUART: WCI attorneys. You're doing the same thing Jesse is doing through WCI third party attorneys. They want out, too. They don't want the embarrassment of a lawsuit.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So when we go outside,

you want a motion to schedule a public hearing?

MS. LANDER: Authorize me to schedule a public hearing to consider the repeal of Ordinance 2005-60.

MS. ROGERS: Did you want to touch a little bit on the actual drafting part?

MS. LANDER: All right. This is an excellent opportunity for us to get some really good changes made to our Comprehensive Plan, there is a lot wrong with the Comprehensive Plan so there are two ways we can do this. We can rush it through and kind of do the best we can and use the "hurry up now and pay later approach" or we can do it in a thoughtful, considerate manner and, if necessary, George, have the folks in Planning farm it out as far as writing the text, the amendment text, and changing the other portions of the Comprehensive Plan that need to be addressed at the same time because we've got Article 7 and Article 11 to deal with, plus we have to amend the capital improvement plan. I will continue with my people to provide the data and analysis that will support the text amendment, but this is a chance for us to do it right. Now, if we hurry, hurry, hurry, we're already late as far as getting it to the Planning Board in time for consideration for the second amendment submission of the year. They told me, Staff has told me already, that we're already too late for that, but if the Board directed me to do so, to move forward with all possible speed, we could have the Planning Board have extra meetings.

Alison spoke today with Peter and Karen and explained the situation to them and that we were going to ask the Board to appeal this ordinance and move on with the rewrite, and although I do have faith in both Karen and Peter as far as their ability to draft a nice amendment, they are, of course, strapped for time and they do not have a lot of personnel. So the logistics of how we're going to do this -- I mean, I'm on board to work with whomever it is, to do the population concentration studies, the concurrency studies, the hurricane evacuation and the shelter study. We're going to do all that. And the roads, CIP, TIF, all of that is going to be in the data and analysis, but we need somebody to sit down and say, all right, now, this is how we phrase all this good idea in a Comprehensive Plan text amendment.

We can certainly think about it. All we have to do for now is repeal the amendment that is pending before DOAH and that takes everything off the table.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I can tell you, I would like to see it farmed out. I don't share the confidence that you have and I don't mean that to insult, but I'm still somewhat baffled by the omission that occurred. I know it was a rush job, but there are points that you're supposed to cover and if you've been involved -- and these people have in the state of Florida. It's not like they're new to the state of Florida and the Comprehensive Plan process. We should have had a more defensable product and I'm a little concerned and I think this is too important an issue not to get it right the first time.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: And I share this.

MR. TOUART: I've just got to say this. When staff wrote this, everything we write legal signed off. Who in your staff reviewed this?

MS. LANDER: We never reviewed this in our office, George. It was never sent to my office. I would not have known that they had not put in the hurricane evacuation.

MR. TOUART: They got direction from the Board.

MS. LANDER: I helped them with the text. I did help them with the text.

MR. TOUART: I know it's easy to blame.

MS. LANDER: I'm not trying to blame them, George. You know I'm not.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: But still we did have a problem and I share Mike's concern that, you know, if we had done this right in the first place we wouldn't be where we are right now and I don't know whether staff has the expertise to do this or not. I am concerned why they didn't think about it. That's a major issue. That's one of the major things we have been talking about is hurricane evacuation. So I think that if we're going to get a one shot bite at the apple here, I think we ought to do it right and make sure we do it correctly.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: The direction from the Board when we went forward with this thing was to use the Solan report for the basis for the Comprehensive Plan amendment, but that, I don't think -- and I would say this if Peter and Karen were sitting here, that does not absolve staff in the preparation of the text and the data and analysis from making sure what goes in is a complete submission. So, again, in the state of Florida hurricane evacuation on a barrier island, how you do not address that is a huge blaring oversight. And if -- I guess this is what really gets me. If we didn't have the technical expertise or the staff or the physical time to do it, someone should have come and said, hey, we need help in the form of outside assistance, because this Board has been there when it comes to providing that type of expertise. That's my frustration. We don't have to belabor that point.

The bottom line is where we're headed potentially is much, much better than where we would have been had they done the thing right. Maybe their screw-up in this case has benefited us and I think it probably has. I mean, it's not like -- I'm not upset about it, because I really do think we win and we're in a much more defensible position and we really put the DCA on the defense if they try to oppose us on this one. I don't think they can.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I'll make the motion when we get out there and somebody second it.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: I'll second it.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Let's just take our time and do everything right. It sounds like an awful lot of data and stuff to develop. We better just -- you know, no rush.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: We're looking at a December amendment, not June.

MS. LANDER: Right, we'll be submitting it in early January.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Early January, end of the year.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: So let's do it right, no rushing on it. No blame.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I'm not blaming anybody. We got lucky.

MS. LANDER: Staff really has nothing to do with the case.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: What about the rest of this?

MS. LANDER: The pipeline, y'all keep it.

MS. ROGERS: I'll pick it up, if you don't want it.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: I would like to have this map.

P R O C E E D I N G S

MR. WEST: The purpose of this meeting is for the Board to consider your approval or denial of a mediation settlement agreement that you have before you. This is in the case of Cranford versus Escambia County. We met on this case in the shade back last January. I just wanted to take a moment to refresh your recollection about how the case arose and how we got to this point.

If you remember, several years ago the County purchased a piece of property on Mobile Highway and it was handled by the staff. It was not handled by our office. There was no survey and after the closing it was discovered that the property described in the deed was actually located about 250 feet further west of where the County and the seller of the property thought it was. That property was occupied by the Cranford family.

Their deed has a similar defect that shows that they actually own property that is 250 feet further west of where they thought their property was located. They came to the County for help. You authorized the County staff and our office to go forward to try and resolve this and do surveys and acquire title work and to draft up revised legal descriptions. We helped the Cranfords and their attorney acquire an adjacent piece of property for virtually no cost so we could resolve this very quickly with just an exchange of deeds. At the point when that was possible, they took the position, the Cranfords and their attorney took the position that they were entitled to some money for their attorney's fees and costs which led to this lawsuit.

The case was directed to mediation by the Court last October. At that point they demanded $15,000 worth of attorney fees, although they came down a little bit, but they would not tell us how they managed to generate $15,000 worth of attorney fees and costs at that point so the mediation impassed.

When we met last January, the case had just been set for trial. You authorized settlement of up to $10,000 for attorney fees and costs provided that they could substantiate that with a billing statement or something that specifically itemized fees and costs, which they continued to object to until just recently.

(Commissioner Young exits.)

MR. WEST: As we got ready for trial, the Cranfords' attorney requested that the Court direct us to a second mediation. A condition of that second mediation was that the County provide a lay person to participate, because they took the position or at least represented to the Court that our office was being too rigid in its analysis of the law and facts and our willingness to settle. The Court agreed to that. One of the things we requested was that they specifically provide us with a billing statement, which they did, and at that mediation, at the recommendation we made it clear we would not support anything over $15,000, because that actually, as we looked at their billing statement, was the amount of money that they generated in fees and costs that actually was as a result of doing things that we, our office had requested them to do to resolve this.

The total amount of fees and costs that they have generated to date is something over $16,000. All of that is pretty much self-inflicted stuff that they've pretty much assumed and generated as a result of the kind of adversarial position that they decided to take with the County.

But nonetheless, the recommendation that is coming from the Assistant County Administrator was to settle for, I think, $8,500, but otherwise, the deal is pretty much the same that we had offered all along, which was just an even exchange of deeds, with each side otherwise bearing their own fees and costs.

I'll let Bob add to that. I think the $8,500 is just a sum that represents, I guess, basically the nuisance value of this suit that he thought was appropriate. They are going to take some sort of a loss on this. I didn't see that their fees, total fees were unreasonable other than the fact that they kind of brought it on themselves by taking a very adversarial position. So we're paying about half of what they decided to generate.

(Commissioner Young returns.)

COMMISSIONER WHITE: What's so funny they could have had 15 with the offer we made.

MR. WEST: Well, actually, our initial mediation offer we had, I think, was $3,500, what we were estimating it would have taken to basically do the work that we asked them to do. At that point they really had only about $5,000 worth of fees and costs, so they would have probably taken a much smaller loss if they had accepted the initial offer.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: That is your recommendation, Bob?

MR. MCLAUGHLIN: Yes, sir.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: I'm fine with that.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I'm glad to see it put to bed. It's more than I wanted to pay, but I think it's time. We've got other issues we've got to work on.

MS. LANDER: I'm being quiet.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: That's a first.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Do we need a motion?

MS. LANDER: Outside.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Who was the lay person, Bob?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Bob was the lay person.

MR. WEST: A nonlawyer.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's how he got into it and that's what his agreement was as the nonattorney that they requested.

MR. WEST: Actually, they wanted a commissioner, which we objected to, and I think what the Court agreed to direct us is that we could provide a commissioner or a senior member of the staff and I thought it was inappropriate to --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So Bob set in on that and the recommendation came from Bob to settle this for $8,500.

MS. LANDER: We do not support that settlement, but...

MR. TOUART: Well, write them a check.

MS. LANDER: But we understand. We understand we need to put this aside.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You think it's in our best interest to go ahead and settle and just move on and forget the thing, right?

MS. LANDER: Oh, no.

MR. MCLAUGHLIN: Some of the dynamics were they wanted to settle. Obviously, they wanted to settle for more. We were, you know, a low of $15,000. They were pushing around 16 or 17. The next iteration, if we didn't come to an agreement, probably would have taken their side, their costs probably up 24 or 26. I understood the basics of what had happened and what occurred and everybody was reasonable with the property settlement was now a matter of paying some money for the costs. So we worked our way to a point and $8,500 was a mid point and everyone agreed and I thought it was a fair number.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: This was discussed, the $8,500 was discussed, so they're in agreement.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: They signed it. Peter Cranford signed on their behalf.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You're right. I'm sorry. I should have looked.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Let's do it.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's fine.

MR. TOUART: Are y'all off the record yet?

MS. LANDER: We're never off the record.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: But we have to go out and make a motion to accept.

MR. TOUART: Buck Lee's brother just died.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Who?

MR. TOUART: David Lee. Buck Lee's brother just died.

You don't have to put that in the transcript.

MS. LANDER: She has to actually.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: All right. So we're going to back out and make the motion to accept the agreement?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: You would like those back. Do you want these back?

MS. LANDER: They will be public record after the motion anyway.

(The proceedings concluded at 4:14 p.m.)

P R O C E E D I N G S

MR. PEPPLER. We're on the record and Linda has asked me to make sure everyone speaks one at a time, there's no side conversations. She specifically asked that.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Do you want us all to speak at the same time?

MS. LANDER: Okay, we're only going to speak one at a time.

MR. PEPPLER. Let's take the first case, Clyde Kilpatrick versus Ogden Entertainment, and Ogden Presents versus Fireman's Fund. This is a golden oldie. It involves the Huey Lewis and the News concert.

MS. LANDER: That is an old one.

MR. PEPPLER: This took place September 12th of '01, the concert. The day before, Escambia County --

MS. LANDER: Time out, Charlie. They don't have their agenda with the name of the case.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I have this one.

MS. LANDER: It's just the name of the case.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Oh, is that all? Okay. No problem. Sorry.

MR. PEPPLER. All right. As you recall, we had an agreement with Ogden Entertainment to put on concerts and other events at the Civic Center. We had entered into a user agreement on September 11th, 2001, with them and under that agreement they were to hold harmless the County and to provide a defense or indemnity in the event of a patron injuring themselves during the course of an event and that was signed the day before Mr. Kilpatrick was injured.

Mr. Kilpatrick was on his honeymoon and he went to this concert with his new wife. Apparently, because it was sold out, they set up temporary bleachers. The bleachers didn't have the correct markings on the steps. There were no lights or ushers during the concert. So he went to go get a beer or something or go to use the restroom. When he came back to sit with his wife, as he was coming down the staircase, he fell and fractured his leg.

Of course, he sued the County. There was a verdict of approximately $291,000 in 1996. Ogden presented us with a defense. They hired an attorney and --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I thought you said this was an '01 case?

MR. PEPPLER: Correct.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: You said the jury verdict was returned in '96.

MR. PEPPLER: Right. It took that long; '93 and the trial was in '96.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I thought you said -- you said the concert occurred in '01.

MR. PEPPLER. Yeah, you're right. That should be 1991.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: '91, okay.

MR. PEPPLER. So what I said about 2001 is 1991, 15 years ago, and the concert was September 12th of '91.

Suit was filed in '93. Again, the verdict took place in '96, for $291,000, against the County. Ogden provided a defense. They tried to get their own insurance company to defend them, but Fireman's Fund, who was insuring them at that time, said, well, we'll only defend you if you yourself is sued or sued for personal injury, we're not going to provide coverage if you are under contract with another entity to provide them with a defense. So they denied coverage.

The County appealed the jury verdict. It was affirmed. In the meantime -- it was affirmed in 1997. In the meantime, Mr. Kilpatrick who was an attorney, sued Ogden Entertainment -- for some reason he didn't sue them in the beginning -- and tried to get them to pay the judgment of $291,000. Judge Frank Bell threw that case out and said, no, you have to look to the County for payment. Because he was trying to get above the cap. We have a $100,000 cap and he wanted to get the full judgment paid.

Ogden then filed suit, the second case, Case B, in 1995, while this was all pending, trying to get Fireman's Fund to provide coverage and that had resulted in a mediation settlement in 2002. So that's four years ago. As part of that agreement, Fireman said, Fireman's Fund will pay $137,500 into this, what they call, loss stabilization fund that's being kept by Ogden's current carrier IGA, and pursuant to the agreement, Fireman's Fund will now step in. They will waive their coverage defense and provide indemnity or coverage to Ogden, which is now no longer Ogden. I think it's been bought out. It's now Aero Mark Industries. We'll provide coverage to Aero Mark in the event that the Kilpatricks go before the legislature. They've already done this once before. They've gone before the legislature.

MS. LANDER: A number of times.

MR. PEPPLER: They've gone before the legislature trying to get a bill passed that the amount that was paid -- the County paid 120,000 through Ogden. We didn't pay a penny, but Ogden kicked in 100,000 on our behalf -- trying to get the balance paid of 191,000. So far the bill has not come out of committee and it doesn't appear in the intervening four years it will ever come out committee because it was once denied in 2002.

So our recommendation is that this release be signed. Debra Johnson, as risk manager, has already signed the release allowing Fireman's Fund to pay this amount into this loss stabilization fund and then they will indemnify or pay Ogden, which is now Aero Mark. In the event that a claims bill is passed, they will kick in the rest of the money and those entities will fight it out among themselves as to who is going to pay what.

So we don't see any really downside in accepting this release. We're going to be protected in the unlikely event that a claims bill is passed and the legislature says, well, yeah, you're owed more money than $100,000.

MS. LANDER: In the past our lobbyist has lobbied against that claims bill and kept a careful eye on it and I guess that what we ought to do is remind our lobbyist to be sure to always monitor that.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: So we're just accepting the release right now?

MR. PEPPLER: Approving Debra Johnson's signing the release and approving the execution of the release.

The second case is the Rhonda Hughes case and I have a summary before you of her history.

MS. LANDER: The Board has the --

MR. PEPPLER: Here it is.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: It looks like she's got a history of taking medicine.

MR. PEPPLER. Yes. Ms. Hughes, as you can tell from the history, has had extensive conditions and I've listed practically 20 of them that she was suffering from before her accident on September 25th of 2002. And I'm going to take this a little bit out of order just to tell you how we got to this lawsuit.

Because of all these problems that Ms. Hughes was experiencing, she had what's known as syncopes or falls or fainting spells that she experienced on a regular basis and she was taking numerous medications for all her conditions. In fact, on September 25th, 2002, she had gone to see Dr. Michael Conrad, a psychiatrist, due to her depression and other psychological conditions that she was experiencing, such as loss of memory, fatigue, loss of concentration, due to her preexisting conditions.

She saw Dr. Conrad in the morning. That afternoon she went to the Wal-Mart, I believe, on Creighton Road and again experienced a fainting or loss of consciousness event. Our EMTs were called to the scene and, apparently, there was some talk at the scene, maybe Ms. Hughes gave this information herself, that she had been taking drugs, prescription drugs, and may have doubled the dose or taken more than she should have.

William Rowe was one of the EMTs and on the way to Sacred Heart Hospital he believed that he should administer Narcan, which is a drug that stimulates the central nervous system. And the vials of the drug are kept in what's known as a -- I forget the exact name that the EMTs call it, but they call it their bag, and on the bag there's a lid and all these drugs are in like little Velcro slots and hung up there. And Mivacron, back in 2002, had a circular bottle top and was similar in appearance to Narcan. Mivacron is a paralyzing agent and you use it to stiffen the muscles or relax the muscles so you can intubate or paralyze. Janet is an ex-nurse, so she knows a little bit about these medical conditions.

So Mr. Rowe grabbed for what he thought was the Narcan and it turns out it was Mivacron and he injected her with Mivacron and she went into respiratory arrest. This is on the way to the ER at Sacred Heart Hospital. He put an oxygen bag on her and tried to revive her.

At the ER he compounded the problem, unfortunately, by lying to the ER about what he administered. His partner went back to the truck and found that the Mivacron vial had been used and talked to Mr. Rowe and said, look, you've got to tell the truth. This woman's life is at stake. So finally he disclosed to the ER doc, I gave her Mivacron. Mr. Rowe was terminated after this incident. So we have really no defense as far as liability. Obviously, Mr. Rowe gave the wrong drug and he was disciplined for it.

So what this case is really about is how much should the County pay. We're going into mediation August 17th. She is claiming at this point that the incident where she suffered loss of consciousness and CPR had to be administered to her for eleven minutes to revive her, she was in a coma for approximately 36, 38 hours, she began to experience delirium. She was eventually Baker acted at West Florida Hospital. This is under treatment on page two. She was there five days. She continued with Dr. Conrad, who has given a diagnosis of organic brain disorder secondary to an anoxic injury, which means lack of oxygen, and she's had treatment with Dr. Conrad on a pretty consistent basis since that time.

Her medical expenses -- this is on the last page of the summary. The plaintiff is required to give me or give us what their medical expenses are that they're claiming. To date they have not provided that for Sacred Hospital and West Florida Hospital and Baptist Hospital, but in order for us to offer them any money, we're going to have to get that information by August 17th to know what her medical expenses are.

I believe that based on a two-week stay in those two hospitals that she's probably looking at least at 25 to $30,000 in medical expenses, and we know that Dr. Conrad probably charges 100 to 150 a visit and she has had at least 30 visits over the past four years. So that's my conservative estimate. It may be much more than that.

We also did a jury verdict survey of this type of injury with cognitive deficit and memory loss. Unfortunately, in trying to find a good range of jury verdicts, most people when they experience memory loss or lack of or loss of concentration or fatigue, it's usually due to a traumatic head injury or some type of physical injury from an auto accident. All she had was obviously just the injection of the Mivacron, which didn't leave any permanent injury to her arm or anything of that nature.

MS. LANDER: But she stopped breathing.

MR. PEPPLER. Right. I mean, that's the scary part. I mean, every time I talk to -- I've talked to my barber or I've talked to anybody and say what do you think this case is worth and they're all pretty much in shock that she was without oxygen for eleven minutes or however long it was. You know, one person, you know, well, it's worth a million dollars to me if they did that to me.

But the jury verdict range, taking out the traumatic physical injury, taking out loss of wages, because this woman was unemployed at this time, which is good for us as far as determining a settlement value, the jury verdict average is around $90,000 for this type of injury.

So I'm asking the Board for settlement authority when we go to mediation between 70 to 100,000. Hopefully, I can bring the case in under 100,000, but if they have a good and convincing argument with their medical expenses and a jury verdict survey that exceeds $90,000 average, then, you know, I would like your approval to settle this case within the statutory maximum.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: How are they defining organic brain disorder?

MR. PEPPLER: Well, that's an issue in the case. Dr. Conrad has come up with this diagnosis. As the treating physician I think he was trying to be generous to her, but in order to determine organic brain injury, you have to have a series of tests before the incident and a series of tests after the incident and you compare the two results and you can perhaps make a diagnosis that her IQ or her cognitive abilities have been diminished in some way. We don't have that.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: The reality is we have no defense and we've got a statutory cap of $100,000, you know.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Did I miss something? How did we get involved; through the EMTs?

MR. PEPPLER: The EMT administered the wrong drug.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: That's the key? Okay.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I would say rather than a range, just say up to the 100,000, whatever the numbers crank out to, 70 to 100.

MR. TOUART: Is this in state court or federal court?

MS. LANDER: State.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Who's her lawyer?

MR. PEPPLER: Stephanie Taylor.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Is it a possibility that the jury could go over $100,000?

MS. LANDER: Oh, yeah, but we can't be forced to pay. The jury can come back with an award well in excess of 100,000, but the Judge can only order the County to pay 100,000 and the rest has to come from a legislative bill.

MR. TOUART: Did she sue the individual?

MS. LANDER: No, you can't.

MR. PEPPLER: No.

MS. LANDER: It's true negligence. It's not willful and wanton. It's true negligence. It's malpractice. Mistakes do happen and that's why we have insurance.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I don't see any reason why we shouldn't agree to allow you to settle the matter.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Yeah.

MS. LANDER: And if they accept that then the issue is going to be are they going to apply for a claims bill. When you settle, you settle and that's it. So I'm inclined to think that they might want to go to a jury verdict so that they can apply afterwards for a claims bill, but there's no harm in trying.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: What basis do they have for determining the damages, because her economic -- this sounds crass, but her economic value is virtually nonexistent.

MR. PEPPLER. Their theory is that because she now is not working and she needs her mother to help her with activities of daily living that she's going to need a -- COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Assisted living.

MR. PEPPLER: Assisted living in the future.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: How old is she?

MR. PEPPLER: Thirty-nine.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: But she's going to qualify for Medicare because she's disabled.

MR. PEPPLER: You mean Social Security?

MS. LANDER: Social Security disability.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Actually, Social Security and Medicare. She's probably qualified for Medicaid, both. Medicaid picks up, I believe, for disabled.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: SSI.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Through SSI. But she would qualify for Medicaid.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Medicaid?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Yes.

MR. PEPPLER: The other thing is that her mom has pretty much helped her even before this incident. She quit work.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That's why I was wondering where you came up with the range on the jury verdicts other than just the appeal, the emotional appeal.

MR. PEPPLER. Well, we have these jury verdict reporters that report verdicts and we try to find those cases with similar injuries.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Similar cases.

COMMISSIONER BANJANIN: Has there been any independent exam done of her?

MR. PEPPLER: Yes, we had one done by our neuropsychologist back in June and she believes that all of her problems are attributable to her preexisting condition.

MR. TOUART: I see Dr. Turner's name mentioned. He is our psychologist, not psychiatrist. I see a bill in here from Dr. Turner for about 3,000 bucks.

MS. LANDER: Was she on the respirator when she was admitted initially into the hospital?

MR. PEPPLER. CPR was administered and she was able to breathe on her own after eleven minutes.

MR. TOUART: Dr. Turner is not the psychiatrist y'all are talking about, right; he's a psychologist?

MR. PEPPLER: Dr. Conrad is the psychiatrist.

MR. TOUART: I just saw a bill in here from Dr. Turner. He's our doctor.

MS. LANDER: Forensic evaluation.

MR. PEPPLER: He's not our doctor in this case.

MR. TOUART: He's the County's.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: There are several Dr.

Turners in town. I know it's not the OB/GYN, but that's an example. Dave Turner is out there.

MR. PEPPLER: This is Brett Turner.

MR. TOUART: That's our doctor. He's a psychologist.

MS. LANDER: Is he a M.D.?

MR. TOUART: No, he's a psychologist.

MS. LANDER: This fellow is not a M.D.?

MR. TOUART: He's a counselor.

MR. PEPPLER: All he did was administer neuropsychiatric testing and all his results were destroyed by Hurricane Ivan.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Authorization to go to 100,000. There's no sense battling that. There is no defense.

MR. PEPPLER: But the release would have to say they would not go after a claims bill, because wouldn't we be responsible for paying the claims bill?

MS. LANDER: Right. So that's why I'm inclined to think that -- you know, you can settle for more than your statutory limit. There's a way that you can do that, but you can't -- what the sovereign immunity means is that the Court cannot order us to pay more than 100,000, so we may have to come back and talk about this again sometime depending on what happens at mediation. Because if they want just a little bit more than the $100,000 limit, then we'll find out what we would have to do, rather than risk a jury verdict and then a claims bill.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: When we make the motion out there, you don't want us to use a figure though?

MR. PEPPLER: Correct.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I don't want to say out there, you know, up to.

MR. PEPPLER: No.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So we just authorize you to negotiate.

MR. PEPPLER. Settlement.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's fine.

(The proceedings concluded at 4:15 p.m.)

P R O C E E D I N G S

MS. LANDER: We're all here because -- this, of course, came very suddenly. Although we were expecting the complaint to be filed, the speed at which this is proceeding has been a little bit of a scheduling disadvantage for my office, but we've got it covered. But I have Charlie here, because once we get rid of the temporary injunction hearing, which is this Friday, then the case will be back on his desk, but I'll handle the temporary injunction. That's what is coming up.

Also, let me fill you in on what's been happening so far. Last Friday after I arrived at work I was notified that there was going to be a case management conference at 1:30 that day, last Friday. So we didn't know who had scheduled the case conference. We thought at first that it had been Judge Jones at the behest of Ernie Lee Magaha, but as it turned out it was Judge Skievaski who scheduled the case management conference. So the parties assembled and he told us that he was appointing another judge from Santa Rosa County, that he was disqualifying all the judges in Escambia County, and the judge that he chose was Judge Rasmussen, who is coming here in January.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Rasmussen was first.

MS. LANDER: Yes, Judge Rasmussen. So Judge Rasmussen joined us in the courtroom and he said that he had a disclosure to make to the parties and the disclosure was that Judge Rasmussen attends the same church as Ernie Lee Magaha, Nix Daniel and Lisa Bernau and he wanted to know if any of the parties had a problem with that. Well, Nix Daniel rose to his feet very quickly and said, no, Your Honor, we have no problem with that at all. And I just kind of shook my head and I stood up and I told the Judge that I needed to discuss this with my clients and the earliest I can get back to you is next Thursday. I will have to schedule a meeting in the shade. And Nix Daniel stood up and said, oh, just do a telephone poll and you can come back and tell the Court what they all said. And I said, no, I'm not going to poll the Board on a matter they have to vote on and disclose the results of that before they have an opportunity to vote on it.

So Judge Rasmussen went upstairs to talk to Judge Skievaski. Judge Skievaski came down a few minutes later and he said Judge Rasmussen is out and Swanson is in. So we didn't have to wait for the purpose of finding out if you had an objection. It was presumed that you would object and so that's no longer an issue.

Then the next matter for Judge Skievaski was the setting of a hearing on the motion for temporary injunction.

(Phone ringing.)

MS. LANDER: Setting a hearing on the motion for temporary injunction. The Clerk is seeking -- in his complaint, he's seeking that the Court temporarily enjoin the Board from going forward with its plan as set forth in the resolution. And the reason that he gives of the irreparable harm is that it will spend taxpayers' money and duplicate services. He really has not alleged a case for the issuance of a temporary injunction, but it's always very dangerous when you have parties that are this closely related to the Court, even though it's Judge Swanson. I feel confident that Judge Swanson will give us a fair hearing. I'm not worried about that.

I have tried to secure the services of an expert witness for this Friday, but I have been unsuccessful because they have conflicted out or the most recent one that I have contacted is on a sabbatical. She would be wonderful but she's not going to be able to do it on Friday. So when you have just a few days to pull together witnesses, you're not going to be working at an advantage. It's okay, though. A temporary injunction, even if he issues it, can be dissolved at any time, and as soon as I get somebody on board, I'll schedule it for another hearing, but I'm not convinced the Judge will issue a temporary injunction for a variety of reasons.

But what I needed to assemble you for in addition to bringing you up to speed on all of this was to ask for your permission to file a counterclaim for a declaratory judgment, temporary injunction relief and a writ of mandamus against the Clerk. Now, the Clerk is not paying the Solbourne bill. An invoice was presented. It was dated July 21st and that bill is one day overdue now and he is just not paying it.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Which bill is it?

MS. LANDER: Solbourne. Solbourne is the implementer of the Oracle system. The Board has already approved the contract. It's a fully executed agreement. The first invoice has already been paid by Magaha, so the only thing he's supposed to be looking at as a part of his preaudit function is the legality of the expenditure, does it serve a public purpose. That's presumed when you have a contract. Was it let in accordance with the purchasing or competitive procedures? Absolutely yes. Is there money in the budget to pay for it? Absolutely yes. Those are the three points of inquiry that he can make, so there's really no reason, so I'm including in this a writ of mandamus where the Court will compel him to pay the bill.

I will file this, I have to file this no later than tomorrow at 1:30 in order for me to argue for our temporary injunctive relief. I am asking the Court -- and I don't feel the Court will grant this relief for the same reason that I don't think he's going to grant Magaha's request for relief, because temporary injunctions are rather severe. But I'm asking the Court to order Magaha to give us the software, the Trace Sun software, so that we can begin running it. It's going to have to be run until we're ready to switch over to Oracle and if we're going to start doing what we said we were going to do in the creation of the finance department, we need that software. So I don't know if they have received the notification from the County, the request pursuant to the Board action.

We haven't sent out the letters yet to the employees because there is an amendment to the recommendation, not the resolution: The resolution remains unchanged, but the recommendation originally contemplated the transfer of the employees. If we try to transfer the employees, we will shoot ourselves in the foot. There's no way that we can seize employees of another constitutional officer, so we've got to revise the recommendation to give them a right of first refusal. We will offer the positions to them and give them priority in the consideration of hiring, but, no, we're not going to transfer those functions. So we do have to go back and amend the recommendation before the staff is authorized to send out the offers. So that's been a little bit of a hold up, as well.

Once we get through Friday -- the worse case scenario, let me explain what might happen. If the Judge issues the temporary injunction, we must delay the implementation of the resolution, which is the finance department. We can't take any action in furtherance of that until the temporary injunction is dissolved. So that would be the worse case scenario.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Point of clarification now. That would prevent us from taking the function. There's nothing in that injunction that would stop us from creating our own department.

MS. LANDER: That's what I'm going to argue. That's what I'm going to argue. There is nothing in the resolution that would transfer function. There's nothing in that resolution, absolutely nothing. He is seeking to have the resolution declared unconstitutional.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: But we're not even implementing the resolution. What we've made the decision to do is to go ahead and build our own finance department.

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: He can't get an injunction to stop that, can he? Is that what he's asking for?

MS. LANDER: Yes, that's what he's asking for. He's trying to stop us from building a finance department.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I mean, there are other counties in the state of Florida that have finance departments.

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I thought he was trying -- I guess I misunderstood because I thought when we talked before that he was attempting to enjoin us from implementing the resolution.

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: So he's going after both?

MS. LANDER: Well, the resolution is the creation of the finance department.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: The resolution was to transfer, the resolution from the government commission.

MS. LANDER: Your resolution -- and I think I have it in here somewhere. Let me show you what it says.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Then I'm confused. I thought our resolution was to transfer the function.

MS. LANDER: No, that was the recommendation. Here's the resolution. The resolution has a lot of whereas clauses in it, but what it does is it just creates the finance department. I'll read it for everybody.

Beginning October 1, the structure of Escambia County Administration is hereby amended to create a finance department under the direct supervisory authority of the County Administrator that shall have amongst its responsibilities preparation of payroll for County employees, accounts payable, accounts receivable, fixed assets, project grants and associated administrative functions necessary to support those responsibilities.

And then the specific duties of the finance department shall include but not be limited to calculation of time worked, preparation of payroll checks, deposits, fund transfer authorizations except that all authorizations mandated by the Florida Constitution and Florida Statutes shall still be required by the appropriate party. Preparation, as necessary, of payroll reports for outside agencies. It goes on somewhat. But it does not say anything.

And then the next thing it says the finance department shall provide periodic reports and supporting documentation to the Clerk to allow him to fulfill his function as auditor and accountant for the County and allow him to authorize disbursement of funds as provided by the Constitution and the laws of Florida. At the discretion of the County Administrator and upon approval of necessary budgetary appropriations, an additional position by the Board of County Commissioners, the finance department may fulfill the responsibilities described in this resolution by hiring additional employees or by contracting for specific services with an independent contractor in accordance with the County's established procurement procedures.

What you're recalling, Commissioner Whitehead, is the recommendation. Part F of the recommendation was to transfer the function. Part A of the recommendation is to adopt the resolution.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Okay.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: All right. If we go ahead and establish the finance department, we also then withhold the funds in his budget that would normally have gone to him for that function, which I think is like $130,000 or something like that?

MS. LANDER: Right. The way that we're going to handle that, recognizing that there may be a duplication of services, is that -- I spoke with Jan Kassab about this. The plan is -- he will continue to do it. He will invoice us.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: On an individual --

MS. LANDER: Yes. We will pay him based on invoices on a monthly basis, so there won't be a vacuum, but the difference is rather than just include it as a line item, which lets him do whatever he wants with it and then we can never get it back no matter what the results of the case, is to control it on a month-to-month basis.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Okay. That sounds all right. I mean, as long as we've got control over it. Even if he does it for one month and we pay him and then it transfers, we want to be able to have access to those funds.

MR. TOUART: We're escrowing it.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: What?

MR. TOUART: We're escrowing the money into an account specifically for the Clerk's operation.

MS. LANDER: We'll keep that covered.

But in his complaint, he is seeking to have -- I'll tell you exactly what it says.

He is saying that the implementation of the resolution including -- and this is where he's wrong -- including, but not limited to, the transfer of personnel and amendment to the budget of the Clerk of the Court -- the resolution does neither. It does neither of those -- will cause irreparable harm to the Plaintiff in the discharge of his constitutional and statutory obligation and to the citizens of Escambia County in that manpower and funds will be expended unnecessarily pending a resolution of this matter. That really is not a good basis for the issuance of any kind of relief. But that's what he is saying and he's wrong on both counts.

So, you know, I always prepare for the worse and hope for the best as these things go. A temporary injunction, let's assume that he can't carry his burden, which is a very heavy burden, and the Judge denies his motion. Let's assume that the judge also denies our motion. We're sort of stalemated, because we still can create our finance department, but we don't have the system to operate it. So we've got a request in here for a speedy hearing and resolution of the matter.

Then we'll just move on to the declaration of rights, which will be a result of an evidentiary hearing. It may take a couple of days to get through the hearing and then we have to wait for the Court to make a decision and then we have to see if the losing party wants to take an appeal to the next level. So there's no real control.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: If it went past October 1st, which is the date --

MS. LANDER: Which in all likelihood it will.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: It's more likely it will --

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Then they would continue to do the functioning of the payroll on a monthly basis and at some point, hopefully, if it comes out in our favor, then we switch over.

MS. LANDER: That's the plan.

Now, when we get out, I'll just ask you to move to authorize me to file --

MR. TOUART: Before you do that, let me talk to the Board a little bit about Solbourne. This is a very serious situation, guys, that he's not paying Solbourne's bill. It kind of reminds me of another bill he didn't pay, but the bottom line is, this is very serious in that they're not going to work for nothing and everyday past today, which is the first day of the 45 day state law that he's violated, in my opinion, that we are -- we're being set back on our implementation, which is, obviously, in the long run going to cost this county more money. I think that should be some type of arguing point, because this is dragging the project out. These people were scheduled to be here. They don't have anyplace else to go, so it's causing some real concerns on my staff's part as far as implementation.

MS. LANDER: George, to calm your fears, I have addressed both of those issues of cost. In my count for mandamus, I'm getting the exact number on the cost to the County for the delay. In addition to that cost, we have the additional cost of one percent a month on the unpaid invoice. So, yeah, those are all in the request for a preemptory writ of mandamus.

MR. TOUART: Ultimately, the taxpayer will be paying if we win and that's what's sad about this whole thing.

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Your motion --

MS. LANDER: I ask that you move to authorize my office to file a counterclaim against the Clerk for declaratory judgment, temporary and permanent --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Just give me the thing and highlight it. There's no sense in me sitting here and writing it out.

MS. LANDER: Just go by that.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: This right here?

MS. LANDER: Yeah.

Did anyone have any questions or comments?

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: What does it mean when he says sue Escambia County and the Board members individually? What does that mean?

MS. LANDER: Well, it doesn't mean anything under the law. Under the law, which he cites, by the way, there is --

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: But he says and not individually. He says not individually. He's not individually suing us.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Parenthetically insert it right there.

MS. LANDER: It's superfluous. It is truly verbiage, it's superfluous wording. Under the law when you sue the Board of County Commissioners -- the Board of County Commissioners can sue and be sued in the name of the County, not in the name of the Board of County Commissioners. I was really surprised that they put it like that, but it means nothing except it requires them to serve you individually, which was a waste of time, but it has no legal effect on any of you because it's really a suit against the County, Escambia County.

MR. TOUART: Can I ask one other question? Everything I get from him now in the way of signature he's using Escambia County Circuit Clerk and Comptroller. Would you explain that to the Board?

MS. LANDER: I can't explain that to the Board, but what I have done is I have denied in my answer to his complaint that he is the comptroller. We do not have a comptroller in Escambia County. There is no special act that creates the office. It was repealed. And I'll introduce that into evidence at the -- we'll get around to that. It's a small point, but it's a nagging point. I know that.

Also, I have filed a motion already with the Court that the Clerk of Escambia County not handle any of the dockets, pleadings or do the minutes related to this case and that instead the Clerk of Santa Rosa County, Mary Johnson, will be the one to receive all the pleadings, do all the documents and attend all the hearings and take minutes of all of the case proceedings. It's inappropriate for a party to be the Clerk to the Court.

So that brings you up to date on everything. We've been working -- it's really been a very active week and it will move fast. It will move forward very, very quickly and not gather any dust. I only need one expert witness and that's to explain to the Court that an accountant as described in the statute can be many things. The statute does not say the Clerk will do all the accounting for the Board of County Commissioners. It will be the clerk and accountant. There are some hints in the statute as to what that entails, so our job is to explain to the Court that doing payroll and account receivables and the other aspects of the resolution are functions that do not encroach on his role as the custodian of funds and auditor and recorder and accountant.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Were any of the counties that have finance departments now, do any of them have an expert witness that might be available?

MS. LANDER: I'm going to use somebody locally. What I have done is I have been in touch with the County Attorney, the Florida Association of County Attorneys, and with two exceptions all the counties have the clerks do all that for them except if you've got a charter county. A charter county is very different. The clerks don't always have to be constitutional officers. They remained constitutional officers in Pinellas County, but in Broward County and Palm Beach County and many other counties they are appointed employees of the Board. You know, they will have a finance department. They will have a county auditor. It's very different. So we're really blazing new territory here because nobody else other than Pinellas and St. Petersburg, we really don't have a lot of Oracle experience in the State of Florida, so we're on the cutting edge here, and what we do may make life a lot easier or a lot more difficult for the other counties in the state as they try to come into 21st Century technology because clerks are always resistant to that.

If there's nothing else, we'll go back into the Sunshine. I have another shade meeting with y'all tomorrow.

(The attorney/client session concluded at 9:30 a.m.)

PROCEEDINGS

MR. PEPPLER: We have Linda here take down every word we're saying and we're talking about the Williams case and I have the chronology of events for the Williams case right in front of you. We've already discussed the case once before, and Chairman Whitehead is pretty familiar because it's in his district.

But this is the case in which Rodney Williams had purchased some land from Mary Lou Nall at the corner of Muldoon and Midas and wanted to clear the land and fill a great big gravel pit that's in the southwest corner of the land and he began doing this without getting his land clearing permit from the County. And Mr. McKissack, as you recall, is right over here, has been a property owner there since about 1950.

And he got his land clearing permit. And this was the diagram that Mr. Williams wrote on the permit as to what he was doing. He was going to fill in this gravel pit, which extended over to the Motts' property. The Motts now own this property to the --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: The south.

MR. PEPPLER: -- south. Then he was going to clear all the underbrush.

Well, it turns out that contrary to the land disturbing permit, he brought in about 400 truck loads of fill dirt and not only filled in the gravel pit but raised the level of his property a couple of feet, especially in this area here, and he blocked this culvert with clay. And there was a natural gully that fed into the gravel pit and provided natural drainage during rainstorms, which he also filled in.

Of course, you know what happened. Mr. McKissack's property to the north began to flood and our Code Enforcement people cited Mr. Williams for that. There was a hearing. As you can tell on the chronology, Mr. Williams lost at the hearing. He appealed. He lost the appeal. And then came judgment day when the Court said, well, you know, the County can now enforce its order in which Special Master Smith said, well, you either have to obtain a stormwater management permit or you can reopen -- take the dirt out of this gravel pit, reopen the gully and unblock this culvert.

So we met with Mr. Williams trying to reach an agreement with him without trying to take all this dirt out, which he had paid for or at least brought on the property, and reopen the gully and the culvert, and we reached an agreement that we would build a temporary retention pond, which is what this is, on this portion of his property. This used to be the gravel pit that he filled in, and we built a retention pond there. And Mr. Williams, after agreeing to the retention pond being built, saw it being built and decided this is not what he wants and filed suit about a couple of weeks or at least a week after we started building the pond. So that's the suit for inverse condemnation which was started on April 3rd, 2003.

In the meantime, we had expended about $20,800 -- and I'll go over this real quick because we only have another 15 minutes left -- because we had to build this pond and we got the Special Master to award us $20,800 for building the pond, plus $17,500 in fines because he did not comply with the order.

He appealed that order and Judge Nobles affirmed that order back in August of 2005. In the meantime, the suit, that I'm defending, the inverse condemnation suit is going on. He went into federal court. I got him bounced out of federal court and now he's in state court and we're coming up for a jury trial on May 1st and 2nd. I think before that I met with you all to decide if we could settle the case again. I think we went through mediation. I think I've met with you twice before on this case and this is the third time.

Well, we won the trial. The Judge said there was no taking. We didn't do anything wrong. We had a perfect right to build the retention, because McKissack was getting flooded out and we filed a motion for costs of $10,500.

The appeal on the fines and costs, that was affirmed on June the 19th, and then three days later the Williamses filed an appeal on the case that we won with regards to the inverse condemnation.

So that brings us to the proposal that the Williamses are making here. They're saying that they have a buyer that will pay them $53,000 and what the Williamses are going to do, we're going to pay off our mortgage on this property for $17,000. Then we're going to pay the County the $22,801 for building the pond. Then we're going to pay the County the costs of defending the suit and whatever that net is, or 2,600, we're going to pay costs for recording, you know, corrective instruments and doing what we need to do to make the title good and paying off the accrued taxes. And then whatever is left will go towards that 17,500 in fines. And that's what Mr. Rigby on behalf of the Williamses is proposing as a means to resolve this.

Now, I know Chairman Whitehead has his own thoughts on what we should do.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: What are they?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Let me explain them. There's a number of properties to the east of his property, one of which is Andrew Blewer, who has been down here for years complaining about drainage.

My suggestion was that we -- it's a twofold approach. Did you get a chance to talk to Rigby this afternoon?

MR. PEPPLER: I left a message and he hasn't called me back.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I believe we should take this corner and make a holding pond out of it. It will address a lot of issues. We're going to have a holding pond on site. He's got another buyer and if we wanted to take it at that point, then we've got to go through condemnations proceedings where we know we're going to pay at least 53,000 for it, plus the attorney's fee and everything involved, plus whatever other value they could potentially get out of it.

My suggestion was to offer Rodney Williams $56,000 for the property, which is 3,000 more than they're getting, so let him walk with 3,000 in cash. The balance of the money comes to us and to the bank, 17,000 to the bank, and that way -- because what we haven't addressed is the property immediately next door, the Mott property. A portion of this spills over onto their property, as well. He's got a beautiful home they have built there. They were unaware of everything that was going on now, so now they've got about a half of a piece of a holding pond that's left that we won't allow them to fill in or do anything with, so they've got this eyesore in front of their home. They've probably built a $200,000 house there.

We can take this corner. We can build a small retention pond on it. It would address Mr. McKissack's problem, which has been a longstanding issue. It will take care of the Mott problem. We can take care of Andrew Blewer and all of this area with very little cost. It just makes sense. Apparently, what they are intending to do is build townhouses on this thing, which means additional parking, additional nonimpervious surfaces, which is going to compound -- we're right back where we started, we've compounded the issue for that area over there. And it just seemed to me if we could do something along this line we come out ahead, we look like champions, because we're actually solving a problem in that little community and it's not going to cost us anything. When you get right down to it the costs to us out of pocket is going to be about $3,000, because we've already expended the rest of it.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Let me ask a question. Of this 40,300 up here, the Special Master, in costs and fines, that has not been paid off or anything. Does that figure into this up here at all?

MR. PEPPLER: The $22,801.20 is the cost that we paid Panhandle Grading to make that pond.

MS. LANDER: It's a little more than half of that 40,000.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So we will be getting back half of what the Court awarded us.

MR. PEPPLER: Right. The out of pocket we actually had to pay Panhandle.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Is there a reason that you want to offer 56,000? Is that because he has a buyer?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Well, there's two reasons. One, he's got a buyer, apparently, at 53, and my other suggestion was for us to put the buyer on notice that we intend to condemn the property. That will shut that deal down. The buyer will in all likelihood walk.

The $3,000 will be -- really, it's $3,000 to get the attorneys out. We'll pay more than that in attorney's fees for a condemnation hearing, if we go in and condemn the property the next time around. So we come out ahead. Our staff doesn't have to spend anymore time on it. That's for the process and if we give him a little bit of folding money, it makes him a lot more amenable to working with us. Because right now he hates us. I mean, there's not a doubt about it. He's not a happy camper. He has spent a lot of money out of pocket fighting this thing and he's not walking away with a dime.

It just seemed to me to be a easy way to get something to benefit the neighborhood. And I throw that out because long range that's what I wanted to see happen there anyway. I was willing to use some of my LOST money to go ahead and see a pond constructed, something that would be nice and would fit into that area. Just to me it seemed like a win/win. That's all.

MS. LANDER: Didn't we offer to buy this property the last time we had an attorney/client session?

MR. PEPPLER: Correct.

MS. LANDER: What did we offer him then?

MR. PEPPLER: We offered to pay him 5,000 plus. Then we would waive the 40,000 in fines and costs. We would pay him 15 in attorney's fees and then he would give us title to the property. He would have to pay off the mortgage on his on.

MS. LANDER: So he would have had a better deal then if he had accepted that.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That was before he lost. I mean he's had a slam dunk. The courts have not seen it his way at all. I'm suspect he's just wanting to stop the bleeding at this point.

MS. LANDER: We're foreclosing on it, are we not?

MR. PEPPLER: We haven't started that.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I asked that question the last time and you actually said let's hold off on the foreclosure until we get through the court proceedings because you felt like that might influence the Court. This would avoid us having to go through the entire foreclosure process.

MS. LANDER: Well, he can't sell unless he satisfies all of these outstanding liens, so if we don't agree to this, then he's going to have to satisfy 40,000 instead of $22,000 at the closing table. So if we say no, he's not going to be able to close. But I don't know how binding his agreement is with the potential buyer, do you?

MR. PEPPLER: No. I mean, the settlement that we're proposing or that they're proposing is contingent upon them closing with this buyer.

MS. LANDER: See, if they've already got a binding contract contingent only upon the settlement of this lawsuit, then we are not in a position to take the place of that buyer because they've already got a contract.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: No, but what we do is refuse to accept this because we are eating another $18,000 or roughly that. We can refuse to do that and then make the offer.

It's pretty much -- it's got to be a contingent offer. There's no way that that sales contract can be locked in, I don't believe.

MS. LANDER: Right, it would be contingent upon settlement.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Is this coming from Rigby?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Rigby.

MR. PEPPLER: Hopefully, with Rodney and Eunice's authorization.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: If we say no to this, they still owe us 40,300 and the 10,500, right?

MS. LANDER: That's right.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So they owe us these two combined?

MS. LANDER: Fifty thousand.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Right, roughly $50,000.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: But the property is not worth that is the problem when you add the $17,000 on top of it.

MR. PEPPLER: Then you've got to pay off -- foreclose the deal with the mortgage company.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: See, there's 17,000 first mortgage on the thing that has to be resolved.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So if we don't -- if we foreclose, we lose this and then we have to pay that off.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Yeah.

MR. PEPPLER: We have to pay the mortgage company off.

MS. LANDER: Right.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So, in essence --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: You recoup no costs at that point.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So we would be making the offer and he would be smart, really smart, which it doesn't sound like he is.

MR. PEPPLER: I think we've made him smarter.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It's been chasing principle is what he's been doing and it's costs him a lot of money. I think the appropriate way to do it is to decline this and then come back with an offer, because that will then kick in the termination of their existing sales contract. I think procedurally that would be the appropriate route if we say we pass on this offer. We are willing to make this offer, because then -- COMMISSIONER DICKSON: A counteroffer.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: No, it's not even a counteroffer. I just want this offer to die because their sales contract will die, but then we say, but we do have an offer for you. I mean, again --

MS. LANDER: Right. But we will not agree to this.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Because you have to make the statement hand in hand, but I do think it's important that we simply reject this so we can move to the next phase. But it will address an awful lot of issues, and, hopefully, it will keep Andrew from ever darkening the doors again. That's Marie's favorite, I know.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: But she was trying to harass him that one night.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Anyway, that's where I'm at on the thing, and I hope I didn't bore y'all to tears, but it's just been a longstanding problem over there.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: Let me ask you this other question, though. If we offer 56, do we have to get an appraisal on this thing and everything? I mean, you said you're not sure what it appraised at. We can move without the appraisal?

MR. TOUART: The 53 was the agreed upon amount the lawyer offered to you.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: No, but I'm talking about if we say no, we don't want anything to do with that and then we come forward with our --

MS. LANDER: We can check value that the property appraiser has it, is carrying it at. We don't have to do a full scale appraisal, but we can certainly check against the assessed valuation. If we're paying more than the assessed valuation, it will require a super majority vote of the Board.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: That's the reason I'm bringing it up. What if we then say, okay. We were talking about 56, but if it came back and it only appraises at 42 --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: A super majority of the Board is required at that point.

MR. PEPPLER: Their appraiser has appraised it at 48 as of April of '03.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Well, the land values have gone significantly higher.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I'm thinking how we can get there without, you know --

MS. LANDER: We can use their appraisal. Now we have our new ordinance. I think we have the final hearing on it tonight. We can certainly have an appraiser look at that appraisal, update it and be in the ballpark.

MR. TOUART: Well, another thing to consider is all the 17,000 in one way or another is coming back to the County.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That's the beauty of the deal.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: I understand.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: And we shut down what has been an expensive operation for staff.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: For years.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: For years.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: I don't have a problem with that.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: We've got a lot of costs sunk into this thing.

COMMISSIONER DICKSON: So the motion would be to reject the Williams proposal and leave it at that. We don't say anything else because that gives our hand away. So we say we reject the Williams' proposal.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Well, I would say, secondarily, authorize staff to negotiate with the Williamses for acquisition of the property to a maximum of 56,000.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Do you need to say the total?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I think we have to say the upper limit in here.

MR. PEPPLER: In here.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Not out there.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: I'm fine with that.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: What motion do you want out there?

MS. LANDER: To reject the Williams proposal and to authorize staff to proceed with negotiations for the acquisition of the property in accordance with the Board's instructions.

(The Attorney/Client session concluded at 4:22 p.m.)

PROCEEDINGS

MR. PEPPLER: Before you I have the case of Rhonda Hughes versus Escambia County. In the letter that's dated March the 6th, 2007, it summarizes the settlement negotiations, and basically what happened was this case was filed in 2005, and I'll discuss the settlement negotiations first and then I'll get to the facts of the case.

They had made a demand during mediation in trying to settle this case for three million dollars. The highest offer that was at mediation, because the demand was so outrageous, was around $5,000, and mediation ended rather quickly that morning.

(Commissioner Young enters.)

MR. PEPPLER: We then made an offer or proposal for settlement, a settlement of $100,000, and that's pursuant to our statutory waiver of immunity cap. In a personal injury claim all a county is required to pay is up to $100,000, and if there's more than one person injured or involved in the accident or claim, then you can go to a maximum of 200,000.

Settlement negotiations continued after the mediation. They came back with a demand of 895,000.

After further review of the verdicts that could be obtained in a case like this, I made an offer of 150. We got on the phone and we arrived at a figure of 200,000.

08:35 Now, what would happen is we would pay the $100,000 pursuant to our statutory authority and the plaintiff and their attorney, along with the lobbyist, would have to go to the legislature and obtain what's known as a claims bill to obtain the 08:35 remaining 100,000, and should they obtain a claims bill, meaning both houses of the legislature said, yeah, Rhonda Hughes, you're entitled to an additional 100,000 or 50,000, then once that bill is passed then we would pay that next year or whenever 08:35 the legislature meets, whenever this gets before the legislature.

And the reason we're recommending or I'm recommending this settlement is, if you look at the second document before you, Ms. Hughes has a very 08:36 complicated medical history, which is summarized in the first paragraph. Basically she had -- you have it right there, Ms. Young.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: This one?

MR. PEPPLER: No, the other one.

08:36 MR. TOUART: Does all the Board know the history about this case?

MR. PEPPLER: That's what I'm trying to do right now.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Is this the lady that was -- that got the wrong drug from EMS?

MR. PEPPLER: Correct.

MS. LANDER: Correct. And that person was fired. The liability is clear. We're not addressing the liability. The liability is there. It was negligent administration of a drug. She was in a coma for how long, Charlie?

MR. PEPPLER: About 36 hours.

MS. LANDER: Thirty-six hours. So the liability is there. The question is damages.

MR. TOUART: Some of the commissioners may not even know what we're talking about here.

MR. PEPPLER: That's why I'm getting into that. So that's what brought us here today. This woman had a complicated medical history prior to being administered the wrong drug. And what Mivacron is used for, it's called a paralytic, it's used for relaxing muscles in the throat so you can intubate, and this paramedic reached for the wrong vial. He was going to give her Narcan, which sort of awakens a person after they've fainted or lost consciousness.

MS. LANDER: They've overdosed. You use Narcan if they've overdosed.

MR. TOUART: She's a nurse, not you.

08:37 MR. PEPPLER: Right. So he reached for the wrong vial, injected this into Ms. Hughes and she went into respiratory arrest. There was a lack of oxygen to her brain, which caused the coma, and then other delirium and other symptoms.

08:37 And I've listed those symptoms on the second page of the summary. She was claiming a short-term memory loss, in other words, she couldn't remember to take her drugs from her previous condition.

(Commissioner Robinson enters.)

08:38 COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: Good morning.

MR. PEPPLER: The activities of daily living were affected. She claimed a lowered IQ. She claimed that her depression, which preexisted the accident, had been aggravated because of the fact 08:38 that she had lost executive functioning, meaning decision making throughout the course of her life, such as whether to get back into the work force, such decisions as we would normally make during the course of the day.

08:38 Her past medical expenses you can see total around 45,000. She's claiming pain and suffering because of the fact that she has lost this mental capacity that she claims she had before the Mivacron incident. She claims that because her short-term memory is so affected that -- she lives with her mother -- that once her mother passes away, then she'll have no one there to remind her as to what drugs to take because of her preexisting medical conditions. That why she's claiming she would need a part-time nurse or attendant to help her take her drugs.

We did a verdict analysis, you will see in the last paragraph of the summary, of similar type symptoms that she's experiencing, and the range of the verdicts was from a zero all the way up to one point five million, the average being 179,000 of those 24 verdicts. So 200,000 is a little bit above the average, but, again, the zero verdict brings down that average. But, you know, we think that -- one other factor you might want to consider is that we also had an expert, Dr. Barbara Stein, who's a renowned neuropsychiatrist who performed a mental evaluation of her in June, reviewed all the medical records, reviewed the depositions that had been taken, and she even determined there was mild impairment or impairment of her memory functioning from the administration of the Mivacron. So that's something that the jury could take into consideration, that our own expert that we hired to perform this evaluation is coming up with the opinion that she is experiencing impairment from the anoxia or hypoxia, lack of oxygen to her brain, during the period of time she was in respiratory arrest.

08:40 So the recommendation of our office is that we settle on these terms to avoid a larger verdict should this case go to trial.

MS. LANDER: Are there any questions?

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: How long has this case been going?

MR. PEPPLER: It stems from the incident of September 25th of 2002, and they filed the case in 2005.

MR. TOUART: You might also explain to the Board, especially the new Board members, what our liabilities are that we can pay without having to go to the legislature.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: I think that letter says it right there.

MR. TOUART: Okay.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: A 100,000.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: A 100,000.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: So all you need from us is a motion?

08:41 MS. LANDER: When we go back out in the Sunshine, if the Board is inclined to settle this case under these terms, we would like the Board to -- the motion to include agreement to settle the claim for $200,000, with the County paying the first 08:41 $100,000 in accordance with the statutory cap and the other $100,000 would have to come from a claims bill. If it's less than 100, the claims bill awards less than 100, of course, we agree to less than 100. If they seek more than 100, we will not support a 08:41 claims bill in excess of 100. Two hundred thousand is the total we've agreed to, and that's pretty much the way it will be.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: I'm sorry I was late, but what was the actual event that created this?

08:42 MR. PEPPLER: This woman had a fainting or some type of loss of consciousness incident at Wal-Mart September 25th, and our paramedics were called to the scene. One of the paramedics thought she was suffering from a drug overdose, so he was going to 08:42 administer Narcan on the ride back to the emergency room at Sacred Heart. He reached for the wrong vial and administered Mivacron, which is a paralytic which caused her not to be able to breathe and she went into respiratory arrest.

08:42 MS. LANDER: Then she was in a coma for three days -- well, actually 36 hours.

MR. PEPPLER: Then from that, you know, lack of oxygen to her brain, she's claiming that she's lost points on her IQ, she can't function the way she did 08:42 before the incident, she can't get back into the work force.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: You said absolutely our liability was clearly there?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

08:43 COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: Just because I'm new to this case, can you just tell me a little bit more what happened?

MS. LANDER: Well, that's negligence.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: Yeah.

08:43 MS. LANDER: He was acting within the course and scope of his employment and he committed a negligent act, and that's what tort law is all about, to compensate people for the negligence of others.

08:43 COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: But, I mean, was it clearly negligence? Is there any reason to believe --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: You don't administer the wrong drug unless you're negligent.

08:43 COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: I was just begging the question.

MR. PEPPLER: Yes, if this case had proceeded to trial, we would have admitted it.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: We're probably lucky 08:43 to be getting off at 200,000.

MS. LANDER: Once the liability is established, it's a question of what the damages are and when you let it go -- now, we don't think that she was severely damaged. She had problems to begin with. 08:44 However, when you go to a jury with facts like this, you really, really open yourself up to an extremely large claim, so to cap it at 200,000, we think, would be an excellent settlement for both sides.

MR. PEPPLER: I think most people, when I 08:44 workshopped this case around getting their opinions, were pretty much outraged by the fact that she went into a coma and was hospitalized for at least a month off and on and was near death. So that caused the figures to go up in a lot of people's minds.

08:44 COMMISSIONER YOUNG: I just really wonder what kind of condition she is in now, you know, with that kind of history.

MR. PEPPLER: Well, I mean, that would be a question that the jury would consider is, you know, what the condition she is in now, is that based on all her preexisting conditions or because of what we did that caused her to have this impairment?

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: If it goes to trial, would it go to another county because of the problem --

MR. PEPPLER: It would be tried here.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: Hopefully, all who address this would understand who pays that.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: They don't. They don't care. The bottom line we're liable. It's our fault and our own expert says we damaged the woman.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: This is a no-brainer.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: Yeah. Do we need a motion here?

COMMISSIONER WHITE: No, we do it out there.

MS. LANDER: This is just your opportunity to ask questions, to discuss sensitive matters. Let me tell you how this works. We're in the shade, but Linda is transcribing and writing down everything. There's no such thing as off the record in the shade. This will not be published until the case is completely resolved, in other words, if it was to go to appeal until the very last appeal, and then it becomes -- it will be filed and if anyone wanted to read it, they could read it. So at some point what you're saying here will be available for public scrutiny, but not until the case is completely resolved, and we're not allowed to talk about anything but this case.

08:46 So usually what happens is you develop a consensus and then we go out, back into the Sunshine, and then put it in the form of a motion.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Are you saying we're going to court with this?

08:46 MR. PEPPLER: No. No.

MS. LANDER: We would like to settle it.

MR. PEPPLER: This would end it.

MS. LANDER: This is the offer that we got from the other side and Charlie wrote back. It was a 08:46 verbal offer from Stephanie Taylor and Charlie wrote back confirming in writing the substance of the offer and, of course, she understands that we have to bring the offer to you.

So it would be 100,000 up front and then the 08:46 other 100,000, up to 100,000, would come from the legislature.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: So we don't vote on it here, we vote on it out there?

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Yes. Are you going to make the motion, Mike?

08:46

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I can.

The paperwork stays.

(The attorney/client session concluded at 8:47 a.m.)

P R O C E E D I N G S

MS. LANDER: Now, we're on the record.

MR. PEPPLER: We're on the record and Linda is taking down every word we're saying because this is going to be typed up later on when the litigation is over with and I wanted to bring this case before you again.

This is the case of Ernest and Rebecca Wulzer versus Escambia County and the Florida DOT. And this involves -- you have a diagram in front of you, just to refresh your recollection. It's marked Exhibit 64. And you will see to your left there's that borrow pit/retention pond, which is owned by the DOT, to help drain Mobile Highway. We also use it. The County also uses it to drain the Hattaway Subdivision, which is to the north and east of this -- excuse me, south and east of the pond.

In 1994, we increased the County's inlet into this pond and lowered the inlet pipe so that we could drain more water off the roads in the subdivision, because we were getting complaints from residents that every time there was a rainstorm the streets would pond and the back yards and the front yards would get ponding. This took place in '94.

We went through Hurricanes Erin and Opal without any incident. Hurricane Georges comes along and the pond overflows onto the Wulzer property, which you can see is down to the north and east of the pond, and inundates their living room areas and the garage and the bedroom.

They filed suit a couple of years later for the damage from Georges. Their attorney lets a year go by and I moved to dismiss, and their claims relating to Hurricane Georges are all dismissed. However, they refiled their case in 2004, alleging that they received flooding because of rainstorms that took place in June and July of 2003. If you remember, that summer was a very rainy summer, and this pond overtopped again. However, the water only went as far as their garage and I think it inundated a little bit of one of the bedrooms like two or three inches.

Realizing that the major portion of their damages were from Hurricane Georges, they're putting -- they have all their experts, their real estate appraiser expert, their engineering expert, to say that it was actually the smaller flood which caused all the damages to their property. And I've attached Exhibit 61 as part of your handouts here which shows what repairs that they made as a result of the flooding from the pond in June and July and they total around $16,000.

Now, we've retained -- we have our own real estate appraiser who says that, if anything, the value of the property has gone down $15,000 to approximately 105,000, as opposed to the plaintiffs' expert who says that the property is valueless, it's worth zero.

(Commissioner Robinson enters.)

MR. PEPPLER: They also have retained an expert, Oran Baughn -- Lisa Minshew, by the way, is the plaintiffs' attorney and she has the same stable of expert witnesses in all her flood cases. She has Richard Merrill, who is her engineer, and she has Walter Humphrey, who is a real estate appraiser, and she has Oran Baughn, who gives an estimate of what it will cost to repair the property. In all her cases, those are her three expert witnesses. So Walt Humphrey has said that the property is worth nothing. Richard Merrill said that you shouldn't have built a subdivision downstream of the pond unless the pond was a 100-year storm compliant. And Oran Baughn says it's going to cost around 300,000 or 170,000 and something in the upward five figures to repair the home because there's foundational damage.

We're contending, again, with our real estate appraiser that if any devaluation took place it was only around 10 or 15,000. If everything goes wrong for us, the most you can ever get is this amount of money that's shown in Exhibit 61, which is what it would cost you to repair from the flooding from the pond. And we have an engineering expert, Scott Early, who used to work for the County and now is with HDR or no, DMP, excuse me, and he has given an opinion that the modifications that we made in '94, although it did have an effect on the capacity of the pond, it was negligible, in other words, he's saying that in the two instances when you have a 25-year storm in the eight-hour and 24-hour concentration, you're going to have overtopping, but his opinion is that with our modifications to the pond, we had a negligible or minimal effect on the capacity of the pond.

The City has settled out with the plaintiff for $1,000 and what they did was in addition to paying $1,000 to the plaintiff, they created a swale along the golf course here to help direct water away from the Wulzer property. The DOT has made an offer of settlement of $20,000. And what I'm asking the Commission today is to give us or give this office settlement authority for $20,000. And the reason I'm asking that is because there is some risk that the jury may say, well, there's something that the County did and something that the DOT didn't do which caused flooding to these folks, and they seem like nice folks, let's give them some money. And that's the fear that you always have when you're dealing with -- you know, these are pretty decent folks -- when you're dealing with them going against government.

And what I want is authority for 20,000, and when you round off the expenses that they're claiming of 15,977, you round that off to 16, add 25 percent, you get 20. And the reason I'm asking that is that should a jury return a verdict of 25 percent less than 20,000, then we would be entitled to attorney's fees because of the rules stating if you make a proposal for settlement and the plaintiff doesn't accept it and the verdict comes in for 25 percent less than your proposal for settlement, then the plaintiff has to pay your attorney's fees. So that's a little bit of the fear of God that, you know, you better carefully consider this offer of settlement in conjunction with the DOT before you decide to go to trial. And this trial is scheduled the week of September 11th. So that's what I'm asking.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: I don't have a problem with it.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: We offer to give them -- offer not to exceed 20,000.

MR. PEPPLER: Right. I'll make it --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Negotiations up to 20,000.

MR. PEPPLER: Correct.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: Second, if that was your motion.

MS. LANDER: Well, you can't make a motion.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: You have to do that out there.

MS. LANDER: You can only make a motion in the Sunshine.

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah, I think, you know, Janet will advise -- go ahead.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: What if they refuse it?

MR. PEPPLER: Then we would proceed to trial and if the jury returns a verdict of less than 25 percent of 16,000 or below, then the attorney's fees that I have accrued over the next four or five months, you know, may take away all their verdict, so they have to think long and hard about whether they want to proceed to trial.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Have they accepted either of the other offers?

MR. PEPPLER: They have accepted the City's offer.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: How much?

MR. PEPPLER: One thousand plus putting a swale on the golf course. The City didn't really have any...

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Did they accept DOT's offer?

MR. PEPPLER: I don't know.

MS. LANDER: So when we get out there, you make a motion to authorize the County Attorney's office to make an offer of settlement in accordance with the Board's direction and then to bring that back for final, if it's accepted, to bring that back for final approval by the Board, but we're not going to mention the amount out there because otherwise they would know right off the bat.

MR. PEPPLER: And the rules state you have to keep it confidential so potential jurors don't find out.

MR. PEPPLER: Okay. Thank you.

MS. LANDER: Wait. We have Ambush.

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah, I know. I'm saying thank you.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: All right. I mean, it seems like we're -- well, okay, I mean, if 20,000 is what makes it happened, then I'm fine with that. I can work with that.

MR. PEPPLER: Okay.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Did you want to give them more?

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: No, not at all. I would love to give them less, but it sounds like that's the number that is where our Counsel feels like we need to go.

MR. PEPPLER: Correct.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Well, you're basing that number, too, a lot on DOT's offer, as well, right?

MR. PEPPLER: Right. They're looking at a pot of 41,000 and if they don't accept that based on a very small flooding incident, then --

MR. TOUART: Now, they have to pay Lisa Minshew's fees.

MR. PEPPLER: Correct.

MR. TOUART: I want to make sure everybody knows.

MR. PEPPLER: Yes.

MR. TOUART: Out of that money.

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: She's expensive.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: She's not going to let them accept that. She's going to make them go for more so she can get more.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Okay. That's her deal.

MR. PEPPLER: We're ready to accommodate them on a trial.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: Is this like ongoing flooding all the time? I mean, I'm sorry, I walked in late on this.

MR. PEPPLER: It flooded once during Hurricane Georges. Hurricane Georges was a 100-year storm. And it's flooded during June and July of 2003. I don't know if you remember, it was a very rainy summer and we had back to back storms and obviously this overtaxed the pond and caused the flooding. It didn't flood during Ivan.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: Or the storms after Ivan in April of 2005.

MR. PEPPLER: It didn't flood in the April 1st,

2005 rainstorm.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: Okay. That's the one that usually hits everybody's pond.

MR. PEPPLER: It did come up to the road, but it didn't get into their property.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: But that's a benchmark flood.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: Oh, absolutely. For most ponds that I know of, that is the benchmark flood, is the April 2005.

MR. TOUART: By that time the County had done some repair work on that pond. I know where you're going, but still 20,000 is a good offer.

MS. LANDER: Is the swale helping at all?

MR. PEPPLER: Well, we've had this -- it just got put in by the City and we've had a real dry summer and spring.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Right now it's working great.

MR. PEPPLER: It's working great.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Is that in the City or outside the City?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It's over by the golf course, Osceola Golf Course.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: But the City gets involved because --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: The City owns the golf course.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: Exactly. That's the only reason the City is involved.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: That's in your district?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That's Gene's.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: He's got his version of Judy Roberts.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: I was going to ask Doris for a vote.

MS. LANDER: This is on the record.

(Conclusion of discussion on Wulzer vs. Escambia County.)

MR. PEPPLER: So why don't we go to the County versus Hethington case, and this is the --

MS. LANDER: That's on the record, too.

MR. PEPPLER: The slap? I was kidding.

All right. And this is a facility -- this is vegetative debris?

MS. LANDER: Yes, vegetative debris.

MR. PEPPLER: Vegetative debris, and it's to the west of Blue Angel Parkway.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: I think we are all aware of where this one is at. We're very familiar with this situation.

MR. PEPPLER: And it's apparently still burning. The DEP has some enforcement action going on with regard to the pit.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: I thought the burning had stopped.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It's never stopped.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: I thought it stopped.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: No, we're out there once a week putting out fires.

MR. PEPPLER: I spoke to Sandy Jennings about this.

MR. TOUART: I got a bill, too, by the way. I had my staff E-mail it. I just got it. I got a bill for what money we've spent so far out there doing this. Obviously, it's ongoing. Before he starts his presentation, we have incurred quite a bit of expense out there. I'll give you a copy after this session.

MR. PEPPLER: Do you know how much?

MR. TOUART: No, I can find out for you real quick. Do you want me to do that right now?

MS. LANDER: No, you cannot leave and get information and come back.

MR. TOUART: I'm sorry, I didn't know you had it on the agenda today.

MS. LANDER: That's okay.

MR. PEPPLER: In any event, while Mr. Hethington was represented by Jesse Rigby and Tom Dunaway, they had made a settlement offer that we would take title to the landfill and close it out, because their contention is that Hethington is basically penniless and is going to walk away from the site anyway and not pay the taxes and eventually we could become the owners of the property if no one bid on the tax certificate.

He has -- Hethington has since fired his attorneys or they've moved to withdraw from representing him, I guess, because he doesn't have any source of income, but we still need to respond to the settlement offer, and after speaking to Sandy Jennings and their department -- that was the handwritten document that I put out in front of everyone.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Who wrote this?

MR. PEPPLER: It was a consultant.

MR. TOUART: This is the bill I was looking for.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: This is not a bill, George. This is the cost of closing.

MR. TOUART: I've got the other one downstairs.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: One point four million?

COMMISSIONER WHITE: That's it.

MR. PEPPLER: The consultant was retained by Sandy. The name escapes me right now.

So in light of the fact that we would be expending one point four million dollars, which, apparently, we don't have that, Sandy recommends that we not take title.

I'm also asking the Commission for authority to proceed with a permanent injunction. Right now we have a temporary injunction requiring him to put the fire out and giving us permission to go on the land.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: Can we go after him criminally?

MR. PEPPLER: I think those are still pending.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: He's spent a couple of days in jail already.

MR. TOUART: I took care of that for you, twice.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: I appreciate that, because my ex-wife called me when you put him in jail. That's who my ex is married to now. I don't care if that's on the record.

MR. PEPPLER: Anyway, so I'm going to ask the Commission today for authority to proceed with a permanent injunction and also to try to recover some of those costs that George is talking about.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: The permanent injunction is to do what now?

MR. PEPPLER: To require him to bring the landfill into compliance and, you know, keep it from burning.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: I thought that was already done. Didn't we have an injunction?

MS. LANDER: Temporary.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Temporary. We want a permanent one.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: Yeah, I think if he's going to leave --

MR. TOUART: Here's the question I need to ask, Counselor. There was some question at one time -- I think I talked to you, Janet, maybe to Alison, but the way the County got involved in the first place, obviously, there were flames way up in the air and it was a hazard to neighboring houses. It was pretty close. It's not at this point in time a threat to the neighboring houses because it's obviously smoldering, and like Commissioner White said, we go out there once a week and put more dirt on it. Can we charge a cost if it's not a threat to houses as a public nuisance type situation or some kind of legal term, because we're still expending dollars going out there and preventing it from becoming a towering inferno again?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Who are you going to charge?

MR. TOUART: That's my whole point.

MS. LANDER: What we're doing is we're gathering the costs because in the preliminary injunction that was issued by the Court, the Court said the County may go on the property and take abatement actions necessary to protect the public health and safety and bring their costs back to the Court and present them to the Court and then the Court can impose them. They can include that in the temporary or permanent injunction.

MR. TOUART: The point is he's broke today. This guy has had a lot of money. He may, in fact, come back again. If we get a judgment in the Circuit Court, we can always watch this guy, but he's not going anywhere.

MS. LANDER: If there's truly a belief that he is trying to hide assets or anything that unlawfully shelters his assets, we can hire investigators to do an assets check, but that's good money after bad.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I suspect that that's probably the case. He is the type of operator that he has enough knowledge of land filling operations of this nature and contacts that he could probably -- I mean, it's all under a corporation anyway. The corporation is bankrupt. He will fold the doors on the corporation and reopen a new one at a new piece of property under a new corporate name and he's insulated. That's why they've done corporations, is for this very reason.

The bigger question to me is is there any way to go after DEP? DEP is the agency that permitted this operation, and even though his permit is expired, they still are -- they're the ones that should be responsible for the closing efforts.

MS. LANDER: The State is responsible for closure. They have been whining about not having any money, too, but you're right, they are responsible for closure.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Can we include the State in some fashion in this action? Why is it not Escambia County versus Keith Hethington and the State of Florida slash DEP? We've incurred expenses on behalf of the State.

MR. PEPPLER: For the same reason that, I guess, you know, we exercise sovereign immunity when we do a permitting function or inspections. We can't be sued because we didn't issue a permit or we neglected to.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: It could be if you did issue a permit and damage occurred.

MS. LANDER: But we can't sue for damages, but we can seek a declaratory judgment for responsibility.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: The closure, they're responsible for closure, they're responsible for a closure plan and to insure that it's there.

MR. TOUART: A permanent situation.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: If they allow the permit to expire and that hasn't been done, it seems that they still have an obligation, otherwise people would just let their permit expire and the DEP is out of the picture. And that's not --

MR. PEPPLER: They are pursuing Hethington right now in a separate lawsuit.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Hethington has no assets. DEP does.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: The DEP should be doing this, correct?

MS. LANDER: They will ultimately be responsible. At the end of all this, if he is bankrupt, if he just doesn't have the assets to do it and he abandons this facility, then it falls to the State, the physical responsibility falls to the State. I don't know that we need to jump the gun on it. The State is prosecuting him right now and bringing their own action and trying to exhaust all possibility of recovering their costs.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I think they have to.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: But they're not part of it now.

MS. LANDER: They are.

MR. PEPPLER: They've given us copies of their pleadings and I am monitoring that and attending the hearings.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: The DEP has basically been silent and has pushed off the responsibility on us right now. They haven't taken a responsible partnership on this, have they?

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah, they're bringing a lawsuit and seeking to hold Hethington responsible for the closure and to try to get as much as money as they can from him.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: What do we need to do?

I mean, I don't want the property.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: Well, we're not taking the property.

MR. PEPPLER: The first thing we do is reject the settlement offer.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: Let the State keep the property.

MR. PEPPLER: And the second thing is give our office authority to pursue further relief for permanent injunction and damages.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: Absolutely.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: In the criminal violations, has the DEP been proactive or is this just County-based criminal activity?

MR. PEPPLER: I guess there's, what, four misdemeanors pending?

MS. LANDER: Yes.

MR. PEPPLER: There's several misdemeanors.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: There ought to be more than misdemeanor.

MS. LANDER: That's what the law allows, though.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: This is a shame. I mean, this is just -- this should be something more than that and the State should be dealing with that.

COMMISSIONER VALENTINO: That's my point, Grover, good point. I think there should be more State involvement in this thing.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: That's why we have --

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: That's why we have DEP. This is the kind of person DEP should be going after and putting under the jail.

MR. TOUART: I can promise you I'm not on their Christmas list.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Oh, yeah, without a doubt.

MS. LANDER: We're attempting to -- we've been slowed down by things beyond our control. There are always many issues that bump this issue, but we are in the process of creating a permitting authority from the State to the County and the County will be responsible for the operation and permitting of all of these landfills, but the State will remain responsible for the closure. Within our ordinance we're going to require bonds.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: This situation could not duplicate itself under the new scenario. It's just, again, one of those that's a holdover from the old regime.

MR. TOUART: Just so y'all will know, at the end of the day, so to speak, it is still burning, it never goes out. Until you knock it down and spread it out, it's there. It's underground and it's a smoldering combustible fire, so it's going to occur again and it's going to continue to occur. We actually had to build a road into this with County money to be able to get to it to put the fire out. He was doing nothing. It's gross negligence.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: I keep waiting for this to happen over at Cove Avenue.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: Is that the same guy we allowed to work on Saturday?

MS. LANDER: No.

MR. TOUART: That's Saufley. This is Ambush.

MS. LANDER: He doesn't work at all.

COMMISSIONER ROBINSON: Which one is Cove? Are they the ones --

COMMISSIONER WHITE: That's over on Ten Mile Road.

MR. VALENTINO: That's going on on Cove?

COMMISSIONER WHITE: No. No. No. I said I'm waiting for this to happen to the one on Cove.

MR. TOUART: About the same quality of ownership, different people. Of course, I haven't met any respectable landfill owner.

MS. LANDER: We'll go back out into the Sunshine and take action on one and two.

PROCEEDINGS

MS. LANDER: I remind you all that nothing can be off the record, that this transcript will be made available to me and the Clerk. It will be sealed until such time as the case is completely resolved, but at that point it will become public record, so always be careful about what you say because eventually everything you say will find its way to the public record.

MR. PEPPLER: This case has been before you once before, and Bob, because of his duties as the assistant county administrator, has some experience with this project. And just to give you some background, the Wulzers own a house right here, which abuts the Osceola Golf Course, which is owned by the City. And we use a pond, which is owned by the DOT, to drain water, stormwater runoff, from all the area shown in the aqua lines.

The pond originally was used by the DOT to drain water off of Mobile Highway, so they have a pipe going in, and we have a pipe going into the pond at the DOT's consent back in 1994.

In '94, because we were having so many problems with ponding on Seminole Trail and Mohawk Trail and this part of the subdivision, we got funding to widen the inlet and cause runoff to come into the pond at a greater rate. This was back in '94.

Prior to that time, the Wulzers had never experienced any type of flooding from the pond, but once we widened the inlet, along came Hurricane Georges in '98 and Tropical Storm Bill in July of 2003, and the pond overtopped its bank and inundated their property on two occasions.

Their property -- this will be the pond right here. Here's the pipe that takes water from the pond. It goes underneath Talladega Trail. Here's the Wulzers' property. The water goes along a 400- or 500-foot corrugated metal pipe, which is on our easement abutting the Osceola Golf Course. And what happened was in Hurricane Georges, Tropical Storm Bill, and two years ago in March and April of '05 when we had those series of large rainstorms and all the county was flooded, the pond overtopped and came onto the Wulzers' property.

Now, they contended that from the Hurricane Georges storm that the foundation here, as the water came rushing past and went down along this way and underneath their house, they contended that they had foundation problems and that their foundation cracked and the roof started to settle along with other portions of the house. In the July 2nd storm, five years later, they claimed that that particular initial damage was worsened because of water reaching the area of the house.

Mr. Wulzer, after the July 2nd flood, decided to build a berm so that water, if the pond ever overtopped, would be routed back onto the golf course and go down Talladega Trail. So on January the 3rd of '04 as he was -- he finally got his brother-in-law and some people to put dirt there and build a berm and when he was throwing sod there with his wife, he suffered a stroke and was out of work for approximately three or four months.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: What was he doing?

MR. PEPPLER: He was building a berm to try to keep water from inundating his house.

MS. LANDER: He was laying sod.

MR. PEPPLER: And laying sod.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Aren't you glad you're chief litigator?

MR. PEPPLER: Whatever could go wrong with this case did go wrong with this case.

So we go into mediation in June of last year and that's why you have some knowledge of this case. And we had Scott Early, who used to be an engineer here with the County and is now with DRMP, who did a drainage study. At first he told me that, well, the pond appears to be able to hold 25-year storms, but then when he went back over the figure, it turns out that the pond does overtop on two occasions in a 25-year storm and on five occasions in the 100-year storm criteria.

So his theory was and what we were going to trial with is that the modification that we did back in '94 had no real effect on the operation of the pond, that it was going to overtop anyway in those particular storm events. So that's going to be -- to me that would be a real hard sale to the jury, that, hey, folks, even though we widened the inlet and took more water from the south and put in the pond, nothing we did really caused that pond to overtop, it would have overtopped anyway.

The judge -- we had a -- this case was set for trial about two weeks ago and the judge had a pretrial conference and, of course, we argued strenuously to keep out the evidence of Mr. Wulzer, poor Mr. Wulzer building his berm to keep the water out and he and his wife are out there throwing sod and he had a stroke from the exertion from throwing the sod. But the judge said, no, that can come in, because one of the claims that the plaintiff is making against you is nuisance and one of the elements of damages of nuisance is sickness or annoyance, and he was trying to protect his property and he suffered a stroke, which is a sickness. I think it's relevant and I think the jury should hear that.

So we were left with, again, having a pond that we knew overtopped, and then having the jury hear the evidence of this poor homeowner trying to protect his property from our pond that overtopped, we knew it would overtop.

And then there were other damages, which I can show you, of damages to his house from what he contends was settlement, cracks to his house. And these were photographs taken by our real estate appraiser showing that, you know, as the foundation settled from water going underneath around the house, that he began having cracks in his brick facade.

So he also contended that this portion of the roof sagged from the flooding events, the three flooding events that I told you about, and we really had no photographic evidence to show that before Hurricane Georges that, you know, the house was sagging or subsiding anyway.

You will see before you the little handout of what the plaintiff was going to claim at the trial and you can see that the damages claimed were for the out-of-pocket expenses for damage to personal property that he lost during the flooding events, both of -- well, mainly, in Tropical Storm Bill, his lost wages due to the stroke, the estimated repairs needed to make the home or repair the damage to the home from the flooding event.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: What was the total?

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: 515,000.

MR. PEPPLER: And not all of that would have been -- I mean, the judge could have let it all in. I don't really know what the judge would have done, but as far as the appellate court, not all of those damages could come in, because there's a rule that you can claim the cost of repairs to your home as long as it doesn't exceed the value of your home. So there would have been a question for Judge Bell to determine as to whether the home, first of all, could be repaired and, secondly, what would be the value of the home if it was a total loss due to this flooding?

MR. PEPPLER: The plaintiff's attorney also had a claim for inverse condemnation, and she was claiming that there was an overflow drainage easement that we took from their property and we were using this property to drain our pond on. The judge felt at first that she could try all these claims together, not only the tort claims, but the inverse condemnation claims, but we argued that it would probably be committing reversible error to do that because once the court makes an order or a finding that the land has been taken, that's our land, so we can't commit a tort against our own land.

So whether the judge would have, you know, saw the error of that or would have said, I'm going to let the jury decide the tort claim and thinking of what he was thinking in his own mind, if they come back with a fairly good size verdict, I'm going to find there's been no taking. Conversely, if he felt that the jury didn't come back with an adequate verdict, he might have found the taking and tried to award some value that they had lost from the inverse condemnation.

You may be saying, well, the most they could have lost, apparently, according to her figures, is $85,000, because of the value of the house, but she would be entitled or the plaintiffs would be entitled to attorney's fees and that could have one run into the six figures by the time we had gone through the trial.

To make a long story short, it seemed to me that a settlement was appropriate for four main reasons:

One, we had the evidence of a stroke, which I think would have been pretty hard to get the jury -- get that out of the jury's mind, here's the poor homeowner trying to protect his property from the mean government and he suffers a stroke.

Secondly, that we had our own expert that said, yes, this pond will overtop in a certain storm event, even though he's saying nothing we did aggravated the overtopping situation.

Third, we have photographs like this showing cracking to the house.

And, fourth, this case, not only did they sue the County, but they also sued the DOT, and since the DOT has been a part of this, they came up with -- I knew this was going to happen.

(Cell phone ringing.)

MR. PEPPLER: They came up with the theory that when we gave you permission or when we said that you could go in and make these modifications, we wanted you to give us a hold harmless agreement and they never provided us with a hold harmless agreement, but then when they got sued, they said, well, we never really gave you permission, it was all conditioned on you executing the hold harmless agreement. So I got them to say if you go before the jury and try to make that argument to them, it looks like you're trying to disassociate yourself from that pond, that there's something wrong with it, and the jury is going to say, well, something must be wrong with this pond because both of you are saying the other one is pointing the finger at the other one.

So as we got closer to trial, apparently, there was a change in hierarchy in the DOT, because they were saying we're not going to go along with the fact that we gave you permission. We're going to go on the defense that you never had permission to widen the inlet 13 years ago.

So, of course, the attorney for the DOT really didn't want -- you know, she could see my theory of defense and that would be disastrous before a jury, but she was fighting with her hierarchy whether they would see the wisdom of having a joint defense and saying, yeah, we gave the County permission to widen the inlet and we don't see where there was anything dangerous about this pond or that it caused any overtopping because of what the County did.

So based on that, I made an offer to the plaintiff's attorney that if the DOT would participate in the settlement, we would also make an offer. And the DOT did offer $45,000 to settle and we offered $65,000 to settle, for a total of 110.

And the reason I mentioned Bob's name is right now we're going through a design process to make this pond compliant for a 100-year storm. Apparently, we're going to put in a bypass pipe to not route so much stormwater runoff into the pond and we're going to raise Talladega Trail a foot, which the pond is right here, here's the Wulzers' property, we're going to raise it a foot, so it can act as a berm in the event of any danger of overtopping.

So with the fact that we are taking steps to make this pond a 100-year compliant to reduce the risk of this pond ever overtopping, the fact that we have the DOT contributing a sizable amount to the settlement, it's my recommendation that we settle this case for $65,000.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Are they going to accept it?

MR. PEPPLER: They said they would.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I would say accept it.

MR. PEPPLER: The only hitch, and I need your authority on this, is apparently in -- it was always my assumption that once we got the release from --

COMMISSIONER WHITE: The total number here came up to half a million.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: We're talking 65 for us.

COMMISSIONER WHITE: Versus the half million.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: And the 45 from the State.

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

But the only hitch in the settlement negotiation is that when all is said and done and the plaintiff's attorney made an announcement to the judge that's what the settlement terms were, she said, well, I'm only going to dismiss the case once this project is done and so, you know, I told the judge, no, that was never our agreement, because that would leave her in the driver's seat as to when, you know, the project is done and when the case would be dismissed. And so what I told her was I was going to recommend to the Board, and I need your approval for this, is that the dismissal would take place upon, you know, the plaintiffs signing the release, payment of the settlement funds, and then the plaintiffs' attorney would have to sign the stipulation of dismissal and that would be submitted to the judge and the case would go away. I did provide her task orders showing her that we're going forward with the project and the 90 percent plans that Scott has prepared and submitted to the County Engineer to show that we're serious with going forward with this project, and for all intents and purposes it will be completed.

MS. LANDER: Even if we don't, if it floods again, they can bring a new suit.

MR. PEPPLER: Right. Exactly.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: What about attorney's fees.

MR. PEPPLER: That would come from -- that's an agreement between them. She would take whatever fee that she thought appropriate from the settlement. We wouldn't have to pay the fees.

COMMISSIONER YOUNG: All right.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Is there also a taking case floating out there still?

MR. PEPPLER: No, that would all be part of the settlement. That would go away. And would be through the date of the signing of the release, so if they sign it next week and we have, you know, a rainstorm that causes overtopping in October, you know, they would have a new claim, if they suffered any damage.

MS. LANDER: Is there an offer on the table or is this meeting to get authorization for you to say yes or no?

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I say do it.

MS. LANDER: When we go back out --

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: I would hate to have to try that.

MR. PEPPLER: Yeah, it was kind of a scary proposition.

COMMISSIONER WHITEHEAD: Where's Messer when you need him?

MS. LANDER: You don't want the Board to mention the dollar amount because we'll bring that back to the Board for final approval in a future county attorney report. We'll just say that you should go ahead and continue to negotiate settlement in accordance with the Board's direction and then bring it back to the Board for final approval.

MR. PEPPLER: Right.

MS. LANDER: Okay.

RECOMMENDATION:

5:45 p.m. - A Public Hearing Concerning the Review of an LDC Ordinance Amending Chapter 4, Location and Use Regulations

That the Board of County Commissioners (BCC) review and adopt an Ordinance to the Land Development Code (LDC) Chapter 4, Article 4, Airport and Airfield Environs and Chapter 6, Definitions, to incorporate necessary information to implement airport protection zoning regulations in compliance with Florida Statutes, Chapter 333.

BACKGROUND:

Florida Statues 333.03 Requirement to adopt airport zoning regulations. Every political subdivision having an airport hazard area within it territorial limits SHALL adopt, administer, and enforce, under the police power and in the manner and upon the conditions prescribed in this section airport protection zoning regulations for such airport hazard area.

If an airport is owned or controlled by a political subdivision and if any other political subdivision has land upon which an obstruction may be constructed or altered which underlies any surface of the airport as provided in 14 C.F.R. part 77, subpart C, the political subdivisions shall either by interlocal agreement, adopt, administer, and enforce a set of airport protection zoning regulations; or create a joint airport protection zoning board.

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

No budgetary impact is anticipated by the adoption of this Ordinance.

LEGAL CONSIDERATIONS/SIGN-OFF:

The attached Ordinance has been reviewed and approved for legal sufficiency by Meredith D. Crawford, Assistant County Attorney. Any recommended legal comments are attached herein.

PERSONNEL:

No additional personnel are required for implementation of this Ordinance.

POLICY/REQUIREMENT FOR BOARD ACTION:

The proposed Ordinance is consistent with the Board's goal "to increase citizen involvement in, access to, and approval of, County government activities."

IMPLEMENTATION/COORDINATION:

This Ordinance, amending the LDC, will be filed with the Department of State following adoption by the board.

Implementation of this Ordinance will consist of an amendment to the LDC and distribution of a copy of the adopted Ordinance to interested citizens and staff.

The proposed Ordinance was prepared by the Development Services Department, in cooperation with the County Attorney's Office and all interested citizens. The Development Services Department will ensure proper advertisement.

AN ORDINANCE OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, AMENDING PART III OF THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY CODE OF ORDINANCES, THE LAND DEVELOPMENT CODE OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, AS AMENDED; AMENDING CHAPTER 4, LOCATION AND USE REGULATIONS, ARTICLE 4, AIRPORT AND AIRFIELD ENVIRONS, AMENDING SECTION 4-4.1, PURPOSE OF THE ARTICLE; AMENDING SECTION 4-4.2, GENERAL PROVISIONS; AMENDING SECTION 4-4.3 HAZARDS TO AIR NAVIGATION; ADDING SECTION 4-4.4 AIRPORT HAZARD STRUCTURE PERMIT; AMENDING SECTION 4-4.5 AIRPORT AND AIRFIELD PLANNING DISTRICTS; AMENDING SECTION 4-4.6 VARIANCES; ADDING SECTION 4-4.7 NONCONFORMING STRUCTURES; ADDING SECTION 4-4.8 APPEALS; AMENDING CHAPTER 6, DEFINITIONS; AMENDING SECTION 6-0.3 TERMS DEFINED, SUBSECTIONS "A", "P", and "Q & R" TO INCORPORATE DEFINITIONS NECESSARY FOR AIRPORT ZONING REGULATIONS; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; PROVIDING FOR INCLUSION IN THE CODE AND PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

WHEREAS, Chapter 125, Florida Statutes, empowers the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida to prepare, amend and enforce comprehensive plans for the development of the County; and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners finds that modifying the language to meet the requirements of Chapter 333, Florida Statutes, is necessary and serves an important public purpose; and

WHEREAS, the Escambia County Planning Board conducted a public hearing and forwarded a recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners to approve this amendment to its Comprehensive Plan; and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida finds that the adoption of this amendment is in the best interest of the County and its citizens;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida, as follows:

Section 1. Part III of the Escambia County Code of Ordinances, the Land Development Code of Escambia County, Chapter 4, Location and Use Regulations, Article 4, Airport and Airfield Environs, is hereby amended as follows: (words underlined are additions and words ~~stricken~~ are deletions)

Article 4 Airport and Airfield Environs

Sec. 4-4.1 Purpose of article.

This article establishes land use regulations that implement Comprehensive Plan policies requiring the prevention of airport and airfield hazards and incompatible land uses around those facilities. It is the intent of these regulations to ensure the continued safe and efficient use of navigable airspace and operation of airports, airfields and other air navigation or communication facilities within the county. Airport and airfield hazards effectively reduce the size of areas available for the landing, taking off and maneuvering of aircraft, tending to destroy or impair both the present and future utility of aviation facilities and any public investment in them. Incompatible uses and activities have the potential for being hazardous to persons and property on the ground as well as aircraft operations.

The County shall enforce its airport regulations to assure compliance with the requirements set forth in Chapter 333, Florida Statutes, as amended, to meet the intent of the Federal Aviation Administration's reviewed and accepted noise exposure maps, and to prevent encroachment into airport operational areas.

Sec. 4-4.2 General provisions.

(a) Approval required. All land uses and development activities in proximity to airports and airfields require county review, permitting, and approval for compliance with the regulations of this article unless the use or activity is specifically identified in the LDC as exempt from these regulations. The regulations include both obstruction limitations for flight safety and land use restrictions for areas exposed to noise and accident risk.

(b) Modification of regulations. Variances to the strict application of the regulations of this article may only be granted as specifically allowed by the variance provisions of this article and the compliance review processes of Chapter 2.

(c) Applicable airports and airfields. The following facilities, each with an established elevation of the highest point above mean sea level of its runways or landing areas, are protected by the provisions of this article:

Pensacola International Airport: 121 feet

Ferguson Airport: 27 feet

Naval Air Station (NAS) Pensacola, Sherman Field: 28 feet

~~Navy Outlying Landing Field (NOLF) Site 8: 110 feet~~

Any new airport as may be developed within the County.

(d) Source standards. The obstruction provisions of this article are derived from federal obstruction standards in Safe, Efficient Use, and Preservation of the Navigable Airspace, 14 CFR pt. 77, and Unified Facilities Criteria (UFC) 3-260-01, Airfield and Heliport Planning and Design. The land use compatibility provisions are derived from Airport Noise Compatibility Planning, 14 CFR pt. 150, and the Air Installations Compatible Use Zones (AICUZ) program as described in OPNAV Instruction 11010.36C. However, whenever the provisions of this section reference federal standards or recommendations, the latest version is intended unless the context clearly indicates otherwise.

(e) Notifications.

(1) Federal Aviation Administration. Any person proposing any construction or alteration requiring notice to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) shall file such notice according to the applicability, form and time of notice requirements established in federal "preservation of navigable airspace" regulations. Subsequently, the FAA will make a determination of any hazard to air navigation and the appropriateness of any obstruction marking and lighting or other measures necessary for the continued safety of air navigation. However, FAA determinations are not approvals or permits for any construction or development. Approval and permitting remain responsibilities of the state and county which have authority to require the air safety measures recommended by the FAA and to deny a construction or alteration permit regardless of FAA determinations.

(2) State of Florida. All variances to airport or airfield provisions of the LDC, or any amendments to them, shall be filed with the State of Florida in compliance with the provisions of this article. Any state permits required for structures exceeding federal standards for obstructions to air navigation shall be obtained according to Florida Statutes.

(3) Airport and airfield officials. Notification to airport or airfield officials is required for any property that is within a designated airport or airfield height limitation zone or planning district and is the subject of an application for rezoning, all site development, subdivision or Board or Adjustment (BOA) approval, or as otherwise determined appropriate by the Planning Official. Those officials identified in the interlocal agreement between Escambia County and the U.S. Navy shall be notified regarding military airfields, and the director of the Pensacola International Airport shall be notified regarding that facility.

Notification shall include access to application documents, a request to review and comment on proposed actions, and a request for recommendations to the county regarding application approval.

(f) Interior noise reduction. In areas of high noise exposure from normal airport and airfield operations, interior noise reduction methods are required to maintain compatibility for some uses. Anticipated high noise exposure is represented by noise zones according to a FAA standard measure of the 24-hour day-night average sound level (Ldn). Noise reduction required by the applicable noise zone shall be identified on building construction plans and accomplished according to nationally accepted sound attenuation methods. For the habitable space within any new building or building addition, the following noise reductions are required by exposure:

(1) Below 65 Ldn. For noise exposures less than 65 Ldn, no interior noise reduction is required.

(2) Between 65 and 70 Ldn. For noise exposures between 65 and 70 Ldn, an interior noise level reduction of at least 25 decibels (dB) is required for residential uses or educational facilities, and is recommended for other noise sensitive uses.

(3) Between 70 and 75 Ldn. For noise exposures between 70 and 75 Ldn, an interior noise level reduction of at least 30 dB is required for residential, educational, public assembly or reception, office, and other noise sensitive uses.

(4) Above 75 Ldn. For noise exposures above 75 Ldn, residential and educational uses are prohibited regardless of noise reduction measures, but an interior noise level reduction of at least 35 dB is required for public assembly or reception, office, and other noise sensitive uses.

(g) Divided parcels and buildings. Generally, when a parcel is divided by an airport or airfield planning district boundary, only that portion of the parcel within the district is subject to district requirements. Requirements of the areas or zones that make up a planning district are similarly limited. However, when any part of a parcel is within an airfield planning district, the avigation easement provisions apply to the entire parcel. For any new building or addition proposed within more than one noise zone, the more stringent sound reduction requirements apply to the entire building or addition.

(h) Transfer of development rights. At such time as the county may establish a comprehensive program for transfer of development rights, parcels within the airport and airfield planning districts shall be eligible as sending parcels, but shall not be included in that program as receiving parcels.

Sec. 4-4.3 Hazards to air navigation.

(a) Hazards prohibited. No permit or other approval to construct a new structure or establish a new use shall be granted that would allow the establishment or creation of an airport or airfield hazard. Additionally, no approval shall be granted that would allow a nonconforming use, structure or site condition to become a higher obstruction or greater hazard to air navigation.

(b) Obstruction hazards. A hazard to air navigation is presumed to exist when an object of natural growth or terrain, or of permanent or temporary construction or alteration, including mobile objects and equipment or materials used, exceeds any federally established standards for identifying obstructions to air navigation or navigational aids or facilities. Those standards apply regardless of other LDC height limits. ~~An object is not considered an obstruction hazard by the FAA or the county if an aeronautical study by the FAA concludes that the object is not a hazard to air navigation.~~

~~(1) Height limit maps. An object is or would be an obstruction to air navigation if it is of greater height than any of the federally established limits for airports and airfields. Those limits are mapped for each of the airports and airfields identified in this article and are specifically adopted here by reference as the Airport and Airfield Height Limitation Zone Maps of Escambia County. The maps are declared to be part of the LDC, with the information shown on them having the same force and effect as the text of the LDC. The height limitation zone maps represent the primary, clear zone, approach, horizontal, conical, transitional and other imaginary surfaces applicable to the takeoff and landing areas of each~~

~~airport or airfield. The maps are maintained digitally in the county's "Geographic Information System" (GIS).~~

~~(2) Other height limits. In addition to the established height limit surfaces for each airport and airfield, an object is or would be an obstruction to air navigation if it is of greater height than any of the following federally established height limits related to airports and airfields:~~

~~b. From airport/airfield. A height that is 200 feet above ground level or above the established airport/airfield elevation, whichever is higher, within three nautical miles of the established reference point (approximate geometric center of runways) of Pensacola International Airport, NAS Pensacola Sherman Field and that height increasing at the rate of 100 feet for each additional nautical mile from the airport or airfield, up to a maximum of 499 feet.~~

~~c. Other heights. Other established heights, including those relating to the traverse ways of vehicles and other mobile objects, and airport and airfield approach, departure, takeoff and landing areas.~~

~~(3)~~ (1) Exceeding height limits. Except as otherwise provided, no object shall be constructed or altered in such a way as to exceed the height limitations established here unless a variance is first obtained according to the provisions of this article.

~~(4)~~ (2) Obstruction marking and lighting. Any permit granted for an obstruction to air navigation shall, as a condition of approval, require the owner to install, operate, and maintain at their expense any marking or lighting of the obstruction that has been recommended in a FAA aeronautical study determination, or as otherwise required by Florida Statutes. The county may also condition permit approval on any other obstruction marking and lighting recommendations provided by the operators of airports or airfields within the county.

(c) Non-obstruction hazards. The use or development of land shall not create or contribute to interference with the operation of aircraft, including the following non-obstruction hazards to air navigation:

(1) Dangerous lighting. No lights or illumination, whether for streets, parking, signs or other structures, shall be arranged and operated in a manner that is misleading or dangerous to aircraft operating from or in the vicinity of an airport or airfield, as determined by the operator of the airport or airfield.

(2) Smoke or glare. No operations of any type shall produce smoke, glare or other visual hazards within three statute miles of any designated airport or airfield, or any usable runway, with the exception of permitted projects or activities.

(3) Electronic interference. No operations of any type shall produce electronic interference with navigation signals or radio communication between an airport or airfield and any aircraft.

(4) Landfills. No sanitary landfill shall be operated within 10,000 feet from the nearest point of any runway used or planned to be used by ~~turbojet~~ turbine ~~or turboprop~~ aircraft, or within 5,000 feet of any runway used by only non-turbine ~~piston engine~~ aircraft; or outside those perimeters, but still within the lateral limits of the civil patrol imaginary surfaces defined in 14 C.F.R. s.77.19, as may be amended. Additionally, no landfill of any type shall be located so that it attracts or sustains hazardous bird movements from feeding, water or roosting areas into or across the runways or approach and departure patterns of aircraft. County approval of proposed landfill locations meeting these restrictions remains subject to conditions recommended by the operators of any affected airports or airfields.

(d) Airport Obstruction Notification Zone.

(1) Purpose. The purpose of the Airport Obstruction Notification Zone is to regulate obstructions for air navigation which affects the safe and efficient use of navigable airspace or the operation of planned or existing air navigation and communication facilities.

(2) Location and map zone.

a. An Airport Obstruction Notification Zone is established around Pensacola International Airport (PNS) and consists of an imaginary surface extending from any point of the PNS runway at a slope of 100 to 1 at a horizontal distance of 20,000 ft. and a height of 200 ft. above ground level. The Airport Obstruction Notification Zone map may be reviewed annually by the Airport staff and updated/amended by the Airport Executive Director in conjunction with the County Development Services Department as needed to ensure currency.

b. An Airport Obstruction Notification Zone is established around Ferguson Airport and consists of any imaginary surface extending from any point of the a Ferguson runway at a slope of 50 to 1 at a horizontal distance of 10,000 ft. The Airport Obstruction Notification Zone map may be reviewed annually by the Airport staff and updated/amended by the Airport Executive Director in conjunction with the County Development Services Department as needed to ensure currency.

c. An Airport Obstruction Notification Zone may be established around any new airport or airfield as necessary for the health, safety, and welfare of the public.

(3) Development Compliance: No object, structure, or alteration to a structure will be allowed within an Airport Obstruction Notification Zone at a slope exceeding 100 to 1 for a horizontal distance of 20,000 from the nearest PNS runway or a slope exceeding 50 to 1 for a horizontal distance of 10,000 feet from the nearest Ferguson Airport or 200 feet above ground level within these horizontal distances without an approved Permit issued by the Airport.

~~Sec. 4-4.4 Airport and airfield planning districts.~~

~~(a) Pensacola International Airport Planning District. The Pensacola International Airport Planning District (PNSPD) is established to provide enhanced protection in support of the continued operation of the Pensacola International Airport for areas that are close enough to the airport to influence or be influenced by its activities. The PNSPD imposes additional restrictions on surrounding development that primarily address noise and safety concerns created by flight operations and potential interferences with those operations.~~

~~(1) Establishment. The PNSPD is established through its definition and adoption within the LDC. The Pensacola International Airport Influence Planning District Overlay maps for noise zones and educational facility restrictions are specifically adopted here by reference and declared to be part of the LDC, with the information shown on the maps having the same force and effect as the text of the LDC. The PNSPD maps are maintained digitally in the county's "Geographic Information System" (GIS).~~

~~(2) Real estate disclosure. All real estate transactions for property within the Pensacola International Airport Real Estate Disclosure Area shall include a form disclosing the proximity of the site to the airport. The disclosure is intended to inform a potential property owner or occupant of the nearby airport and alert them to possible incompatibilities of the intended property use with airport operations. The disclosure form shall be attached to all listing agreements, sales and rental contracts, subdivision plats, and marketing materials provided to prospective buyers, renters and lessees. The form need not be included in advertisements directed to the public at large. Disclosure is required as soon as practicable, but shall occur before the making or acceptance of an offer to buy, rent or lease.~~

(b) Military airfield Influence planning districts. Airfield influence planning districts (AIPDs) are established to provide enhanced protection in support of the continued operation of military airfields for areas that are close enough to those airfields to influence or be influenced by their activities. AIPDs impose additional restrictions on surrounding development that primarily address noise and safety concerns created by flight operations and potential interferences with those operations. If military operations permanently cease at an airfield, the supplemental requirements of its AIPDs will no longer apply to surrounding lands.

(1) General characteristics. Airfield influence planning districts are combinations of noise zones, clear zones, accident potential zones, and other areas of influence that overlap and combine to define a broad range of airfield influences on surrounding land use. The range of influences is divided between two planning districts: AIPD-1 composed of areas closest to an airfield and, therefore, with highest noise exposure and accident risk; and AIPD-2 composed of areas further from the airfield than AIPD-1, but that still may influence or be influenced by airfield operations.

(2) Clear zones and accident potential zones. Clear zones and accident potential zones identify areas near airfield runways where aircraft accidents are most likely, if they do occur. The zones are defined by the type of aircraft for which the runway is primarily used. Clear zones extend immediately beyond the ends of runways and designate areas of high accident potential. Accident potential zones (APZs) generally extend beyond clear zones and designate areas that remain impacted by accident potential. APZ-1 identifies areas that retain a significant potential for accidents. APZ-2 identifies areas beyond APZ-1 that retain lower but measurable potential for accidents.

(3) Establishment. AIPDs and their constituent zones and areas are established through their definition and adoption within the LDC. The Airfield Influence Planning District Overlay maps for NAS Pensacola and NOLF 8 are specifically adopted here by reference and declared to be part of the LDC, with the information shown on the maps having the same force and effect as the text of the LDC. The AIPD maps are maintained digitally in the county's "Geographic Information System" (GIS).

(4) General AIPD requirements.

a. Real estate disclosure. All real estate transactions for property within an AIPD shall include a form disclosing the proximity of the site to the military airfield. The disclosure is intended to inform a potential property owner or occupant of the nearby airfield and alert them to possible incompatibilities of the intended property use with airfield operations. The disclosure form shall be attached to all listing agreements, sales and rental contracts, subdivision plats, and marketing materials provided to prospective buyers, renters and lessees. The form need not be included in advertisements directed to the ~~public at large. Disclosure is required as soon as practicable, but shall occur before the making or acceptance of an offer to buy, rent or lease.~~

DRAFT

~~b. Avigation easement. For any parcel within an AIPD where subdivision or any site plan approval is requested, the application shall include an executed avigation easement or proof of the public recording of an executed easement. The purpose of the easement is to grant a clear property right to maintain flight operations in the airspace above the property. The easement shall be in a form approved by the County Attorney and recorded with the property deed to run in perpetuity with the land.~~

~~c. Rezoning. Rezoning is allowed within AIPDs, but density remains limited to the maximum density allowed by the AIPD, regardless of the zoning. The AIPD density limits shall govern.~~

~~(5) AIPD-1 requirements. Airfield Influence Planning District 1 (AIPD-1) defines areas of greatest protection for an airfield. AIPD-1 lies within a boundary connecting the outermost limits of an installation's clear zones, accident potential zones, or other areas necessary to achieve adequate protections. The following requirements apply to all lands within an AIPD-1 district:~~

~~a.Prohibited concentrations of population. Any use at such a scale that gatherings concentrating more than 25 people per acre and within a structure would be expected on a regular basis is prohibited. Such uses include sports stadiums, amphitheaters, auditoriums, clubhouses, churches, schools, hospitals, assisted living facilities, hotels and motels, restaurants, nightclubs and other establishments.~~

~~b. Residential density. Residential density is limited by the applicable zone or area with the AIPD according to the following:~~

~~1. Clear zones. Areas designated as "Clear Zone" are allowed no residential density except vested single-family dwellings on existing lots of record.~~

~~2. Area A. Areas designated as "Area A" are allowed no residential density except vested single-family dwellings on existing lots of record.~~

~~3. APZ-1. Areas designated as "Accident Potential Zone 1" (APZ-1) and aligned with airfield runways are allowed no residential density except vested single-family dwellings on existing lots of record. All other APZ-1 areas are limited to one dwelling unit per 2.5 acres.~~

~~4. APZ-2. Areas designated as "Accident Potential Zone 2" (APZ-2) and aligned with airfield runways are limited to two dwelling units per acre. All other APZ-2 areas are limited to three dwelling units per acre.~~

~~5. Area B. Areas designated as "Area B" are limited to three dwelling units per acre and only subject to the minimum lot area of the applicable zoning district.~~

DRAFT

~~c.Dwellings. Residential development is limited to detached single-family dwellings, including manufactured (mobile) homes if allowed by applicable zoning district. No single-family attached or multifamily dwellings are permitted. The planning district also prohibits the clustering of dwellings, including mobile home parks, whether by density transfers, planned unit development or other means.~~

~~d. Minimum lot area. The required minimum lot area shall be the inverse of the established maximum density except where noted. For example, a maximum density of three dwelling units per acre inversely requires at least one acre per three dwelling units, so the minimum lot size for one dwelling unit is one-third acre.~~

~~e. Parks and recreational facilities. Outdoor sports facilities, parks and recreation areas are permitted, but all their structures are restricted to those that are accessory to the outdoor use, such as bleachers, backstops, picnic tables, public restrooms, concession stands, etc.~~

~~f. Conditional uses. The following uses require conditional use approval by the Board of Adjustment (BOA), regardless of whether they are permitted within the applicable zoning district:~~

~~1. Borrow pits and borrow pit reclamation.~~

~~2. Solid waste collection points, transfer stations, or processing facilities.~~

~~3. Salvage yards.~~

~~g. Prohibited uses. The following uses are prohibited:~~

~~1. Animal feedlots and similar facilities that concentrate animal feed and waste.~~

~~2. Electrical transmission lines above ground.~~

~~3. Stables designed to house more than four horses or other domesticated equine.~~

~~4. Telecommunications towers.~~

~~5. Outdoor storage if permanent, excluding farm equipment.~~

~~6. Motor vehicle sales, new or used.~~

~~(6) AIPD-2 requirements. AIPD-2 is additional areas extended beyond AIPD-1 that is sufficiently close to the airfield to require some protections. AIPD-2 requirements are the same for all airfields. Densities and minimum lot sizes of the underlying zoning districts are not modified by AIPD-2.~~

Sec. 4-4.4– Airport Hazard Structure Permit

(a) Permitting

(1) Any individual seeking to alter, construct, or place any structure or development within any airport hazard area or runway protection zone or any land on, adjacent to, or in the immediate vicinity of airports or any individual seeking a building permit, development order, subdivision approval, rezoning, conditional use, comprehensive plan amendment, non-conforming use approval, variance, or other official action by the County that will have the effect of permitting a development or alteration of land or a structure shall submit an application for Airport Hazard Review to the Development Services Department (DSD) for determination as to the need for an Airport Hazard Structures Permit.

(2) DSD shall make the initial determination with respect to whether the proposed development exceeds the height and surface within the Airport Obstruction Notification Zone based upon on the maps in Appendix C as an element of the review. The review shall include the zoning, development order, and building permit application processes. If DSD determines the proposed development or alteration, including any associated use of temporary construction equipment, exceeds an Airport Obstruction Notification Zone surface or height threshold, then the applicant is required to obtain an Airport Hazard Structures Permit from DSD prior to the issuance of any further development orders or permits. DSD shall obtain technical input from the applicable airport as part of the permitting process. This provision applies to all development or improvements to land, including new development, redevelopment, building or use modifications, or similar actions.

(3) The permitting procedures for an Airport Hazard Structures Permit are outlined as follows. If an Airport Hazard Structures Permit application is deemed necessary by DSD as determined through the use of the Airport Obstruction Notification Zone map, the following procedures will apply:

a. After an initial review and the determination that a permit is required, DSD will give a written notice to the applicant that an Airport Hazard Structures Permit is required and that no further permits or development orders can be obtained from the County until an Airport Hazard Structures Permit is obtained.

b. The applicant must submit a completed Airport Hazard Structures Permit application to DSD at the Central Office Complex located at 3363 W Park Place, Pensacola, Florida 32505. DSD will complete a sufficiency review and then route the application to the affected airport. The affected airport will review the application and provide comment to DSD.

c. Upon receipt of a complete permit application, DSD shall provide a copy of the application to the State of Florida, Department of Transportation (FDOT) Aviation Office by certified mail, return receipt requested, or by a delivery service that provides a receipt evidencing delivery.

d. The permit application shall also be provided to the City of Pensacola within ten (10) calendar days of the filing of the application.

e. The affected airport, FDOT, and the City will review the application to evaluate technical consistency with this subsection. The County shall allow the airport, the Department of Transportation, and the City a 15-day review period following receipt of the application. This review period shall run concurrently with the local government permitting process. DSD shall consider any comments from the affected airport, FDOT, and the City in processing permit applications under this Section.

(3) In determining whether to issue or deny a permit, DSD shall consider the following, as applicable:

a. The safety of persons on the ground and in the air.

b. The safe and efficient use of navigable airspace.

c. The nature of the terrain and height of existing structures.

d. The effect of the construction or alteration on the state licensing standards for a public-use airport contained in Chapter 330, Florida Statutes, as may be amended, and rules adopted thereunder.

e. The character of existing and planned flight operations and developments at public-use airports.

f. Federal airways, visual flight rules, flyways and corridors, and instrument approaches as designated by the Federal Aviation Administration.

g. The effect of the construction or alteration of the proposed structure on the minimum descent altitude or the decision height at the affected airport.

h. The cumulative effects on navigable airspace of all existing structures and all other known proposed structures in the area

(4) Approval of a permit will not be based solely on the determination by the Federal Aviation Administration that the proposed structure is not an airport hazard.

(b) The County shall enforce the issuance or denial of any permit or other determination related to Air Hazard Permit applications by any means provided, authorized, or allowed by law or ordinance, including Florida Statutes and Chapter 30, Code Enforcement, Part 1, Escambia County Code of Ordinances. More particularly:

(1) Procedural remedies. Failure to comply with LDC provisions may result in application denial, delay of application approval, conditional application approval, voiding an application approval, delay of use, or penalties as additionally may be prescribed by the LDC.

(2) Civil Remedies. The BCC or any aggrieved party, as defined by state law, may apply to the Circuit Court of Escambia County, Florida, to enjoin and restrain any person violating the provisions of this Section.

(3) Criminal Remedies. Any person who violates, disobeys, omits, neglects, or refuses to comply with, or who resists the enforcement of, any of the provisions of the LDC, shall be subject to a misdemeanor punishable by fine and/or imprisonment according to state law. Upon conviction the person shall additionally pay all expenses of the county in the case. Each day a violation exists shall constitute a separate offense.

(c) Permitting by the County for the construction or alteration of structures dangerous to air navigation or for structures governed by Title 14, CFR, Part 77 shall consider whether or not a permit has been obtained from FDOT Aviation or FDOT Aviation has confirmed that no FDOT permit is necessary.

Sec. 4-4.5 Airport and airfield planning districts.

(a) Pensacola International Airport Planning District. The Pensacola International Airport Planning District (PNSPD) is established to provide enhanced protection in support of the continued operation of the Pensacola International Airport for areas that are close enough to the airport to influence or be influenced by its activities. The PNSPD imposes additional restrictions on surrounding development that primarily address noise and safety concerns created by flight operations and potential interferences with those operations.

(1) Establishment. The PNSPD is established through its definition and adoption within the LDC. The Pensacola International Airport Influence Planning District Overlay maps for noise zones and educational facility restrictions are specifically adopted here by reference and declared to be part of the LDC, with the information shown on the maps having the same force and effect as the text of the LDC. The PNSPD maps are maintained digitally in the county's "Geographic Information System" (GIS).

(2) Real estate disclosure. All real estate transactions for property within the Pensacola International Airport Real Estate Disclosure Area shall include a form disclosing the proximity of the site to the airport. The disclosure is intended to inform a potential property owner or occupant of the nearby airport and alert them to possible incompatibilities of the intended property use with airport operations. The disclosure form shall be attached to all listing agreements, sales and rental contracts, subdivision plats, and marketing materials provided to prospective buyers, renters and lessees. The form need not be included in advertisements directed to the public at large. Disclosure is required as soon as practicable, but shall occur before the making or acceptance of an offer to buy, rent or lease.

(b) MilitaryAirfield Influence Planning Districts. Airfield Influence Planning Districts (AIPDs) are established to provide enhanced protection in support of the continued operation of military airfields for areas that are close enough to those airfields to influence or be influenced by their activities. AIPDs impose additional restrictions on surrounding development that primarily address noise and safety concerns created by flight operations and potential interferences with those operations. If military operations permanently cease at an airfield, the supplemental requirements of its AIPDs will no longer apply to surrounding lands.

(1) General characteristics. Airfield Influence Planning Districts are combinations of noise zones, clear zones, accident potential zones, and other areas of influence that overlap and combine to define a broad range of airfield influences on surrounding land use. The range of influences is divided between two planning districts: AIPD-1 composed of areas closest to an airfield and, therefore, with highest noise exposure and accident risk; and AIPD-2 composed of areas further from the airfield than AIPD-1, but that still may influence or be influenced by airfield operations.

(2) Clear zones and accident potential zones. Clear zones and accident potential zones identify areas near airfield runways where aircraft accidents are most likely, if they do occur. The zones are defined by the type of aircraft for which the runway is primarily used. Clear zones extend immediately beyond the ends of runways and designate areas of high accident potential. Accident potential zones (APZs) generally extend beyond clear zones and designate areas that remain impacted by accident potential. APZ-1 identifies areas that retain a significant potential for accidents. APZ-2 identifies areas beyond APZ-1 that retain lower but measurable potential for accidents.

(3) Establishment. AIPDs and their constituent zones and areas are established through their definition and adoption within the LDC. The Airfield Influence Planning District Overlay maps for NAS Pensacola and NOLF 8 are specifically adopted here by reference and declared to be part of the LDC, with the information shown on the maps having the same force and effect as the text of the LDC. The AIPD maps are maintained digitally in the county's "Geographic Information System" (GIS).

(4) General AIPD requirements.

a. Real estate disclosure. All real estate transactions for property within an AIPD shall include a form disclosing the proximity of the site to the military airfield. The disclosure is intended to inform a potential property owner or occupant of the nearby airfield and alert them to possible incompatibilities of the intended property use with airfield operations. The disclosure form shall be attached to all listing agreements, sales and rental contracts, subdivision plats, and marketing materials provided to prospective buyers, renters and lessees. The form need not be included in advertisements directed to the public at large. Disclosure is required as soon as practicable, but shall occur before the making or acceptance of an offer to buy, rent or lease.

b. Avigation easement. For any parcel within an AIPD where subdivision or any site plan approval is requested, the application shall include an executed avigation easement or proof of the public recording of an executed easement. The purpose of the easement is to grant a clear property right to maintain flight operations in the airspace above the property. The easement shall be in a form approved by the County Attorney and recorded with the property deed to run in perpetuity with the land.

c. Rezoning. Rezoning is allowed within AIPDs, but density remains limited to the maximum density allowed by the AIPD, regardless of the zoning. The AIPD density limits shall govern.

(5) AIPD-1 requirements. Airfield Influence Planning District 1 (AIPD-1) defines areas of greatest protection for an airfield. AIPD-1 lies within a boundary connecting the outermost limits of an installation's clear zones, accident potential zones, or other areas necessary to achieve adequate protections. The following requirements apply to all lands within an AIPD-1 district:

a. Prohibited concentrations of population. Any use at such a scale that gatherings concentrating more than 25 people per acre and within a structure would be expected on a regular basis is prohibited. Such uses include sports stadiums, amphitheaters, auditoriums, clubhouses, churches, schools, hospitals, assisted living facilities, hotels and motels, restaurants, nightclubs and other establishments.

b. Residential density. Residential density is limited by the applicable zone or area with the AIPD according to the following:

1. Clear zones. Areas designated as "Clear Zone" are allowed no residential density except vested single-family dwellings on existing lots of record.

2. Area A. Areas designated as "Area A" are allowed no residential density except vested single-family dwellings on existing lots of record.

3. APZ-1. Areas designated as "Accident Potential Zone 1" (APZ-1) and aligned with airfield runways are allowed no residential density except vested single-family dwellings on existing lots of record. All other APZ-1 areas are limited to one dwelling unit per 2.5 acres.

4. APZ-2. Areas designated as "Accident Potential Zone 2" (APZ-2) and aligned with airfield runways are limited to two dwelling units per acre. All other APZ-2 areas are limited to three dwelling units per acre.

5. Area B. Areas designated as "Area B" are limited to three dwelling units per acre and only subject to the minimum lot area of the applicable zoning district.

c. Dwellings. Residential development is limited to detached single-family dwellings, including manufactured (mobile) homes if allowed by applicable zoning district. No single-family attached or multifamily dwellings are permitted. The planning district also prohibits the clustering of dwellings, including mobile home parks, whether by density transfers, planned unit development or other means.

d. Minimum lot area. The required minimum lot area shall be the inverse of the established maximum density except where noted. For example, a maximum density of three dwelling units per acre inversely requires at least one acre per three dwelling units, so the minimum lot size for one dwelling unit is one-third acre.

e. Parks and recreational facilities. Outdoor sports facilities, parks and recreation areas are permitted, but all their structures are restricted to those that are accessory to the outdoor use, such as bleachers, backstops, picnic tables, public restrooms, concession stands, etc.

f. Conditional uses. The following uses require conditional use approval by the Board of Adjustment (BOA), regardless of whether they are permitted within the applicable zoning district:

1. Borrow pits and borrow pit reclamation.

2. Solid waste collection points, transfer stations, or processing facilities.

3. Salvage yards.

g. Prohibited uses. The following uses are prohibited:

1. Animal feedlots and similar facilities that concentrate animal feed and waste.

2. Electrical transmission lines above ground.

3. Stables designed to house more than four horses or other domesticated equine.

4. Telecommunications towers.

5. Outdoor storage if permanent, excluding farm equipment.

6. Motor vehicle sales, new or used.

(6) AIPD-2 requirements. AIPD-2 is additional areas extended beyond AIPD-1 that is sufficiently close to the airfield to require some protections. AIPD-2 requirements are the same for all airfields. Densities and minimum lot sizes of the underlying zoning districts are not modified by AIPD-2.

Sec. ~~4-4.5~~ 4-4.6 Variances.

(a) General eligibility. A variance to the airport and airfield regulations of the LDC is generally contrary to the safe and efficient use of navigable airspace and the operation of airports and airfields. However, where compliance with the requirements creates an exceptional hardship on an applicant for development approval, the Board of Adjustment (BOA) may, in compliance with Florida Statutes and the quasi-judicial variance process prescribed in Chapter 2, approve or deny a request for a site-specific modification to the air navigation obstruction standards of this article for the erection, alteration, or modification of any structure that would cause those standards to be exceeded. Additionally, a variance to the educational facility construction prohibition associated with the Pensacola International Airport may be requested. No other variances, however, are applicable to the requirements of the airport and airfield environs.

(b) Specific limitations. In addition to the general variance review and approval requirements prescribed in Chapter 2, available variances to airport and airfield environs provisions shall comply with all of the following conditions:

(1) State review. As required by state regulations, the applicant shall provide a copy of the variance application to the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) by certified mail to allow a 45-day opportunity for department comment. The county may proceed with consideration of the application in a public hearing only upon receipt of FDOT review comments or a waiving of that right.

(2) Required findings. A variance may only be granted where the applicant demonstrates, and the BOA establishes in its findings, all of the following conditions as applicable:

a. No hazard. For an obstruction to air navigation, a valid aeronautical study by the FAA has concluded that the object is not a hazard to air navigation.

b. Public policy. For a prohibited educational facility, the public policy reasons for allowing the construction outweigh the health and safety concerns prohibiting such a location.

c. No objections. U.S. Navy officials, the director of the Pensacola International Airport, or other operators of airports or airfields within the county have no substantial objections to the variance, or their objections will be addressed through conditions of the variance approval.

d. Hardship. A literal application or enforcement of the regulations would result in practical difficulty or unnecessary hardship.

e. Public interest. The relief granted would not be contrary to the public interest.

f. Intent. The relief granted would do substantial justice and be in accordance with the intent of county and state regulations.

(3) Conditions of approval. Any variance granted by the BOA is subject to the following conditions:

a. Any reasonable conditions that the BOA finds necessary to accomplish the purposes of county and state regulations.

b. A variance granted for an obstruction to air navigation shall require the owner to install, operate and maintain at his expense any marking or lighting of the obstruction that has been recommended in a FAA aeronautical study determination, or as otherwise required by Florida Statutes. The BOA may also condition approval on any other obstruction marking and lighting recommendations provided by the operators of airports or airfields within the county.

c. The applicant shall provide FDOT a copy of the county decision on an obstruction variance application within ten days of issuance of the decision.

Sec. 4-4.7. Nonconforming Structures

If any nonconforming structure is determined to be an airport hazard and the owner will not remove, lower, or otherwise eliminate it or the approach protection necessary cannot, because of constitutional limitations, be provided by airport zoning regulations, or it appears advisable that the necessary approach protection be provided by acquisition of property rights rather than by airport zoning regulations, then DSD shall notify the County Attorney's Office and County Administrator in order to conduct an analysis related to public acquisition either by purchase, grant, or condemnation, in the manner provided in Chapter 73 and Chapter 74, Florida Statutes.

Sec. 4-4.8- Appeals

(a) Any individual, political subdivision or its administrative agency, or a joint airport zoning board that contests a decision made on an improper application of airport zoning regulations may appeal the decision.

(b) All appeals shall be heard by the Escambia County Board of Adjustment (BOA). All appeals shall be made within 15 days after the date of the official's decision according to the provisions for appeal of administrative decisions as prescribed in Article 6. Upon notice of appeal, the Building Official and Planning and Zoning Official shall forthwith transmit to the BOA all the papers constituting the record upon which the appeal was taken.

(c) The BOA shall fix a reasonable time for hearing appeals, and shall give public notice and provide notice to the interested parties. The BOA shall render a decision within a reasonable time. The BOA shall notify in writing the airport manager and NAS facilities management office, FDOT, and the City of Pensacola of all meetings in which an appeal under this Section is scheduled. During the hearing before the BOA, any party may appear in person, by agent, or by attorney.

(d) The BOA may, in conformity with the provisions of this chapter, reverse or affirm, in whole, or in part, or modify the order, requirement, decision or determination, as may be necessary.

(e) If the final determination of the BOA is denial, no new application for the same use on the same parcel can be accepted for review until at least 180 days from the date of the denial. A final determination of the BOA may be appealed by petitioning the circuit court for judicial review within 30 days after date of the board's decision, and providing a copy of the petition to the clerk of the board.

Section 2. Part III of the Escambia County Code of Ordinances, the Land Development Code of Escambia County, Chapter 6, Definitions, Sections "A", "P", and "Q & R" are hereby amended as follows: (words underlined are additions and words ~~stricken~~ are deletions)

6-0.3 Terms defined.

As used within the LDC, the following terms have the meanings established here:

- A -

Abandoned sign. Any sign face which advertises a business no longer conducted or product no longer sold. In making the determination that a sign advertises a business no longer being conducted, the enforcement official shall consider the existence or absence of a current occupational license, utility service deposit or account, use of the premises and relocation of the business. An abandoned sign is prohibited and shall be removed by the owner of the premises when there is a lack of maintenance or sign faces are missing, or as otherwise provided for in this article.

Any sign structure which has not been used for business purposes for over 90 days, and is nonconforming as to existing codes regarding height, setback or maintenance.

Any previously permitted portable or temporary sign for which the permit has expired.

Accessory structure. A building or other structure that is subordinate in extent and purpose and customarily incidental to the principal structure on the same lot, and is typically detached from it.

Accessory dwelling unit. A dwelling unit that is an accessory structure to a single-family dwelling.

Accessory use. A use of land or structure that is subordinate in extent and purpose, and is customarily incidental to the principal use on the same lot. The term "accessory use" includes support services and functions for employees, customers, tenants and visitors customarily associated with the principal use.

Act of God. An act caused by the direct, immediate, and exclusive operation of the forces of nature, uncontrolled and uninfluenced by the power of man, without human intervention, and of a character that it could not have been prevented or escaped from by any amount of foresight or reasonable degree of care or diligence.

Addition. As applicable to building construction, any walled and roofed expansion of a building that increases the existing building height, length, width, floor area, or site coverage. If an expansion is connected to a building by a firewall, or is separated by independent perimeter load-bearing walls, it is considered new construction and not an addition.

Adult day care center. A state licensed facility, whether operated for profit or not, which provides basic services for part of a day to three or more persons who are 18 years of age or older, who are not related to the facility owner or operator, and who require such services. As used here, basic services include providing a protective setting that is as non-institutional as possible, therapeutic programs of social and health activities and services, leisure activities, self-care training, rest, nutritional services, and respite care.

Adult entertainment establishment. An adult theater, adult bookstore, adult performance establishment, or other adult use or activity as defined in the Adult Entertainment Code of Chapter 18, Businesses, Part I, Escambia County Code of Ordinances.

Adult family-care home*. A state licensed, full-time, family-type living arrangement in a private home under which a person who owns or rents the home provides room, board, and personal care on a 24-hour basis for no more than five disabled adults or frail elders who are not relatives. An adult family-care home is a form of household living.

Affordable housing. Housing with monthly rents or monthly mortgage payments, including taxes, insurance, and utilities, that do not exceed 30 percent of that amount which represents the percentage of the median adjusted gross annual income established by the state for extremely-low-income, very-low-income, low-income, and moderate-income households as applicable.

Agent. A person authorized by contract or other valid authority to act for and under the direction of another person, the agent's principal, when dealing with third parties, and who can enter into binding agreements on the principal's behalf.

Agricultural-related activity. An activity in support of or accessory to agriculture.

Agricultural processing, major. Activities involving a variety of processing operations on crops after harvest, or on livestock, which typically generate dust, noise, odors, pollutants, or visual impacts that can adversely affect adjacent properties. Such activities include feedlots, slaughterhouses, rendering plants, large-scale mills, refineries, canneries, and milk processing plants.

Agricultural processing, minor*. Activities involving a variety of processing operations on crops after harvest to prepare them for market, or for further processing or packaging out of the agricultural area, and which cannot be characterized as major agricultural processing. Such activities include cleaning, sorting, drying, roasting, hulling, shelling, baling, custom milling, cotton ginning, packing and storing.

Agriculture or agricultural use. The active production of plants, animals or their products through cultivation of soil, growing and harvesting of crops, or raising of livestock. Agricultural crops include grains, legumes, oil seeds, roots and tubers, fibers, fruits, nuts, vegetables and forages. Agricultural livestock includes dairy and beef cattle, sheep, goats, pigs, poultry and horses. The terms "agriculture" or "agricultural use" also include bees and apiary products, plant nursery and greenhouse products, the breeding of animals, the storage of harvested products, and land devoted to soil conservation. However, the terms do not include agricultural processing or packaging, waste composting, silviculture or timber harvesting, aquiculture, or farm worker housing.

Airfield. Any area of land or water that is designed and set aside for the landing and taking off of military aircraft.

Airport. ~~Any area of land or water that is designed and set aside for the landing and taking off of civilian aircraft.~~ Any land or water designed and set aside for the landing and taking off of aircraft and used or to be used in the interest of the public for such purpose.

Airport or airfield hazard. ~~Any structure, object of natural growth, or use of land which would exceed federal obstruction standards, which obstructs the airspace required forthe flight of aircraft in taking off, maneuvering, or landing, and for which no person has previously obtained a permit or variance according to Florida Statutes.~~ An obstruction to air navigation which affects the safe and efficient use of navigable airspace or the operation of planned or existing air navigation.

Airport hazard area. Any area of land or water upon which an airport hazard might be established.

Airport land use compatibility zoning. Airport zoning regulations governing the use of land on, adjacent to, or in the immediate vicinity of airports.

Airport master plan. A comprehensive plan of an airport which typically describes current and future plans for airport development designed to support existing and future aviation demand.

Airport obstruction. Any existing or proposed object, terrain, or structure construction or alteration that exceed the federal obstruction standards contained in 14 C.F.R. part 77, subpart C, as may be amended. The term includes: any object of nature growth or terrain; permanent or temporary construction or alteration, including equipment or materials used and any permanent or temporary apparatus; or alteration of any permanent or temporary existing structure's height, including appurtenances, lateral dimensions, and equipment or materials used in the structure.

Airport protection zoning regulations. Airport zoning regulations governing airport hazards.

Alcoholic beverage. Any liquor, beer, wine, or other distilled spirits or beverages containing one-half of one percent or more alcohol by volume.

Alley. A public or private right-of-way that affords a secondary means of access to the back or the side of a lot otherwise abutting a street, and not intended or used for general traffic circulation.

All-weather surface. A hard driving surface (e.g., asphalt, concrete, compacted gravel or shell) designed and constructed to ensure adequate runoff of stormwater under normal rainfall conditions and capable of withstanding normal weather conditions during ordinary use without substantial deterioration.

Alteration. For the purpose of regulating structures, any change or modification that would result in a change in height or lateral dimensions of an existing structure, including cosmetic improvements, repairs, remodeling, and structural support changes.

Amusement, commercial. Any facility that is maintained or operated for the provision of amusement, entertainment or recreation to the general public for a fee. Indoor amusements include pinball machines, video games, and other games of skill or scoring such as billiards. Outdoor amusements include miniature golf, automobile race tracks, waterslides and amusement rides.

Amusement arcade. A business establishment open to the public and offering games, rides, shows, or similar facilities and devices, typically operated by coin or token, for entertainment or amusement purposes only. Such facilities and devices do not include bingo games, gambling devices, or any devices prohibited by law.

Animal grooming service. A business providing bathing, clipping, combing or similar grooming services to enhance the appearance or health of domestic animals, but not including any overnight boarding of animals.

Animal shelter. A facility used to house or board stray, homeless, abandoned or unwanted animals and that is operated by a public agency or a recognized non-profit organization devoted to the welfare, protection, and humane treatment of animals.

Applicant. Any person, including the person's agent, who submits an application to the county requesting development approval or other consideration according to any of the compliance review processes prescribed by the LDC.

Aquaculture. The growing and harvesting of freshwater and saltwater populations of aquatic organisms such as fish, crustaceans, mollusks, and aquatic plants under controlled conditions.

Aquifer. A groundwater bearing geologic formation that contains enough saturated permeable material to yield significant quantities of water.

Arcade amusement center. A place of business operating as an arcade amusement center in compliance with Florida Statutes and any county ordinances that define or regulate such businesses.

DRAFT

Area of special flood hazard. The land within a floodplain subject to a one percent or greater chance of flooding in any given year (the base flood), designated on the community's Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) as zone A, AE, AO, AH, V, or VE.

Assisted living facility. Any state licensed private home, boarding home, home for the aged, or other residential facility, whether operated for profit or not, which provides housing, meals, and one or more personal services for a period exceeding 24 hours to one or more adults who are not relatives of the owner or administrator. As used here, personal services means direct physical assistance with or supervision of the activities of daily living, the self-administration of medication and other services which the state may define, but not the provision of medical, nursing, dental, or mental health services. An assisted living facility may be either household living or group living, according to the type of facility and form of residential occupancy and may also be known as personal care or residential care.

Automobile rental. The renting or leasing of passenger cars, vans, or light trucks (gross vehicle weight rating no more than 8500 lbs), without drivers, for purposes of routine conveyance of passengers, generally for short periods of time. Rental facilities may include incidental storage or parking, and washing and servicing of vehicles for rent or lease.

Automobile sales. The use of any building or land for the display and sale of new or used passenger cars, vans, or light trucks (gross vehicle weight rating no more than 8500 lbs). Sales facilities may include vehicle preparation, repair work, rental, or leasing conducted as an accessory use.

Avigation easement. An easement that gives a clear property right to maintain aircraft flight operations in the airspace above the property.

Awning. A roof-like structure that projects from the wall of a building, cantilevered or otherwise entirely supported from the building, and composed of a lightweight rigid or retractable skeleton over which a cover is attached, typically to protect a doorway or window from the elements.

Awning, canopy or marquee sign. A sign that is mounted or painted on, or attached to, an awning, canopy, or marquee that is otherwise permitted by county ordinance. The sign shall not project above, below or beyond the awning, canopy or marquee.

- P -

Parcel. A unit of land within legally established property lines, or a lot or contiguous group of lots, in single ownership or under single control, and considered a unit for purposes of development.

Park. Any public or private land that is predominantly open space with natural vegetation and landscaping, and used primarily for active or passive not-for-profit recreational purposes.

Parking lot. An open area at ground level providing off-street parking spaces, excluding residential driveways.

Parking lot, commercial. A parking lot that is not an accessory use to any other use and provides parking for a fee.

Park trailer. A type of recreational vehicle constructed on a single chassis to American National Standards Institute (ANSI) or U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) standards, consisting of a transportable unit with body width not exceeding 14 feet, designed to provide seasonal or temporary living quarters when connected to utilities necessary for operation of installed fixtures and appliances, and as may otherwise be defined by Florida Statutes.

Pawnshop. Any location at which a pawnbroker conducts the business of making pawns; that is, providing any advancement of funds on the security of pledged goods on condition that the pledged goods are left in the possession of the pawnbroker for the duration of the pawn and may be redeemed by the pledgor on the terms and conditions of the pawn.

Pensacola Beach*. That part of Santa Rosa Island under the jurisdiction of the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida.

Perdido Key*. The barrier island and coastal areas extending westward from Pensacola Pass to the Florida/Alabama state line.

Permitted use. Any use authorized or of right in a particular zoning district or land use category.

Personal services. Non-medical retail services involving the care of a person or his personal goods or apparel, such as the services of a barber shop, beauty or tanning salon, health club or spa, pet groomer, laundromat or dry cleaner, tailor, psychic reader, or tattoo parlor, but not including repair services or professional services as defined in this chapter.

Pervious surface. Any surface that easily allows the infiltration of water. Such permeable or porous surfaces include natural or landscaped vegetation and other surfaces for which runoff coefficients no greater than 0.25 are typically used for stormwater management calculations.

Pier. See “Dock.”

Place of worship. A building that is used primarily for worship or religious assembly on a regular basis and may include related facilities such as classrooms and administrative offices, but does not include facilities used exclusively for residences, schools, day care, shelter, recreation or other uses not normally associated with worship. Places of worship include churches, chapels, cathedrals, synagogues, temples, and mosques.

Planned unit development (PUD). An process for providing flexibility in LDC regulations governing the planning and design of subdivisions that permits and encourages greater creativity for the mutual benefit of developers and the public not anticipated by the strict application of those regulations.

Planning Board. The advisory authority appointed by the Board of County Commissioners to serve as the local planning agency (LPA) for Escambia County, and whose scope of authority and specific duties are established within the Comprehensive Plan and LDC.

Plat. A map or delineated representation of the subdivision of land, being a complete, exact representation of the subdivision and including other information in compliance with the requirements of the LDC and Florida Statutes (Chapter 177, Part I).

Political sign. A temporary sign announcing or supporting political candidates or issues in connection with any national, state, or local election.

Porch. A roofed structure attached to a building and open on two or more sides which may be screened, and having direct access to or from the building.

Political sign. A temporary sign announcing or supporting political candidates or issues in connection with any national, state, or local election.

Portable sign. Any sign not permanently attached to the ground or other permanent structure, or a sign designed to be transported, including, but not limited to, signs designed to be transported by means of wheels; including such signs even though the wheels may be removed and the remaining chassis or support structure converted to A- frames or T-frames; menu and sandwich board signs; balloons used as signs; umbrellas used for advertising unless part of an outdoor restaurant; and signs attached to or painted on vehicles parked and visible from the public right-of-way, unless said vehicle is used in the normal day-to-day operations of business, the sign area is less than two square feet per side and there is no reasonable alternative storage space.

Portable storage container. Any container, pod, trailer or other unit that is designed to temporarily store items and to be transported to and stored off site, typically by a private moving or storage company at a centralized warehouse. The term “portable storage container” does not include solid waste dumpsters or tool sheds.

Positive drainage outfall. A conveyance system with adequate capacity to contain, control, and transmit stormwater runoff to a creek, stream, river, bay, gulf, ocean, or other waters of the state, or waters of the United States, or to any approved Escambia County or Florida Department of Transportation drainage system having sufficient capacity.

Post-incarceration reentry facility. A facility providing assistance with substance abuse, mental and physical health issues, job training and placement, and other services to individuals reentering communities from correctional facilities.

Power plant. An electrical power generation facility operated by a public utility or independent power producer that converts one or more energy sources to provide electricity to the electrical transmission grid and distribution system. The term "power plant" refers to an industrial facility and does not include small-scale generation systems of customers that may sell surplus power back to the franchised power provider through their metered service.

Predominantly commercial development. Development for which more than two-thirds of the development parcel area and more than two-thirds of all gross floor area within the parcel is devoted to commercial use.

Predominantly residential development. Development for which more than two-thirds of the development parcel area and more than two-thirds of all gross floor area within the parcel is devoted to residential use.

Premises. Any parcel together with any improvements thereon.

Primary dune. The first natural or manmade dune located landward of the beach with sufficient vegetation, height, continuity, and configuration to offer protective value to upland property. The landward extent occurs at the point where there is a distinct change from a relatively steep slope to a relatively mild slope.

Prime farmland. One of several classes of land defined in the Soil Survey of Escambia County, Florida, U.S. Department of Agriculture, as having the best combination of physical and chemical characteristics for producing food, feed, forage, fiber, and oilseed crops, and available as cultivated land, pastureland, forestland or other lands not built upon or urbanized.

Principal structure. The structure that is occupied by or otherwise defines the principal use of a parcel.

Principal use. The main or predominant purpose for which a structure or parcel of land is used, occupied, maintained, designed, arranged, or intended, as distinguished from an accessory use.

Processing. As applicable to solid waste, any technique designed to change the physical, chemical, or biological character or composition of any solid waste so as to render it safe for transport; amenable to recovery, storage, or recycling; safe for disposal; or reduced in volume or concentration.

Professional services. Specialized work by members of recognized professions trained and engaged in such work for a career, typically requiring a license or other legal authorization to perform, and predominantly provided on the premises of an office or clinic. Professional services include the work of insurance agents, realtors, bankers, accountants, stock brokers, financial advisors, engineers, architects, land surveyors, dentists, physicians, therapists, attorneys, and other professionals, but do not include the provision of "personal services" as defined in this chapter.

Prohibited use. Any use not identified as a permitted or conditionally permitted use by the applicable zoning district, and not otherwise determined to be such a permitted use according to the use classification provisions of the LDC.

Property line. The recorded boundary of a lot or other tract of land.

Projecting sign. A sign that is wholly or partly dependent upon a building for support and which projects more than 24 inches from such building.

Protected tree. A living tree that, according to the provisions of the LDC, cannot be removed or otherwise willfully harmed without first obtaining appropriate authorization from the county.

Pruning. The act of removing tree branches, limbs, or roots to remedy a hazard or to maintain or improve the form or health of a tree, performed in a careful and systematic manner according to standard arboricultural practices so as not to damage other parts of the of the tree or other trees. Standard practices include those outlined in American National Standards Institute (ANSI) standard A300, Part 1-2001, Tree Care Operations - Tree, Shrub and Other Woody Plant Maintenance - Standard Practices.

Public facilities. Major capital improvements, including transportation, sanitary sewer, solid waste, stormwater management, potable water, educational, and recreational facilities.

Public lodging establishment. A unit, group of units, building, or group of buildings within the same complex which is rented to guests as a transient accommodation (more than three times in a calendar year for periods less than 30 days), rented as a non- transient accommodation (for periods of at least 30 days), or is advertised or offered to the public as a place regularly rented to guests for such accommodations. Public lodging establishments include hotels, motels, resort condominiums, bed and breakfast inns, and boarding or rooming houses, but do not include dormitories, campgrounds, or recreational vehicle parks.

Public use airport. means an airport, publicly or privately owned, licensed by the State, which is open for use by the public.

Public utilities. See "Utilities, public."

- Q & R -

Quadruplex. A four-unit multi-family dwelling.

Quasi-judicial hearing. A public hearing before an administrative board or official held to obtain testimony or comment regarding the application of adopted policy to a specific development application or land use decision, and subject to specific due process procedural requirements to assure fact-based decisions by the board or official.

Real estate sign. A sign pertaining to the sale or lease of the premises, or a portion of the premises, in which the sign is located.

Reclamation. The restoration or rehabilitation to useful purposes and safe and healthful conditions of lands adversely affected by mining, excavation, erosion, land clearing, or other processes. Reclamation may include filling, reshaping, revegetation and other activities to achieve the long-term stability of the affected lands and protection of surrounding uses and natural resources.

Record drawings. Construction drawings certified by the engineer of record and provided to the county for the purpose of documenting improvements as actually constructed.

Recovered materials. Metal, paper, glass, plastic, textile, or rubber materials that have known recycling potential, can be feasibly recycled, and have been diverted and source separated or have been removed from the solid waste stream for sale, use, or reuse as raw materials, whether or not the materials require subsequent processing or separation. Recovered materials as described here are not solid waste and does not include materials destined for any use that constitutes disposal.

Recovered materials processing facility (RMPF). A facility engaged solely in the storage, processing, resale, or reuse of recovered materials.

Recreation, active. Leisure time activity, indoor or outdoor, that usually requires some constructed facilities, is typically structured and organized to take place at prescribed places, and is usually performed with others. Active recreation uses include campgrounds, recreational vehicle parks, off-highway vehicle trails, shooting ranges, swimming pools, ice and roller skating rinks, baseball and other sport fields, skateboard parks, bowling lanes, tennis courts, golf courses, and playgrounds.

Recreation, passive. Leisure time activity that generally does not require a developed site, has minimal impact on the recreation site, typically involves existing natural resources or amenities, and has low potential for nuisance to adjacent properties. Passive recreation uses include walking, jogging, hiking, primitive camping, bird watching, bicycling, board and table games, and picnicking.

Recreational vehicle*. A motor vehicle primarily designed as temporary living quarters for recreational, camping, or travel use and which either has its own motive power or is mounted on or drawn by another vehicle. Recreational vehicles include travel trailers, camping trailers, truck campers, motor homes, private motor coaches, park trailers, and other vehicles as defined in Florida Statutes. For the purposes of floodplain management, a recreational vehicle additionally is one built on a single chassis, four hundred square feet or less when measured at the largest horizontal projection, and designed to be self-propelled or permanently towable by a light-duty truck.

Recreational vehicle park. A place set aside and offered for the parking, accommodation, or rental of five or more recreational vehicles or tents used as seasonal or temporary living quarters for six months or less. See also "Campground."

Recycling. Any process by which solid waste, or materials that would otherwise become solid waste, are collected, separated, or processed and reused or returned to use in the form of raw materials or products.

Redevelopment. The removal and replacement, rehabilitation, or adaptive reuse of an existing structure or structures, or the rehabilitation or adaptive reuse of land from which previous improvements have been removed.

Registered professional. A professional registered or licensed by and in the State of Florida and who possesses the expertise and experience necessary for the competent preparation, submittal and certification of documents and materials, and performing of other services required in support of permitting, constructing, altering, inspecting, and operating a proposed or existing regulated use. Registered professionals include engineers, architects, surveyors and mappers, and geologists.

Repair services. Services to mend or restore items after their extended use, decay, breakdown, damage, or partial destruction. Repair services include motor vehicle repair, bicycle repair, appliance and electronic device repair, gunsmiths, locksmiths, upholstery services, furniture refinishing and repair, small engine and motor repair, and watch, clock and jewelry repair, but do not include construction trades or building repair activities.

Research facility. A facility for the conduct of investigation, study, examination, development, testing, and similar inquiries in various fields of science and engineering.

Residential use. Any regular use of a building by its occupants as a permanent home or place of abode, whether for household living or group living. Residential uses include single-family detached or attached dwellings, two-family and multi-family dwellings, dormitories, and nursing homes, but do not include any public lodging, tents, tourist cabins, day care, hospitals, correctional facilities, homeless shelters, or recreational vehicles.

Resort. A facility for transient guests where the primary attractions are recreational features or activities.

Resource recovery. The process of recovering materials or energy from solid waste, excluding those materials or solid waste under the control of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

Restaurant. A retail establishment in which the principal use is the preparation and sale of food and beverages, typically served and consumed on the premises and within the principal building, but also including take-out, fast food, drive-in and other forms of service and consumption.

Restrictive covenants. Private restrictions recorded with a subdivision plat or parcel deed which limit or otherwise govern the use, intensity, and development patterns of the land within the subdivision or parcel for a specified time.

Retail sales. The direct selling or renting of new or used goods or merchandise primarily to the general public for personal or household use or consumption, but also to businesses and other end users, and the provision of services incidental to such sales or rentals. Retail trade is characterized by an establishment that is usually a place of business and engaged in activity to attract buyers, that buys and receives as well as sells merchandise, that sells to customers for their own use, and that may process or manufacture some products incidental or subordinate to the principal selling activities.

Retail services. Services provided directly and primarily to the general public for personal or household use, but also to business and industry, and including products that are incidental to the services and usually consumed on the premises. The term "retail services" includes restaurants, public lodging, personal services, professional services, and repair services.

Rezone* or *rezoning. An amendment to the Official Zoning Map of Escambia County to effect a change in the adopted zoning district of a designated parcel or land area.

Right-of-way. An area of land occupied or intended to be occupied by a street, walkway, railroad, utility, drainage facility, or similar use. For the purposes of platting, the term "right-of-way" refers to land that is separate and distinct from adjoining parcels. Most generally, the term refers to the specific right of a person to pass over the land of another.

Road or roadway. See "Street."

Roof sign. A sign that is mounted on the roof of a building or which is wholly dependent upon a building for support and which projects above the point of a building with a flat roof, the eave line of a building with a gambrel, gable or hip roof of the deck line of a building with a mansard roof.

Runway protection zone. An area at ground level beyond the runway end to enhance the safety and protection of people and property on the ground.

Riverine system. A generally linear aquatic community of non-tidal waters with a discrete channel, including rivers, tributaries, creeks, and intermittent streams. The landward extent of a riverine system is defined by ordinary high water.

Runway. The defined area on an airport or airfield prepared for landing and takeoff of aircraft along its length.

Rural. A sparsely developed area where most land is undeveloped or primarily used for agricultural purposes.

Section 3. Severability.

If any section, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by any Court of competent jurisdiction, then said holding shall in no way affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance.

Section 4. Inclusion in Code.

It is the intention of the Board of County Commissioners that the provisions of this Ordinance shall be codified as required by F.S. § 125.68 (2016); and that the sections, subsections and other provisions of this Ordinance may be renumbered or re-lettered and the word "ordinance" may be changed to "section," "chapter," or such other appropriate word or phrase in order to accomplish such intentions.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 2017-____

AN ORDINANCE OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, AMENDING PART III OF THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY CODE OF ORDINANCES, THE LAND DEVELOPMENT CODE OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, AS AMENDED; AMENDING CHAPTER 4, LOCATION AND USE REGULATIONS, ARTICLE 4, AIRPORT AND AIRFIELD ENVIRONS, AMENDING SECTION 4-4.1, PURPOSE OF THE ARTICLE; AMENDING SECTION 4-4.2, GENERAL PROVISIONS; AMENDING SECTION 4-4.3 HAZARDS TO AIR NAVIGATION; ADDING SECTION 4-4.4 AIRPORT HAZARD STRUCTURE PERMIT; AMENDING SECTION 4-4.5 AIRPORT AND AIRFIELD PLANNING DISTRICTS; AMENDING SECTION 4-4.6 VARIANCES; ADDING SECTION 4-4.7 NONCONFORMING STRUCTURES; ADDING SECTION 4-4.8 APPEALS; AMENDING CHAPTER 6, DEFINITIONS; AMENDING SECTION 6-0.3 TERMS DEFINED, SUBSECTIONS "A", "P", and "Q & R" TO INCORPORATE DEFINITIONS NECESSARY FOR AIRPORT ZONING REGULATIONS; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; PROVIDING FOR INCLUSION IN THE CODE AND PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

WHEREAS, Chapter 125, Florida Statutes, empowers the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida to prepare, amend and enforce comprehensive plans for the development of the County; and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners finds that modifying the language to meet the requirements of Chapter 333, Florida Statutes, is necessary and serves an important public purpose; and

WHEREAS, the Escambia County Planning Board conducted a public hearing and forwarded a recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners to approve this amendment to its Comprehensive Plan; and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida finds that the adoption of this amendment is in the best interest of the County and its citizens;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida, as follows:

Section 1. Part III of the Escambia County Code of Ordinances, the Land Development Code of Escambia County, Chapter 4, Location and Use Regulations, Article 4, Airport and Airfield Environs, is hereby amended as follows: (words underlined are additions and words ~~stricken~~ are deletions)

Article 4 Airport and Airfield Environs

Sec. 4-4.1 Purpose of article.

This article establishes land use regulations that implement Comprehensive Plan policies requiring the prevention of airport and airfield hazards and incompatible land uses around those facilities. It is the intent of these regulations to ensure the continued safe and efficient use of navigable airspace and operation of airports, airfields and other air navigation or communication facilities within the county. Airport and airfield hazards effectively reduce the size of areas available for the landing, taking off and maneuvering of aircraft, tending to destroy or impair both the present and future utility of aviation facilities and any public investment in them. Incompatible uses and activities have the potential for being hazardous to persons and property on the ground as well as aircraft operations.

The County shall enforce its airport regulations to assure compliance with the requirements set forth in Chapter 333, Florida Statutes, as amended, to meet the intent of the Federal Aviation Administration's reviewed and accepted noise exposure maps, and to prevent encroachment into airport operational areas.

Sec. 4-4.2 General provisions.

(a) Approval required. All land uses and development activities in proximity to airports and airfields require county review, permitting, and approval for compliance with the regulations of this article unless the use or activity is specifically identified in the LDC as exempt from these regulations. The regulations include both obstruction limitations for flight safety and land use restrictions for areas exposed to noise and accident risk.

(b) Modification of regulations. Variances to the strict application of the regulations of this article may only be granted as specifically allowed by the variance provisions of this article and the compliance review processes of Chapter 2.

(c) Applicable airports and airfields. The following facilities, each with an established elevation of the highest point above mean sea level of its runways or landing areas, are protected by the provisions of this article:

Pensacola International Airport: 121 feet

Ferguson Airport: 27 feet

Naval Air Station (NAS) Pensacola, Sherman Field: 28 feet

~~Navy Outlying Landing Field (NOLF) Site 8: 110 feet~~

Any new airport as may be developed within the County.

(d) Source standards. The obstruction provisions of this article are derived from federal obstruction standards in Safe, Efficient Use, and Preservation of the Navigable Airspace, 14 CFR pt. 77, and Unified Facilities Criteria (UFC) 3-260-01, Airfield and Heliport Planning and Design. The land use compatibility provisions are derived from Airport Noise Compatibility Planning, 14 CFR pt. 150, and the Air Installations Compatible Use Zones (AICUZ) program as described in OPNAV Instruction 11010.36C. However, whenever the provisions of this section reference federal standards or recommendations, the latest version is intended unless the context clearly indicates otherwise.

(e) Notifications.

(1) Federal Aviation Administration. Any person proposing any construction or alteration requiring notice to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) shall file such notice according to the applicability, form and time of notice requirements established in federal "preservation of navigable airspace" regulations. Subsequently, the FAA will make a determination of any hazard to air navigation and the appropriateness of any obstruction marking and lighting or other measures necessary for the continued safety of air navigation. However, FAA determinations are not approvals or permits for any construction or development. Approval and permitting remain responsibilities of the state and county which have authority to require the air safety measures recommended by the FAA and to deny a construction or alteration permit regardless of FAA determinations.

(2) State of Florida. All variances to airport or airfield provisions of the LDC, or any amendments to them, shall be filed with the State of Florida in compliance with the provisions of this article. Any state permits required for structures exceeding federal standards for obstructions to air navigation shall be obtained according to Florida Statutes.

(3) Airport and airfield officials. Notification to airport or airfield officials is required for any property that is within a designated airport or airfield height limitation zone or planning district and is the subject of an application for rezoning, all site development, subdivision or Board or Adjustment (BOA) approval, or as otherwise determined appropriate by the Planning Official. Those officials identified in the interlocal agreement between Escambia County and the U.S. Navy shall be notified regarding military airfields, and the director of the Pensacola International Airport shall be notified regarding that facility.

Notification shall include access to application documents, a request to review and comment on proposed actions, and a request for recommendations to the county regarding application approval.

(f) Interior noise reduction. In areas of high noise exposure from normal airport and airfield operations, interior noise reduction methods are required to maintain compatibility for some uses. Anticipated high noise exposure is represented by noise zones according to a FAA standard measure of the 24-hour day-night average sound level (Ldn). Noise reduction required by the applicable noise zone shall be identified on building construction plans and accomplished according to nationally accepted sound attenuation methods. For the habitable space within any new building or building addition, the following noise reductions are required by exposure:

(1) Below 65 Ldn. For noise exposures less than 65 Ldn, no interior noise reduction is required.

(2) Between 65 and 70 Ldn. For noise exposures between 65 and 70 Ldn, an interior noise level reduction of at least 25 decibels (dB) is required for residential uses or educational facilities, and is recommended for other noise sensitive uses.

(3) Between 70 and 75 Ldn. For noise exposures between 70 and 75 Ldn, an interior noise level reduction of at least 30 dB is required for residential, educational, public assembly or reception, office, and other noise sensitive uses.

(4) Above 75 Ldn. For noise exposures above 75 Ldn, residential and educational uses are prohibited regardless of noise reduction measures, but an interior noise level reduction of at least 35 dB is required for public assembly or reception, office, and other noise sensitive uses.

(g) Divided parcels and buildings. Generally, when a parcel is divided by an airport or airfield planning district boundary, only that portion of the parcel within the district is subject to district requirements. Requirements of the areas or zones that make up a planning district are similarly limited. However, when any part of a parcel is within an airfield planning district, the avigation easement provisions apply to the entire parcel. For any new building or addition proposed within more than one noise zone, the more stringent sound reduction requirements apply to the entire building or addition.

(h) Transfer of development rights. At such time as the county may establish a comprehensive program for transfer of development rights, parcels within the airport and airfield planning districts shall be eligible as sending parcels, but shall not be included in that program as receiving parcels.

Sec. 4-4.3 Hazards to air navigation.

(a) Hazards prohibited. No permit or other approval to construct a new structure or establish a new use shall be granted that would allow the establishment or creation of an airport or airfield hazard. Additionally, no approval shall be granted that would allow a nonconforming use, structure or site condition to become a higher obstruction or greater hazard to air navigation.

(b) Obstruction hazards. A hazard to air navigation is presumed to exist when an object of natural growth or terrain, or of permanent or temporary construction or alteration, including mobile objects and equipment or materials used, exceeds any federally established standards for identifying obstructions to air navigation or navigational aids or facilities. Those standards apply regardless of other LDC height limits. ~~An object is not considered an obstruction hazard by the FAA or the county if an aeronautical study by the FAA concludes that the object is not a hazard to air navigation.~~

~~(1) Height limit maps. An object is or would be an obstruction to air navigation if it is of greater height than any of the federally established limits for airports and airfields. Those limits are mapped for each of the airports and airfields identified in this article and are specifically adopted here by reference as the Airport and Airfield Height Limitation Zone Maps of Escambia County. The maps are declared to be part of the LDC, with the information shown on them having the same force and effect as the text of the LDC. The height limitation zone maps represent the primary, clear zone, approach, horizontal, conical, transitional and other imaginary surfaces applicable to the takeoff and landing areas of each~~

~~airport or airfield. The maps are maintained digitally in the county's "Geographic Information System" (GIS).~~

~~(2) Other height limits. In addition to the established height limit surfaces for each airport and airfield, an object is or would be an obstruction to air navigation if it is of greater height than any of the following federally established height limits related to airports and airfields:~~

~~b. From airport/airfield. A height that is 200 feet above ground level or above the established airport/airfield elevation, whichever is higher, within three nautical miles of the established reference point (approximate geometric center of runways) of Pensacola International Airport, NAS Pensacola Sherman Field and that height increasing at the rate of 100 feet for each additional nautical mile from the airport or airfield, up to a maximum of 499 feet.~~

~~c. Other heights. Other established heights, including those relating to the traverse ways of vehicles and other mobile objects, and airport and airfield approach, departure, takeoff and landing areas.~~

~~(3)~~ (1) Exceeding height limits. Except as otherwise provided, no object shall be constructed or altered in such a way as to exceed the height limitations established here unless a variance is first obtained according to the provisions of this article.

~~(4)~~ (2) Obstruction marking and lighting. Any permit granted for an obstruction to air navigation shall, as a condition of approval, require the owner to install, operate, and maintain at their expense any marking or lighting of the obstruction that has been recommended in a FAA aeronautical study determination, or as otherwise required by Florida Statutes. The county may also condition permit approval on any other obstruction marking and lighting recommendations provided by the operators of airports or airfields within the county.

(c) Non-obstruction hazards. The use or development of land shall not create or contribute to interference with the operation of aircraft, including the following non-obstruction hazards to air navigation:

(1) Dangerous lighting. No lights or illumination, whether for streets, parking, signs or other structures, shall be arranged and operated in a manner that is misleading or dangerous to aircraft operating from or in the vicinity of an airport or airfield, as determined by the operator of the airport or airfield.

(2) Smoke or glare. No operations of any type shall produce smoke, glare or other visual hazards within three statute miles of any designated airport or airfield, or any usable runway, with the exception of permitted projects or activities.

(3) Electronic interference. No operations of any type shall produce electronic interference with navigation signals or radio communication between an airport or airfield and any aircraft.

(4) Landfills. No sanitary landfill shall be operated within 10,000 feet from the nearest point of any runway used or planned to be used by ~~turbojet~~ turbine ~~or turboprop~~ aircraft, or within 5,000 feet of any runway used by only non-turbine ~~piston engine~~ aircraft; or outside those perimeters, but still within the lateral limits of the civil patrol imaginary surfaces defined in 14 C.F.R. s.77.19, as may be amended. Additionally, no landfill of any type shall be located so that it attracts or sustains hazardous bird movements from feeding, water or roosting areas into or across the runways or approach and departure patterns of aircraft. County approval of proposed landfill locations meeting these restrictions remains subject to conditions recommended by the operators of any affected airports or airfields.

(d) Airport Obstruction Notification Zone.

(1) Purpose. The purpose of the Airport Obstruction Notification Zone is to regulate obstructions for air navigation which affects the safe and efficient use of navigable airspace or the operation of planned or existing air navigation and communication facilities.

(2) Location and map zone.

a. An Airport Obstruction Notification Zone is established around Pensacola International Airport (PNS) and consists of an imaginary surface extending from any point of the PNS runway at a slope of 100 to 1 at a horizontal distance of 20,000 ft. and a height of 200 ft. above ground level. The Airport Obstruction Notification Zone map may be reviewed annually by the Airport staff and updated/amended by the Airport Executive Director in conjunction with the County Development Services Department as needed to ensure currency.

b. An Airport Obstruction Notification Zone is established around Ferguson Airport and consists of any imaginary surface extending from any point of the a Ferguson runway at a slope of 50 to 1 at a horizontal distance of 10,000 ft. The Airport Obstruction Notification Zone map may be reviewed annually by the Airport staff and updated/amended by the Airport Executive Director in conjunction with the County Development Services Department as needed to ensure currency.

c. An Airport Obstruction Notification Zone may be established around any new airport or airfield as necessary for the health, safety, and welfare of the public.

(3) Development Compliance: No object, structure, or alteration to a structure will be allowed within an Airport Obstruction Notification Zone at a slope exceeding 100 to 1 for a horizontal distance of 20,000 from the nearest PNS runway or a slope exceeding 50 to 1 for a horizontal distance of 10,000 feet from the nearest Ferguson Airport or 200 feet above ground level within these horizontal distances without an approved Permit issued by the Airport.

~~Sec. 4-4.4 Airport and airfield planning districts.~~

~~(a) Pensacola International Airport Planning District. The Pensacola International Airport Planning District (PNSPD) is established to provide enhanced protection in support of the continued operation of the Pensacola International Airport for areas that are close enough to the airport to influence or be influenced by its activities. The PNSPD imposes additional restrictions on surrounding development that primarily address noise and safety concerns created by flight operations and potential interferences with those operations.~~

~~(1) Establishment. The PNSPD is established through its definition and adoption within the LDC. The Pensacola International Airport Influence Planning District Overlay maps for noise zones and educational facility restrictions are specifically adopted here by reference and declared to be part of the LDC, with the information shown on the maps having the same force and effect as the text of the LDC. The PNSPD maps are maintained digitally in the county's "Geographic Information System" (GIS).~~

~~(2) Real estate disclosure. All real estate transactions for property within the Pensacola International Airport Real Estate Disclosure Area shall include a form disclosing the proximity of the site to the airport. The disclosure is intended to inform a potential property owner or occupant of the nearby airport and alert them to possible incompatibilities of the intended property use with airport operations. The disclosure form shall be attached to all listing agreements, sales and rental contracts, subdivision plats, and marketing materials provided to prospective buyers, renters and lessees. The form need not be included in advertisements directed to the public at large. Disclosure is required as soon as practicable, but shall occur before the making or acceptance of an offer to buy, rent or lease.~~

~~(b) Military airfield Influence planning districts. Airfield influence planning districts (AIPDs) are established to provide enhanced protection in support of the continued operation of military airfields for areas that are close enough to those airfields to influence or be influenced by their activities. AIPDs impose additional restrictions on surrounding development that primarily address noise and safety concerns created by flight operations and potential interferences with those operations. If~~ military operations permanently cease at an airfield, the supplemental requirements of its AIPDs will no longer apply to surrounding lands.

(1) General characteristics. Airfield influence planning districts are combinations of noise zones, clear zones, accident potential zones, and other areas of influence that overlap and combine to define a broad range of airfield influences on surrounding land use. The range of influences is divided between two planning districts: AIPD-1 composed of areas closest to an airfield and, therefore, with highest noise exposure and accident risk; and AIPD-2 composed of areas further from the airfield than AIPD-1, but that still may influence or be influenced by airfield operations.

(2) Clear zones and accident potential zones. Clear zones and accident potential zones identify areas near airfield runways where aircraft accidents are most likely, if they do occur. The zones are defined by the type of aircraft for which the runway is primarily used. Clear zones extend immediately beyond the ends of runways and designate areas of high accident potential. Accident potential zones (APZs) generally extend beyond clear zones and designate areas that remain impacted by accident potential. APZ-1 identifies areas that retain a significant potential for accidents. APZ-2 identifies areas beyond APZ-1 that retain lower but measurable potential for accidents.

(3) Establishment. AIPDs and their constituent zones and areas are established through their definition and adoption within the LDC. The Airfield Influence Planning District Overlay maps for NAS Pensacola and NOLF 8 are specifically adopted here by reference and declared to be part of the LDC, with the information shown on the maps having the same force and effect as the text of the LDC. The AIPD maps are maintained digitally in the county's "Geographic Information System" (GIS).

(4) General AIPD requirements.

a. Real estate disclosure. All real estate transactions for property within an AIPD shall include a form disclosing the proximity of the site to the military airfield. The disclosure is intended to inform a potential property owner or occupant of the nearby airfield and alert them to possible incompatibilities of the intended property use with airfield operations. The disclosure form shall be attached to all listing agreements, sales and rental contracts, subdivision plats, and marketing materials provided to prospective buyers, renters and lessees. The form need not be included in advertisements directed to the public at large. Disclosure is required as soon as practicable, but shall occur before the making or acceptance of an offer to buy, rent or lease.

b. Avigation easement. For any parcel within an AIPD where subdivision or any site plan approval is requested, the application shall include an executed avigation easement or proof of the public recording of an executed easement. The purpose of the easement is to grant a clear property right to maintain flight operations in the airspace above the property. The easement shall be in a form approved by the County Attorney and recorded with the property deed to run in perpetuity with the land.

c. Rezoning. Rezoning is allowed within AIPDs, but density remains limited to the maximum density allowed by the AIPD, regardless of the zoning. The AIPD density limits shall govern.

(5) AIPD-1 requirements. Airfield Influence Planning District 1 (AIPD-1) defines areas of greatest protection for an airfield. AIPD-1 lies within a boundary connecting the outermost limits of an installation's clear zones, accident potential zones, or other areas necessary to achieve adequate protections. The following requirements apply to all lands within an AIPD-1 district:

a. Prohibited concentrations of population. Any use at such a scale that gatherings concentrating more than 25 people per acre and within a structure would be expected on a regular basis is prohibited. Such uses include sports stadiums, amphitheaters, auditoriums, clubhouses, churches, schools, hospitals, assisted living facilities, hotels and motels, restaurants, nightclubs and other establishments.

b. Residential density. Residential density is limited by the applicable zone or area with the AIPD according to the following:

1. Clear zones. Areas designated as "Clear Zone" are allowed no residential density except vested single-family dwellings on existing lots of record.

2. Area A. Areas designated as "Area A" are allowed no residential density except vested single-family dwellings on existing lots of record.

3. APZ-1. Areas designated as "Accident Potential Zone 1" (APZ-1) and aligned with airfield runways are allowed no residential density except vested single-family dwellings on existing lots of record. All other APZ-1 areas are limited to one dwelling unit per 2.5 acres.

4. APZ-2. Areas designated as "Accident Potential Zone 2" (APZ-2) and aligned with airfield runways are limited to two dwelling units per acre. All other APZ-2 areas are limited to three dwelling units per acre.

5. Area B. Areas designated as "Area B" are limited to three dwelling units per acre and only subject to the minimum lot area of the applicable zoning district.

c. Dwellings. Residential development is limited to detached single-family dwellings, including manufactured (mobile) homes if allowed by applicable zoning district. No single-family attached or multifamily dwellings are permitted. The planning district also prohibits the clustering of dwellings, including mobile home parks, whether by density transfers, planned unit development or other means.

d. Minimum lot area. The required minimum lot area shall be the inverse of the established maximum density except where noted. For example, a maximum density of three dwelling units per acre inversely requires at least one acre

~~per three dwelling units, so the minimum lot size for one dwelling unit is one-third acre.~~

~~e. Parks and recreational facilities. Outdoor sports facilities, parks and recreation areas are permitted, but all their structures are restricted to those that are accessory to the outdoor use, such as bleachers, backstops, picnic tables, public restrooms, concession stands, etc.~~

~~f. Conditional uses. The following uses require conditional use approval by the Board of Adjustment (BOA), regardless of whether they are permitted within the applicable zoning district:~~

~~1. Borrow pits and borrow pit reclamation.~~

~~2. Solid waste collection points, transfer stations, or processing facilities.~~

~~3. Salvage yards.~~

~~g. Prohibited uses. The following uses are prohibited:~~

~~1. Animal feedlots and similar facilities that concentrate animal feed and waste.~~

~~2. Electrical transmission lines above ground.~~

~~3. Stables designed to house more than four horses or other domesticated equine.~~

~~4. Telecommunications towers.~~

~~5. Outdoor storage if permanent, excluding farm equipment.~~

~~6. Motor vehicle sales, new or used.~~

~~(6) AIPD-2 requirements. AIPD-2 is additional areas extended beyond AIPD-1 that is sufficiently close to the airfield to require some protections. AIPD-2 requirements are the same for all airfields. Densities and minimum lot sizes of the underlying zoning districts are not modified by AIPD-2.~~

Sec. 4-4.4– Airport Hazard Structure Permit

(a) Permitting

(1) Any individual seeking to alter, construct, or place any structure or development within any airport hazard area or runway protection zone or any land on, adjacent to, or in the immediate vicinity of airports or any individual seeking a building permit, development order, subdivision approval, rezoning, conditional use, comprehensive plan amendment, non-conforming use approval, variance, or other official action by the County that will have the effect of permitting a development or alteration of land or a structure shall submit an application for Airport Hazard Review to the Development Services Department (DSD) for determination as to the need for an Airport Hazard Structures Permit.

(2) DSD shall make the initial determination with respect to whether the proposed development exceeds the height and surface within the Airport Obstruction

Notification Zone based upon on the maps in Appendix C as an element of the review. The review shall include the zoning, development order, and building permit application processes. If DSD determines the proposed development or alteration, including any associated use of temporary construction equipment, exceeds an Airport Obstruction Notification Zone surface or height threshold, then the applicant is required to obtain an Airport Hazard Structures Permit from DSD prior to the issuance of any further development orders or permits. DSD shall obtain technical input from the applicable airport as part of the permitting process. This provision applies to all development or improvements to land, including new development, redevelopment, building or use modifications, or similar actions.

(3) The permitting procedures for an Airport Hazard Structures Permit are outlined as follows. If an Airport Hazard Structures Permit application is deemed necessary by DSD as determined through the use of the Airport Obstruction Notification Zone map, the following procedures will apply:

a. After an initial review and the determination that a permit is required, DSD will give a written notice to the applicant that an Airport Hazard Structures Permit is required and that no further permits or development orders can be obtained from the County until an Airport Hazard Structures Permit is obtained.

b. The applicant must submit a completed Airport Hazard Structures Permit application to DSD at the Central Office Complex located at 3363 W Park Place, Pensacola, Florida 32505. DSD will complete a sufficiency review and then route the application to the affected airport. The affected airport will review the application and provide comment to DSD.

c. Upon receipt of a complete permit application, DSD shall provide a copy of the application to the State of Florida, Department of Transportation (FDOT) Aviation Office by certified mail, return receipt requested, or by a delivery service that provides a receipt evidencing delivery.

d. The permit application shall also be provided to the City of Pensacola within ten (10) calendar days of the filing of the application.

e. The affected airport, FDOT, and the City will review the application to evaluate technical consistency with this subsection. The County shall allow the airport, the Department of Transportation, and the City a 15-day review period following receipt of the application. This review period shall run concurrently with the local government permitting process. DSD shall consider any comments from the affected airport, FDOT, and the City in processing permit applications under this Section.

(3) In determining whether to issue or deny a permit, DSD shall consider the following, as applicable:

a. The safety of persons on the ground and in the air.

b. The safe and efficient use of navigable airspace.

c. The nature of the terrain and height of existing structures.

d. The effect of the construction or alteration on the state licensing standards for a public-use airport contained in Chapter 330, Florida Statutes, as may be amended, and rules adopted thereunder.

e. The character of existing and planned flight operations and developments at public-use airports.

f. Federal airways, visual flight rules, flyways and corridors, and instrument approaches as designated by the Federal Aviation Administration.

g. The effect of the construction or alteration of the proposed structure on the minimum descent altitude or the decision height at the affected airport.

h. The cumulative effects on navigable airspace of all existing structures and all other known proposed structures in the area

(4) Approval of a permit will not be based solely on the determination by the Federal Aviation Administration that the proposed structure is not an airport hazard.

(b) The County shall enforce the issuance or denial of any permit or other determination related to Air Hazard Permit applications by any means provided, authorized, or allowed by law or ordinance, including Florida Statutes and Chapter 30, Code Enforcement, Part 1, Escambia County Code of Ordinances. More particularly:

(1) Procedural remedies. Failure to comply with LDC provisions may result in application denial, delay of application approval, conditional application approval, voiding an application approval, delay of use, or penalties as additionally may be prescribed by the LDC.

(2) Civil Remedies. The BCC or any aggrieved party, as defined by state law, may apply to the Circuit Court of Escambia County, Florida, to enjoin and restrain any person violating the provisions of this Section.

(3) Criminal Remedies. Any person who violates, disobeys, omits, neglects, or refuses to comply with, or who resists the enforcement of, any of the provisions of the LDC, shall be subject to a misdemeanor punishable by fine and/or imprisonment according to state law. Upon conviction the person shall additionally pay all expenses of the county in the case. Each day a violation exists shall constitute a separate offense.

(c) Permitting by the County for the construction or alteration of structures dangerous to air navigation or for structures governed by Title 14, CFR, Part 77 shall consider whether or not a permit has been obtained from FDOT Aviation or FDOT Aviation has confirmed that no FDOT permit is necessary.

Sec. 4-4.5 Airport and airfield planning districts.

(a) Pensacola International Airport Planning District. The Pensacola International Airport Planning District (PNSPD) is established to provide enhanced protection in support of the continued operation of the Pensacola International Airport for areas that are close enough to the airport to influence or be influenced by its activities. The PNSPD imposes additional restrictions on surrounding development that primarily address noise and safety concerns created by flight operations and potential interferences with those operations.

(1) Establishment. The PNSPD is established through its definition and adoption within the LDC. The Pensacola International Airport Influence Planning District Overlay maps for noise zones and educational facility restrictions are specifically adopted here by reference and declared to be part of the LDC, with the information shown on the maps having the same force and effect as the text of the LDC. The PNSPD maps are maintained digitally in the county's "Geographic Information System" (GIS).

(2) Real estate disclosure. All real estate transactions for property within the Pensacola International Airport Real Estate Disclosure Area shall include a form disclosing the proximity of the site to the airport. The disclosure is intended to inform a potential property owner or occupant of the nearby airport and alert them to possible incompatibilities of the intended property use with airport operations. The disclosure form shall be attached to all listing agreements, sales and rental contracts, subdivision plats, and marketing materials provided to prospective buyers, renters and lessees. The form need not be included in advertisements directed to the public at large. Disclosure is required as soon as practicable, but shall occur before the making or acceptance of an offer to buy, rent or lease.

(b) MilitaryAirfield Influence Planning Districts. Airfield Influence Planning Districts (AIPDs) are established to provide enhanced protection in support of the continued operation of military airfields for areas that are close enough to those airfields to influence or be influenced by their activities. AIPDs impose additional restrictions on surrounding development that primarily address noise and safety concerns created by flight operations and potential interferences with those operations. If military operations permanently cease at an airfield, the supplemental requirements of its AIPDs will no longer apply to surrounding lands.

(1) General characteristics. Airfield Influence Planning Districts are combinations of noise zones, clear zones, accident potential zones, and other areas of influence that overlap and combine to define a broad range of airfield influences on surrounding land use. The range of influences is divided between two planning districts: AIPD-1 composed of areas closest to an airfield and, therefore, with highest noise exposure and accident risk; and AIPD-2 composed of areas further from the airfield than AIPD-1, but that still may influence or be influenced by airfield operations.

(2) Clear zones and accident potential zones. Clear zones and accident potential zones identify areas near airfield runways where aircraft accidents are most likely, if they do occur. The zones are defined by the type of aircraft for which the runway is primarily used. Clear zones extend immediately beyond the ends of runways and designate areas of high accident potential. Accident potential zones (APZs) generally extend beyond clear zones and designate areas that remain impacted by accident potential. APZ-1 identifies areas that retain a significant potential for accidents. APZ-2 identifies areas beyond APZ-1 that retain lower but measurable potential for accidents.

(3) Establishment. AIPDs and their constituent zones and areas are established through their definition and adoption within the LDC. The Airfield Influence Planning District Overlay maps for NAS Pensacola and NOLF 8 are specifically adopted here by reference and declared to be part of the LDC, with the information shown on the maps having the same force and effect as the text of the LDC. The AIPD maps are maintained digitally in the county's "Geographic Information System" (GIS).

(4) General AIPD requirements.

a. Real estate disclosure. All real estate transactions for property within an AIPD shall include a form disclosing the proximity of the site to the military airfield. The disclosure is intended to inform a potential property owner or occupant of the nearby airfield and alert them to possible incompatibilities of the intended property use with airfield operations. The disclosure form shall be attached to all listing agreements, sales and rental contracts, subdivision plats, and marketing materials provided to prospective buyers, renters and lessees. The form need not be included in advertisements directed to the public at large. Disclosure is required as soon as practicable, but shall occur before the making or acceptance of an offer to buy, rent or lease.

b. Avigation easement. For any parcel within an AIPD where subdivision or any site plan approval is requested, the application shall include an executed avigation easement or proof of the public recording of an executed easement. The purpose of the easement is to grant a clear property right to maintain flight operations in the airspace above the property. The easement shall be in a form approved by the County Attorney and recorded with the property deed to run in perpetuity with the land.

c. Rezoning. Rezoning is allowed within AIPDs, but density remains limited to the maximum density allowed by the AIPD, regardless of the zoning. The AIPD density limits shall govern.

(5) AIPD-1 requirements. Airfield Influence Planning District 1 (AIPD-1) defines areas of greatest protection for an airfield. AIPD-1 lies within a boundary connecting the outermost limits of an installation's clear zones, accident potential zones, or other areas necessary to achieve adequate protections. The following requirements apply to all lands within an AIPD-1 district:

a. Prohibited concentrations of population. Any use at such a scale that gatherings concentrating more than 25 people per acre and within a structure would be expected on a regular basis is prohibited. Such uses include sports stadiums, amphitheaters, auditoriums, clubhouses, churches, schools, hospitals, assisted living facilities, hotels and motels, restaurants, nightclubs and other establishments.

b. Residential density. Residential density is limited by the applicable zone or area with the AIPD according to the following:

1. Clear zones. Areas designated as "Clear Zone" are allowed no residential density except vested single-family dwellings on existing lots of record.
2. Area A. Areas designated as "Area A" are allowed no residential density except vested single-family dwellings on existing lots of record.
3. APZ-1. Areas designated as "Accident Potential Zone 1" (APZ-1) and aligned with airfield runways are allowed no residential density except vested single-family dwellings on existing lots of record. All other APZ-1 areas are limited to one dwelling unit per 2.5 acres.
4. APZ-2. Areas designated as "Accident Potential Zone 2" (APZ-2) and aligned with airfield runways are limited to two dwelling units per acre. All other APZ-2 areas are limited to three dwelling units per acre.
5. Area B. Areas designated as "Area B" are limited to three dwelling units per acre and only subject to the minimum lot area of the applicable zoning district.

c. Dwellings. Residential development is limited to detached single-family dwellings, including manufactured (mobile) homes if allowed by applicable zoning district. No single-family attached or multifamily dwellings are permitted. The planning district also prohibits the clustering of dwellings, including mobile home parks, whether by density transfers, planned unit development or other means.

d. Minimum lot area. The required minimum lot area shall be the inverse of the established maximum density except where noted. For example, a maximum density of three dwelling units per acre inversely requires at least one acre per three dwelling units, so the minimum lot size for one dwelling unit is one-third acre.

e. Parks and recreational facilities. Outdoor sports facilities, parks and recreation areas are permitted, but all their structures are restricted to those that are accessory to the outdoor use, such as bleachers, backstops, picnic tables, public restrooms, concession stands, etc.

f. Conditional uses. The following uses require conditional use approval by the Board of Adjustment (BOA), regardless of whether they are permitted within the applicable zoning district:

1. Borrow pits and borrow pit reclamation.
2. Solid waste collection points, transfer stations, or processing facilities.
3. Salvage yards.

g. Prohibited uses. The following uses are prohibited:

1. Animal feedlots and similar facilities that concentrate animal feed and waste.

2. Electrical transmission lines above ground.

3. Stables designed to house more than four horses or other domesticated equine.

4. Telecommunications towers.

5. Outdoor storage if permanent, excluding farm equipment.

6. Motor vehicle sales, new or used.

(6) AIPD-2 requirements. AIPD-2 is additional areas extended beyond AIPD-1 that is sufficiently close to the airfield to require some protections. AIPD-2 requirements are the same for all airfields. Densities and minimum lot sizes of the underlying zoning districts are not modified by AIPD-2.

Sec. ~~4-4.5~~ 4-4.6 Variances.

(a) General eligibility. A variance to the airport and airfield regulations of the LDC is generally contrary to the safe and efficient use of navigable airspace and the operation of airports and airfields. However, where compliance with the requirements creates an exceptional hardship on an applicant for development approval, the Board of Adjustment (BOA) may, in compliance with Florida Statutes and the quasi-judicial variance process prescribed in Chapter 2, approve or deny a request for a site-specific modification to the air navigation obstruction standards of this article for the erection, alteration, or modification of any structure that would cause those standards to be exceeded. Additionally, a variance to the educational facility construction prohibition associated with the Pensacola International Airport may be requested. No other variances, however, are applicable to the requirements of the airport and airfield environs.

(b) Specific limitations. In addition to the general variance review and approval requirements prescribed in Chapter 2, available variances to airport and airfield environs provisions shall comply with all of the following conditions:

(1) State review. As required by state regulations, the applicant shall provide a copy of the variance application to the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) by certified mail to allow a 45-day opportunity for department comment. The county may proceed with consideration of the application in a public hearing only upon receipt of FDOT review comments or a waiving of that right.

(2) Required findings. A variance may only be granted where the applicant demonstrates, and the BOA establishes in its findings, all of the following conditions as applicable:

a. No hazard. For an obstruction to air navigation, a valid aeronautical study by the FAA has concluded that the object is not a hazard to air navigation.

b. Public policy. For a prohibited educational facility, the public policy reasons for allowing the construction outweigh the health and safety concerns prohibiting such a location.

c. No objections. U.S. Navy officials, the director of the Pensacola International Airport, or other operators of airports or airfields within the county have no substantial objections to the variance, or their objections will be addressed through conditions of the variance approval.

d. Hardship. A literal application or enforcement of the regulations would result in practical difficulty or unnecessary hardship.

e. Public interest. The relief granted would not be contrary to the public interest.

f. Intent. The relief granted would do substantial justice and be in accordance with the intent of county and state regulations.

(3) Conditions of approval. Any variance granted by the BOA is subject to the following conditions:

a. Any reasonable conditions that the BOA finds necessary to accomplish the purposes of county and state regulations.

b. A variance granted for an obstruction to air navigation shall require the owner to install, operate and maintain at his expense any marking or lighting of the obstruction that has been recommended in a FAA aeronautical study determination, or as otherwise required by Florida Statutes. The BOA may also condition approval on any other obstruction marking and lighting recommendations provided by the operators of airports or airfields within the county.

c. The applicant shall provide FDOT a copy of the county decision on an obstruction variance application within ten days of issuance of the decision.

Sec. 4-4.7. Nonconforming Structures

If any nonconforming structure is determined to be an airport hazard and the owner will not remove, lower, or otherwise eliminate it or the approach protection necessary cannot, because of constitutional limitations, be provided by airport zoning regulations, or it appears advisable that the necessary approach protection be provided by acquisition of property rights rather than by airport zoning regulations, then DSD shall notify the County Attorney's Office and County Administrator in order to conduct an analysis related to public acquisition either by purchase, grant, or condemnation, in the manner provided in Chapter 73 and Chapter 74, Florida Statutes.

Sec. 4-4.8- Appeals

(a) Any individual, political subdivision or its administrative agency, or a joint airport zoning board that contests a decision made on an improper application of airport zoning regulations may appeal the decision.

(b) All appeals shall be heard by the Escambia County Board of Adjustment (BOA). All appeals shall be made within 15 days after the date of the official's decision according to the provisions for appeal of administrative decisions as prescribed in Article 6. Upon notice of appeal, the Building Official and Planning and Zoning Official shall forthwith transmit to the BOA all the papers constituting the record upon which the appeal was taken.

(c) The BOA shall fix a reasonable time for hearing appeals, and shall give public notice and provide notice to the interested parties. The BOA shall render a decision within a reasonable time. The BOA shall notify in writing the airport manager and NAS facilities management office, FDOT, and the City of Pensacola of all meetings in which an appeal under this Section is scheduled. During the hearing before the BOA, any party may appear in person, by agent, or by attorney.

(d) The BOA may, in conformity with the provisions of this chapter, reverse or affirm, in whole, or in part, or modify the order, requirement, decision or determination, as may be necessary.

(e) If the final determination of the BOA is denial, no new application for the same use on the same parcel can be accepted for review until at least 180 days from the date of the denial. A final determination of the BOA may be appealed by petitioning the circuit court for judicial review within 30 days after date of the board's decision, and providing a copy of the petition to the clerk of the board.

Section 2. Part III of the Escambia County Code of Ordinances, the Land Development Code of Escambia County, Chapter 6, Definitions, Sections "A", "P", and "Q & R" are hereby amended as follows: (words underlined are additions and words ~~stricken~~ are deletions)

6-0.3 Terms defined.

As used within the LDC, the following terms have the meanings established here:

- A -

Abandoned sign. Any sign face which advertises a business no longer conducted or product no longer sold. In making the determination that a sign advertises a business no longer being conducted, the enforcement official shall consider the existence or absence of a current occupational license, utility service deposit or account, use of the premises and relocation of the business. An abandoned sign is prohibited and shall be removed by the owner of the premises when there is a lack of maintenance or sign faces are missing, or as otherwise provided for in this article.

Any sign structure which has not been used for business purposes for over 90 days, and is nonconforming as to existing codes regarding height, setback or maintenance.

Any previously permitted portable or temporary sign for which the permit has expired.

Accessory structure. A building or other structure that is subordinate in extent and purpose and customarily incidental to the principal structure on the same lot, and is typically detached from it.

Accessory dwelling unit*. A dwelling unit that is an accessory structure to a single-family dwelling.

Accessory use. A use of land or structure that is subordinate in extent and purpose, and is customarily incidental to the principal use on the same lot. The term "accessory use" includes support services and functions for employees, customers, tenants and visitors customarily associated with the principal use.

Act of God. An act caused by the direct, immediate, and exclusive operation of the forces of nature, uncontrolled and uninfluenced by the power of man, without human intervention, and of a character that it could not have been prevented or escaped from by any amount of foresight or reasonable degree of care or diligence.

Addition. As applicable to building construction, any walled and roofed expansion of a building that increases the existing building height, length, width, floor area, or site coverage. If an expansion is connected to a building by a firewall, or is separated by independent perimeter load-bearing walls, it is considered new construction and not an addition.

Adult day care center. A state licensed facility, whether operated for profit or not, which provides basic services for part of a day to three or more persons who are 18 years of age or older, who are not related to the facility owner or operator, and who require such services. As used here, basic services include providing a protective setting that is as non-institutional as possible, therapeutic programs of social and health activities and services, leisure activities, self-care training, rest, nutritional services, and respite care.

Adult entertainment establishment. An adult theater, adult bookstore, adult performance establishment, or other adult use or activity as defined in the Adult Entertainment Code of Chapter 18, Businesses, Part I, Escambia County Code of Ordinances.

Adult family-care home*. A state licensed, full-time, family-type living arrangement in a private home under which a person who owns or rents the home provides room, board, and personal care on a 24-hour basis for no more than five disabled adults or frail elders who are not relatives. An adult family-care home is a form of household living.

Affordable housing. Housing with monthly rents or monthly mortgage payments, including taxes, insurance, and utilities, that do not exceed 30 percent of that amount which represents the percentage of the median adjusted gross annual income established by the state for extremely-low-income, very-low-income, low-income, and moderate-income households as applicable.

Agent. A person authorized by contract or other valid authority to act for and under the direction of another person, the agent's principal, when dealing with third parties, and who can enter into binding agreements on the principal's behalf.

Agricultural-related activity. An activity in support of or accessory to agriculture.

Agricultural processing, major. Activities involving a variety of processing operations on crops after harvest, or on livestock, which typically generate dust, noise, odors, pollutants, or visual impacts that can adversely affect adjacent properties. Such activities include feedlots, slaughterhouses, rendering plants, large-scale mills, refineries, canneries, and milk processing plants.

Agricultural processing, minor*. Activities involving a variety of processing operations on crops after harvest to prepare them for market, or for further processing or packaging out of the agricultural area, and which cannot be characterized as major agricultural processing. Such activities include cleaning, sorting, drying, roasting, hulling, shelling, baling, custom milling, cotton ginning, packing and storing.

Agriculture or agricultural use. The active production of plants, animals or their products through cultivation of soil, growing and harvesting of crops, or raising of livestock. Agricultural crops include grains, legumes, oil seeds, roots and tubers, fibers, fruits, nuts, vegetables and forages. Agricultural livestock includes dairy and beef cattle, sheep, goats, pigs, poultry and horses. The terms “agriculture” or “agricultural use” also include bees and apiary products, plant nursery and greenhouse products, the breeding of animals, the storage of harvested products, and land devoted to soil conservation. However, the terms do not include agricultural processing or packaging, waste composting, silviculture or timber harvesting, aquiculture, or farm worker housing.

Airfield. Any area of land or water that is designed and set aside for the landing and taking off of military aircraft.

Airport. ~~Any area of land or water that is designed and set aside for the landing and taking off of civilian aircraft.~~ Any land or water designed and set aside for the landing and taking off of aircraft and used or to be used in the interest of the public for such purpose.

Airport or airfield hazard. ~~Any structure, object of natural growth, or use of land which would exceed federal obstruction standards, which obstructs the airspace required forthe flight of aircraft in taking off, maneuvering, or landing, and for which no person has previously obtained a permit or variance according to Florida Statutes.~~ An obstruction to air navigation which affects the safe and efficient use of navigable airspace or the operation of planned or existing air navigation.

Airport hazard area. Any area of land or water upon which an airport hazard might be established.

Airport land use compatibility zoning. Airport zoning regulations governing the use of land on, adjacent to, or in the immediate vicinity of airports.

Airport master plan. A comprehensive plan of an airport which typically describes current and future plans for airport development designed to support existing and future aviation demand.

Airport obstruction. Any existing or proposed object, terrain, or structure construction or alteration that exceed the federal obstruction standards contained in 14 C.F.R. part 77, subpart C, as may be amended. The term includes: any object of nature growth or terrain; permanent or temporary construction or alteration, including equipment or materials used and any permanent or temporary apparatus; or alteration of any permanent or temporary existing structure's height, including appurtenances, lateral dimensions, and equipment or materials used in the structure.

Airport protection zoning regulations. Airport zoning regulations governing airport hazards.

Alcoholic beverage. Any liquor, beer, wine, or other distilled spirits or beverages containing one-half of one percent or more alcohol by volume.

Alley. A public or private right-of-way that affords a secondary means of access to the back or the side of a lot otherwise abutting a street, and not intended or used for general traffic circulation.

All-weather surface. A hard driving surface (e.g., asphalt, concrete, compacted gravel or shell) designed and constructed to ensure adequate runoff of stormwater under normal rainfall conditions and capable of withstanding normal weather conditions during ordinary use without substantial deterioration.

Alteration. For the purpose of regulating structures, any change or modification that would result in a change in height or lateral dimensions of an existing structure, including cosmetic improvements, repairs, remodeling, and structural support changes.

Amusement, commercial. Any facility that is maintained or operated for the provision of amusement, entertainment or recreation to the general public for a fee. Indoor amusements include pinball machines, video games, and other games of skill or scoring such as billiards. Outdoor amusements include miniature golf, automobile race tracks, waterslides and amusement rides.

Amusement arcade. A business establishment open to the public and offering games, rides, shows, or similar facilities and devices, typically operated by coin or token, for entertainment or amusement purposes only. Such facilities and devices do not include bingo games, gambling devices, or any devices prohibited by law.

DRAFT

Animal grooming service. A business providing bathing, clipping, combing or similar grooming services to enhance the appearance or health of domestic animals, but not including any overnight boarding of animals.

Animal shelter. A facility used to house or board stray, homeless, abandoned or unwanted animals and that is operated by a public agency or a recognized non-profit organization devoted to the welfare, protection, and humane treatment of animals.

Applicant. Any person, including the person's agent, who submits an application to the county requesting development approval or other consideration according to any of the compliance review processes prescribed by the LDC.

Aquaculture. The growing and harvesting of freshwater and saltwater populations of aquatic organisms such as fish, crustaceans, mollusks, and aquatic plants under controlled conditions.

Aquifer. A groundwater bearing geologic formation that contains enough saturated permeable material to yield significant quantities of water.

Arcade amusement center. A place of business operating as an arcade amusement center in compliance with Florida Statutes and any county ordinances that define or regulate such businesses.

Area of special flood hazard. The land within a floodplain subject to a one percent or greater chance of flooding in any given year (the base flood), designated on the community's Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) as zone A, AE, AO, AH, V, or VE.

Assisted living facility. Any state licensed private home, boarding home, home for the aged, or other residential facility, whether operated for profit or not, which provides housing, meals, and one or more personal services for a period exceeding 24 hours to one or more adults who are not relatives of the owner or administrator. As used here, personal services means direct physical assistance with or supervision of the activities of daily living, the self-administration of medication and other services which the state may define, but not the provision of medical, nursing, dental, or mental health services. An assisted living facility may be either household living or group living, according to the type of facility and form of residential occupancy and may also be known as personal care or residential care.

Automobile rental. The renting or leasing of passenger cars, vans, or light trucks (gross vehicle weight rating no more than 8500 lbs), without drivers, for purposes of routine conveyance of passengers, generally for short periods of time. Rental facilities may include incidental storage or parking, and washing and servicing of vehicles for rent or lease.

Automobile sales. The use of any building or land for the display and sale of new or used passenger cars, vans, or light trucks (gross vehicle weight rating no more than 8500 lbs). Sales facilities may include vehicle preparation, repair work, rental, or leasing conducted as an accessory use.

Avigation easement. An easement that gives a clear property right to maintain aircraft flight operations in the airspace above the property.

Awning. A roof-like structure that projects from the wall of a building, cantilevered or otherwise entirely supported from the building, and composed of a lightweight rigid or retractable skeleton over which a cover is attached, typically to protect a doorway or window from the elements.

Awning, canopy or marquee sign. A sign that is mounted or painted on, or attached to, an awning, canopy, or marquee that is otherwise permitted by county ordinance. The sign shall not project above, below or beyond the awning, canopy or marquee.

- P -

Parcel. A unit of land within legally established property lines, or a lot or contiguous group of lots, in single ownership or under single control, and considered a unit for purposes of development.

Park. Any public or private land that is predominantly open space with natural vegetation and landscaping, and used primarily for active or passive not-for-profit recreational purposes.

Parking lot. An open area at ground level providing off-street parking spaces, excluding residential driveways.

Parking lot, commercial. A parking lot that is not an accessory use to any other use and provides parking for a fee.

Park trailer. A type of recreational vehicle constructed on a single chassis to American National Standards Institute (ANSI) or U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) standards, consisting of a transportable unit with body width not exceeding 14 feet, designed to provide seasonal or temporary living quarters when connected to utilities necessary for operation of installed fixtures and appliances, and as may otherwise be defined by Florida Statutes.

Pawnshop. Any location at which a pawnbroker conducts the business of making pawns; that is, providing any advancement of funds on the security of pledged goods on condition that the pledged goods are left in the possession of the pawnbroker for the duration of the pawn and may be redeemed by the pledgor on the terms and conditions of the pawn.

Pensacola Beach. That part of Santa Rosa Island under the jurisdiction of the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida.

Perdido Key. The barrier island and coastal areas extending westward from Pensacola Pass to the Florida/Alabama state line.

Permitted use. Any use authorized or of right in a particular zoning district or land use category.

Personal services. Non-medical retail services involving the care of a person or his personal goods or apparel, such as the services of a barber shop, beauty or tanning salon, health club or spa, pet groomer, laundromat or dry cleaner, tailor, psychic reader, or tattoo parlor, but not including repair services or professional services as defined in this chapter.

Pervious surface. Any surface that easily allows the infiltration of water. Such permeable or porous surfaces include natural or landscaped vegetation and other surfaces for which runoff coefficients no greater than 0.25 are typically used for stormwater management calculations.

Pier. See "Dock."

Place of worship. A building that is used primarily for worship or religious assembly on a regular basis and may include related facilities such as classrooms and administrative offices, but does not include facilities used exclusively for residences, schools, day care, shelter, recreation or other uses not normally associated with worship. Places of worship include churches, chapels, cathedrals, synagogues, temples, and mosques.

DRAFT

Planned unit development (PUD). An process for providing flexibility in LDC regulations governing the planning and design of subdivisions that permits and encourages greater creativity for the mutual benefit of developers and the public not anticipated by the strict application of those regulations.

Planning Board. The advisory authority appointed by the Board of County Commissioners to serve as the local planning agency (LPA) for Escambia County, and whose scope of authority and specific duties are established within the Comprehensive Plan and LDC.

Plat. A map or delineated representation of the subdivision of land, being a complete, exact representation of the subdivision and including other information in compliance with the requirements of the LDC and Florida Statutes (Chapter 177, Part I).

Political sign. A temporary sign announcing or supporting political candidates or issues in connection with any national, state, or local election.

Porch. A roofed structure attached to a building and open on two or more sides which may be screened, and having direct access to or from the building.

Political sign. A temporary sign announcing or supporting political candidates or issues in connection with any national, state, or local election.

Portable sign. Any sign not permanently attached to the ground or other permanent structure, or a sign designed to be transported, including, but not limited to, signs designed to be transported by means of wheels; including such signs even though the wheels may be removed and the remaining chassis or support structure converted to

A- frames or T-frames; menu and sandwich board signs; balloons used as signs; umbrellas used for advertising unless part of an outdoor restaurant; and signs attached to or painted on vehicles parked and visible from the public right-of-way, unless said vehicle is used in the normal day-to-day operations of business, the sign area is less than two square feet per side and there is no reasonable alternative storage space.

Portable storage container. Any container, pod, trailer or other unit that is designed to temporarily store items and to be transported to and stored off site, typically by a private moving or storage company at a centralized warehouse. The term "portable storage container" does not include solid waste dumpsters or tool sheds.

Positive drainage outfall. A conveyance system with adequate capacity to contain, control, and transmit stormwater runoff to a creek, stream, river, bay, gulf, ocean, or other waters of the state, or waters of the United States, or to any approved Escambia County or Florida Department of Transportation drainage system having sufficient capacity.

Post-incarceration reentry facility. A facility providing assistance with substance abuse, mental and physical health issues, job training and placement, and other services to individuals reentering communities from correctional facilities.

Power plant. An electrical power generation facility operated by a public utility or independent power producer that converts one or more energy sources to provide electricity to the electrical transmission grid and distribution system. The term "power plant" refers to an industrial facility and does not include small-scale generation systems of customers that may sell surplus power back to the franchised power provider through their metered service.

DRAFT

Predominantly commercial development. Development for which more than two-thirds of the development parcel area and more than two-thirds of all gross floor area within the parcel is devoted to commercial use.

Predominantly residential development. Development for which more than two-thirds of the development parcel area and more than two-thirds of all gross floor area within the parcel is devoted to residential use.

Premises. Any parcel together with any improvements thereon.

Primary dune. The first natural or manmade dune located landward of the beach with sufficient vegetation, height, continuity, and configuration to offer protective value to upland property. The landward extent occurs at the point where there is a distinct change from a relatively steep slope to a relatively mild slope.

Prime farmland. One of several classes of land defined in the Soil Survey of Escambia County, Florida, U.S. Department of Agriculture, as having the best combination of physical and chemical characteristics for producing food, feed, forage, fiber, and oilseed crops, and available as cultivated land, pastureland, forestland or other lands not built upon or urbanized.

Principal structure. The structure that is occupied by or otherwise defines the principal use of a parcel.

Principal use. The main or predominant purpose for which a structure or parcel of land is used, occupied, maintained, designed, arranged, or intended, as distinguished from an accessory use.

Processing. As applicable to solid waste, any technique designed to change the physical, chemical, or biological character or composition of any solid waste so as to render it safe for transport; amenable to recovery, storage, or recycling; safe for disposal; or reduced in volume or concentration.

Professional services. Specialized work by members of recognized professions trained and engaged in such work for a career, typically requiring a license or other legal authorization to perform, and predominantly provided on the premises of an office or clinic. Professional services include the work of insurance agents, realtors, bankers, accountants, stock brokers, financial advisors, engineers, architects, land surveyors, dentists, physicians, therapists, attorneys, and other professionals, but do not include the provision of "personal services" as defined in this chapter.

Prohibited use. Any use not identified as a permitted or conditionally permitted use by the applicable zoning district, and not otherwise determined to be such a permitted use according to the use classification provisions of the LDC.

Property line. The recorded boundary of a lot or other tract of land.

Projecting sign. A sign that is wholly or partly dependent upon a building for support and which projects more than 24 inches from such building.

Protected tree. A living tree that, according to the provisions of the LDC, cannot be removed or otherwise willfully harmed without first obtaining appropriate authorization from the county.

Pruning. The act of removing tree branches, limbs, or roots to remedy a hazard or to maintain or improve the form or health of a tree, performed in a careful and systematic manner according to standard arboricultural practices so as not to damage other parts of the of the tree or other trees. Standard practices include those outlined in American National Standards Institute (ANSI) standard A300, Part 1-2001, Tree Care Operations - Tree, Shrub and Other Woody Plant Maintenance - Standard Practices.

Public facilities. Major capital improvements, including transportation, sanitary sewer, solid waste, stormwater management, potable water, educational, and recreational facilities.

Public lodging establishment. A unit, group of units, building, or group of buildings within the same complex which is rented to guests as a transient accommodation (more than three times in a calendar year for periods less than 30 days), rented as a non- transient accommodation (for periods of at least 30 days), or is advertised or offered to the public as a place regularly rented to guests for such accommodations. Public lodging establishments include hotels, motels, resort condominiums, bed and breakfast inns, and boarding or rooming houses, but do not include dormitories, campgrounds, or recreational vehicle parks.

Public use airport. means an airport, publicly or privately owned, licensed by the State, which is open for use by the public.

Public utilities. See "Utilities, public."

- Q & R -

Quadruplex. A four-unit multi-family dwelling.

Quasi-judicial hearing. A public hearing before an administrative board or official held to obtain testimony or comment regarding the application of adopted policy to a specific development application or land use decision, and subject to specific due process procedural requirements to assure fact-based decisions by the board or official.

Real estate sign. A sign pertaining to the sale or lease of the premises, or a portion of the premises, in which the sign is located.

Reclamation. The restoration or rehabilitation to useful purposes and safe and healthful conditions of lands adversely affected by mining, excavation, erosion, land clearing, or other processes. Reclamation may include filling, reshaping, revegetation and other activities to achieve the long-term stability of the affected lands and protection of surrounding uses and natural resources.

Record drawings. Construction drawings certified by the engineer of record and provided to the county for the purpose of documenting improvements as actually constructed.

Recovered materials. Metal, paper, glass, plastic, textile, or rubber materials that have known recycling potential, can be feasibly recycled, and have been diverted and source separated or have been removed from the solid waste stream for sale, use, or reuse as raw materials, whether or not the materials require subsequent processing or separation. Recovered materials as described here are not solid waste and does not include materials destined for any use that constitutes disposal.

Recovered materials processing facility (RMPF). A facility engaged solely in the storage, processing, resale, or reuse of recovered materials.

Recreation, active. Leisure time activity, indoor or outdoor, that usually requires some constructed facilities, is typically structured and organized to take place at prescribed places, and is usually performed with others. Active recreation uses include campgrounds, recreational vehicle parks, off-highway vehicle trails, shooting ranges, swimming pools, ice and roller skating rinks, baseball and other sport fields, skateboard parks, bowling lanes, tennis courts, golf courses, and playgrounds.

Recreation, passive. Leisure time activity that generally does not require a developed site, has minimal impact on the recreation site, typically involves existing natural resources or amenities, and has low potential for nuisance to adjacent properties. Passive recreation uses include walking, jogging, hiking, primitive camping, bird watching, bicycling, board and table games, and picnicking.

Recreational vehicle. A motor vehicle primarily designed as temporary living quarters for recreational, camping, or travel use and which either has its own motive power or is mounted on or drawn by another vehicle. Recreational vehicles include travel trailers, camping trailers, truck campers, motor homes, private motor coaches, park trailers, and other vehicles as defined in Florida StatutesDRAFT For the purposes of floodplain management, a recreational vehicle additionally is one built on a single chassis, four hundred square feet or less when measured at the largest horizontal projection, and designed to be self-propelled or permanently towable by a light-duty truck.

Recreational vehicle park. A place set aside and offered for the parking, accommodation, or rental of five or more recreational vehicles or tents used as seasonal or temporary living quarters for six months or less. See also "Campground."

Recycling. Any process by which solid waste, or materials that would otherwise become solid waste, are collected, separated, or processed and reused or returned to use in the form of raw materials or products.

Redevelopment. The removal and replacement, rehabilitation, or adaptive reuse of an existing structure or structures, or the rehabilitation or adaptive reuse of land from which previous improvements have been removed.

Registered professional. A professional registered or licensed by and in the State of Florida and who possesses the expertise and experience necessary for the competent preparation, submittal and certification of documents and materials, and performing of other services required in support of permitting, constructing, altering, inspecting, and operating a proposed or existing regulated use. Registered professionals include engineers, architects, surveyors and mappers, and geologists.

Repair services. Services to mend or restore items after their extended use, decay, breakdown, damage, or partial destruction. Repair services include motor vehicle repair, bicycle repair, appliance and electronic device repair, gunsmiths, locksmiths, upholstery services, furniture refinishing and repair, small engine and motor repair, and watch, clock and jewelry repair, but do not include construction trades or building repair activities.

Research facility. A facility for the conduct of investigation, study, examination, development, testing, and similar inquiries in various fields of science and engineering.

Residential use. Any regular use of a building by its occupants as a permanent home or place of abode, whether for household living or group living. Residential uses include single-family detached or attached dwellings, two-family and multi-family dwellings, dormitories, and nursing homes, but do not include any public lodging, tents, tourist cabins, day care, hospitals, correctional facilities, homeless shelters, or recreational vehicles.

Resort. A facility for transient guests where the primary attractions are recreational features or activities.

Resource recovery. The process of recovering materials or energy from solid waste, excluding those materials or solid waste under the control of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

Restaurant. A retail establishment in which the principal use is the preparation and sale of food and beverages, typically served and consumed on the premises and within the principal building, but also including take-out, fast food, drive-in and other forms of service and consumption.

Restrictive covenants. Private restrictionsDRAFT recorded with a subdivision plat or parcel deed which limit or otherwise govern the use, intensity, and development patterns of the land within the subdivision or parcel for a specified time.

Retail sales. The direct selling or renting of new or used goods or merchandise primarily to the general public for personal or household use or consumption, but also to businesses and other end users, and the provision of services incidental to such sales or rentals. Retail trade is characterized by an establishment that is usually a place of business and engaged in activity to attract buyers, that buys and receives as well as sells merchandise, that sells to customers for their own use, and that may process or manufacture some products incidental or subordinate to the principal selling activities.

Retail services. Services provided directly and primarily to the general public for personal or household use, but also to business and industry, and including products that are incidental to the services and usually consumed on the premises. The term "retail services" includes restaurants, public lodging, personal services, professional services, and repair services.

Rezone* or *rezoning. An amendment to the Official Zoning Map of Escambia County to effect a change in the adopted zoning district of a designated parcel or land area.

Right-of-way. An area of land occupied or intended to be occupied by a street, walkway, railroad, utility, drainage facility, or similar use. For the purposes of platting, the term "right-of-way" refers to land that is separate and distinct from adjoining parcels. Most generally, the term refers to the specific right of a person to pass over the land of another.

Road or roadway. See "Street."

Roof sign. A sign that is mounted on the roof of a building or which is wholly dependent upon a building for support and which projects above the point of a building with a flat roof, the eave line of a building with a gambrel, gable or hip roof of the deck line of a building with a mansard roof.

Runway protection zone. An area at ground level beyond the runway end to enhance the safety and protection of people and property on the ground.

Riverine system. A generally linear aquatic community of non-tidal waters with a discrete channel, including rivers, tributaries, creeks, and intermittent streams. The landward extent of a riverine system is defined by ordinary high water.

Runway. The defined area on an airport or airfield prepared for landing and takeoff of aircraft along its length.

Rural. A sparsely developed area where most land is undeveloped or primarily used for agricultural purposes.

Section 3. Severability.

If any section, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by any Court of competent jurisdiction, then said holding shall in no way affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance.

Section 4. Inclusion in Code.

It is the intention of the Board of County Commissioners that the provisions of this Ordinance shall be codified as required by F.S. § 125.68 (2016); and that the sections, subsections and other provisions of this Ordinance may be renumbered or re-lettered and the word “ordinance” may be changed to “section,” “chapter,” or such other appropriate word or phrase in order to accomplish such intentions.

Meeting Date: 05/25/2017
Issue: 5:46 p.m. -.A Public Hearing Concerning the Review of an Ordinance Amending the 2030 Comprehensive Plan, Chapter 3 and Chapter 8
From: Horace Jones, Director
Organization: Development Services

RECOMMENDATION:

5:46 p.m. - A Public Hearing Concerning the Review of an Ordinance Amending the 2030 Comprehensive Plan Chapter 3, Definitions, and Chapter 8, Mobility Element

That the Board of County Commissioners (BCC) review and transmit to the Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO), an Ordinance amending the Comprehensive Plan 2030, as amended, Chapter 3, Definitions, and Chapter 8, Mobility Element, CPA-2017-01, to include definitions and to establish a permitting process for airport obstruction notification zones.

At the May 2, 2017, Planning Board Meeting, the Board recommended approval for transmittal to DEO.

This hearing serves as the first of two required public hearings before the BCC.

BACKGROUND:

Florida Statues 333.03, Requirement to adopt airport zoning regulations.If an airport is owned or controlled by a political subdivision and if any other political subdivision has land upon which an obstruction may be constructed or altered which underlies any surface of the airport as provided in 14 C.F.R. part 77, sub-part C, the political subdivisions shall either by interlocal agreement, adopt, administer, and enforce a set of airport protection zoning regulations; or create a joint airport protection zoning board.

Florida Statutes 333.03(2)-Political subdivisions shall adopt, administer, and enforce airport land use compatibility zoning regulations, which at minimum address:

- Landfills
- Prohibition of incompatible uses where airport authority has conducted a noise study in accordance with 14 C.F.R. part 150, or established noise contours pursuant to another public study approved by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

- Prohibition of residential construction and any educational facility where airport authority has not conducted a noise study
- Development of criteria for incompatible uses within runway protection zones

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

No budgetary impact is anticipated by the adoption of this Ordinance.

LEGAL CONSIDERATIONS/SIGN-OFF:

The attached Ordinance has been reviewed and approved for legal sufficiency by Meredith D. Crawford, Assistant County Attorney. Any recommended legal comments are attached herein.

PERSONNEL:

No additional personnel are required for implementation of this Ordinance.

POLICY/REQUIREMENT FOR BOARD ACTION:

The proposed Ordinance is consistent with the Board's goal "to increase citizen involvement in, access to, and approval of, County government activities."

IMPLEMENTATION/COORDINATION:

This Ordinance, amending the LDC, will be filed with the Department of State following adoption by the board.

Implementation of this Ordinance will consist of an amendment to the LDC and distribution of a copy of the adopted Ordinance to interested citizens and staff.

The proposed Ordinance was prepared by the Development Services Department, in cooperation with the County Attorney's Office and all interested citizens. The Development Services Department will ensure proper advertisement.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 2017-___

AN ORDINANCE OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, AMENDING PART II OF THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY CODE OF ORDINANCES, THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY COMPREHENSIVE PLAN: 2030, AS AMENDED; AMENDING CHAPTER 3 DEFINITIONS, SECTION 3.04, TO INCLUDE DEFINITIONS RELATED TO AIRPORTS, AIRPORT HAZARDS, AIRPORT OBSTRUCTION NOTIFICATION ZONES, AND RUNWAY PROTECTION ZONES; AMENDING CHAPTER 8, MOBILITY ELEMENT, CREATING SECTION MOB 4.1.2, ESTABLISHING PERMITTING PROCESSES FOR AIRPORT OBSTRUCTION NOTIFICATION ZONES AND RUNWAY PROTECTION ZONES; AMENDING MOB 4.13, INCOMPATIBLE DEVELOPMENT, TO INCLUDE RUNWAY PROTECTION ZONES; PROVIDING FOR A TITLE; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; PROVIDING FOR INCLUSION IN THE CODE; AND PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

WHEREAS, pursuant to Chapter 163, Part II, Florida Statutes, Escambia County adopted its Comprehensive Plan on April 29, 2014; and

WHEREAS, Chapter 125, Florida Statutes, empowers the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida to prepare, amend and enforce comprehensive plans for the development of the County; and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners finds that modifying the language to meet the requirements of Chapter 333, Florida Statutes, is necessary and serves an important public purpose; and

WHEREAS, the Escambia County Planning Board conducted a public hearing and forwarded a recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners to approve this amendment to its Comprehensive Plan; and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida finds that the adoption of this amendment is in the best interest of the County and its citizens;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida, as follows:

Section 1. Purpose and Intent

This Ordinance is enacted to carry out the purpose and intent of, and exercise the authority set out in, the Community Planning Act, Sections 163.3161 through 163.3215, Florida Statutes.

Section 2. Title of Comprehensive Plan Amendment

This Comprehensive Plan amendment shall be entitled – "CPA 2017-01-Airport Language Text Amendment."

Section 3. Amendment to Definitions

Chapter 3, Section 3.04, Definitions of the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan 2030 is hereby amended as follows: (deletions shown as ~~strike-thru~~; additions are underlined)

Section 3.04 Definitions.

Airport: Means any area of land or water designed and set aside for the landing and taking off of aircraft and use or to be used in the interest of the public for such purpose.

Airport hazard: Means an obstruction to air navigation which affects the safe and efficient use of navigable airspace or the operation of planned or existing air navigation and communication facilties.

Airport hazard area: Means any area of land or water upon which an airport hazard might be established.

Airport obstruction: Means any existing or proposed object, terrain, or structure construction or alternation that exceeds the federal obstruction standards contained in the 14 C.F.R. part 77, subpart C, as may be amended. This term includes: any object of natural growth or terrain; permanent or temporary construction or alteration, including equipment or materials used and any permanent or temporary apparatus; or alteration of any permanent or temporary existing structure by a change in the structure's height, including appurtenances, lateral dimensions, and equipment or materials used in the structure.

Airport Obstruction Notification Zone: A zone established around any airport to regulate airport hazard areas and airport obstructions.

Avigation easement: An easement that gives a clear property right to maintain flight operations in the airspace above the property.

Buffer: A designated area with natural and/or manmade features functioning to minimize or eliminate adverse impacts on adjoining land uses or wetlands, as defined by Florida Statutes.

Commercial use: Any non-residential use that is typically carried out for the purpose of monetary gain, including, but not limited to, any business use or activity at a scale greater than a home occupation.

Compact development: A development pattern typically featuring narrow streets, multifunction structures (such as residential over retail), multifamily housing, front porches, small lots, wide sidewalks, neighborhood parks, community landscaping, easily walkable distances from residences to local commercial uses, places of employment, and schools.

Concurrency: The condition or circumstance that, at the time that new demands are placed on public facilities, facility capacities will meet or exceed the adopted level of service (LOS) standards established by the Comprehensive Plan.

Conservation: The act of preserving, guarding, or protecting; keeping in a safe or entire state; preservation.

Conservation subdivision: A form of residential subdivision characterized by clustered compact lots, common open space and natural features, used to protect agricultural lands, open space or other natural or historical resources while allowing for the maximum number of dwellings under applicable zoning and subdivision regulations.

Deficiencies: Inadequacies, insufficiencies, or the falling short of a prescribed norm.

Density: An objective measurement of the number of people or residential units allowed per unit of land, such as residents or employees per acre.

Development: The carrying out of any building activity or mining operation, the making of any material change in the use or appearance of any structure or land, or the dividing of land into three or more parcels. Specific activities or uses involving or excluded from development are defined in Florida Statutes.

Enhance: To make greater, as regards value, beauty, or effectiveness; to augment.

Environmentally sensitive lands: Those areas of land or water that are determined by the BCC as being necessary to conserve or protect natural habitats and ecological systems. The following classifications are those that have been determined by Escambia County to be environmentally sensitive:

a. Wetlands as defined herein and wetlands as defined by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.
b. Shoreline Protection Zones.
c. Aquatic preserves and the Escambia River Management Area.
d. Outstanding Florida Waters as defined by Rule 62.302.700 Florida Administrative Code and as defined and approved by the Florida Legislature.
e. Habitats of threatened or endangered species as defined by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS), the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC), or other state or federal agencies.
f. Essential Fishery Habitat (EFH), including seagrasses.
g. Floodplain areas defined on the FEMA Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) as areas of special flood hazard subject to a one percent annual chance of flooding.

h. Potable water wells, cones of influence, and potable water well fields.

Existing communities: Established residential or mixed-use areas; developed land that contains homes, businesses, and/or other civic and community uses.

Farm worker: A person who works on, but does not own, a farm; an agricultural laborer (may be permanent or temporary).

Financial feasibility: The ability of a proposed land use or change of land use to justify itself from an economic point of view.

Floodway: The channel of a river or other watercourse and the adjacent land areas that must be reserved to discharge the base flood without cumulatively increasing the water surface elevation more than one foot.

Floor Area Ratio (FAR): A standard measure of the intensity of non-residential land use, calculated by dividing the total gross floor area of all structures on a lot by the total area of the lot.

Group home/group home facility: An occupied residence, licensed by the State of Florida, in which a family living environment is provided for six or fewer unrelated residents with developmental disabilities as defined in Florida Statutes, including such supervision and care by support staff as may be necessary to meet the physical, emotional, and social needs of its residents.

Hazardous material: A poison, corrosive agent, flammable substance, explosive, radioactive chemical, or any other material that can endanger human or animal health or wellbeing if handled improperly.

Hazardous waste: Material or a combination of materials that require special management techniques because of their acute and/or chronic effects on air and water quality; on fish, wildlife, or other biota; or on the health and welfare of the public. Such materials include, but are not limited to, volatile, chemical, biological, explosive, flammable, radioactive and toxic materials regulated pursuant to Chapter 62-730, Florida Administrative Code.

Historic/cultural resource: Any prehistoric or historic district, site, building, object, or other real or personal property of historical, architectural, or archaeological value as well as all folk life resources. These properties or resources may include, but are not limited to, monuments, memorials, Indian habitations, ceremonial sites, abandoned settlements, sunken or abandoned ships, engineering works, treasure trove, artifacts, or other objects with intrinsic historical or archaeological value, or any part thereof, relating to the history, government, and culture of the state.

Impervious surface: Any surface that does not allow, or that minimally allows, the penetration of water and that is highly resistant to infiltration by water.

Impervious surface ratio: A standard measure of the intensity of land use calculated by dividing the total area of all impervious surfaces within a lot by the total area of the lot.

Incompatible/compatible development: Incompatible development is new development proposed to be constructed next to existing development wherein the proximity of the two kinds of development would each diminish the usefulness of the other or would be detrimental to existing operations. The incompatibility can arise from either land use or structure size and design.

Compatible development is new development proposed to be constructed next to existing development in which the proximity of the two kinds of development would each complement or enhance the usefulness of the other.

Infill development: The development of new housing or other land uses on vacant or underutilized land in existing developed areas which focuses on the reuse and repositioning of obsolete or underutilized buildings and sites.

Infrastructure: Facilities and services needed to sustain land use activities, including but not limited to roads, potable water service, wastewater service, solid waste facilities, stormwater management facilities, power grids, telecommunication facilities, and public schools.

Invasive species: A non-indigenous or exotic species that is not native to the ecosystem under consideration and that has the ability to establish self- sustaining, expanding, free-living populations that may cause economic and/or environmental harm or harm to human health.

Low-impact landscaping: Landscape design practices that apply Florida- Friendly landscaping principles to reduce water consumption, the use of horticultural chemicals, the loss of native vegetation and wildlife habitat, stormwater runoff, and other negative environmental impacts.

Mitigation: Methods used to alleviate or lessen the impact of development.

Mixed-use: Any use that includes both residential and nonresidential uses.

Mobile/manufactured home: A complete, factory-built, single-family dwelling constructed in accordance with the federal Manufactured Housing Construction and Safety Standards (the HUD Code) and transportable in one or more sections on a permanent chassis for site installation with or without a permanent foundation*. Mobile home* is the term used for manufactured homes built prior to June 15, 1976 when the HUD Code became effective.

Multi-family development: Residential development containing multi-family dwellings exclusively or predominantly.

Multi-modal: A transportation system that involves multiple methods of transporting people and/or goods; this may include pedestrian activity, bicycling, transit (buses and/or rail), and the automobile.

Native vegetation: Vegetation that exists naturally, without intervention by humans, in a specific geographic area.

Natural resources: Resources provided by the natural environment, including air, water, soils, wetlands, beaches, flood plains, forests, fisheries, wildlife, and any other such environmental resource identified by Florida Statutes for conservation and protection.

Non-conforming use: Any lawfully established use of a structure, land, or water, in any combination that does not conform to the land use regulations of the zoning district or future land use category in which the use is located.

Non-residential use: A use characterized by the absence of residences and the presence of primary land uses that include retail, commercial, office, industrial, civic or recreation uses.

Open space: Land or portions of land preserved and protected, whether public or privately owned and perpetually maintained and retained for active or passive recreation, for resource protection, or to meet lot coverage requirements. The term includes, but is not limited to, required yards, developed recreation areas and improved recreation facilities, natural and landscaped areas, and common areas.

Paratransit system: A form of public transportation service characterized by the flexible routing and scheduling of small vehicles such as taxis, vans and small buses, to provide shared-occupancy, doorstep or curbside personalized transportation service.

Performance-oriented controls: A set of criteria or limits relating to certain characteristics that a particular use or process may not exceed; these regulations are based upon the intensity and impacts of an activity, rather than land use.

Preserve: To protect natural resources and/or historic and cultural resources from the negative impacts of human activity, including land development or natural resource extraction, such as mining or logging. Preservation may include permanently protecting land, structures and/or wetlands and water bodies via purchase, conservation easement, regulations, or other methods, and it may include the restoration and management of natural or historic resources.

Primary dune: The first natural or manmade dune located landward of the beach with sufficient vegetation, height, continuity, and configuration to offer protective value. The landward extent occurs at the point in which there is a distinct change from a relatively steep slope to a relatively mild slope.

Public use airport: Means an airport, publicly or privately owned, licensed by the State, which is open for use by the public.

Redevelopment: The removal and replacement, rehabilitation, or adaptive reuse of an existing structure or structures or of land from which previous improvements have been removed.

Residential use: Any use for residences, domiciles, or dwellings, including, but not limited to, single-family houses, townhouses, condominiums, and apartments.

Restoration: The act of repairing damage to a site with the aim of restoring the site as closely as possible to its natural condition before it was disturbed.

Revitalization: The renewal and improvement of older commercial and residential areas through any of a series of actions or programs that encourage and facilitate private and public investment.

Runway protection zone: Means an area at ground level beyond the runway end to enhance the safety and protection of people and property on the ground.

Rural: A sparsely developed area in which the land is primarily used for agricultural purposes.

Shoreline, Natural: Undeveloped or restored areas of shoreline fronting the waters of marine, estuarine, or riverine systems such as bays, bayous, rivers, and streams.

Sprawl: Haphazard growth of dispersed, leap-frog and strip development in suburbs and rural areas and along highways; typically, sprawl is automobile- dependent, single use, resource-consuming, and low-density development in previously rural areas and disconnected from existing development and infrastructure.

Street, collector: A street providing service that is of relatively moderate traffic volume, moderate trip length, and moderate operating speed and which distributes traffic between local streets or arterial streets.

Street, major arterial: A street providing service that is relatively continuous and of relatively high traffic volume, long trip length, and high operating speed. Note: Every United States numbered highway is an arterial street.

Street, minor arterial: A street providing connections between major activity centers of the county, which augments the major arterial system for local and inter-county traffic by feeding traffic from collector and local street systems onto major arterials.

Suburban area: A predominantly low-density residential area located immediately outside of an urban area or a city and associated with it physically and socioeconomically.

Threatened and endangered species habitat: An area that contains, or shows factual evidence of, a species that is listed as threatened, endangered, or a species of special concern, including all such areas that are classified as critical habitat by the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FFWC).

Urban area: A highly developed area that contains a variety of industrial, commercial, residential, and cultural uses.

Urban forest: Collectively, the trees and other vegetation within and around the developed areas of the county.

Water-dependent uses: Uses that require access to water bodies, such as commercial boating or fishing operations.

Water-related uses: Uses that do not require a waterfront location to function but are often essential to the efficient functioning of water-dependent uses and can be essential to their economic viability, such as shops, restaurants, parking, boat sales, or fish processing plants.

Wetlands: Areas that are inundated or saturated by surface water or groundwater at a frequency and duration sufficient to support, and that under normal circumstances do or would support, a prevalence of vegetation typically adapted for life in saturated soils. Soils present in wetlands generally are classified as hydric or alluvial, or they possess characteristics that are associated with reducing soil conditions. The prevalent vegetation in wetlands generally consists of facultative or obligate hydrophytic macrophytes that are typically adapted to areas having the soil conditions described above. These species, due to morphological, physiological, or reproductive adaptations, have the ability to grow, reproduce, or persist in aquatic environments or anaerobic soil conditions. Florida wetlands generally include, but are not limited to, swamps, marshes, bayheads, bogs, cypress domes and strands, sloughs, wet prairies, riverine swamps and marshes, hydric seepage slopes, tidal marshes, mangrove swamps, and other similar areas. Florida wetlands generally do not include longleaf or slash pine flatwoods with an understory dominated by saw palmetto.

Wildlife habitat: An area that offers feeding, roosting, breeding, nesting, and refuge areas for a variety of existing and future native wildlife species.

Section 4. Amendment to Chapter 8 Mobility Element

Chapter 8, Mobility Element, Section OBJ MOB 4.1 Airport Master Plan of the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan 2030 and Sections MOB 4.1.2 through MOB 4.1.5 are hereby amended as follows: (deletions shown as ~~strike-thru~~; additions are underlined)

OBJ MOB 4.1 Airport Master Plan
Support the implementation activities set forth in the adopted airport master plan for the Pensacola ~~Gulf Coast Regional~~ International Airport as directed by the BCC.

POLICIES

MOB 4.1.1 Coordinated Land Uses. Escambia County will coordinate adjacent land uses with the City of Pensacola and the airport master plan to provide development patterns that are compatible with airport development.

MOB 4.1.2 Permitting. Escambia County will develop and implement permitting processes for Airport Obstruction Notification and Runway Protection Zones through coordination with the City of Pensacola and the Pensacola International Airport. as required by Chapter 333, Florida Statutes, as amended.

MOB 4.1.~~2~~3 Incompatible Development. Escambia County will enforce adopted land development regulations that restrict the height, density and intensity of development in areas adjacent to the airport boundaries, runway protection zones, and clear zones to ensure that incompatible land uses will not be allowed to encroach on airport facilities and hinder airport activities.

MOB 4.1.~~3~~ 4 County Review. Escambia County may review and comment on proposed airport development and/or expansion that may impact the County.

MOB 4.1.~~4~~ 5 Stormwater Management. Escambia County will work with the City of Pensacola and Florida Department of Environmental Protection (FDEP) to ensure that adequate stormwater management techniques are provided for existing and future airport development.

Section 5. Severability

If any section, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by any Court of competent jurisdiction, the holding shall in no way affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance.

Section 6. Inclusion in the Code

It is the intention of the Board of County Commissioners that the provisions of this Ordinance shall be codified as required by Section 125.68, Florida Statutes, and that the sections, subsections and other provisions of this Ordinance may be renumbered or re-lettered and the word "ordinance" may be changed to "section," "article," or such other appropriate word or phrase in order to accomplish such intentions.

DRAFT

Section 7. Effective Date

Pursuant to Section 163.3184(3)(c) 4, Florida Statutes, this Ordinance shall not become effective until 31 days after the Department of Economic Opportunity notifies Escambia County that the plan amendment package is complete. If timely challenged, this Ordinance shall not become effective until the Department of Economic Opportunity or the Administration Commission enters a final order determining the Ordinance to be in compliance.

RECOMMENDATION:

5:47 p.m. - A Public Hearing Concerning the Review of an Ordinance Amending Chapter 3 of the Escambia County 2030 Comprehensive Plan - CPA-2016-03

That the Board of County Commissioners (BCC) review and adopt an Ordinance amending the Comprehensive Plan, Chapter 3, Definitions, Section 3.01, CPA-2016-03, to add a definition for Limited Agricultural Uses. On February 22, 2017, the County received a letter from DEO stating it had no comments related to important state resources and facilities within its authorized scope of review.

This hearing serves as the second of two required public hearings before the BCC.

BACKGROUND:

Based on a technical assistance comment provided by the Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO) on August 4, 2016, Comprehensive Plan Amendment review and approval, County staff is submitting the definition for Limited Agricultural Uses, for inclusion in the definitions section of the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan.

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

No budgetary impact is anticipated by the adoption of this Ordinance.

DEO Technical Recommendation
Draft Ordinance
Clean Ordinance

Rick Scott
GOVERNOR

FLORIDA DEPARTMENT of ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY

Cissy Proctor
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

August 4, 2016

The Honorable Grover Robinson
Chairman, Escambia County
Board of County Commissioners
221 Palafox Place, Suite 400
Pensacola, Florida 32502

Dear Chairman Robinson:

The Department of Economic Opportunity has completed its review of the proposed comprehensive plan amendment for the Escambia County (Amendment No. 16-3ESR) which was received on July 5, 2016. We have reviewed the proposed amendments pursuant to Sections 163.3184(2) and (3), Florida Statutes (F.S.), and identified no comments related to important state resources and facilities within the Department of Economic Opportunity's authorized scope of review that will be adversely impacted by the amendments if adopted.

The County is reminded that pursuant to Section 163.3184(3)(b), F.S., other reviewing agencies have the authority to provide comments directly to the County. If other reviewing agencies provide comments, we recommend the County consider appropriate changes to the amendment based on those comments. If unresolved, such reviewing agency comments could form the basis for a challenge to the amendment after adoption. The County should act by choosing to adopt, adopt with changes, or not adopt the proposed amendment.

We are, however, providing a technical assistance comment consistent with Section 163.3168(3), F.S. The technical assistance comment will not form the basis of a challenge. It is offered as a suggestion which can strengthen the County's comprehensive plan and ensure consistency with the provisions of Chapter 163, Part II, F.S.

Technical Assistance Comment: "Limited agriculture" is not defined in the proposed plan amendment. To ensure that the comprehensive plan provides meaningful and predictable standards for development and for the content of the County's land development code, the County may wish to add a definition of "limited agriculture" to the proposed plan amendment.

Also, please note that Section 163.3184(3)(c)1., F.S., provides that if the second public hearing is not held within 180 days of your receipt of agency comments, the amendment shall be deemed withdrawn unless extended by agreement with notice to the Department of Economic Opportunity and any affected party that provided comment on the amendment. For your assistance, we have enclosed the procedures for adoption and transmittal of the comprehensive plan amendment.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 2017-____

AN ORDINANCE OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, AMENDING PART II OF THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY CODE OF ORDINANCES; THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY COMPREHENSIVE PLAN: 2030, AS AMENDED; AMENDING CHAPTER 3, "DEFINITIONS", SECTION 3.01 DEFINITIONS, TO ADD LANGUAGE FOR LIMITED AGRICULTURAL USES; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; PROVIDING FOR INCLUSION IN THE CODE; PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

WHEREAS, pursuant to Chapter 163, Part II, Florida Statutes, the Escambia County Board of County Commissioners adopted the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan: 2030 (Comprehensive Plan) on April 29, 2014; and

WHEREAS, Chapter 125, Florida Statutes, empowers the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida, to prepare, amend and enforce comprehensive plans for the development of the County; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Part II of the Escambia County Code of Ordinances, the Comprehensive Plan 2030, Chapter 3, "Definitions" is hereby amended as follows (words underlined are additions and words ~~stricken~~ are deletions):

Chapter 3 Definitions.

Section 3.01 Definitions.

Impervious surface: Any surface that does not allow, or that minimally allows, the penetration of water and that is highly resistant to infiltration by water.

Impervious surface ratio: A standard measure of the intensity of land use calculated by dividing the total area of all impervious surfaces within a lot by the total area of the lot.

Incompatible/compatible development: Incompatible development is new development proposed to be constructed next to existing development wherein the proximity of the two kinds of development would each diminish the usefulness of the other or would be detrimental to existing operations. The incompatibility can arise from either land use or structure size and design. Compatible development is new development proposed to be constructed next to existing development in which the proximity of the two kinds of development would each complement or enhance the usefulness of the other.

Infill development: The development of new housing or other land uses on vacant or underutilized land in existing developed areas which focuses on the reuse and repositioning of obsolete or underutilized buildings and sites.

Infrastructure: Facilities and services needed to sustain land use activities, including but not limited to roads, potable water service, wastewater service, solid waste facilities, stormwater management facilities, power grids, telecommunication facilities, and public schools.

Invasive species: A non-indigenous or exotic species that is not native to the ecosystem under consideration and that has the ability to establish self- sustaining, expanding, free-living populations that may cause economic and/or environmental harm or harm to human health.

Limited Agricultural Use: Agricultural production limited to food primarily for personal consumption by the producer, but no farm animals.

Low-impact landscaping: Landscape design practices that apply Florida- Friendly landscaping principles to reduce water consumption, the use of horticultural chemicals, the loss of native vegetation and wildlife habitat, stormwater runoff, and other negative environmental impacts.

Section 2. Severability.

If any section, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by a court of competent jurisdiction, the holding shall in no way affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance.

Section 3. Inclusion in the code.

The Board of County Commissioners intends that the provisions of this ordinance will be codified as required by Section 125.68, Florida Statutes, and that the sections of this ordinance may be renumbered or relettered and the word "ordinance" may be changed to "section," "article," or such other appropriate word of phrase in order to accomplish its intentions.

Section 4. Effective date.

Pursuant to Section 163.3184(3)(c)(4), Florida Statutes (2015), this ordinance shall not become effective until 31 days after the Department of Economic Opportunity notifies Escambia County that the plan amendment package is complete. If timely challenged, this ordinance shall not become effective until the Department of Economic Opportunity or the Administration Commission enters a final order determining the ordinance to be in compliance.

AI-12242 Growth Management Report 12. 4.
BCC Regular Meeting Public Hearing
Meeting Date: 05/25/2017
Issue: 5:48 p.m. - A Public Hearing Concerning the Review of an Ordinance Amending the 2030 Future Land Use Map, LSA-2016-03
From: Horace Jones, Director
Organization: Development Services

RECOMMENDATION:

5:48 p.m. - A Public Hearing Concerning the Review of an Ordinance Amending the 2030 Future Land Use Map, LSA-2016-03

That the Board of County Commissioners (BCC) review and adopt an Ordinance amending the 2030 Future Land Use Map, changing the Future Land Use category of a parcel within Section 34, Township 1N, Range 31W, Parcel Number 2101-000-001 totaling 56.80 (+/-) acres, located east of Isaacs Lane, from Industrial (I) to Mixed-Use Suburban (MU-S).

This hearing serves as the second of two required public hearings before the BCC.

BACKGROUND:

The agent requests a Future Land Use (FLU) map amendment to change the FLU category of a 56.80 (+/-) acres parcel from Industrial (I) FLU to Mixed-Use Suburban (MU-S) FLU. The zoning designation for the referenced parcel is Industrial (Ind) District. The applicant is aware that the current zoning and proposed FLU are not compatible. The applicant submitted a rezoning request before the February 7, 2017, Rezoning Planning Board for FLU and Zoning compatibility. The applicant understands that a rezoning approval will be necessary to make the FLU compatible.

The subject parcel can be accessed along Isaac Lane and Beulah Road. It is located north of SR 10 (US 90A)/West Nine Mile Road and south of Interstate 10. The property is surrounded by heavy vegetation to the north and to the east. Residential homes are located adjacent to the south and across Isaac Lane to the west.

The applicant has indicated that the proposed activity will be for an approximate 110-lot subdivision. This is based on the anticipated demand from the expansion of Navy Federal Credit Union Campus, as it move its headquarters to Escambia County.

The subject parcel had a FLU change from MU-S to I case number LSA-2014-02

(14-3ESR) in 2014. Also the parcel was rezoned from Villages Agricultural District (VAG-2), to General Industrial District (ID-2), case number Z-2014-12 on September 4, 2014.

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

No budgetary impact is anticipated by the adoption of this Ordinance.

LEGAL CONSIDERATIONS/SIGN-OFF:

The attached Ordinance has been reviewed and approved for legal sufficiency by Meredith Crawford, Assistant County Attorney. Any recommended legal comments are attached herein.

PERSONNEL:

No additional personnel are required for implementation of this Ordinance.

POLICY/REQUIREMENT FOR BOARD ACTION:

The proposed Ordinance is consistent with the Board's goal "to increase citizen involvement in, access to, and approval of, County government activities."

IMPLEMENTATION/COORDINATION:

This Ordinance, amending the Comprehensive Plan will be filed with the Department of State following adoption by the board.

Implementation of this Ordinance will consist of an amendment to the Comp Plan and distribution of a copy of the adopted Ordinance to interested citizens and staff.

The proposed Ordinance was prepared by the Development Services Department, in cooperation with the County Attorney's Office and all interested citizens. The Development Services Department will ensure proper advertisement.

COURT REPORTER'S CERTIFICATION.....80

PROCEEDINGS

THE CHAIRMAN: We will skip directly to Agenda Item 6-A. We'll come back to those other items when we go back into the Planning Board later.

But this is going to be a public hearing concerning the review of an ordinance amending the 2030 future land use map, LSA-2016-03.

This is a consideration that the Board review and recommend to the Board of County Commissioners for transmittal to the Department of Economic Opportunity an Ordinance amending the 2030 Future Land Use Map.

And who will be presenting for staff today?

MR. FISHER: Mr. John Fisher.

THE CHAIRMAN: John, good morning. If you'll please state your name and position for the record.

MR. FISHER: John Fisher, Escambia County Development Services, senior planner.

THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you, John.

Go ahead, please.

MR. FISHER: All right. This is large scale 2016-03 Beulah Road and Isaacs Lane area. This is a 56.80 acre separation of a 90 . . . I believe it's 90 . . . Let's see. I got it right here. 93.01 acres.

This was actually brought to your attention in December. This is coming back to you because the acreage and the survey were given to the county as the wrong size, so we are bringing it back to you with the correct acres, to move forward with this project.

The location map here you can see on your screen. This is a 500-foot radius zoning map. You can see it's all zoned industrial, the 93.01 acres. And the current future land use is also zoned industrial as well.

The proposed future land use is 56.80 acres is what the applicant is trying to move forward to, the mixed use suburban, 37.3 acres of industrial on the northern side.

This is the aerial and wetlands map.

And this is showing that AIPD-2 that covers that little southern portion of the area.

This is the public hearing sign.

This is looking north along Beulah Road.

Looking across Beulah Road.

Looking south along Beulah Road.

And that's it for the photos.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. FISHER: Do you want to go into staff analysis?

THE CHAIRMAN: Yes, please.

MR. FISHER: I'm just going to hit on the key points here. There is a lot of staff analysis here.

The ones that we see might kind of contradict the ones that will be in discussion, but we can go through any more than we need to as we go through.

The agent requests a future land use map amendment to change the future land use category of a 56.80 plus or minus acres from industrial future land use to mixed-use suburban future land use.

The zoning designation for the referenced parcel is industrial district. The applicant is aware that the current zoning and proposed future land use are not compatible.

The applicant has submitted a rezoning request for the February 2017 Rezoning Planning Board for future land use and zoning compatibility.

The applicant understands that a zoning approval will be necessary to make the future land use compatible, which we'll be going back to later this morning to get a rezoning.

The subject parcel can be accessed along Isaacs Lane and Beulah Road. It is located north of State Road 10, US 90A, West Nine Mile Road and south of I-10.

The property is surrounded by heavy vegetation to the north and to the east. Residential homes are located adjacent to the south and across Isaacs Lane to the west.

The applicant has indicated that the proposed activity will be for an approximate 110-lot subdivision. This is based on the anticipated demand for expansion of Navy Federal Credit Union Campus, as they move their headquarters to Escambia County.

The subject parcel had a FLU change from mixed-use suburban to industrial back in 2014. Also the parcel was rezoned from village agricultural district, VAG-2, to general industrial district, ID-2, on September 4, 2014.

Underneath the stormwater management analysis, the applicant has documented and understands the requirements for stormwater management.

The applicant acknowledges that separate requirements and permitting through other state agencies, such as Northwest Florida Water Management District, may be required.

If approved, based on the proposed operations, further analysis and evaluation will be conducted during the site plan review process.

The applicant must ensure that all of the required state and federal agencies are contacted, and that the required permits are obtained.

The presence of sensitive lands on site may require a more in-depth assessment by the agencies involved.

The county stormwater engineer will evaluate the proposed project to ensure all of the stormwater management standards are met.

Once the project is formally submitted, all of the LOS will be evaluated during the site plan review process.

Under streets and access, the following language is from an excerpt from the interoffice memorandum comments provided by the Escambia County Transportation and Traffic Operations, the TTO division staff.

We do have also David Forte here, manager, to address any comments that might be later obtained.

TTO staff has reviewed the large-scale amendment, LSA-2016-03 and Rezoning Case Z-2016-11, Beulah Road at I-10, agenda item for the upcoming Planning Board meeting scheduled for February 7, 2017. Please see the below comments.

Upon review of the large-scale and the rezoning, Z-2016-11, TTO staff provides the following information regarding an existing programmed regional and local transportation project commonly known as Escambia County Beulah Beltway/I-10 Interchange Project.

This project is expected to impact the subject site, as well as potentially other properties within the vicinity once the project moves into the right-of-way and construction phases.

The project limits, as identified in the Florida-Alabama Transportation Planning Organization Long-Range Transportation Plan begins at the Nine Mile Road at the southern most termini, extends north along Beulah Road to Interstate 10, then further north to US29 in the Quintette Road vicinity.

The project was initiated in 2007 following the inception of the Escambia County Midwest Optional Sector Plan. This plan justified the need for a new, limited access roadway with Interstate Interchange.

County staff, through the Planning Board and the Board of County Commissioner's approval, then instituted a Corridor Preservation Ordinance, found in the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Code, LDC Ordinance 2007-81 in efforts to minimize the local financial life, once the project moved into the right-of-way acquisition and subsequent construction phase.

Due to the infancy of sector plan and without any substantial data or results of the necessary corridor selection study, the ordinance created a 300-foot preservation overlay for the future roadway.

However, the county is currently finalizing the corridor selection study, and recently received the proposed typical cross-sections/right-of-way widths needed for the future roadway.

The consultants are recommending two different cross-sections. The width proposed for the north segment, I-10 north to US29 is 225 foot, and the width proposed for the south segment, Nine Mile Road to I-10, is 104-and-a-half foot. The south segment specifically abuts the subject site. Attached is the document dealing the cross-sections.

In conclusion, the TTO staff recognizes that, through the LDC ordinance 2007-81 details a 300-foot preservation overlay, in receipt of the proposed cross-sections, that the need to preserve 300 foot for the south segment, seems unjustified at this point.

TTO staff recommends that the Planning Board and Board of County Commissioners consider directing staff to amend the ordinance upon completion of the corridor selection study, expected for completion summer 2017.

The TTO staff does not oppose the map amendment or rezoning, only if the Board considers reducing the 300-foot preservation width to a width of 104.5 foot for the south segment.

Please note that TTO review is solely based off the application submittal packet, so the comments above hold no bearing on future TTO comments during the development review process.

Impacts on the land use: The current industrial future land use is intended for a mix of industrial development and ancillary office and commercial uses that are deemed to be compatible with adjacent or nearby properties.

Industrial areas shall facilitate continued industrial operations within the county, and provide jobs and employment security for present and future residents.

The range of allowable uses include light to intensive industrial, ancillary retail and office. No new residential development is allowed.

The proposed mixed-use suburban future land use is intended for a mix of residential and nonresidential uses, while promoting compatible infill development and the separation of urban and suburban land uses.

Range of allowable uses includes residential, retail services, professional office, and recreational facilities, public and civic.

The residential density has a maximum of 25 dwellings per acre and maximum intensity of one ratio floor area.

Approval of the amendment would allow residential uses and a range of activities such as retail services and offices.

Underneath the historical significance, applicant states that it will assist in any way possible, however did not provide any site requested information from the State of Florida or Historical Resources, the University of West Florida, or any historical or archaeology resources. That was not provided with any historical information from the applicant.

And underneath the future land use map designations: The proposed amendment is in close proximity to the extensive infrastructure that is accessed by other similar uses within the area.

The development promotes the principle of good development by taking advantage of an existing roads and Interstate highway as a close proximity for development.

As a result of the proximity to similar existing uses, the proposed amendment would reduce transportation costs, including the per capita costs to consumers to own their own and operate their vehicles, road and parking facility costs, traffic accidents and pollution emissions.

The proposed amendment is part of a strategy directing this type of development to the central part of the county, away from the sensitive coastal areas to the south and USDA prime soils and farmlands to the north.

The proposed industrial use expansion will direct economic growth and associated land development to an area that will complement the existing growth patterns of development in the vicinity of the property, thereby minimizing the adverse impacts to natural resources and the existing ecosystems.

The proposed amendment will ensure that the proposed development is conducted in an efficient manner. Specifically, the proximity of the subject property to other existing development will provide for a more efficient integration of infrastructure and services that will conserve both water and energy.

As previously elaborated, the site has been evaluated for potable water, sanitary sewer, solid waste disposal, stormwater management, and traffic concurrency.

The adopted levels of service would appear to be maintained with the proposed subdivision development of the parcel.

If the amendment is approved, the parcel must go through the quasi-judicial rezoning process. The completed application packet will then be reviewed and evaluated for concurrency as part of the site development review process.

MR. JONES: Horace Jones, Director.

I would like to add something. As we were going through these rather quickly because of the length of detail -- and we do want to give the applicant the opportunity. Mr. David will take -- to make comments on the transportation, as well.

But I do want to highlight the public schools facility element, which is from -- for Ms. Hightower, that once this project come in, the school board definitely will be reviewing it for capacity.

That will come during the site plan review process, because the conference plan does influence the agreement. We do recognize the school currency is yet within the scope of the -- of the county, and that will occur during the site plan review process.

This project also is going to be reviewed by the Department of Education, Florida Department of Education. Normally they refer back to the site plan review process.

I do want to highlight that because that will be something that definitely the school board will be commenting on, due to the magnitude and the volume of the subdivision and the lots coming in that particular area. Just want to highlight that for the school board.

THE CHAIRMAN: Horace, I had a quick question. Not on that.

Ms. Hightower, did you have anything you wanted to say on that, before that . . .

MS. HIGHTOWER: No.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

Page 17

On the transportation issue, because this is going over the DEO, Department of Economic Opportunity, they will be reviewing that portion of it as well because of the proposed interchange.

MR. JONES: They may comment on it. But again, they're really going to rely upon the staff. And Mr. David Forte, he definitely can elaborate on that. They may make comments on it, but unless there is an area of critical concern, they'll just be making comments, but they cannot -- they cannot offer no -- no comments to deter if the county proceeds with the development. They'll just make comments and suggestions on it and make recommendations.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. All right.

Well, I'm sure we'll hear from David later on in the presentation.

Okay. Mr. Jesse Rigby is acting as the agent. He is an attorney. He's covered by his own code of conduct and doesn't have to be sworn in to these proceedings.

Welcome, Mr. Rigby.

MR. RIGBY: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Again, my name is Jesse Rigby.

Page 18

There are some new members of the Planning Board who I don't know, so I assume they don't know me.

And I have no objection to being administered an oath; but again, my Bar oath, I think, covers that. And I have an obligation to speak truthfully to you today.

I have -- and somewhat unusual -- provided information to the Planning Board that's in your packet. And I hope that you have read that because it will shorten the process considerably today.

I have -- for those who do not know me, I've practiced law since 1978 and been here in Pensacola since 1988. I have been -- a significant portion of my practice is land-use work, and I've been involved with Escambia County since the adoption of the first Land Development Code in early 1996.

I want to first just comment on a couple of things from the staff report. And I guess the first item of business, I want to ensure that the staff report has been accepted into the record.

I realize you had a motion during the quasi-judicial, but I don't know that it covered this, so I would ask that you accept into the record the full staff report that was provided to you.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Board members, we have previously provided you with a copy of the Planning Board regular hearing package, which includes the staff's findings of facts.

The Chair will entertain a motion to accept that package into evidence and to be made part of the record for evidence. Chair will entertain a motion.

MR. WINGATE: So moved.

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion.

Do we have a second?

MR. RUSHING: Second.

THE CHAIRMAN: All those in favor say "aye."

(Chorus of "ayes.")

THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion carries.

Go ahead, Mr. Rigby.

MR. RIGBY: Second on the -- there is a portion of the property from the southern portion that's covered by AIPD-2 district. In my opinion, that does not affect this issue adversely one way or the other. It does not preclude this type request, neither does it preclude the underlying zoning request that you'll hear later.

I am sure the Navy will have --

THE CHAIRMAN: Just to make sure that we're sure that we're getting everything on the record, because we do have a new representative from the Navy who might not have the history that Ms. Oram had on it, let's bring up that map real quick.

Steve, this is obviously over there by OLF-8, so I'm sure you're familiar with it, but does the Navy have any comments on this?

MR. OPALENIK: Is this AIPD from OLF-8 or are we talking about Saufley Field?

MR. RIGBY: OLF-8, definitely.

MR. OPALENIK: I don't have any comments on that.

THE CHAIRMAN: All right.

Go ahead, Mr. Rigby.

MR. RIGBY: All right. There was a reference. The legal description in the application, there is a detailed metes and bounds legal description of the area covered. And I ask any motion you make cover that specifically.

There are a couple of references in the report and in the applicant. One says 56.8. The other says 56.1.

Joe Rector is here and can testify. It's his firm that prepared that legal description. But at the end of the day, it is the legal description in the application that should control, not a reference to 56.1 or 56.8.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. RIGBY: And I think the county would agree with that.

MR. JONES: Yes.

MR. RIGBY: There was a reference to -- in Navy Federal headquarters moving to this area.

I do not want to start a rumor. I do -- and I think I know where that came from. It came from our first application where that statement was made. I believe it to be incorrect. We corrected it on the reapplication. Navy Federal headquarters, to my knowledge, is not moving here.

Page 22

However, we all know that under way is the expansion with cranes and construction to bring a total of 10,000 employees to that campus, so it is a substantial expansion. It's not rumor. It's physically under way.

There was a reference to -- in the transportation to the southern segment of the corridor preservation ordinance abutting this property.

It does not abut this property. That ordinance covers this entire property. It is along the western boundary of the property and east, covering the entire property, not just 300 feet, as far as the legal description of that ordinance. That will be important later in my comments.

I would just comment --

THE CHAIRMAN: Before you go on, Mr. Rigby, do we have a map showing that corridor on anything that we could -- he said he's going to address it later on, but I'd like to make sure we have that available when we get to that portion, please.

Go ahead, Mr. Rigby.

MR. RIGBY: I think you'll find it in the application, although it may be a little difficult to read.

Page 23

MR. JONES: Yes, it is.

MR. RIGBY: I believe it's in the staff report. And it's as part of that ordinance, and I think the county and Mr. Forte would agree with that statement I just made.

We've had meetings with the county. I don't believe there's any dispute, so maybe he could comment on that when he comes up.

That's not directly relevant. Just needs to understand -- you need to understand the potential impact of that issue on this property.

MR. JONES: Yes.

MR. RIGBY: And again, hopefully the school district is already addressing the Navy Federal expansion, which is greater than this 110 lot.

MS. HIGHTOWER: Right.

MR. RIGBY: So I don't think that's an issue that will be in any contention today.

It's a little unusual because this is a legislative hearing, and we have the follow-up rezoning hearing.

Obviously, we don't -- not want to present the information twice, so we've asked the court reporter to transcribe both sessions so the County Commission will have a full record, and that's with the concurrence of county staff here.

Except for one issue today, I believe this application is simple and, quite frankly, noncontroversial. The staff report is supportive of the future land use map change from industrial to mixed-use suburban, and at least -- or at least the staff does not recommend disapproval.

All Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Code issues have been answered in a fashion that's favorable to the applicant's application.

Change from industrial and to mixed-use suburban, and specially with the underlying low-density residential zoning request that we have submitted is consistent with the development pattern of that area.

The Navy Federal expansion is going to increase the impact on homes. And frankly, the closer those employees live to Navy Federal, the less impact it puts on the other transportation corridors that would have to transport them to and from their homes if they live in more northern or southern portions of the county.

This property was designated industrial at a time when the property owners believed that there was a reasonable belief that the Beulah Interchange would be a near-term, as opposed to a long-term prospect.

And industrial near the Interchange made a lot of sense. And there's still going to be 30-something -- 37 acres or so -- of industrial at the northern portion of this property that would abut the interchange if it's ever constructed and approved.

There is a contract for sale on the 56 acres. Contract -- The buying party is Smart Living, LLC. It's contingent on this 110-lot design that I'm going to call a witness to show to you in a moment.

And that design, though, is based upon a dedication of 50 feet of right-of-way, voluntary designation or dedication of 50 feet of right-of-way along the western boundary of this property for the portion being changed in its land use.

There is no legal requirement that the applicant donate this 50 feet to the county, but we've planned the development to do that.

When this issue came before this Board back in December, and it was moved off the agenda because of an advertising issue, then it became apparent that the staff on the county would potentially require the applicant to dedicate, give to the county, 300 feet of right-of-way.

Following that, we had meetings with staff that included initially senior representatives of development services, engineering, transportation and legal.

And following that meeting, we had a follow-up meeting two or three weeks later, still in December, that included again those same departments, plus the County Administrator.

And at that second meeting, we learned a couple of important things. First, we learned the county did not really need 300 feet. As you've heard today, they need 104.5 for the segment the southern right-of-way.

And second, we learned that Isaacs Lane is a county-maintained road, county-maintained dirt road. And I believe Mr. Forte can address that issue, but it's basically the state statute that when the county maintains dirt roads by simply following the statutory procedure, essentially takes title to those county-maintained roads, if they meet the requirements of the statute. I believe county staff has concluded that it does.

So there is a portion of that 104 feet right-of-way that will be -- that will come from Isaacs Lane. And I believe Mr. Forte can tell you how much they think that is. We heard somewhere up to 29 feet. It may actually be more today. So that's going to address some of it.

The real legal issue here is what's addressed in my letter to the Planning Board and ultimately to the County Commission.

And I don't believe the County Attorney's Office is going to disagree with my basic premise. And that basic premise is that the county cannot compel the donation of land, constitutionally compel it, except under some limited circumstances, unless they pay just compensation, unless they condemn it like they do for a school, with eminent domain, or like they do for any other roadway.

What the courts and what the U.S. and Florida Constitution provides basically is that the compelled dedication has to be for the same, if you will, function of the project, and it has to be rationally and proportionately related to the impact of the project on whatever is involved. Here we're talking here the transportation system.

And that's called an exaction. Some exactions are lawful; some are not. And the best example I can give of a lawful exaction that the county deals with literally in every project is if the county needs land dedicated to have a turn lane because of a 110-lot subdivision, that's proportionately related to the impact of that subdivision, and so the county can require the developer to dedicate that and provide the land for that turn lane or an acceleration and deceleration lane. It happens all the time, and it's perfectly legal.

What we submit, though, of course, is that dedication of 104 feet for a beltway right-of-way has no relationship to this subdivision.

This subdivision doesn't need the beltway. It won't create or not create the beltway. It's an entirely separate issue tied up with the Beulah Interchange.

And so we do not believe that the county can compel this dedication. That's an issue, though. Although you need to be aware of it, it's an issue that, frankly, you can't decide today.

And I'm going to offer some additional evidence from the witnesses in a moment, but what we ask of you today is to approve this going forward to the County Commission.

Again, you really can't make -- you don't really, I don't think, have the authority to make this legal decision of whether the county is going to try to require this property owner to donate more than what they volunteered, the 50 feet to the county. That's a County Commission decision and their direction to staff, but you need to be aware of it and how it affects this particular property.

I'll also offer you a couple of other comments included in the package, and that is what we've determined or found out is, of course, when this corridor preservation ordinance was adopted about back in 2007, unfortunately, key landowners -- some knew, I'm sure, but key landowners in this case did not.

And you got the letter in the file from Garret Walton and Dick Baker, who many of you may know who owned Heron Forest Development at the time they owned this property, and they had no knowledge of this. They learned of it after the December Planning Board meeting, when my client learned of it.

Now, in the record there is evidence my client, through a representative it was -- it surfaced back in 2014 when the land use was changed to industrial. It surfaced back then. But the actual owners did not know. It wasn't a big issue at that point in time.

We also then said, "Well, when my clients bought the property in 2008, with reasonable due diligence, have disclosed this issue." They did -- it wasn't in their title report.

So we went out and commissioned Westcor Title to go out and do a full ownership and encumbrance report again, see if there's any way to find this impact in the record.

The answer is no. And we've provided you the cover sheet from Westcor Title. We have the 150 pages that backs it up, but there was no way this was proper.

In other words, it was not -- it was recorded, but it was not indexed by the county in any fashion that would tie to it to this property, although it described all of this property and should have been -- so it would have been brought for the attention of the property owner. So the fact of the matter is, when they bought this property, they were not aware of this particular potential issue.

I've also in my letter addressed some of the legal issues here that I described. I'm not going to go into those in any more detail. I described those in the letter that's in the package.

At this time, what I'd -- I'm going to go ahead, if it's all right with you, and call Mr. Rector at this point in time and let him offer -- we'll have him sworn. The court reporter is transcribing it.

We may not need, with your permission, to reintroduce it during the rezoning portion, but

I think it's appropriate to present it at this time.

Mr. Joe Rector.

THE CHAIRMAN: Good morning, Mr. Rector. We'll have you sworn in. And then, Jesse, if you'll introduce him with his name and address for the record and position, please.

(Joe Rector was duly sworn.)

MR. RIGBY: Mr. Rector, introduce yourself, with your name, your business.

THE CHAIRMAN: I'm sorry to interrupt you. We're recording everything, so we're going to have to get as close to the mic as we can.

MR. RIGBY: Okay.

THE CHAIRMAN: So . . .

MR. RIGBY: Yes, sir. Thank you.

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. RIGBY:

Q. Mr. Rector, go ahead and introduce yourself, with your name, your business and your employment, your profession.

A. Okay. Yes. My name is Joe Rector. I'm with Dewberry/Prebble-Rish Engineering, and my address is 25 Cedar Street in Pensacola. And we are the representatives for the party that is placing the contract to purchase this property.

Q. And . . . So again, you're retained by the potential buyer of the property.

A. Yes.

Q. If you will, describe for the Board -- and again, I don't believe it's necessary to qualify him as an expert. He's really offering just factual testimony, but if it comes up, then we can do that.

Just describe in general what your client has authorized to do -- you and your firm to do and what you've done up to this point in order to bring this to this stage.

A. At this point, we've been contracted to do the due diligence for a potential subdivision on this site. And we have done several planning maps. We've done a boundary and topographic survey of the site. We have located a general location of the wetlands on this and done an analysis on this for utilities and -- and the general impact for single-family subdivision on this site.

Q. Did you also the -- your firm, at least, the surveyors -- do the detailed legal description that's included in the application for the 56-point-some-odd acres?

A. Yes, we did.

THE CHAIRMAN: Mr. Rigby, go ahead and turn that microphone towards you. I don't think it's picking up that well, but . . .

MR. RIGBY: Okay.

THE CHAIRMAN: I'm sorry.

MR. RIGBY: I apologize. I think -- I know I talk loud enough --

THE CHAIRMAN: Yeah.

MR. RIGBY: -- for you to hear.

THE CHAIRMAN: I see some folks in the back that are listening, and I don't know if they're hearing everything, so we just want to make sure everyone can hear.

Go ahead, sir.

BY MR. RIGBY:

Q. At this time, I'm going to ask Mr. Rector to identify a project layout, and then I'll explain why it's important.

Mr. Rector, would you take a look at this layout. Let me know if you prepared it for your client.

A. Yes, we did. This is the one we prepared.

Q. And it's for how many lots?

A. It's for 110 lots.

Q. Does the layout take into account the loss of 50 feet along the western boundary that's adjacent to Isaacs Lane?

A. Yes, it does.

Q. Based on your review of the property, is this a single-family subdivision design that should comply with all county land development standards? And again, for example, site and lot grading requirements, infrastructure improvement and stormwater?

A. Yes, it does.

Q. Okay. And I realize those haven't been addressed, but basically the point here is, is this a viable project for this property?

A. Yes, this is a viable project for this property.

MR. RIGBY: I would like to -- and we can mark this as whatever the county wants, as far as an exhibit number. A? Is that -- A is good?

(Document marked for identification as Exhibit A.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Was this already in the package?

MR. RIGBY: It is not.

MR. FISHER: John Fisher, senior planner. They had a preapplication back in, I believe, November or December, and that's why we have it on file right here, but it was not submitted with the application.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. FISHER: County does have that.

THE CHAIRMAN: You can present it to our attorney, and the Board will have to accept it into evidence.

Ms. Crawford, no issues with it?

MS. CRAWFORD: No.

THE CHAIRMAN: Chair will entertain a motion to accept the applicant's documents into evidence. You've heard the testimony.

MR. FEARS: Motion to accept.

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion to accept.

Do we have a second?

MR. INGWELL: Second.

THE CHAIRMAN: And gentlemen, please turn your microphones on and speak into them because we are recording everything.

All right. All those in favor say "aye."

(Chorus of "ayes.")

THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Motion carries. This will be . . .

MR. RIGBY: Exhibit A.
THE CHAIRMAN: Exhibit A.
MR. RECTOR: We've marked the one that's being held by staff.
THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Thank you.
MR. JONES: I would -- I would like to just -- to just qualify this. We had a preapplication meeting with understanding that these designs and these drawings, when they made their formal -- when they made their formal submittal, they could deviate. They could change.
So I don't want the public just thinking that, "Well, they said this, what they were going to do. Now they've deviated and they're come back, and they've come back on these."
This is a preapplication. Your conceptual drawings, when you submit, they can change, as long as people stop-start doing their analysis and their review.
THE CHAIRMAN: Right.
And I think it's also very important, especially for a couple of our newer members, to understand that the Planning Board does not consider specific projects when we're looking at -- when we go into our rezoning request because anything that's allowed on that property would be allowed if their rezoning is met.

MR. JONES: Yes.
THE CHAIRMAN: They're simply testifying this is what they plan to do and -- and showing us in advance, but just -- just be aware of that.
MR. RIGBY: And -- and again, we -- we fully agree this is not a staff approval of this project. The importance is really the next question.
BY MR. RIGBY:
Q. And Mr. Rector, if this -- I believe you just testified that this plan recognizes the donation of 50 feet along the western boundary of what would be the subdivision to the county at no charge to the county.
If the county were to require an additional -- well, the additional 54 feet that they want and require it to be dedicated, what would it do to the subdivision plan specifically?
A. That additional 54 feet on this plan would eliminate the use of 36 -- approximately 36 lots along the west side, reducing its viability from 110 lots of a subdivision. You'd lose that net of 36.

Q. All right. And I believe that would -- in other words, you're talking about that basically the row of lots. And then, I realize there was some other tweaks there, but the row of lots, so that you would have an entrance road on that that would just have houses on one side, as opposed to both.
A. That is correct.
Q. And that loss of lots, though, would it come with any commensurate reduction in infrastructure cost; in other words, fewer roads?
A. No. It would -- it would not reduce the amount of roads, utilities or anything because it would basically create a single-loaded lot then or a single-loaded road, which would only have lots on one side of the road.
MR. RIGBY: Okay. I will offer -- again, this is not -- just so you understand the significance of the issue, this is not offered as an appraisal.
The best evidence we have today, though, is, yes, could the property still be developed? Yes, at a much smaller subdivision.
What would the financial impact be on the owners? The best information we have today is about three-quarters of a million in loss of sales value because of the impact of the additional dedication.

That's an issue. In other words, whether the county will require the dedication, the donation for free of more than 50 feet. That's an issue that the County Commission needs to ultimately address.
THE CHAIRMAN: So let me just, for clarification purposes: On this Exhibit A, that, for lack of a better word, orange-colored highlighted area, is that just the 50 foot or is that the 300 foot that you're talking about?
MR. RUSHING: It's the hundred.
THE CHAIRMAN: I'm sorry. I'm sorry. 104.
THE WITNESS: Yeah. That's demonstrating if that were to come into the property, that much additional, that would take out that row of lots across there.
THE CHAIRMAN: And that's with 50 foot of it, approximately, being on the subject property.
THE WITNESS: No. That would -- that would -- that picture there with the orange demonstrates what the worst-case impact would be if the 104 feet were taken out on that side.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. And I believe it was your testimony that it would affect 36 lots. And I'm only counting about 21, it looks like. So could you tell us what you're talking about there?
THE WITNESS: Well, what you -- what this picture cuts off at the entrance road, there's -- there's lots to the -- to the south and this -- what would be to the right, and -- and because of the way that the entrance road would -- whenever you took that row out, you would have to change up that road a little bit. And we calculated 36 lots total -- total net.
This picture here reflects what the 110 would be without the impact, though it -- with the road being extra -- the 104 on our side, it would change that configuration a little bit and create a 36-lot loss.
MR. RIGBY: I think the point, Mr. Briske, is, the impact is significant, whether it turns out to be 20, 21, 36.
Again, we're not trying to put an alternative plan here that might be discussed with the county at some point going forward how things could be tweaked.

The only point I think that's important for you and ultimately at this stage for the County Commission is that the county requiring more than 50 feet, that the applicant, the property owner, my client, has offered voluntarily to give to the county, there would be a significant impact on the property, for which, under the Constitution, just compensation should be paid.
Those are future issues, but you need to understand that. And more importantly, a part of the reason -- I'm sure this is in the record today -- is to ensure it's in front of the County Commission when we get before them in hopefully March.
I thought I had one other question, but maybe I . . . maybe I don't. If there are any questions for Mr. Rector, it might be a good time for the Board to ask them.
MR. HOWARD: I have a question.
THE CHAIRMAN: Yes, sir. Go ahead.
MR. HOWARD: Okay. So today I'm hearing there's a pending land sale. Is this true?
MR. RIGBY: Pending landfill?

Page 43

MR. HOWARD: A land sale. Some type of contractual arrangement or something in the works.
MR. RIGBY: There is a contract to purchase the 56 acres. It's a land contract to purchase.
MR. HOWARD: May I ask how long this has been going on?
MR. RIGBY: Since back before December.
MR. HOWARD: And it wasn't briefed at the December meeting, I don't believe.
MR. RIGBY: No. Well, it was not -- the meeting -- there was no meeting held in December because there was a notice issue, so there was no evidence presented to the Board of any nature.
MR. HOWARD: But in prior testimony, from what I understand, I don't recall anybody mentioning a potential land sale.
MR. RIGBY: There would never -- there would never have been any prior testimony, sir. There was no prior presentation to the Planning Board in December, to my knowledge.
THE CHAIRMAN: I think we tabled it.
MR. JONES: It was tabled.

Page 44

THE CHAIRMAN: Tabled at the time.
MR. JONES: Absolutely.
MR. HOWARD: Right. I -- I recall that, but I remember . . . I believe when Mr. Rector was speaking about this, he didn't allude to any kind of potential land sale or any kind of contingency. Am I mistaken?
MR. RIGBY: Well, I don't -- I don't know. There's no record. There's no written record of that meeting.
I don't know, Mr. Howard, that it would really matter. The contract exists, and it has existed, and it's contingent on 110 lot subdivision.
Can it be modified by the parties? Of course it can.
The point is, that's -- and all of this is part of the due diligence. And this is, I would say in my experience, the standard way that land is bought when it's going to be a contingent use of the property going forward.
People don't just come in and buy property with a current plan on the table, when the future land use map and rezoning is not what they need at that point in time without the contract being contingent upon the change in the future.

MR. HOWARD: I understand that, but it seems to me when it was briefed last time -- and I'll -- I'm just making this note, and then I'll let other Board members speak -- it was as if we were being told one thing, and now we hear that there's a possible land sale, and so I have to -- I have to be suspicious. I'll just say that.

MR. RIGBY: Okay. The land -- the contract existed prior to the December meeting. That's all I can tell you, sir.

MR. HOWARD: And it wasn't -- go ahead.

THE CHAIRMAN: I just was going to say because there was no official meeting, I don't know that we could enter that in here.

It would almost be ex parte communications, if it was received outside of the meeting. Is that correct?

MS. CRAWFORD: Well, my recollection -- Meredith Crawford, assistant county attorney -- is that at that last meeting, there was no discussion whatsoever because at the outset it was discovered that all the application paperwork and the advertisement referenced the entire 93-acre parcel, not just the southern portion.

I believe Mr. Rector spoke briefly and started discussing the southern portion, at which point we realized, "Hey, everything he has shows 93 acres. We're going to have to drop this and come back."

So I don't believe we got to a point of even this level of conversation related to it, so you may be thinking about some other property that Mr. Rector appeared on.

On this particular project, I don't believe that was ever discussed or that we would have gotten to this level of discussion.

MR. HOWARD: Understand. Thank you.

THE CHAIRMAN: All right.

Jay, did you have a question?

MR. INGWELL: Yeah. Could you just explain one more time what the width of this orange color is? Is it 300 feet or 104 feet from side to side? And then how about at the -- I guess the northern end, the width that that represents?

THE WITNESS: All the orange was on this right here was just a general representation of a typical -- like a interchange, what it could look like if it were overlaid at this particular location.

That is still -- hasn't been -- that hasn't been determined by anybody to this point. So we just gave a representation.

If you took, showing this impact on this west edge of this property of 104 feet, and came into this, this is how it would take out the -- the -- that row of lots.

Those -- those lots are about approximately 140 feet deep, so you can estimate that that orange strip there is about 280, 300 foot strip through there. If you had that amount of right-of-way, that's what it would take out on our side over here with this.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. I understand the confusion.

Can we go back to the map that -- did we -- as I understand, there's an ordinance in place. Can we see the ordinance area of the property?

MR. JONES: Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Can we zoom in to partial level on that or is this -- because this is that section level. It's not a partial level.

MR. FISHER: Mr. Chairman, maybe we can get some more clarity on that from the county perspective. We can call David Forte up to go through some of this. He's been kind of expert lead on this.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. RIGBY: I'm fine with that. I have only one other thing to present. We'll do it after Mr. Forte.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So you're through with Mr. Rector.

Staff members, do you have any questions of this witness, Mr. Rector?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Thank you, sir.

All right. David, you were sworn in earlier. And if you'll please state your name and position for the record, and then maybe you can shed some light on all this.

(David Forte, previously duly sworn.)

MR. FORTE: Absolutely.

David Forte, Escambia County Public Works,

Page 49

Division Manager for the Transportation and Traffic Ops Division.

Great to see some of the familiar faces. Back when I used to frequent the Planning Board meetings -- for you that don't know me, look forward to working with you in the future.

A couple -- a few things going on. This is a very convoluted issue, and so it can easily get skewed one way or the other, so I'd like to try to clarify a couple things.

MR. JONES: Yes.

MR. FORTE: And as Mr. Rigby mentioned earlier, yes, Isaacs Lane is a county-maintained roadway. It was -- it's been maintained for -- for more than seven years, as the statute requires.

And on February 2nd of this year, the Board of County Commissioners approved the maintenance claim map for Isaacs Lane.

Isaacs Lane is essentially 45 feet. It averages about 45 feet in right-of-way with -- throughout the entire portion. It -- it reflects quite a little bit down to 40 and 50, but I would say average is about 45 feet.

The confusion really that comes into play -- I -- I haven't been able to see the existing --

Page 50

MR. JONES: Yes.

MR. FORTE: -- the maps that were adding to the record, so apologize.

Brief history of the -- of the Beulah project. Back in about 2007, Escambia County initiated the Beulah Corridor Project, also known as US29 connector.

This was essentially in concurrence with the programming, I guess you could say, of the sector plan that was under way.

I believe the sector plan was officially approved in '9 or 2011. I'm not -- not --

MR. JONES: 2011.

MR. FORTE: 2011?

So essentially -- but there was a -- a need and justification for, essentially, an interchange facility, as well as a corridor that would connect to that interchange.

Back in 2007 when we initiated this, at that point we -- we were still in the infancy of -- infancy of that project, as well as the sector plan, so there wasn't any determination where this interchange would fall, where the corridor essentially would be constructed as well.

However, all the corridors that the consultant Escambia County brought on board -- still currently consult for Escambia County on this project.

They -- they had proposed seven essentially, seven -- essentially seven corridors. And not sure if this was even in your backup, but this map has been on the Web site for many years now.

Essentially, what you have is the feds require that you provide alternative routes, essentially, that would be evaluated throughout the process.

And once the feds would approve what corridor you move forward with, of those 7, 10, how many you select, you could then narrow in and really do the fine-tune details of that corridor.

But every single one of them essentially runs along the Beulah Road, Isaacs Lane roadway area on the south segment. The south segment, as we mentioned earlier, is essentially from Interstate south to Nine Mile Road.

Page 52

Escambia County attempted to -- and Mr. Rigby, I believe, alluded to this -- attempted to expedite at least the south segment back in early 2010-'11 time frame.

At that point, there was some new administration that came into DOT. The new policy was that anything -- that any project that falls on the state highway system, a state roadway or a federal roadway, that they would assume management of such project.

So prior to that, the county was moving forward with the project.

State said, "You know what? You'll move forward with the corridor. We'll move forward with the interchange." And since that federal Interstate system, which is the -- the DOT maintains and manages.

That then took a couple years for us to modify contracts, many meetings with DOT to try to square things away, so DOT essentially is working on what's called an Interchange Justification Report.

Prior to that, Atkins had actually prepared an Interchange Justification Report. We were ready to submit that to the feds for approval. Then -- then came the policy change where DOT -- so they then redid their own Interchange justification report.

So as Mr. Rigby mentioned earlier, there was the attempt to have the Interchange essentially in the potential design phase at this point. However, there was some delay there when the -- the policy change occurred with the state and the -- the county.

That brings us to about 2013, 2014. We decided, as the state recommended that we move forward with the corridor, we had to modify our contract with Atkins.

We moved forward with what is considered by the feds the alternative corridor evaluation study. And that large book back there on -- on the chair -- I probably should have brought it up -- well, sitting over here by Mr. Rigby -- I'm sorry.

This is essentially the -- the -- the phase that we are in at this point. This is essentially a preliminary design phase that the National Environmental Protection Act requires if you're bringing in a new corridor of such of a scope and scale.

This is essentially on the heels of the application request. We're expecting to have final approval of this report summer of this year, as I mentioned in my memo.

And at that time, we'll know which one of the seven corridors we can then move forward with for our fine-tune detail and review of -- of that corridor, so essentially that's -- that's where we're at.

As far as the map where -- the corridor preservation. My understanding of the corridor preservation, back in 2007, when the county moved forward with that, the -- it was -- it was, I think, a good faith effort on the county to be stewards of the taxpayer dollars to say, "Hey, we're -- we're seeing this project moving forward. Let's preserve the area. We think conservatively that we would potentially see this corridor come into, essentially, be constructed at."

However, like I said earlier, we're now in the infancy. Now that we're further along in the project, we're essentially at 95, 98 percent complete of the report.

We now know that we don't need 300 feet for the south segment. We need about 104.5, as mentioned earlier, and essentially probably 225, maybe 250 on the north.

So my recommendation, the staff's recommendation on the traffic side was, we understand the request. We now are further along in the project, that we feel 300 feet is not necessary anymore.

We would like to amend the corridor preservation ordinance after the time that the feds approve this report. Things can change over the next several months, but we have some strong indication with our coordination and communication with them, that they're essentially in agreement with our report.

We have to have a final public hearing. We expect to have that in April, maybe May of this year.

After that, we will submit the report on the feds. And then hopefully shortly thereafter, they will approve the report. Then we can actually move into design, essentially, of the corridor.

There are funds programmed in the long-range transportation plan, which the

Page 56

Florida/Alabama TPO, Transportation Organization of the Escambia County, Santa Rosa County, a lot of the elected officials from the area sit on.

And there is a grander project that's been in there. It's called the Outer Beltway. I guess we -- I believe it's called the Outer Beltway. It's been in there for probably about two decades now.

Essentially, it connects you from Nine Mile Road, brings you up through the Interstate, brings you somewhere in that Quintette area, then all the way back to Santa Rosa. It connects you back into 87. It's a very grand project that probably in our lifetimes we'll never see -- come to fruition.

The county, though, moved forward with essentially our side of the project with -- because of the sector plan and the potential growth in that Cantonment area, so . . . Last thing I would like to say is that it was more than likely just an incidental error on the county's part when we moved forward -- when we placed the preservation ordinance.

It was imposed from the western boundary line of this parcel, east side of the Isaacs

Lane right-of-way back a hundred feet.

Probably should have been shifted to where it covered Isaacs Lane, and there would have been some . . . it wouldn't have been entirely 300 feet on this parcel. It would have been 250 or whatever may have been or so on this parcel, and then also covered Isaacs Lane, maybe a portion to the west.

So what the county's recommending -- what the traffic staff is recommending is that -- that the request move forward, with the understanding that the county's moving forward with our project.

And then once this report is complete, you will be coming back to this Board and the Board of County Commissioners to amend the preservation ordinance.

We will actually recommend shifting it to cover Isaacs Lane, so you'll have the 45 -- potentially 50 feet of Isaacs Lane to 50 feet that Mr. Rigby and his applicants have graciously recommended to donate.

And then there will be another nine-and-a-half, ten feet or so on the west side of Isaacs Lane, so that -- so we'll clean that up so it's not the full 300 feet from the section line back to the east.

THE CHAIRMAN: Based on that, how much of this subject property are you talking about?

So if Isaacs Lane is 45 feet wide, you're talking about -- you know, about 42-and-a-half going to the west, and --

MR. FORTE: You'll have the 45 feet of Isaacs Lane right-of-way. You'll have the 50 feet of this parcel, so that's 95 feet. And then the other nine-and-a-half, ten feet would come from the west side of Isaacs Lane back west.

And I believe the -- I wasn't with Transportation at the time when this -- this ordinance was enacted, but I believe the reason why they did not touch Isaacs Lane west is because there's actually a few houses over there.

But what the preservation does, it doesn't require dedication. That's my understanding. I believe that may have been stated earlier.

Essentially, just keep -- it -- it puts whatever year that it was imposed, is that it kind of keeps it at that value, that you wouldn't want to see upzoning because now it's more valuable.

So when we do have to acquire the property, it would be more expensive, more marketable, obviously.

THE CHAIRMAN: Essentially putting it on reserve.

MR. FORTE: It essentially put it on reserve. That's a good way of putting it.

It doesn't require dedication or donation. It's just a good faith, saying, "Hey, we see this project coming forward. We think we can kind of lock in the value now."

And like I said, we did have a meeting with Mr. Rigby back in, December and I think we were able to clear the air on a lot of things. And hopefully, I've provided some clarity up here. Maybe a little longwinded, but . . .

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Questions for Mr. Forte.

MR. RUSHING: I've got a quick question.

MR. FORTE: Yes, sir.

MR. RUSHING: With this opportunity to change the -- the maps that -- things of that nature, and if we approve this, this does not in any way affect the corridor -- not the corridor, but the interchange. The interchange. This is way south of the interchange. This would not affect the interchange in any way, shape or form.

MR. FORTE: No, sir.

The -- as I said earlier, the state has assumed the Interchange Justification Report. They are essentially waiting on us to -- this is the first step of this project, really, is getting this alternate corridor evaluation report completed.

Once they know exactly where the corridor's going to fall, then they'll know exactly where to design the interchange.

The DOT is probably about -- I would say they have a draft, interchange justification -- Interchange Justification Report.

I've seen some conceptual layouts to where the interchange would fall. And every single one of them essentially falls at the Isaacs Lane area.

You have the landfill in the -- in the vicinity. There's -- DOT and the feds require spacing when you impact the Interstate.

You've got the weigh station. You've got the welcome center. You have the landfill. So from a logical, this is really the only kind of area along the Interstate in that area that an interchange would logically be able to be constructed without impacting other existing facilities, but this would not -- the -- the approval of this, I don't foresee it impacting the interchange project. I believe that's what your question was.

MR. RUSHING: It was.

MR. FORTE: Yes, sir.

Now, DOT would essentially have to come in at some point and acquire the right-of-way necessary. And I believe they're proposing a diamond interchange, not a cloverleaf, which limits the right-of-way with -- with the diamond, compared to the cloverleaf, which you need more right-of-way for.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Other questions from the Board?

Mr. Rigby, any kind of questions?

MR. RIGBY: I have no questions of Mr. Forte. I have some responses.

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Thank you.

MR. FORTE: Thank you.

THE CHAIRMAN: Hang around. We may need you to answer questions.

MR. RIGBY: Mr. Rushing, one thing I think I showed you there. Again, this is the southern portion of the property, and the left -- what's in the northern portion is left industrial.

And frankly, my client hopes it is -- there is an interchange. And hopefully, it -- it does allow for industrial, and DOT or the county or whoever will acquire right-of-way and they'll pay for it at that time, so I don't think we're impacting the -- the interchange. And I understand why that's important.

MR. RUSHING: Can I ask one more clarifying question regarding -- for you?

With the interchange coming in, of course, normally an interchange is surrounded by businesses, you know, things of that nature.

Not really being -- feel -- fully understanding the scale of -- of -- of this, would . . . would your project be more abutting the business district that would come around that? Would it more hurt the ability for growth, and things of that nature, again, not understanding the scale very well with these pictures of -- of how . . .

MR. RIGBY: I think --

MR. RUSHING: -- much area there is.

MR. RIGBY: I think I can answer. If you look back at the map that you were provided, you'll see there's a large wetland.

MR. RUSHING: Mm-hmm.

MR. RIGBY: That's undevelopable, and that's going to, if you will, separate . . .

MR. RUSHING: Okay.

MR. RIGBY: . . . the residential from what could be the interchange and what could be industrial up in that northwest corner. There would still be acreage there for industrial, not as -- not huge, but industrial there. So I -- I -- I think the wetlands here serve a -- an excellent function as a buffer just naturally.

I want to go back to the corridor preservation ordinance to be sure you understand. If you look at my letter, you'll see that this is not a new thing.

And DOT started it back in the '90s, what they call map of reservation, which absolutely by statute precluded issuance of development orders on property in which DOT put a map of reservation. Same thing as a corridor preservation.

And the Florida Supreme Court said, "You can't do that. You can't lock down development in the chance that sometime in the future you'll want that property and have to pay for it."

The shift then went from DOT to the counties. And I -- and back in 2006, Pinellas County adopted a very aggressive ordinance. They did more than Escambia County did.

Escambia County followed and adopted one in 2007, but the Pinellas ordinance precluded the issuance of any land changes.

And the Federal District Court said, you know, "That's a land grab. Taxpayers, if you're going to acquire property from private property owners for public use, the taxpayers need to pay that in whole. It should not be borne by the individual property owners."

Escambia County's ordinance does not preclude issuance of development permits as a -- and doesn't preclude land use changes. That's correct.

The issue, though, is -- and this is again going to have to be addressed by the County Commission. What started out at 300 is down to 104.5.

If all of that were taken from this property owner, the County Commission will have a choice. They'll pay for it. They'll deny the permit, which will result in a lawsuit because of the impact on the property because we do have a valid sale contract. All right. That's -- so that's a policy decision for them to make at the time.

I applaud the county staff for working this issue over the last couple of months and finding 45 feet in Isaacs Lane that effectively belongs to the county right now.

And so we're really, at the end of the day, with the 50 feet that my client voluntarily offered to donate back before all this came up, we're really looking at 15 feet.

When it gets to the County Commission, we'll have to try to sort that out between now and the County Commission meeting.

But none of that should prevent you from looking at this as a standard future land use map change.

Do we meet the criteria? And the answer is, yes, we do. And the staff agrees with that in the staff report.

And so what I would not want to see is you recommend denial and just throw this into -- into that briar patch sooner than it needs to be there. County Commission can address those issues at the appropriate time.

The last bit of evidence I want to offer is just kind of a little bit maybe housekeeping, is a reference in the county report to the absence of information concerning historical significance.

And I've marked Exhibit B. I want to provide it to you. We were able to find that.

THE CHAIRMAN: Mr. Rigby, hold on.

MR. RIGBY: I'm sorry.

THE CHAIRMAN: Just a moment. Let me get it entered into evidence here.

MR. RIGBY: Let me just -- I'll just describe it for the record.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. RIGBY: It's an e-mail from Mr. Gregory Allen from Atkins Global and an attached map that shows what they call a shovel report for historically significant issues that was performed back in . . . he states the date here. 2010, relating to the Beulah Interchange.

I am reasonably comfortable saying that this was actually -- Atkins did this work for the county back at the -- and I see Mr. Forte nodding yes.

So all this does is show us that the property which he has outlined in the yellow squiggly lines, that that property has had shovel tests to determine whether there are historically significant properties, and their determination is there were none.

So I don't think we're running much risk of Indian burial grounds, and the like, on this property. This is the best evidence that's available. It's far better than we could get from West Florida. And my understanding is University of West Florida has actually stopped providing that information because of the impact on their operations.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Chair will entertain a motion to accept the presented Exhibit B for additional evidence.

MR. FEARS: Motion.

Page 68

MR. JONES: Chairman, I would like for Mr. David Forte, since he represented that Atkins -- Dave, are you familiar with that report?

THE CHAIRMAN: David, you're still under oath. State your name again so we have it for the record.

MR. FORTE: David Forte.

I -- I presume that this -- this comes from what I mentioned earlier, when the county was essentially managing the entire project.

We -- we did prepare a draft interchange justification report. And I presume this came from that report.

However, when the state policy changed, that they would take over management of the interchange, they then created their own interchange justification report, so I -- I would just seeing it now, I -- I -- Atkins has been on retainer with the county since 2007 for this project.

And so my presumption is that this was just a checklist item on the interchange justification report that we were drafting, hoping for federal approval on it.

THE CHAIRMAN: Are you familiar with this type of work that he's describing here?

MR. FORTE: I am, yes, sir. There is -- there is extensive environmental type of review that goes into any type of --
THE CHAIRMAN: It seems reasonable that this . . . I mean, he's presenting it as accurate and true. Does it seem reasonable to you that this would be how this type of thing would be done?
MR. FORTE: I would . . . I would agree with that.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.
MR. FORTE: Yes, sir.
THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Thank you.
MR. RIGBY: Thank you, sir. I --
THE CHAIRMAN: Let me finish up housekeeping here.
We do have a motion, and I believe Mr. Ingwell, did you second the motion, or was that Mr. Wingate?
I heard it from down here somewhere.
MR. WINGATE: Second.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Mr. Wingate has seconded to accept this as Exhibit B.
All those in favor say "aye."

(Chorus of "ayes.")
THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?
(No response.)
THE CHAIRMAN: All right. That's presented, and the staff has a copy of the original; is that correct? Okay.
Go ahead, Mr. Rigby.
MR. RIGBY: We have nothing else to present.
We ask that you, again, recommend approval of the future land use map change.
I will offer one other comment. I understand the corridor preservation ordinance was designed to stop, quote, upzoning. But recognize what's occurred in 2014, without this issue coming up in any kind of significant manner.
In 2014, this property was what would -- today would be mixed-use suburban, and it was changed from VAG, which was one unit to five acres. I'm sorry. Yeah, one unit to five acres.
MR. JONES: Yeah.
MR. RIGBY: To industrial. That was a significant upzoning of the property.

So if this issue, frankly, the county, if they needed it, should have addressed this issue back then. The property has been upzoned.
I am, quite frankly, by working through this, and the applicant donating 50 feet, the applicant is making this a very easy, if you will, acquisition on the part of the county.
Rather than needing what at one time was believed to be up to 300 feet or 104.5 feet, the county is now at the point of needing to figure out how to acquire 15 feet -- I'm sorry -- 10 feet. 10 feet. That's a significant value, if you will, to the county to potentially have to buy 10 feet, as opposed to 105-plus.
And so the applicant, by bringing there forward, is doing the county, quite frankly, a favor. If this does not change and the land simply sits there, when the county gets ready to acquire it, then they'll be buying whatever amount of this property they need, 50-plus anyway, maybe 60 feet. So this saves the county, quite frankly, a substantial sum of money if this -- if their interchange goes forward. Thank you.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

David, did you have something else you wanted to present?
MR. FORTE: No. Thank you.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. We do have another person who signed up to speak on this matter, Mr. James Young.
MR. RIGBY: He will not be necessary. He's a representative, one of the managers of Briar Ridge, LLC, and he's really listed in case there were questions that needed to be answered from the owner of the property.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. I'm presuming he won't be here for the quasi-judicial hearing as well? He signed up to speak for both.
MR. RIGBY: He -- he will be here. I don't know that we've -- we've covered things in such detail, I'm not sure we'll have much in the rezoning aspect.
THE CHAIRMAN: Well, we'll call him in that hearing, just to be sure.
Horace and staff members, anything else that you'd like to reiterate or discuss?
MR. JONES: No, sir.
THE CHAIRMAN: No?
Well, to those of you that are new to the

Page 73

Board, I told you it would be an exciting one.
Now is the time to ask any questions or discussion, anything you can think of. And at least feel free to ask any question, as it is very complex and involved, and there's a lot of moving parts to it.
So we are at this point just considering the future land use map amendment LSA-2016-03. We're not at this point considering the rezoning, so it's very important.
Remember, we put the rezoning hearing on pause to come over here, so this is one piece of it. It's kind of the chicken before the egg. This has to be considered before we can even consider the rezoning request.
And Horace, maybe just for everyone's benefit, just explain if this is recommended for approval by the Board, what would happen next, as far as DEO, the county, everything like that.
MR. JONES: Yes, Mr. Chairman. Yes, sir.
Again, Horace Jones, Director.
If it is recommended for approval by the Board, the Board -- it comes before the Board as a transmittal hearing.
If the Board decides to transmit to Tallahassee, it will stay in Tallahassee for about 45 days, approximately. Then it comes back for a final adoption by the Board.

Page 74

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Okay.
Board members, questions? Comments?
MR. RUSHING: I got a question for staff.
With the acknowledgment that the 50 feet that was -- well, 104 feet that was 300 down to 104, now to the 50, and then down to taking the Isaacs and then taking the 10 feet over, did that change any of y'all's findings with that -- that understanding or that -- that knowledge?
MR. JONES: No, sir. No, it does not. It does not change that.
THE CHAIRMAN: Is there anyone else from the public that wishes to speak on this matter?
The Chair will entertain a motion for Public Hearing LSA-2016-03.
MR. RUSHING: Can you show those findings again so we can see what -- what y'all's findings were?
THE CHAIRMAN: Mr. Rushing, if you are going to make a motion, I would ask that you please remember what Mr. Rigby said about adopting the legal description for the description of the property because there was some, I guess, minor variances there, so if you're making a motion, just please reference that.

MR. JONES: And while the board is going through that analysis again, there is -- for the long-term -- amendment, there is no set criteria to look for.
Many -- many of those items, such as sanitary, sewer, solid waste disposal, those will be reviewed. Yes, the state will review those items, but those will be reviewed during the site plan review process, to make sure that those standards and things are in place.
Stormwater, definitely. Sanitary sewer, ECUA, all of those things, so potable water, of course, definitely look at those things, to -- to make sure they meet all of the regulations during the design phase of the project, if it is approved.
THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Board members, do we have a motion for approval, or if there's no motion for approval, do we have a motion for denial?
MR. INGWELL: I have a question, or I have a concern. LDC Comprehensive Plan 2007-81 is still in effect, so is the --

Page 76

MR. JONES: Yes, sir. That -- that ordinance, that -- and I know Mr. Rigby may -- may disagree with me, but currently that ordinance is yet in -- is yet in effect.
MS. CRAWFORD: It is the -- the Corridor Preservation Ordinance is in effect. And what that says is that basically the county would not allow any upzoning. As Mr. Rigby stated, this is actually a downzoning.
The other issue is that that 300 feet beltway is specific to a beltway. My understanding from county staff is that what will go in there is going to be an expressway, not a beltway, but we're waiting on the actual final report from the state, which will come out this summer, but Mr. Jones can advise the Planning Board that staff will be looking to amend that ordinance --
MR. JONES: Definitely.
MS. CRAWFORD: -- to change that language from beltway to expressway. And again, the request is for a downzoning, not an upzoning.
MR. JONES: And -- and -- and staff -- and staff -- and staff definitely will -- will take consideration the analysis when we come back to Brenda's ordinance, the analysis from transportation, with -- with Mr. Dave Forte and his crew and his staff, so -- so we -- we are definitely -- we -- we see -- we see where the -- the -- the preservation was necessary maybe at the time, but because there was not a full knowledge of what was coming forward, so -- so we see the need for the change to be made. Definitely.

THE CHAIRMAN: Mr. Jones, other than the preservation corridor, is your staff's analysis that this meets all of the standards for a future land use amendment?

MR. JONES: Yes, it does.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. At this time I'd like to pass the chair to the vice chairman.

MR. RUSHING: Okay.

THE CHAIRMAN: So I'm going to make a motion, please, Mr. Chairman -- Mr. Vice Chairman.

MR. RUSHING: Yes, sir.

MR. BRISKE: I would make a motion to approve LSA-2016-03, based on the metes and bounds description that was provided by the applicant to be moved on to the Department of Economic Opportunity and the Board of County Commissioners for their consideration.

THE CHAIRMAN (Mr. Rushing): Do you want to also make sure you add the description?

THE CHAIRMAN: Description? Yes. Add that in there.

THE CHAIRMAN (Mr. Rushing): So we have a motion on the floor.

Anybody have a second?

MR. HOWARD: I'll second.

THE CHAIRMAN (Mr. Rushing): Second.

Move to vote.

Everybody say "yes" for approval.

(Chorus of "yes" and "ayes.")

THE CHAIRMAN (Mr. Rushing): Nay for nonapproval.

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN (Mr. Rushing): So moved.

I'd like to also hand the Chair back over to the Chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Thank you.

Yeah; I lied. I said you wouldn't have to do anything today.

MR. RUSHING: Again, with trepidation.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So the recommendation is to move forward with LSA-2016-03 to consider it to Department of Economic Opportunity.

MR. JONES: Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN: And then eventually on to the Board of County Commissioners.

At this time, because we've gone so long, let's go ahead and just take maybe about a five-minute break so everybody can use the restroom and stretch.

Let's come back into session at 10:15 please.

(Public hearing concluded at 10:10 a.m.)

(Brief recess.)

BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
Escambia County, Florida

Planning Board-Regular 6. A.

Meeting Date: 02/07/2017

Issue: A Public Hearing Concerning the Review of an Ordinance Amending the 2030 Future Land Use Map, LSA-2016-03

From: Horace Jones, Director

Organization: Development Services

RECOMMENDATION:

A Public Hearing Concerning the Review of an Ordinance Amending the 2030 Future Land Use Map, LSA-2016-03

That the Board review and recommend to the Board of County Commissioners (BCC) for transmittal to the Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO), an Ordinance amending the 2030 Future Land Use Map.

BACKGROUND:

The agent requests a Future Land Use (FLU) map amendment to change the FLU category of a 56.80 ± acres parcel from Industrial (I) FLU to Mixed-Use Suburban (MU-S) FLU. The zoning designation for the referenced parcel is Industrial (Ind) District. The applicant is aware that the current zoning and proposed FLU are not compatible. The applicant has submitted a rezoning request for the February 2017 Rezoning Planning Board for FLU and Zoning compatibility. The applicant understands that a rezoning approval will be necessary to make the FLU compatible.

The subject parcel can be accessed along Isaac Lane and Beulah Road. It is located north of SR 10 (US 90A)/West Nine Mile Road and south of Interstate 10. The property is surrounded by heavy vegetation to the north and to the east. Residential homes are located adjacent to the south and across Isaac lane to the west.

The applicant has indicated that the proposed activity will be for an approximate 110 lot subdivision. This is based on the anticipated demand from of the expansion of Navy Federal Credit Union Campus, as they move their headquarters to Escambia County.

The subject parcel had a FLU change from MU-S to I case number LSA-2014-02 (14-3ESR) in 2014. Also the parcel was rezoned from Villages Agricultural District (VAG-2), to General Industrial District (ID-2), case number Z-2014-12 on September 4, 2014.

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

No budgetary impact is anticipated by the adoption of this Ordinance.

LEGAL CONSIDERATIONS/SIGN-OFF:

The attached Ordinance has been reviewed and approved for legal sufficiency by Meredith Crawford, Assistant County Attorney. Any recommended legal comments are attached herein.

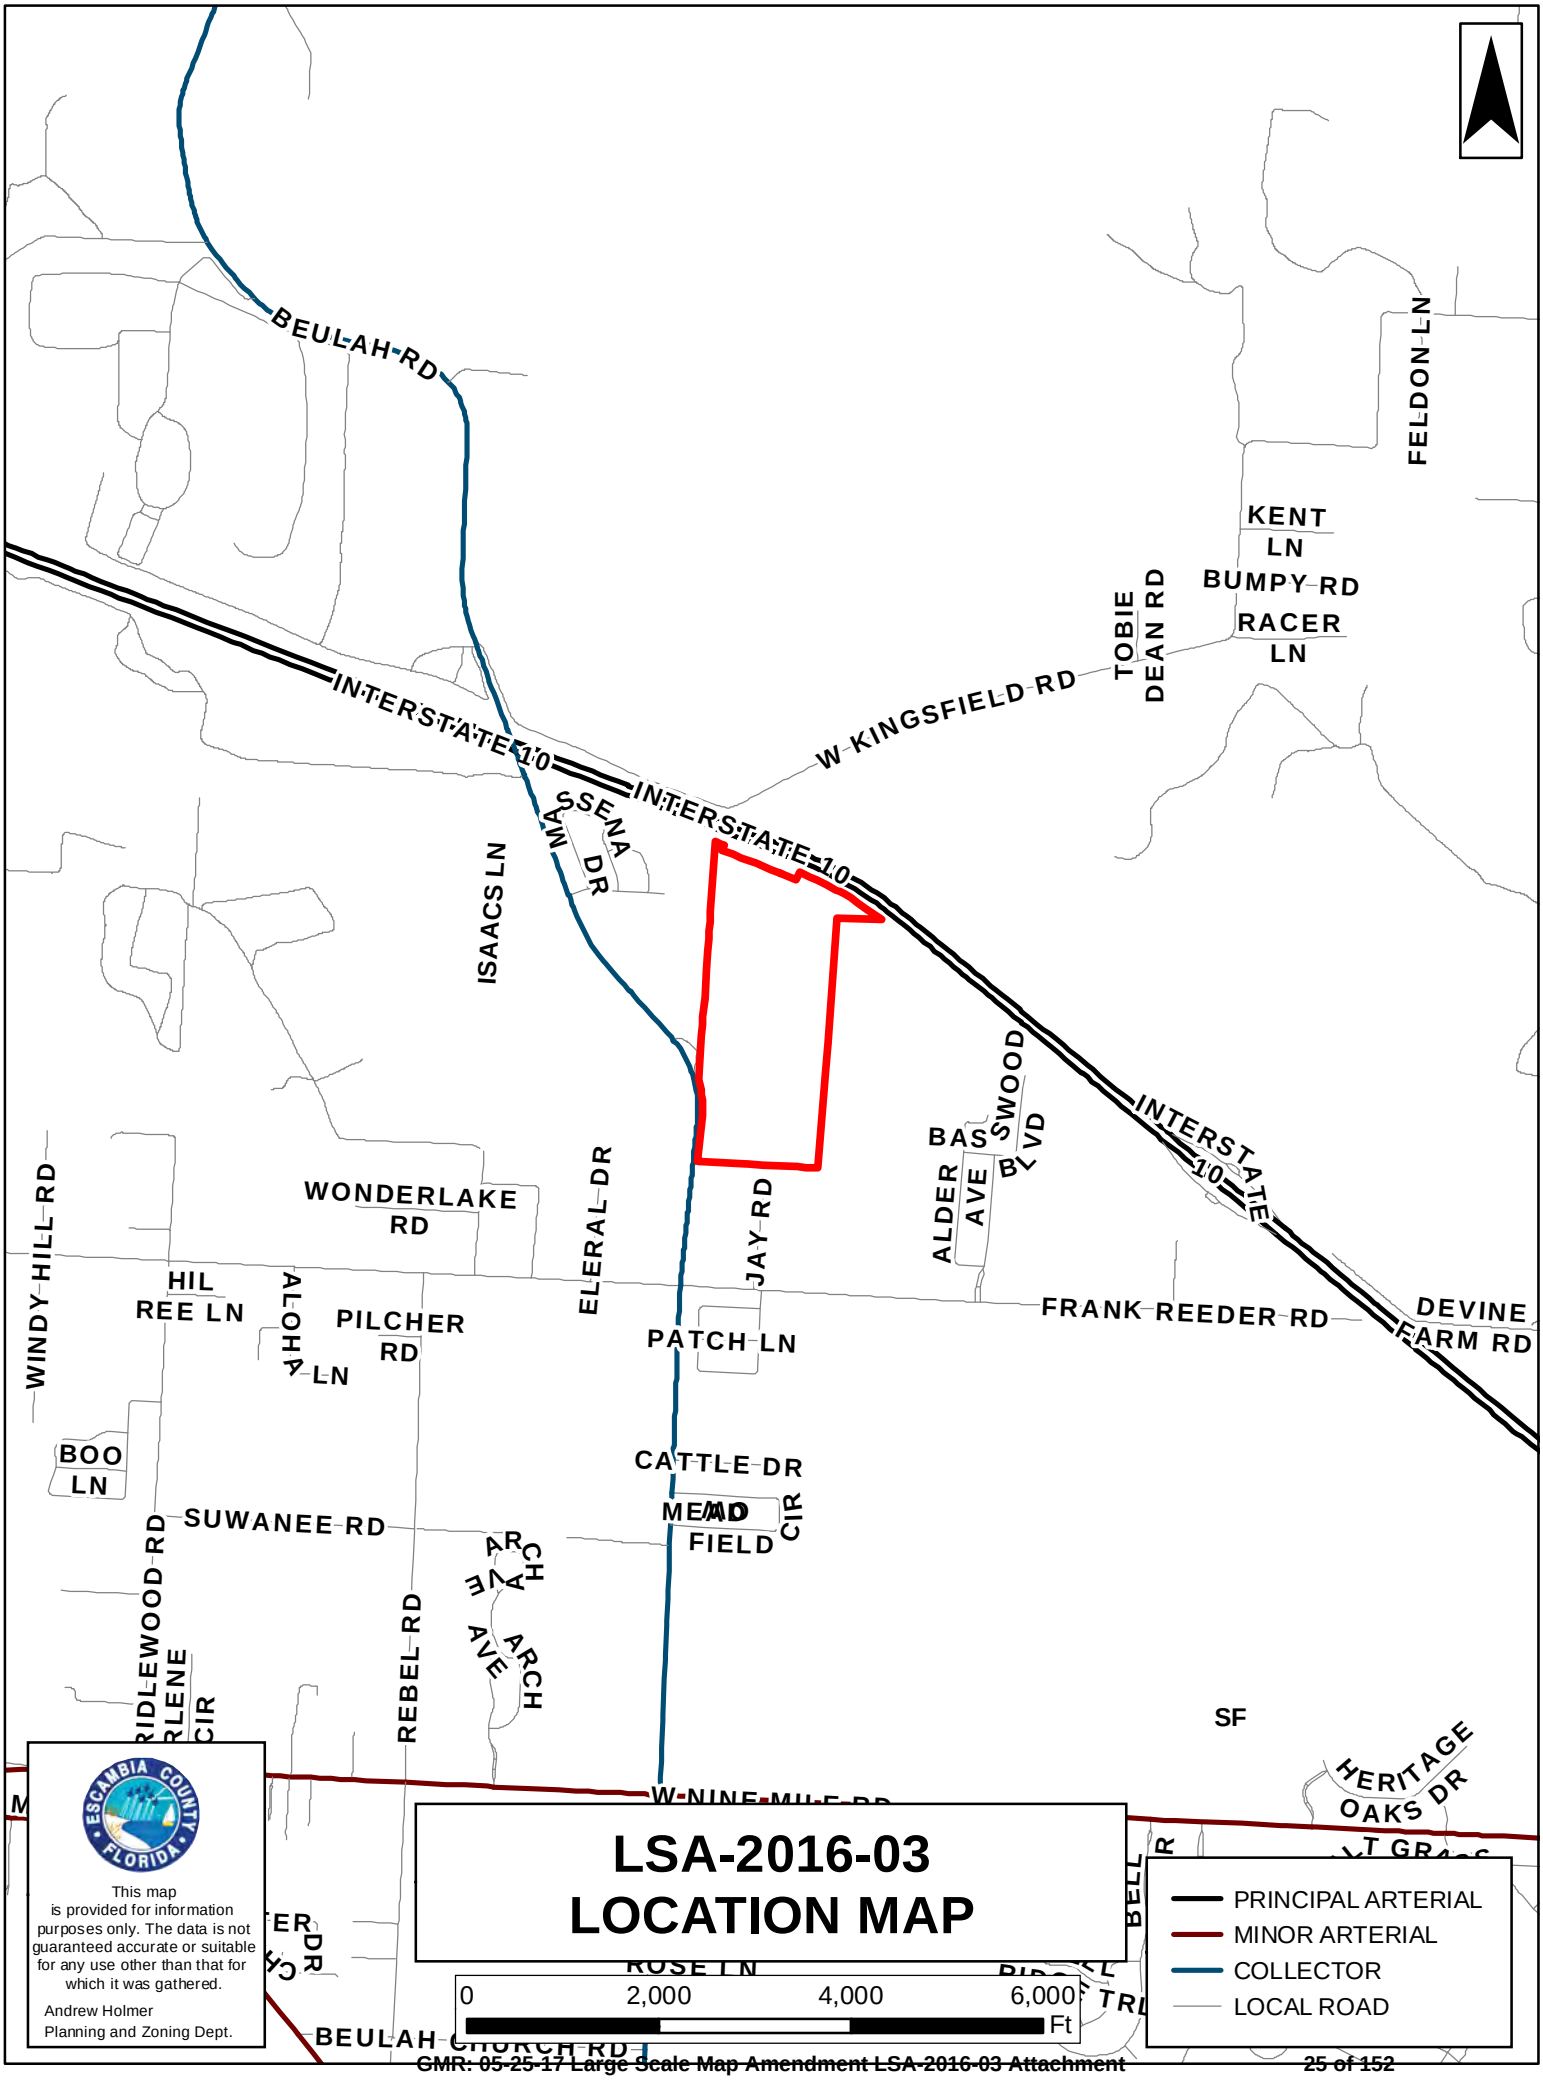
PERSONNEL:

No additional personnel are required for implementation of this Ordinance.

POLICY/REQUIREMENT FOR BOARD ACTION:

The proposed Ordinance is consistent with the Board's goal "to increase citizen involvement in, access to, and approval of, County government activities."

IMPLEMENTATION/COORDINATION:



This Ordinance, amending the Comprehensive Plan will be filed with the Department of State following adoption by the board.

Implementation of this Ordinance will consist of an amendment to the Comp Plan and distribution of a copy of the adopted Ordinance to interested citizens and staff.

The proposed Ordinance was prepared by the Development Services Department, in cooperation with the County Attorney's Office and all interested citizens. The Development Services Department will ensure proper advertisement.

Re: Application of Briar Ridge, LLC for FLUM Amendment and Rezoning

Dear Planning Board Members:

I represent Briar Ridge, LLC, and will be appearing on the company's behalf at the Planning Board meeting that will consider the referenced application. Forwarded with this cover letter is an Addendum to the Application. The Addendum provides factual information and legal analysis that is both relevant and important. I am providing this Addendum well in advance of the Planning Board hearing so that it can be reviewed by the Planning Board and its legal counsel, and by the Development Services Department staff, prior to the Planning Board hearing.

I encourage your legal counsel and the Development Services Department staff to let me know if there are additional question I should address in advance of the hearing.

Sincerely,

Jesse W. Rigby

ADDENDUM; SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION FOR PLANNING BOARD HEARING
ON APPLICATIONS OF BRIAR RIDGE, LLC
LSA 2016-03
REZONING Z-2016-11

Procedural History

The above referenced land use applications came before the Planning Board on December 6, 2016. Briar Ridge's applications had been fully briefed by the Development Services Department. At the beginning of the hearing, a question was raised as to whether the applications had been advertised properly. The issue surfaced because the applications referred to the entire parcel (approximately 93 acres), but the intent of the applications was to change the Future Land Use Map (FLUM) and zoning for less than 60 acres. The decision was made to re-advertise the hearing to reference the correct acreage.

Summary of Additional Factual and Legal Issues that Surfaced After the Planning Board Hearing

After additional review of the Staff analysis for Z-2016-11, the Manager of Briar Ridge, LLC ("Manager"), was made aware of the Staff comment under rezoning criterion (b) that development of the property for residential use would require the dedication of additional right-of-way ("ROW") along Issac Lane. The Staff report referred to dedication of 100 feet, but subsequent discussions with County Engineering and Transportation staff members increased the possible dedication of ROW to 300 feet.

The property subject to the applications is under contract to be sold for use as a subdivision consistent with LDR zoning. The sale price of the property is based on a 110 unit single-family lot subdivision. Loss of 300 feet for future ROW for development of Issac Lane would result in termination of the sale contract.

This problem led to my engagement by Briar Ridge, and then led to two meetings with senior county staff members. The first meeting was in December. The second meeting held in early January included the County Administrator. The first meeting allowed each side to set out their concerns and issues. The second meeting resulted in a detailed discussion of potential county needs and the demonstrable financial impact on Briar Ridge. Legal issues addressed below were also discussed, and in my opinion, both sides have a good understanding and appreciation of the legal issues.

The second meeting was productive, and although the County Administrator and his staff did not state any commitment, we believe the County's position on the issues will be defined prior to the Planning Board hearing.

Relevant Historical Facts

Although I am confident these facts will be described in more detail in the Staff Reports for LSA 2016-03 or Z-2016-11, I am providing a brief recitation of facts in this Addendum.

On December 13, 2007, the County adopted Ordinance 2007-81, which is referred to as the Corridor Preservation Ordinance. A copy of the complete records from the minutes of the BCC adoption is attached as Exhibit BR-1. The Ordinance refers to a ROW requirement for a "beltway" of 300 feet, and at Briar Ridge's first meeting with county staff, the demand for dedication of 300 feet remained on the table, although staff members said that the actual requirement might be less than 300 feet. At the second meeting, members of the County Transportation Department advised the attendees that the actual ROW need would be 104 feet, if the connector between Nine Mile Road and a new I-10 interchange is ever approved and built. We were also advised that a final decision on the interchange and a "beltway" is years away.

Briar Ridge bought the 93 acres from Heron's Forest Development Co. in February 2008. The principals in Heron's Forest provided no notice of the adoption of the Corridor Preservation Ordinance. We have confirmed that the principals—Garrett Walton and Dick Baker—had no knowledge of the adoption of the ordinance. A letter from Garrett and Dick is attached as Exhibit BR-2.

The Manager knew that the title insurance policy issued in 2008 did not disclose the County's Corridor Preservation Ordinance. To confirm whether this lack of information was a title insurance issue, in December 2016 Briar Ridge obtained an Ownership and Encumbrances report from Westcor Title. A copy of the cover letter to the O & E report is attached as Exhibit BR-3 (complete report of 142 pages is available). The easements of record found by Westcor are in favor of Gulf Power. Westcor did not find any reference in the Official Records of the County that would have provided notice to Briar Ridge that the Corridor Preservation Ordinance was imposed on its property.

Based on our investigation, our conclusion is that the County failure to record and index the Corridor Preservation Ordinance in the Official Records of the County, and the failure to give actual notice to the property owner, resulted in potential significant financial harm to Briar Ridge, depending on how the County responds to the pending requests for land use changes.

It would have been easy to give the owners of the Briar Ridge property constructive notice of the potential impact on the property. The first legal description in Ordinance 2007-81 of the property subjected to the corridor preservation includes all of the Briar Ridge property, plus some additional property. The land subjected to the "preservation" is not just 300 feet, but all 93 acres.

In an effort to provide the Planning Board with full disclosure, I have determined that the potential impact of Ordinance 2007-81 was raised by county transportation planners at the Planning Board hearing in 2014 that resulted in the change of the FLU for the property from MU-S to Industrial (LSA 2014-02) and the zoning from VAG-2 (1 unit per 5 acres) to ID-2 (Z-2014-12). Mr. Bolley ("Bo") Johnson, Manager of Briar Ridge, was not made aware of the discussion, and so this potential issue did not come to his attention until December 2016.

The most important information we can glean from the 2014 land use change hearings is that the County did not object to either the change in FLU from MU-S to Industrial, or the zoning change from VAG-2 to ID-2, although this undoubtedly increased the fair market value of the Briar Ridge property.

Another "fact" identified by County staff is that Issac Lane is a county maintained dirt road that is within the scope and coverage of Fla. Stat. 95.361. This statute has the effect of conveying fee simple title to the County of the county maintained portion of Issac Lane, subject to the county complying with procedural requirements. The exact width of the available (existing) ROW is believed by county staff to be between 20 and 29 feet. Therefore, the County has access today to at least 20 of the 104 feet needed, without cost to the county.

Adverse Impact on Briar Ridge if Forced to Donate 104 Feet ROW to the County

The sale contract is based on sale of the 56 acres for use as a residential subdivision of 110 single-family lots. This subdivision layout provides for a setback from the property boundary of 50 feet. Briar Ridge told the County Administrator that it will donate to the County this 50 feet, at no cost, upon final adoption of ordinances changing the FLU and zoning as requested. This donation will apply to the portion of the Briar Ridge property that abuts the 56 acres subject to the land use changes.

Dedication of the County of more than 50 feet would eliminate the western most row of lots from the current layout, resulting in a loss of 36 lots. The buyer has said it would consider developing the property at 74 lots, but only after a price reduction of $750,000. Therefore, at present the best available information is that the financial impact on Briar Ridge is $750,000.

Relevant Legal Analysis if the County Required Dedication of ROW as Consideration to Grant the FLUM Change to MU-S or the Rezoning to LDR

This submission is not intended to be a detailed legal analysis of the constitutional law issues. Ms. Meredith Crawford is aware, at least generally, of my position on this topic, and I am confident she will let the Planning Board know if there is a disagreement as to the relevant legal principles. The Florida and U. S. Supreme Court decisions on the subject being addressed are generally consistent.

In constitutional law cases, the requirement/demand by a local government that either a property owner or a developer dedicate, or donate, land in return for obtaining some form of land use approval, is commonly referred to as an "exaction." Up to a certain threshold, an "exaction" is constitutionally permissible, and is present in many subdivision developments. A requirement that an owner or developer donate land and install vehicle turn lanes and deceleration or acceleration traffic lanes is a common "exaction" that typically does not run afoul of constitutional prohibitions forbidding the taking of private property without the payment of "just compensation."

Although the body of federal and state case law is much broader than described in this Addendum, two of the more important cases are summarized below.

In Nollan v. California Coastal Commission, 483 U. S. 825 (1980), the U. S. Supreme Court held that with respect to a discretionary decision by a local government to issue a permit, the government can impose a condition on issuance of the permit (an exaction), without effecting a taking of property requiring the payment of "just compensation," if the condition "serves the same governmental purpose as the development ban." For example, the exaction of land from the property owner to use for a turn lane into a subdivision protects the public by reducing the danger to the public of motorists slowing down to turn into a new subdivision.

In Dolan v. City of Tigard, 512 U. S. 374 (1994), the Court held that for the Nollan exaction to be constitutional, there must be a "rough proportionality" between the condition (exaction) imposed and the impact of the proposed development. For example, the use of private land for a turn lane is roughly proportional to the impact of the subdivision, in most cases. However, the constitutionality might be in question if the turn lane is required to serve only a 5 lot subdivision.

The purpose behind these constitutional doctrines is to prevent government from forcing an individual property owner to bear financial burdens that should be borne by the public as a whole.

The importance of these cases to the Briar Ridge applications is that a required exaction (required dedication of 104 feet for ROW along Issac Lane would NOT have rational proportionality or relationship to the impact of the proposed development of the property. Instead, the purpose of the exaction by the County would be as stated in the staff report to the BCC for the adoption of Ordinance 2007-81. "This will alleviate negative impacts to future development or future roadway project cost. This Ordinance will also allow Escambia County to be more competitive for future Federal and State grants based on criteria created in 2006." Said more directly, if the County can prevent development and require dedication of the property, the cost of acquiring private property for a public purpose by use of eminent domain will be greatly reduced. This approach has been soundly condemned by the courts in two significant cases.

In Joint Ventures v. Fla. Dept. of Transportation, 563 So. 2d 622 (Fla. 1990), the Florida Supreme Court declared invalid a Florida statute that allowed DOT to file a "map of reservation" in public records; thereby prohibiting the issuance of building permits. The land at issue was needed by DOT for a stormwater facility to be built in conjunction with widening a highway. The recorded map of reservation imposed a setback from the centerline of a roadway, and within this setback permits could not be issued for development of the property. The purpose of the map was to prevent the development of property that might be needed in the future. Development of the property would make the property more expensive when the State was ready to acquire the property by eminent domain. The map of reservation statute was held to be invalid as a violation of the United States and Florida constitutions because it was an impermissible taking of private property without the payment of just compensation.

After Joint Ventures, FDOT shifted its pressure to local governments and asked them to act to preserve potential future ROW from development. The result was the adoption of ordinances by some local governments, like the adoption by Escambia County of Ordinance 2007-81, where the intent was to prevent land use changes within designated transportation corridor preservation areas; where the land use changes would potentially increase the future cost of acquiring the land by eminent domain. Probably the most notorious of these county ordinances was adopted in 2006 by Pasco County. A federal district judge described the Pasco scheme in the following manner, before declaring the ordinance unconstitutional.

> Preferring to avoid the payment of "just compensation" after acquiring the necessary land by eminent domain, Pasco County has hatched a novel and effective but constitutionally problematic idea, a most uncommon regulatory regime that is crowned by Pasco County's "Right of Way Preservation Ordinance." The unremarkable part of the regime designates new "transportation corridors," which expand certain Pasco County highways.
>
> For most landowners, whose land is encroached by the transportation corridor but who have no plans to develop the land adjacent to the encroached land, no immediate consequence (and no constitutional jeopardy) occurs; Pasco County will take the expanded right-of-way -- when needed -- by eminent domain and will pay "just compensation" as determined by a jury in a Pasco County circuit court.
> The remarkable part of the regime and the constitutional mischief appear in the instance of a landowner whose land is encroached by the new transportation corridor but who plans to develop the remaining land, which adjoins the encroachment. The Ordinance requires Pasco County to deny the landowner's development permit and to forbid development of the land adjoining the new transportation corridor unless the landowner "dedicates" (conveys in fee simple) to Pasco County -- for free -- the land within the new transportation corridor. In other words, to avoid the nettlesome payment of "just compensation," the Ordinance empowers Pasco County to purposefully leverage the permitting power to compel a landowner to dedicate land encroached by a transportation corridor. In Pasco County, if there is no free dedication, there is no permit.

> As the Pasco County Attorney proudly declares, "The right of way preservation ordinance drafted and defended by this office (which is one of only a few in the state) saves the County millions of dollars each year in right of way acquisition costs, business damages and severance damages." The bully result is effected by threatening to deny every proposed new use of private land, from medical clinic to beauty parlor, from restaurant to bait shop, and by coercing everyone, great and small, rich and poor, popular and unpopular, unless the landowner completes the mandatory "voluntary" dedication of real estate.

Hillcrest Property, LLP v. Pasco County, 939 F.Supp 2d 1240 (M.D. Fla. 2013).

Escambia County's Ordinance 2007-81 is not equivalent to the bold "land grab" of the Pasco ordinance; but it suffers from the same constitutional infirmity if the County actually imposes a requirement that Briar Ridge donate land, at no cost to the county.

The buyer of the Briar Ridge property built a 50 foot setback into its proposed development. Based on this action, Briar Ridge told the County Administrator that it will donate this 50 foot strip in fee simple to the County, and at no cost, if the future land use and rezoning is approved. This runs along the boundary of the 56 acres subject to the application.

We submit there is no lawful objection to the requested future land use and rezoning applications. The County submitted its staff reports for the December Planning Board hearings. The reports are of record and no facts have changed since that submission by the County. A decision by the County to now recommend denial of either application would demonstrate that the County is seeking to go down the forbidden path taken by Pasco County.

Exh BR-1

BCC Special Session: 12-13-2007

BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
Escambia County, Florida

DEPARTMENT: Planning and Engineering

FROM: T. Lloyd Kerr, AICP, Director

DATE: December 10, 2007

ISSUE: 8:48 am Thursday, December 13, 2007 Public Hearing
Comprehensive Plan Amendment (CPA 2007-02D)

RECOMMENDATION:

That the Board review and adopt the following:

Comprehensive Plan Amendment, CPA 2007-02D Transportation Corridor Preservation Ordinance, composed of a draft ordinance and attachments herein, to amend Part II of The Escambia County Code of Ordinances (1999), The Escambia County Comprehensive Plan, as amended; amending portions thereof as follows:

Comprehensive Plan text amendment, amending Chapter 8, "Transportation Element" providing for references to the protection of transportation corridors.

BACKGROUND:

In establishing the Twenty Year "Cost Feasible" Plan, the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) and the FL-AL Transportation Planning Organization (TPO) have requested local governments implement measures to ensure roadway projects remain "cost feasible".

The primary concerns, based on past roadway capacity projects, are that local governments reduce the impact of development adjacent to a future corridor improvement projects and reduce land use intensities which may increase the cost of needed right-of-way. Both concerns have and will continue to add a substantial cost to planned projects prior to construction.

This Ordinance, by intent, is to ensure that future development and future roadway projects do not conflict with each other in order to meet future Transportation Level of Service demands. This will alleviate negative impacts to future development or future roadway project cost. This Ordinance will also allow Escambia County to be more competitive for future Federal and State grants based on criteria created in 2006.

The transmittal hearing was held August 2, 2007 where the amendment and ordinance were approved by the BCC and forwarded to DCA. County staff received the DCA

8:48 a.m. PH

Objection, Recommendation and Comments Report on October 24, 2007. Staff is recommending adoption of the ordinance with no changes.

This is part of the second of the two Comprehensive Plan Amendment packages allowed by Florida Statute for the Year 2007.

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

No budgetary impacts are expected by the approval of this amendment.

LEGAL CONSIDERATION/SIGN-OFF:

The attached ordinance was reviewed and approved for legal sufficiency by Alison P. Rogers, Deputy County Attorney. Any suggested legal comments are attached herein with the respective ordinance to which they pertain.

PERSONNEL:

No additional personnel are anticipated for the implementation of this amendment.

POLICY/REQUIREMENT FOR BOARD ACTION/DISCUSSION:

The amendment is consistent with State Statutes (F.S. 163.3161 through 163.3215), Florida Administrative Code 9J-5 and with the Board's goal " to increase citizen involvement in, access to, and approval of, County government activities."

IMPLEMENTATION REQUIREMENTS:

Following adoption public hearings and upon recommended approval by the Planning Board and Board of County Commissioners the amendment will be returned to DCA for approval. Upon approval, DCA will issue a Notice of Intent to find In Compliance, at which time the ordinance will be forwarded to the Municipal Code Corporation for codification in the Official Comprehensive Plan of Escambia County.

8:48 a.m. PH

COORDINATION WITH OTHER AGENCIES/PERSONS:

The proposed amendments were prepared in cooperation with the County Attorney's Office, the Planning and Engineering Department, Office of Transportation and Traffic Operations, and interested citizens. Planning & Engineering will insure proper advertisement.

ORDINANCE 2007-__

AN ORDINANCE OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, AMENDING PART II, OF THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY CODE OF ORDINANCES (1999), THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY COMPREHENSIVE PLAN, AS AMENDED; AMENDING CHAPTER 8, THE TRANSPORTATION ELEMENT; AMENDING OBJECTIVE 8.A.4 TO PROVIDE FOR PROTECTION OF PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; PROVIDING IN POLICY 8.A.4.1 THAT REZONINGS THAT PROPOSE AN INCREASE IN DENSITY OR INTENSITY OF USE SHALL BE DISCOURAGED IN DESIGNATED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; PROVIDING IN POLICY 8.A.4.2 FOR PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR AND RIGHT-OF-WAY PROTECTIONS AND ACQUISITIONS; CREATING A NEW POLICY 8.A.4.4 TO ESTABLISH PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; DESIGNATING THE BEULAH EXPRESSWAY AS A PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; PROVIDING FOR INCLUSION IN THE CODE; AND PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

WHEREAS, pursuant to Chapter 163, Part II, Florida Statutes, Escambia County adopted its Comprehensive Plan on October 20, 1993; and,

WHEREAS, Chapter 125, Florida Statutes, empowers the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida to prepare, amend, and enforce comprehensive plans for the development of the County; and,

WHEREAS, the Escambia County Planning Board (LPA) and the Board of County Commissioners have conducted public hearings and reviewed and approved the changes to the Plan and authorized the transmittal of the proposed changes to the Florida Department of Community Affairs (DCA) for review and comment prior to considering the changes (amendments) for adoption; and,

8:48 a.m. PH

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners, Escambia County, Florida finds that the adoption of these amendments is in the best interest of the County and its citizens.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida as follows:

Section 1. Purpose and Intent.

This Ordinance is enacted to carry out the purpose and intent of, and exercise the authority set out, in the Local Government Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Regulation Act, sections 163.3161 through 163.3215, Fla. Stat. and Chapter 9J-5, Florida Administrative Code.

Section 2. Title of Comprehensive Plan Amendment.

This Comprehensive Plan Amendment for Escambia County, Florida shall be entitled "Comprehensive Plan Amendment 2007-02D - Transportation Corridor Preservation."

Section 3. Changes to the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan.

Part II of the Escambia County Code of Ordinances (1999), the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan, as Amended, is further amended as set forth hereto and made part hereof to include changes as follows:

OBJECTIVE 8.A.4: TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR AND RIGHT-OF-WAY PROTECTION

Continually, the county shall provide for the protection of proposed transportation corridors as well as existing and future rights-of-way from encroachment by including appropriate regulations within the LDC (reference

8:48 a.m. PH

Policy 7.A.1.1) and implementing Policies 8.A.4.1 through ~~8.A.4.3~~ 8.A.4.4 among others.

Policy 8.A.4.1: Rezonings and Zoning Setback Enforcement

The county shall continue to enforce its zoning ordinance and include said ordinance within the LDC. Note: The zoning ordinance contains setback provisions, which will aid in the protection of existing and future rights-of-way, including transportation corridors, from building encroachment ~~in the "zoned" areas of the county~~. The County shall regulate density and intensity within the existing or designated transportation corridor areas that may interfere with right-of-way needs. Prior to completion of a Project Development and Environmental Impact (PD&E) study for a capacity improvement project, standard right-of-way will be considered as follows:

Major Collectors	80'
Major Arterials	125'
Beltways	300'

Policy 8.A.4.2: Right-of-Way Protection for Existing and Planned Roadways

The county shall require the set aside of right-of-way necessary to comply with programmed roadway widening or, as necessary, for proposed transportation corridors.

Policy 8.A.4.3: Scenic Roadways

Because of their unique scenic character, and related historic and tourist significance, Scenic Highway (SR-10A) and Perdido Key Drive (SR 292) are designated "scenic roadways." Parcels adjacent to these rights-of-way shall be the subject of special sign controls in the LDC.

Policy 8.A.4.4: Proposed Transportation Corridors

The County shall make efforts to inform the public about the location of proposed transportation corridors. Such proposed transportation corridors are to be initially designated in this section, the adopted Transportation Planning Organization's "Cost Feasible Plan", the proposed or adopted County Capital Improvement Plan or in any proposed or adopted DRI or development plan. Transportation corridor protection regulations shall be incorporated in the LDC.

The Beulah Expressway is designated as a proposed transportation corridor. Maps and descriptions of the proposed north/south corridor and the east/west connecting corridors are on file as Exhibits A and B to Ordinance 2007-02D.

Section 4. SEVERABILITY.

It is declared the intent of the Board of County Commissioners that if any subsection, clause, sentence, provision or phrase of this Ordinance is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by a Court of competent jurisdiction, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not be so construed as to render invalid or unconstitutional the remaining provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 5. INCLUSION IN THE CODE.

It is the intention of the Board of County Commissioners that the provisions of this Ordinance shall become and be made a part of the Escambia County Code; and that the sections of this Ordinance may be renumbered or relettered and the word "ordinance" may be changed to "section," "article," or such other appropriate word or phrase in order to accomplish such intentions.

Section 6. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This effective date of this plan amendment shall be: The date a final order is issued by the Department of Community Affairs finding the amendment to be in compliance in accordance with Chapter 163.3184 Fla. Stat., or the date a final order is issued by the Administration Commission finding the amendment to be in compliance in accordance with Section 163.3184, Fla. Stat.

ORDINANCE 2007-81

AN ORDINANCE OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, AMENDING PART II, OF THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY CODE OF ORDINANCES (1999), THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY COMPREHENSIVE PLAN, AS AMENDED; AMENDING CHAPTER 8, THE TRANSPORTATION ELEMENT; AMENDING OBJECTIVE 8.A.4 TO PROVIDE FOR PROTECTION OF PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; PROVIDING IN POLICY 8.A.4.1 THAT REZONINGS THAT PROPOSE AN INCREASE IN DENSITY OR INTENSITY OF USE SHALL BE DISCOURAGED IN DESIGNATED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; PROVIDING IN POLICY 8.A.4.2 FOR PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR AND RIGHT-OF-WAY PROTECTIONS AND ACQUISITIONS; CREATING A NEW POLICY 8.A.4.4 TO ESTABLISH PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; DESIGNATING THE BEULAH EXPRESSWAY AS A PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; PROVIDING FOR INCLUSION IN THE CODE; AND PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

Date: 12/17/2007 Verified By: Dfpuiu

WHEREAS, pursuant to Chapter 163, Part II, Florida Statutes, Escambia County adopted its Comprehensive Plan on October 20, 1993; and,

WHEREAS, Chapter 125, Florida Statutes, empowers the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida to prepare, amend, and enforce comprehensive plans for the development of the County; and,

WHEREAS, the Escambia County Planning Board (LPA) and the Board of County Commissioners have conducted public hearings and reviewed and approved the changes to the Plan and authorized the transmittal of the proposed changes to the Florida Department of Community Affairs (DCA) for review and comment prior to considering the changes (amendments) for adoption; and,

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners, Escambia County, Florida finds that the adoption of these amendments is in the best interest of the County and its citizens.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida as follows:

Section 1. Purpose and Intent.

This Ordinance is enacted to carry out the purpose and intent of, and exercise the authority set out, in the Local Government Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Regulation Act, sections 163.3161 through 163.3215, Fla. Stat. and Chapter 9J-5, Florida Administrative Code.

Section 2. Title of Comprehensive Plan Amendment.

This Comprehensive Plan Amendment for Escambia County, Florida shall be entitled "Comprehensive Plan Amendment 2007-02D - Transportation Corridor Preservation."

Section 3. Changes to the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan.

Part II of the Escambia County Code of Ordinances (1999), the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan, as Amended, is further amended as set forth hereto and made part hereof to include changes as follows:

OBJECTIVE 8.A.4: TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR AND RIGHT-OF-WAY PROTECTION

Continually, the county shall provide for the protection of proposed transportation corridors as well as existing and future rights-of-way from encroachment by including appropriate regulations within the LDC (reference Policy 7.A.1.1) and implementing Policies 8.A.4.1 through ~~8.A.4.3~~ 8.A.4.4 among others.

Policy 8.A.4.1: Rezonings and Zoning Setback Enforcement

The county shall continue to enforce its zoning ordinance and include said ordinance within the LDC. Note: The zoning ordinance contains setback provisions, which will aid in the protection of existing and future rights-of-way, including transportation corridors, from building encroachment ~~in the "zoned" areas of the county~~. The County shall regulate density and intensity within the existing or designated transportation corridor areas that may interfere with right-of-way needs. Prior to completion of a Project Development and Environmental Impact (PD&E) study for a capacity improvement project, standard right-of-way will be considered as follows:

Major Collectors	80'
Major Arterials	125'
Beltways	300'

Policy 8.A.4.2: Right-of-Way Protection for Existing and Planned Roadways

The county shall require the set aside of right-of-way necessary to comply with programmed roadway widening or, as necessary, for proposed transportation corridors.

Policy 8.A.4.3: Scenic Roadways

Because of their unique scenic character, and related historic and tourist significance, Scenic Highway (SR-10A) and Perdido Key Drive (SR 292) are designated "scenic roadways." Parcels adjacent to these rights-of-way shall be the subject of special sign controls in the LDC.

Policy 8.A.4.4: Proposed Transportation Corridors

The County shall make efforts to inform the public about the location of proposed transportation corridors. Such proposed transportation corridors are to be initially designated in this section, the adopted Transportation Planning Organization's "Cost Feasible Plan", the proposed or adopted County Capital Improvement Plan or in any proposed or adopted DRI or development plan. Transportation corridor protection regulations shall be incorporated in the LDC.

The Beulah Expressway is designated as a proposed transportation corridor. Maps and descriptions of the proposed north/south corridor and the east/west connecting corridors are on file as Exhibits A and B to Ordinance 2007-02D.

Section 4. SEVERABILITY.

It is declared the intent of the Board of County Commissioners that if any subsection, clause, sentence, provision or phrase of this Ordinance is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by a Court of competent jurisdiction, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not be so construed as to render invalid or unconstitutional the remaining provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 5. INCLUSION IN THE CODE.

It is the intention of the Board of County Commissioners that the provisions of this Ordinance shall become and be made a part of the Escambia County Code; and that the sections of this Ordinance may be renumbered or

relettered and the word "ordinance" may be changed to "section," "article," or such other appropriate word or phrase in order to accomplish such intentions.

Section 6. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This effective date of this plan amendment shall be: The date a final order is issued by the Department of Community Affairs finding the amendment to be in compliance in accordance with Chapter 163.3184 Fla. Stat., or the date a final order is issued by the Administration Commission finding the amendment to be in compliance in accordance with Section 163.3184, Fla. Stat.

Re: Beulah property

Dear Bo,

This letter is in reference to a tract of land in Section 34, Township 1 North, Range 31 West, Escambia County that Herons Forest Development Company (which is now dissolved, but was active at all times pertinent to the matter at hand, and the undersigned were it's only officers, directors and shareholders at that time) conveyed to Briar Ridge, LLC, on February 8, 2008, by instrument recorded in O.R. Book 6285, Page 1699, of the Public Records od Escambia County (the "Subject Property").

Neither of us has any recollection of any notice, letter or other communication of any kind from Escambia County, or any Escambia County official or employee, concerning the Subject Property relating to a rezoning, taking, condemnation, imposition of an easement or reservation, regulation of use, or similar prior to the conveyance detailed above. Further, being in the real estate business, both of us were always attentive to communications and regulations from local governments. Let there be no doubt that any communication from Escambia County about any changed land use regulation of the Subject Property would have been memorable, and not overlooked or forgotten.

Either, or both, of us will be pleased to answer any further questions you or others might have concerning this matter.

Sincerely,

Richard R. Baker

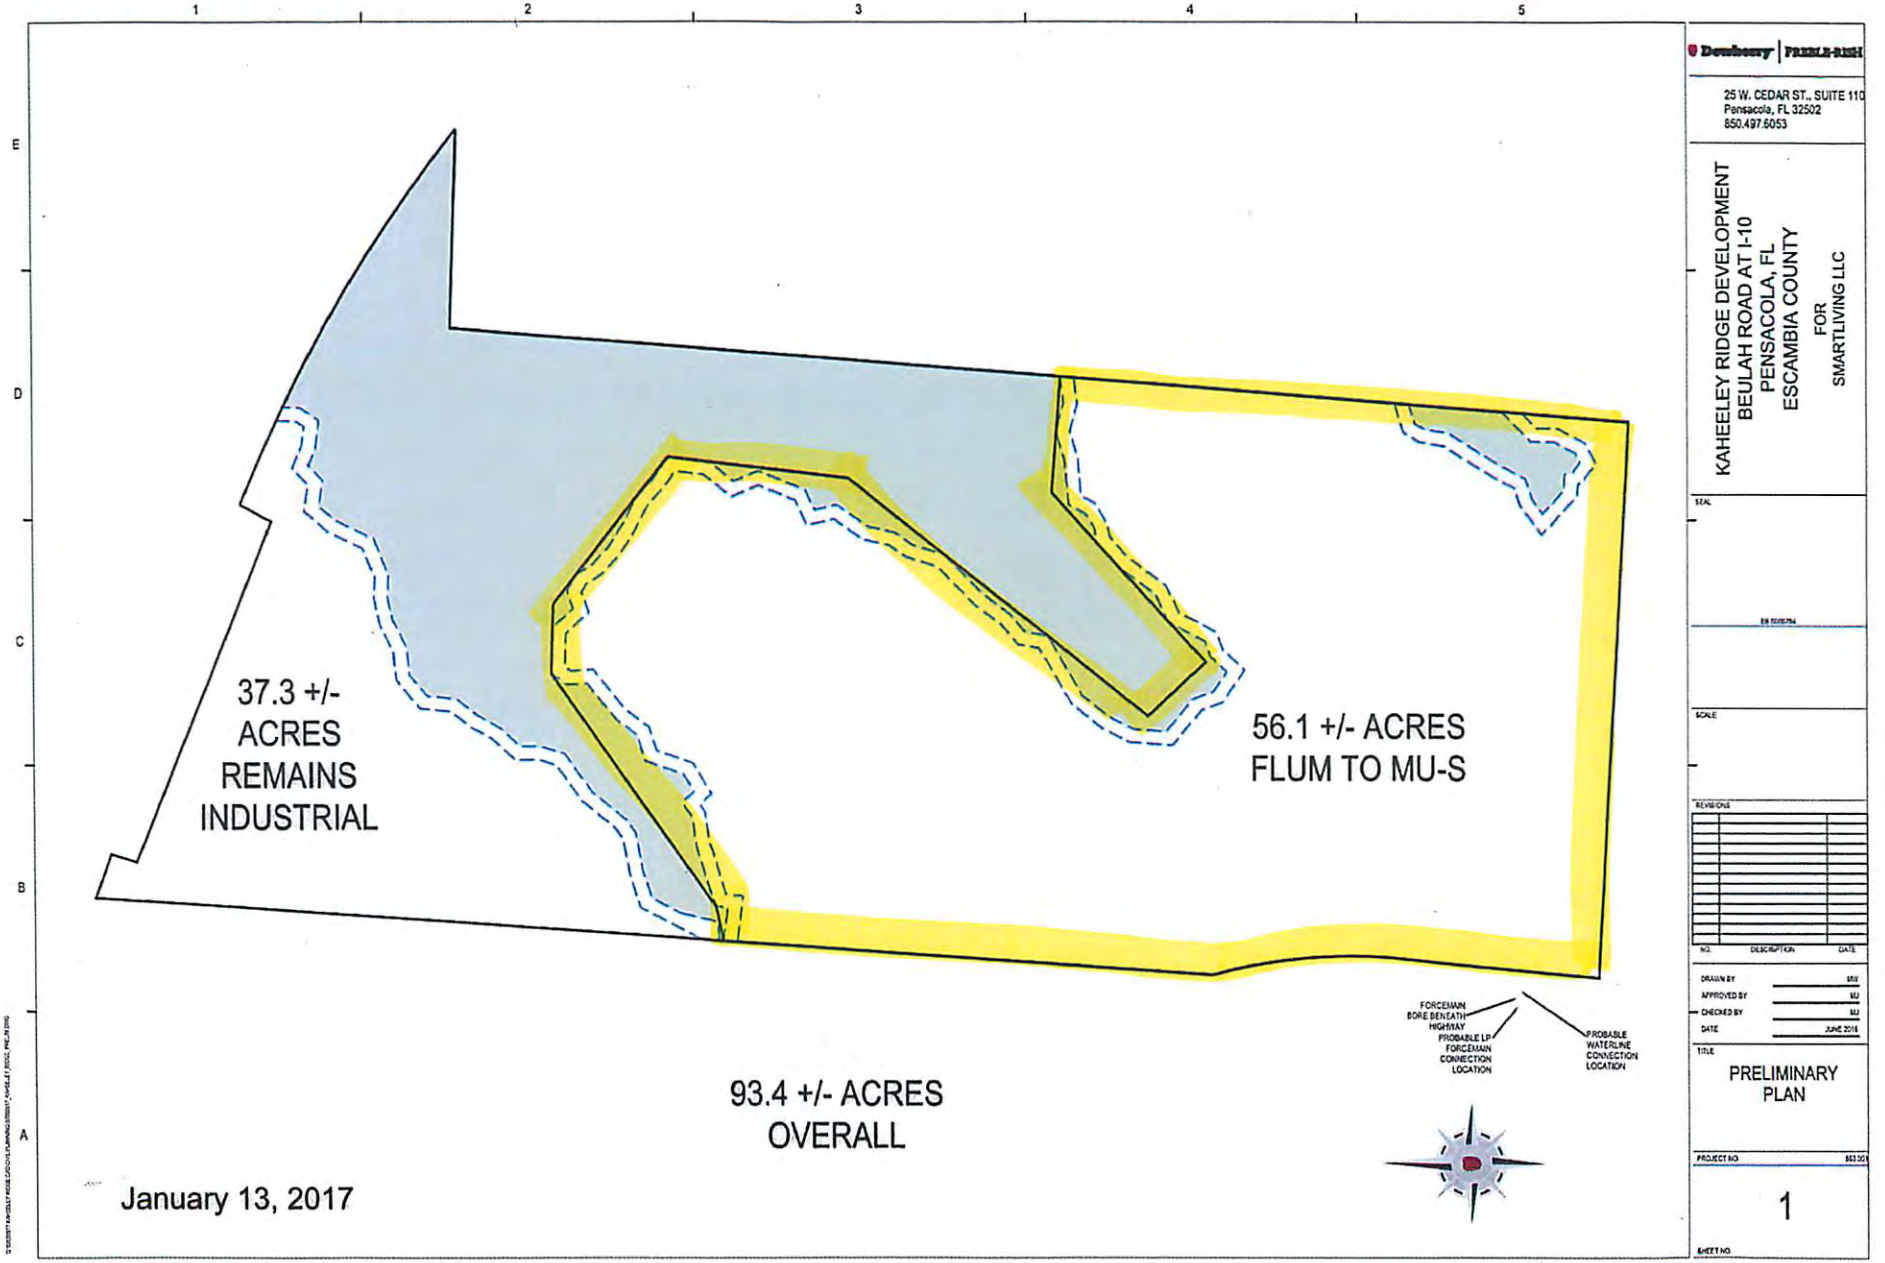
RE: Letter of Request – 56 +/- Acre Site FLU Change

To Whom It May Concern:

We respectively request the property described herein be granted the change of Future Land Use to MU-S as depicted on ATTACHMENT A. The parcel previously held a Future Land use for residential prior to a land use change and rezoning that predated the recent real estate recession.



In the current adjusted market and following current development trends in the area, the subject property would be more appropriately used a single family residential. Much new development has occurred along Beulah Road over the past 6-8 years and this area in the western portion of the county continues to be the leader in new construction activities. The largest development on east end of Nine Mile Road continues to be the expanding Navy Federal Credit Union Campus. Navy Federal has relocated a facility to the site and will soon be the largest single employer in Escambia County, announcing in October of 2016 a plan to grow another 54 percent over the next five years. Ground breaking has occurred and much of the expansion is currently underway. This Nine Mile Road corridor of the county continues to be the strongest developing portion of the area which will further increase the housing demand.

Thank you for consideration of our application and we trust you will find sufficient documentation supporting our request.

Sincerely,

Joe A. Rector, Jr.
Senior Associate

FUTURE LAND USE MAP AMENDMENT APPLICATION

(Revised 06/05/16)

INSTRUCTIONS

Please contact our office at (595-3475) to make an appointment with a Planner to personally discuss your site and prospective plans for it, and to review the application form with you to answer any questions you may have.

It is important for the application packet to be complete and on time in order to process and schedule your request for the required public hearing(s). The Planning Board holds public hearings once a month. Application closing dates for these hearings are provided in the attached schedule (Attachment A). In order for your application to move through the process in a timely manner, it is important for all items on the application to be completed. Incorrect or missing information could delay the hearing of your request. NOTE: The applicant, or his/her agent, must be present at the Planning Board meeting. It is also highly recommended that he or she be present at the subsequent Board of County Commissioners meeting.

An application is not considered complete until all of the items listed on the Future Land Use Map Amendment Application Checklist (attached herein) are received.

Please note the completion and notarized certification(s) required herein. The owner and/or agent acting in his/her behalf, must sign the certification(s) where indicated on the application. Signatures must be properly notarized. If an agent is handling the request, the owner must sign the application and submit an Affidavit of Ownership & Limited Power of Attorney (attached herein) authorizing said agent to act in his/her behalf.

FEES: An application fee of $2,969.50 for a large-scale amendment and $2,122.50 for a small-scale amendment. For a large-scale amendment only, a $1000.00 advertising deposit is required upon application submittal. Applications should be accompanied by a check made payable to Escambia County and submitted prior to 3:00 p.m. no later than the closing date for acceptance of applications. In addition, the applicant and agent are responsible for payment of advertisement fees for required public hearings and any remedial reports or analyses which may be required (in accordance with the Escambia County Land Development Code, Chapter 2, Section 2-7.3). An estimated minimum cost of advertisement fees for two public hearings is $1200.00; however, additional hearings may be required. The exact amount will be billed to the applicant and agent after the newspaper has agreed to run the ad(s). Should applicant fail to submit final payment within 90 days of invoice date (refer to Affidavit of Ownership and FLU Change Request) for advertising costs, agent and applicant may be temporarily suspended from submitting projects until advertising fee balance has been paid in full.

Please remember, the Planning Board meets only once a month. Applications received after the deadline for a particular meeting will not be heard until the following meeting.

NOTE: Whenever an applicant would like any County Staff member to appear and testify at a hearing other than the normal public hearings required to process your request, a minimum notification of 5-10 days to the individual staff member and the Development Services Department is required in advance of the hearing.

I/We acknowledge and agree that no future development permit (other than a rezoning/reclassification) shall be approved for the subject parcel(s) prior to the issuance of a certificate of concurrency for such proposed development based on the densities and intensities contained within such future development permit application.

I/We also acknowledge and agree that no development permit or order (other than a rezoning /reclassification) will be issued at that time unless at least one of the concurrency management system standards is met as contained in the Escambia County Code of Ordinances, Part II, Section 6.04, namely:

(1) The necessary facilities and services are in place at the time a development permit is issued; or

(2) A development permit is issued subject to the condition that the necessary facilities and services will be in place when the impacts of the development occur; or

(3) The necessary facilities are under construction at the time a permit is issued; or

(4) The necessary facilities and services are the subject of a binding executed contract for the construction of the facilities or the provision of services at the time the development permit is issued. NOTE: This provision only relates to parks and recreation facilities and roads. The LDC will include a requirement that the provision or construction of the facility or service must commence within one (1) year of the Development Order or Permit; or

(5) The necessary facilities and services are guaranteed in an enforceable development agreement. An enforceable development agreement may include, but is not limited to, development agreements pursuant to Section 163.320, Florida Statutes or an agreement or development order issued pursuant to Chapter 380, Florida Statutes. Any such agreement shall include provisions pursuant to paragraphs 1, 2, or 3 above.

(6) The necessary facilities needed to serve new development are in place or under actual construction no more than three (3) years after issuance, by the County, of a certificate of occupancy or its functional equivalent. NOTE: This provision only relates to roads.

I HEREBY ACKNOWLEDGE THAT I HAVE READ, UNDERSTAND AND AGREE WITH THE ABOVE STATEMENT ON THIS 13th DAY OF JANUARY, 20 17

DATA AND ANALYSIS REQUIREMENTS

1. A comparative analysis of the impact of both the current and the proposed future land use categories on the following items, presented in tabular format, based on data taken from professionally accepted existing sources, such as the US Census, State University System of Florida, National Wetland Inventory Maps, regional planning councils, water management districts, or existing technical studies. The data should show that the infrastructure is available to support the most intense development allowed under the requested Future Land Use category, regardless of what type of development is proposed.

    A. Sanitary Sewer

    B. Solid Waste Disposal

    C. Potable Water

    D. Stormwater Management

    E. Traffic

    F. Recreation and Open Space

    G. Schools

    The data and analysis should also support the requested future land use category by reflecting a need for that category. For example, a future land use request from Agricultural to Residential would need an analysis demonstrating the need for additional Residential acreage in the County.

2. Proximity to and impact on the following:

    A. Wellheads (indicate distance and location to nearest wellhead)

    B. Historically significant sites (available from University of West Florida)

    C. Natural Resources, including wetlands (a wetlands survey is highly recommended if wetlands are located on the property)

3. An analysis of consistency with the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan, with reference to applicable sections therein

Data and Analysis

56 +/- Acre Beulah Road Proposed Residential Development

Pensacola, Florida

The subject site is accessible from Beulah Road and Isaac Lane from the west. The property is located along the southerly right-of-way of I-10 (see location maps), and is adjacent to the proposed Beulah Expressway corridor. The site is approximate one and one-quarter mile north of W. Nine Mile Road which is a multi-lane facility designated as a hurricane evacuation route and the W. Nine Mile Road and Beulah Road intersection contains decell/accell lanes and dedicated turn and acceleration lanes for east and west bound traffic exiting from W. Nine Mile Road (see location map). Beulah Road is a two lane minor collector roadway which is a part of the County's plan to designate Beulah Expressway as a proposed transportation corridor.

AREA GROWTH CORRIDOR: Much new development has occurred along Beulah Road over the past 6-8 years and this area in the western portion of the county continues to be the leader in new construction activities. The largest development on east end of Nine Mile Road continues to be the expanding Navy Federal Credit Union Campus. Navy Federal has relocated a facility to the site and will soon be the largest single employer in Escambia County, announcing in October of 2016 a plan to grow another 54 percent over the next five years. Ground breaking has occurred and much of the expansion is currently underway. This Nine Mile Road corridor of the county continues to be the strongest developing portion of the area which will further increase the housing demand. (See Attached)

UTILITY IMPACTS: A letter identifying potential development impacts on utility capacities including water, sanitary sewer and garbage collection, has been requested.

STORMWATER MANAGEMENT Topographical features show that the site is higher on the west end. As shown on the attached site/contour map, the southwesterly end was found to have an elevation of 130 feet, while the easterly edge of the site had an 86 feet elevation contour. With a 56' downhill gradient, the existing stormwater drainage pattern is from southwest to northeast. This is similar to the existing stormwater drainage system within Arbor Ridge Subdivision, located to west of the property, as evidenced by the location of the existing drainage pond located at the extreme northern end of the property.

The proposed stormwater design for the 56 acre site will include the use of pipe, curb and gutter and swales, among others. The collected stormwater will be directed into two large ponds running along the edge of the existing wetland. The northern and easterly end of the site has been designed to avoid any construction activities within areas that could potentially be classified as jurisdictional wetlands. Prior to any site activity these areas will be flagged by environmental scientists to precisely identify any plants, wetlands and any other flora/fauna of concern. The proposed stormwater plan will then be designed and submitted for review and approval by all appropriate county, state and federal regulatory offices.

TRAFFIC: Access to the site from the west will be from Beulah Road, and a second access point will likely be a connection from the site to Isaac Lane which is an existing county road that terminates at the southerly right-of-way of I-10. These connection points will be designed during the approval process to make necessary accommodations for the proposed Beulah Expressway corridor. As shown on the attached access map, the single family lots will have two ingress/egress points.

RECREATION AND OPEN SPACE: The site is located just 2.4 miles from the Beulah Regional Park as well as the Escambia County Equestrian Center. (See Attached). It is anticipated that existing facilities have sufficient capacity to meet the recreation and open space needs of this proposed new development.

SCHOOLS: A letter identifying potential development impacts on the area school facilities has been requested. Schools of potential impact include:

Grades 4 - 5: PINE MEADOW ELEMENTARY

Navy Federal adds space for thousands of workers

Navy Federal Credit Union is bursting at the seams.

With 4,500 employees at its 9 Mile Road campus and an additional 700 at leased space in Milton and on Pace Boulevard, the Pensacola location of the world's largest credit union can't grow fast enough.

The first phase of an almost 1.5 million square foot expansion project is scheduled to open next summer, providing more than 400,000 square feet of space. The offices, parking facilities, energy plant and infrastructure will provide capacity for 2,000 employees at a price tag of $245 million.

But that will serve as the appetizer to the main dish, a 1.1 million square foot, $594 million second phase that will add capacity for 5,000 more employees. Construction will begin next month and there is an expected completion in late 2018 or early 2019.

Navy Federal is pushing toward the 10,000 mark of local employees by the year 2020.

Escambia County Beulah Beltway/I-10 Interchange Project

+A -A

Escambia County has solicited the services of Atkins Global, Inc. to conduct the Corridor Feasibility Study (CFS) and subsequent PD&E Study for the Beulah Beltway. The Beltway purposes the widening of Beulah Road from Nine Mile Road north to I-10 with the construction of a new interchange at I-10, then a new roadway from I-10 North to US 29. While Escambia County and Atkins work through the CFS and PD&E Study phases to meet NEPA standards, the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) is conducting the required Interchange Justification Report (IJR) to meet NEPA standards. The IJR is a report that will essentially determine where the new interchange will be located along I-10. FDOT has solicited the services of Parsons Transportation Group to conduct the IJR. Parsons and Atkins are working collaboratively to ensure proper planning.

County staff is working with Atkins to begin the Environmental Assessment (EA) phase for the southern portion of the project while concurrently undergoing the Environment Impact Statement (EIS) for the northern portion. Once the EA & EIS are complete, the county will begin design, right of way acquisition and then construction of the project.

The Escambia County BCC is seeking to expedite the project all the while meeting all necessary NEPA requirements as this is a high priority project for many. If funding is allocated, the county anticipates construction to be complete in 2027 with the hopes of completing the southern segment and I-10 interchange by 2023-2025.

Re: Letter of Capacity Reservation
Kaheeley Ridge Subdivision-11975 Beulah Road

Dear Mr. Jones:

In response to your inquiry concerning availability of water and sewer services for the above referenced project, ECUA anticipates no problems in water supply or sewage treatment plant capacity. Our review indicates this project will not degrade ECUA's water and sewer systems to a degree which would cause these systems to fail to meet the adopted levels of service as defined in the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan.

For the purpose of concurrency review, ECUA will guarantee the availability of water and sewer system capacity up to the requested demand and flow for a period not to exceed one year from the date of this letter. The administration of the Concurrency Review Process is the sole responsibility of Escambia County. This letter is provided to assist in that process.

Connection of the proposed project to ECUA's systems is the responsibility of the developer. Extensions to the ECUA potable water distribution and sewage collection systems to serve this project must be designed, approved, and constructed in accordance with ECUA's policies and procedures and all applicable permitting requirements. Wastewater capacity impact fees are due and payable prior to issuance of building permits. Water capacity impact fees are due prior to actual connection to the ECUA system.

Sincerely,

William E. Johnson, Jr., PE/LS

The Escambia County Equestrian Center, a 151-acre park, serves as a multi-use event facility. The center hosts numerous horse shows, supporting both English and Western style equine events, Rodeos, dog shows, runs, festivals, and other types of events.

About The Escambia County Equestrian Center

On March 18, 1999, the Board of County Commissioners adopted the Escambia County Parks & Recreation Comprehensive Master Plan, which included a multi-use facility to host horse and agricultural events. Groundbreaking for the new multi-million dollar facility was held February 5, 2001.

The Escambia County Equestrian Center hosted its first event in April of 2002. The first large event of note was the Tate High School FFA Rodeo, which brought approximately 10,000 spectators to the new facility in May of 2002. This event is still going strong and still held at the center. The center continues to attract local and out-of-area equine and dog enthusiasts in large numbers.

Other events held at the facility include equine clinics and symposiums, BeulahFest, Association of Realtors Roundup, Monster Truck Show, Motocross Events, Santa Hay Ride, Flea Market, and Classic Car Unit Shriner's Rodeo. These events bring approximately 200,000 spectators and participants each year to the Equestrian Center. In the future there are plans to add additional programs such as weddings, summer camps, dog training, and riding lessons, bringing in an even more diverse group of participants.

The American Kennel Club voted the Escambia County Equestrian Center as The Best Facility in the Southeast. Florida Parks and Recreation Association showcased the facility in the FRPA Journal in 2004. The National Association of County Parks and Recreation Officials selected the Escambia County Equestrian Center as a 2004 Parks & Recreation Class III Facility Award winner. As the facility grows and improves, we will continue to win accolades and awards and to draw even larger events and crowds.

our location

The Escambia County Equestrian Center, in Pensacola, FL, is ideally situated for equine-related events. We are a very short drive off Interstate 10, making us an easy reach for competitors throughout the southeast.

Drive times from southeast locations:

- New Orleans, LA - 200 miles/3 hours
- Birmingham, AL - 250 miles/4 hours
- Atlanta, GA - 325 miles/5 hours
- Jacksonville, FL - 350 miles/5 hours
- Ocala, FL - 375 miles/5.5 hours
- Nashville, TN - 450 miles/7 hours
- Houston, TX - 525 miles/8 hours

our amenities

The Escambia County Equestrian Center has an array of amenities designed to accommodate both local events and larger competitions.

Arena Amenities:

-375' x 225' Clear Span multi-purpose covered arena that seats 4,500
-Air-conditioned announcer's building/show office with voice/data communication and public address system
-Raised announcer's booth over livestock pens
-Professional quality livestock pens and rodeo chutes
-Four outdoor show rings (2 - 200' x 300' & 2 - 150' x 250'; 5th ring scheduled for completion in September 2012), with announcer/judges booths at each and two with outdoor lighting.
-Radio-based announcement system, capable of tying all arenas together
-Concession stand and public eating area

Barns and Stabling

-294 12' x 12' Permanent stalls in covered barns and 600 additional temporary stall capability
-4 Wash racks and manure dump bins for each barn

RV and Trailers

-65 RV sites with water and electricity; some include sewer
-Dump station with wash down
-50/30/110 individual electrical service

Additional Amenities:

-Restrooms and shower facilities convenient to covered arena and rings
-Warm-up area adjacent to arena
-Vendor areas adjacent to the indoor and outdoor arenas
-Rodeo loading/unloading area
-Ample vehicle parking
-Ticket sales pavillion

Consistency with Relevant Portions of the Escambia Comprehensive Plan

56 +/- Acre Beulah Road Proposed Residential Development

Pensacola, Florida

OBJ FLU 1.1 Growth Strategies

Apply accepted planning principles and utilize innovative and flexible planning strategies to achieve orderly and balanced growth and development.

POLICIES

FLU 1.1.1 Development Consistency. New development and redevelopment in unincorporated Escambia County will be consistent with the Plan and the FLUM.

RESPONSE: If approved by the Escambia County Planning Board, this proposed development will be consistent with this policy.

OBJ FLU 1.3 Future Land Use Map Designations

Designate land uses on the FLUM to discourage urban sprawl, promote mixed use, compact development in urban areas, and support development compatible with the protection and preservation of rural areas.

POLICIES

FLU 1.3.1 Future Land Use Categories. General descriptions, range of allowable uses, and residential densities and non-residential intensities for all future land use categories in Escambia County are outlined in below.

> FLUM Mixed-Use Suburban (MU-S) General Description: Intended for a mix of residential and non-residential uses while promoting compatible infill development and the separation of urban and suburban land uses. Range of Allowable Uses: Residential, retail services, professional office, recreational facilities, public and civic. Standards: Residential Minimum Density: 2 du/acre Maximum Density: 25 du/acre Non-Residential Minimum Intensity: None
> Maximum Intensity: 1.0 Floor Area Ratio (FAR) Escambia County intends to achieve the following mix of land uses for new development within ¼ mile of arterial roadways or transit corridors by 2030: a) Residential 8% to 25% b) Public/Rec/Inst. 5% to 20% c) Non-Residential: Retail Service-30% to 50% Office-25% to 50% In areas beyond ¼ mile of arterial roadways or transit corridors, the following mix of land uses is anticipated: a) Residential 70% to 85% b) Public/Rec/Inst. 10% to 25% c) Non-Residential 5% to 10%

RESPONSE: If approved by the Escambia County Planning Board, this proposed development will be consistent with this policy.

OBJ FLU 2.1 Urban Development

Direct growth toward those areas where infrastructure and services exist to support development at approved densities and intensities.

POLICIES

FLU 2.1.1 Infrastructure Capacities. Urban uses will be concentrated in the urbanized areas with the most intense development permitted in the Mixed-Use Urban (MU-U) areas and areas with sufficient central water and sewer system capacity to accommodate higher density development. Land use densities may be increased through Comprehensive Plan amendments. This policy is intended to direct higher density urban uses to those areas with infrastructure capacities sufficient to meet demands and to those areas with capacities in excess of current or projected demand. Septic systems remain allowed through Florida Health Department permits where central sewer is not available.

RESPONSE: This application is requesting approval to construct a single family residential use on the site south of the existing wetlands. The site location is west and is within the water/sewer/garbage service area of the Emerald Coast Utility Authority (ECUA). The attached ECUA letter concludes that it has all needed infrastructure elements in place with sufficient capacity available. (See service provider's letter in application)

OBJ FLU 2.2 Provision of Public Services

Promote orderly and balanced growth and development as a fiscal management technique to provide cost-efficient public services and facilities.

POLICIES

FLU 2.2.3 Right-of-way Dedication. Escambia County will continue to require dedication of adequate rights-of-way as approved by the County.

RESPONSE: The development of this site would result in roadways that meet the Escambia County Engineering Manuals Specifications for Roadways of which the rights-of-ways would be dedicated to Escambia County.

OBJ MOB 1.1 Transportation System

Continue to provide a safe, convenient, efficient and cost-effective multimodal transportation system and roadway network for present and future residents.

POLICIES

MOB 1.1.1 Level of Service (LOS) Standards. Levels of Service (LOS) will be used to evaluate facility capacity. Escambia County will adopt LOS standards for all roadways as indicated in the LDC. The standards for Strategic Intermodal System (SIS) facilities may be revised based on changes to the federal classification of these roadways. These standards are not regulatory but provide a basis by which the County may monitor congestion and coordinate needed improvements with FDOT.

Nothing in this policy shall be interpreted to preclude the County from requiring the development to pay all costs to the County associated with construction of any transportation improvement made necessary by the development.

RESPONSE: This proposed development will submit detailed site plans identifying required improvements all of which will be paid by the developer.

MOB 1.1.2 On-site Facilities. All new private development will be required to provide safe and convenient on-site traffic flow as indicated in the LDC.

RESPONSE: Preliminary internal circulation design shows the site will be accessible from the west, at two locations. These plans will be submitted to the County for review and approval. The plans will contain overall traffic circulation patterns and will comply with this element of the Comprehensive Plan.

OBJ MOB 1.4 Corridor Preservation

Provide for the protection of existing and future rights-of-way from encroachment by including appropriate regulations for standard right-of- way, setback regulations, density and intensity regulation, right-of-way, and scenic roadway designation within the provisions of the LDC.

POLICIES

MOB 1.4.1 Proposed Transportation Corridors. Escambia County will make efforts to inform the public about the location of proposed transportation corridors. Such proposed transportation corridors are to be initially designated in this section, the adopted TPO's Cost Feasible Plan, the proposed or adopted County Capital Improvement Plan, or in any proposed or adopted Development of Regional Impact (DRI) or development plan. Transportation corridor protection regulations will be incorporated in the LDC.

The Beulah Expressway is designated as a proposed transportation corridor. Maps and descriptions of the proposed north/south corridor and the east/west connecting corridors are on file as Exhibits A and B to Ordinance 2007-02D.

RESPONSE: This proposed development is adjacent to the proposed Beulah Expressway. Detailed site plans identifying necessary additional right-of-way to accommodate the Beulah Expressway corridor will be developed during the review process.

OBJ INF 3.1 Provision of Stormwater Management

Ensure the safe and efficient provision of stormwater management through maximized use of existing facilities, maintenance of appropriate levels of service, correction of existing deficiencies, and protection of natural resources.

POLICIES

INF 3.1.6 Developer Responsibilities. Installation of stormwater management facilities made necessary by new development will be the responsibility of the developer.

RESPONSE: Required stormwater management plan and facilities will be designed and installed at the developer's expense.

OBJ INF 4.1 Provision of Potable Water Service Ensure the safe and efficient provision of potable water services through coordination with service providers, maximized use of existing facilities, maintenance of appropriate levels of service, correction of existing deficiencies, water conservation, and protection of natural resources. POLICIES

INF 4.1.6 Developer Responsibility. The cost of water line extensions made necessary by new development will be the responsibility of the developer unless otherwise funded by the service provider.

RESPONSE: The developer will pay for all agreed costs associated with any required modifications to the water lines.

OBJ COA 1.1 General Hazard Mitigation

Reduce the exposure of people and property to natural hazards.

POLICIES

COA 1.1.3 Flood Elevation. Escambia County will, as supported by federal emergency management regulations (Title 44, Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) 60.1) and the County's experience of significant flood hazard events, require additional height above the base flood elevation to more effectively reduce the exposure of people and property to losses from flood hazards.

RESPONSE: The developer will pay for all agreed costs associated with any required modifications to the water lines

OBJ CON 1.1 General Resource Management

Effectively manage the natural resources of Escambia County through sound conservation principles.

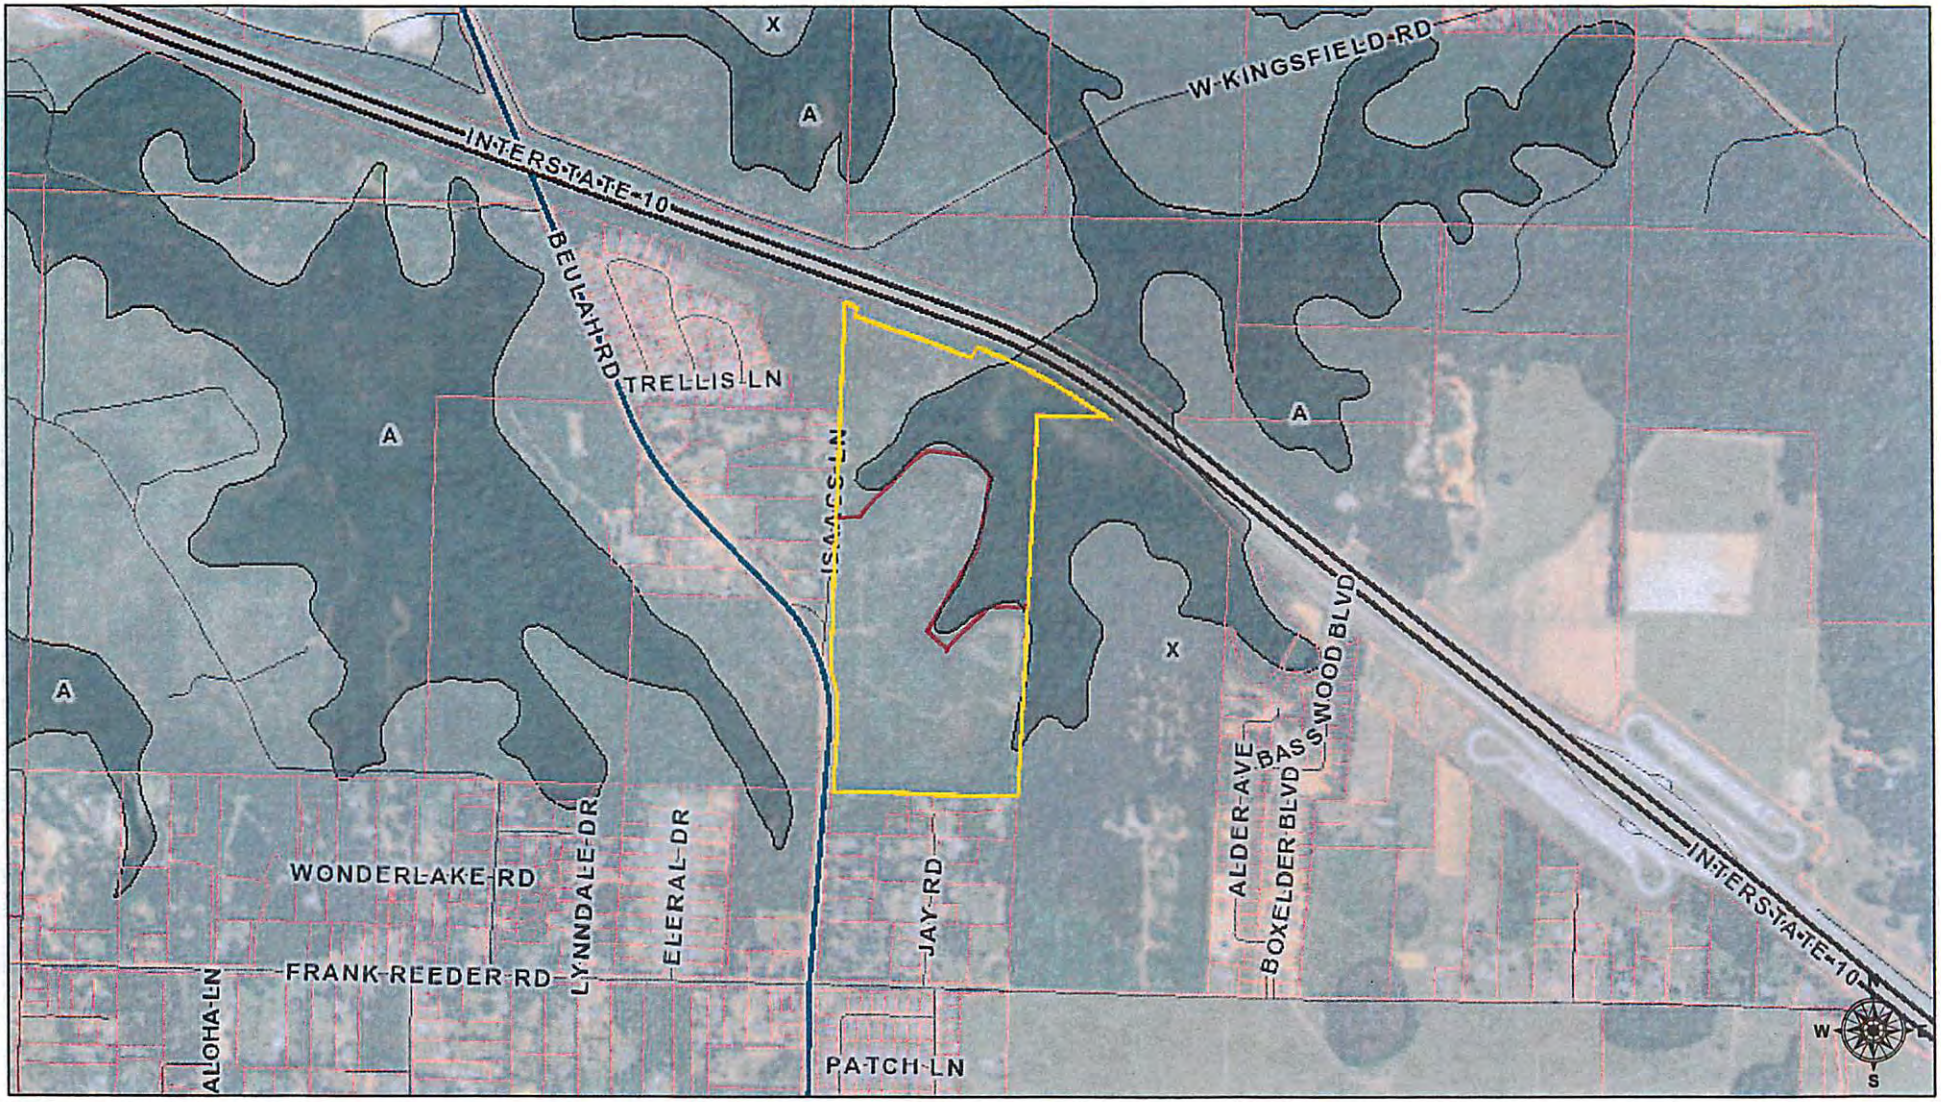
POLICIES

CON 1.1.2 Wetland and Habitat Indicators. Escambia County has adopted and will use the National Wetlands Inventory Map, the Escambia County Soils Survey, and the FFWCC Land Satellite (LANDSAT) imagery as indicators of the potential presence of wetlands or listed wildlife habitat in the review of applications for development approval.

RESPONSE: Existing inventory maps indicate that an area in the middle and eastern edge of the site may likely contain jurisdictional wetlands. As shown on the preliminary site layout, this area is being completely avoided and will remain in its natural state.

OBJ CON 1.3 Surface Water Resources

Protect and improve the quality, biological health, and natural function of all surface water systems to preserve their ecological and aesthetic values.



POLICIES

CON 1.3.1 Stormwater Management. Escambia County will protect surface water quality by implementing the stormwater management policies of the Infrastructure Element to improve existing stormwater management systems and ensure the provision of stormwater RESPONSE: Plans depicting stormwater management and treatment will be submitted to Escambia County for review and approval to assure compliance with this requirement.

OTHER: The site is not located within any designated Area of Critical State Concern.

Comprehensive Plan
Large-Scale Future Land Use Map Amendment
Staff Analysis

General Data

Project Name:	LSA 2016-03 – Beulah Road and Isaac Lane
Location:	11975 Beulah Road
Parcel #s:	34-1N-31-2101-000-001
Acreage:	56.80 ± acres
Request:	From Industrial (I) to Mixed-Use Suburban (MU-S)
Agent:	Joe A. Rector, Jr., Dewberry/Preble-Rish and Jesse Rigby, Agent for Bolley L. Johnson, Briar Ridge LLC.
Meeting Dates:	Planning Board, February 7, 2017 BCC, March 2, 2017

Site Description and Summary of Proposed Amendment:

The agent requests a Future Land Use (FLU) map amendment to change the FLU category of a 56.80 ± acres parcel from Industrial (I) FLU to Mixed-Use Suburban (MU-S) FLU. The zoning designation for the referenced parcel is Industrial (Ind) District. The applicant is aware that the current zoning and proposed FLU are not compatible. The applicant has submitted a rezoning request for the February 2017 Rezoning Planning Board for FLU and Zoning compatibility. The applicant understands that a rezoning approval will be necessary to make the FLU compatible.

The subject parcel can be accessed along Isaac Lane and Beulah Road. It is located north of SR 10 (US 90A)/West Nine Mile Road and south of Interstate 10. The property is surrounded by heavy vegetation to the north and to the east. Residential homes are located adjacent to the south and across Isaac lane to the west.

The applicant has indicated that the proposed activity will be for an approximate 110 lot subdivision. This is based on the anticipated demand from of the expansion of Navy Federal Credit Union Campus, as they move their headquarters to Escambia County.

The subject parcel had a FLU change from MU-S to I case number LSA-2014-02 (14-3ESR) in 2014. Also the parcel was rezoned from Villages Agricultural District (VAG-2), to General Industrial District (ID-2), case number Z-2014-12 on September 4, 2014.

Analysis of Availability of Facilities and Services:

The availability of public facilities and services for the site of a Future Land Use map amendment requires analysis of the general demands of its proposed use. All specific level of service (LOS) standards established by Escambia County are evaluated for compliance during the review processes prescribed by the LDC for approval of proposed development.

Sanitary Sewer Service.

CP Policy INF 1.1.7 Level of Service (LOS) Standards. Average LOS standard for wastewater service is 210 gallons per residential connection per day, and the peak LOS will be 350 gallons per residential connection per day. For nonresidential uses, the LOS requirements will be based upon an Equivalent Residential Connection (ERC), as may be recalculated by the service provider from time to time, and on the size of the nonresidential water meter. Escambia County will continue to work with the water providers to ensure that adequate capacity is available.

CP Policy INF 1.1.11 Required New Service Connection. All new structures intended for human occupancy will connect to the ECUA wastewater system unless ECUA has determined that it is not feasible to provide wastewater service to the proposed structures. Those structures not required to connect to the ECUA wastewater system will not be issued a building permit until the applicant has obtained the appropriate permit from the Health Department.

Analysis: The adopted level of service standards for sanitary sewer established in Comprehensive Plan Policy INF 1.1.7 states that the LOS requirements shall be based upon an equivalent residential connection calculated by the provider. The applicant must coordinate with the local provider to ensure capacity is available for the project. Once the project is submitted, all of the LOS will have to be achieved and the project will be further evaluated during the Site Plan Review process. The subject property is within the service area of the Emerald Coast Utility Authority (ECUA) for sanitary sewer. Connection to ECUA's system in compliance with its requirements is the responsibility of the developer.

Solid Waste Disposal.

CP Policy INF 2.1.2 Perdido Landfill Operation. Escambia County will provide and operate the Perdido Landfill so as to accommodate the municipal solid waste disposal needs of the entire County.

CP Policy INF 2.1.4 Level of Service (LOS) Standards. The LOS standard for solid waste disposal will be 6 pounds per capita per day.

Analysis: As established in Comprehensive Plan policy INF 2.1.4, the adopted LOS standard for solid waste disposal in the county is six pounds per capita per day. The Perdido Landfill current build-out of the 424-acre landfill facility is 74 acres. Based on population growth projections and estimated annual Class 1 municipal solid waste (MSW) received, the estimated remaining life of the landfill is 68 years. Once the project is submitted, all of the LOS will be evaluated during the Site Plan Review process.

Potable Water Service.

CP Policy INF 4.1.4 Concurrency Management. Escambia County will ensure the provision of potable water facilities concurrent with the demand for such facilities but no later than the certificate of occupancy, as created by development or redevelopment through the implementation of the Concurrency Management System.

CP Policy INF 4.1.6 Developer Responsibility. The cost of water line extensions made necessary by new development will be the responsibility of the developer unless otherwise funded by the service provider.

CP Policy INF 4.1.7 Level of Service (LOS) Standards. The LOS standard for potable water service within Escambia County will be 250 gallons per residential connection per day. For non-residential uses, the LOS requirements will be based upon an Equivalent Residential Connection (ERC) to be calculated by the service provider at the time of application. Escambia County will continue to work with the water providers to ensure that adequate capacity is available.

Analysis: Emerald Coast Utilities Authority (ECUA) standard for residential uses, the LOS requirements shall be based upon an Equivalent Residential Connection (ERC) to be calculated by the service provider at the time of application. Once the project is submitted and in coordination with ECUA, all of the LOS standards will be evaluated, during the Site Plan Review process.

Stormwater Management.

CP Policy INF 3.1.5 Concurrency Management. Escambia County will ensure the provision of stormwater management facilities concurrent with the demand for such facilities as created by development or redevelopment through implementation of the Concurrency Management System.

CP Policy INF 3.1.6 Developer Responsibilities. Installation of stormwater management facilities made necessary by new development will be the responsibility of the developer.

CP Policy INF 3.1.7 Level of Service (LOS) Standards. Stormwater management LOS will be monitored through the provisions in the LDC design standards.

Analysis: The applicant has documented and understands the requirements for stormwater management. The applicant acknowledges that separate requirements and permitting thru other state agencies such as the Northwest Florida Water Management District may be required. If approved, based on the proposed operations, further analysis and evaluation will be conducted during the Site Plan Review process.

The applicant must ensure that all of the required State and Federal agencies are contacted and that the required permits are obtained. The presence of sensitive lands on site may require a more in-depth assessment by the agencies involved. The County stormwater engineer will evaluate the proposed project to ensure all of the stormwater management standards are met. Once the project is formally submitted, all of the LOS will be evaluated during the Site Plan Review process.

Streets and Access.

CP Policy MOB 1.1.1 Level of Service (LOS) Standards. Levels of Service (LOS) will be used to evaluate facility capacity. Escambia County will adopt LOS standards for all roadways as indicated in the LDC. The standards for SIS facilities may be revised based on changes to the federal classification of these roadways. These standards are not regulatory but provide a basis by which the County may monitor congestion and coordinate needed improvements with FDOT.

Analysis: The following language is from an excerpt from the interoffice memorandum comments provided by the County's Transportation and Traffic Operations (TTO) Division staff:

TTO Staff has reviewed the Large Scale Amendment (LSA)-2016-03 and Rezoning Case (Z)-2016-11, Beulah Road at I-10, agenda item for the upcoming Planning Board meeting scheduled for February 7, 2017. Please see the below comments.

Upon review of LSA-2016-03 and Z-2016-11, TTO Staff provides the following information regarding an existing programmed regional and local transportation project commonly known as the Escambia County Beulah Beltway / I-10 Interchange Project (Project). This project is expected to impact the subject site, as well as potentially other properties within the vicinity once the project moves into the future Right-Of-Way and Construction Phases. The Project limits as identified in the Florida-Alabama Transportation Planning Organization Long Range Transportation Plan begins at the Nine Mile Road at the southern most termini, extends north along Beulah Road to Interstate 10, then further north to US29 (in the Quintette Road vicinity).

The Project was initiated in 2007 following the inception of the Escambia County Midwest Optional Sector Plan (Sector Plan) that justified the need for a new "limited access roadway with Interstate Interchange." County Staff, through Planning Board and Board of County Commission approval, then instituted a Corridor Preservation Ordinance found in the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Code (LDC Ordinance 2007-81) in efforts to minimize the local financial lift once the Project moved into the Right-Of-Way Acquisition and subsequent Construction Phase. Due to the infancy of the Sector Plan and without any substantial data or results of the necessary Corridor Selection Study, the Ordinance created a 300' Preservation Overlay for the future roadway. However, the County is currently finalizing the Corridor Selection Study, and recently received the proposed typical cross sections / right-of-way widths needed for the future roadway; the consultants are recommending two different cross sections. The width proposed for the North Segment (I-10 north to US29) is 225', and the width proposed for the South Segment (Nine Mile Road to I-10) is 104.5'. It is the South Segment specifically abuts the subject site. Attached is the document detailing the cross sections.

In conclusion, TTO Staff recognizes that, though LDC Ordinance 2007-81 details a 300' Preservation Overlay, in receipt of the proposed cross sections that the need to preserve 300' for the South Segment seems unjustified at this point. TTO Staff recommends that the Planning Board and Board of County Commissioners consider directing Staff to amend the Ordinance upon completion of the Corridor Selection Study (expected for completion Summer 2017). TTO Staff does not oppose the map amendment or rezoning, only if the Boards would consider reducing the 300' preservation width to a width of 104.5' for the South Segment.

Please note that TTO's review is solely based off the application submittal packet, so the comments above hold no bearing on future TTO comments during the Development Review process.

Public School Facilities.

CP Policy ICE 1.3.1 Interlocal Agreement for Public School Facility Planning. In cooperation with the School Board and the local governments within Escambia County, the County will implement the Interlocal Agreement for Public School Facility Planning (herein Interlocal Agreement) that establishes procedures for coordination and sharing of information, planning processes, and implementation.

Analysis: Representatives from the Escambia County School District will review and comment on all proposals that could have an impact in the projected school capacities and LOS.

Analysis of Suitability of Amendment for Proposed Use:

The suitability of a Future Land Use map amendment for its proposed use requires an analysis of the characteristics of the site and its resources relative to Comprehensive Plan (CP) goals, objectives, and policies. For these purposes, suitability is the degree to which the existing characteristics and limitations of land and water are compatible with the proposed use or development. Compliance with specific regulations and standards established by Escambia County, including those for public facilities and services, are evaluated during the development review processes prescribed by the LDC for approval of proposed development.

Impact on Land Use.

CP Policy FLU 1.3.1 Future Land Use Categories. General descriptions, range of allowable uses, and residential densities and non-residential intensities for all future land use categories in Escambia County.

Analysis: The current I FLU is intended for a mix of industrial development and ancillary office and commercial uses that are deemed to be compatible with adjacent or nearby properties. Industrial areas shall facilitate continued industrial operations within the County and provide jobs and employment security for present and future residents. Range of allowable uses include light to intensive industrial, ancillary retail and office. No new residential development is allowed.

The proposed MU-S FLU is intended for a mix of residential and non-residential uses while promoting compatible infill development and the separation of urban and suburban land uses. Range of allowable uses includes residential, retail services, professional office, and recreational facilities, public and civic. The residential density has a maximum of 25 dwelling per acre and maximum intensity 1.0 floor area ration.

Approval of the amendment would allow residential uses and a range of activities such as retail services and office.

Impact on Wellheads.

CP Policy CON 1.4.1 Wellhead Protection. Escambia County will provide comprehensive wellhead protection from potential adverse impacts to current and future public water supplies. The provisions will establish specific wellhead protection areas and address incompatible land uses, including prohibited activities and materials, within those areas.

Analysis: Further evaluation by the Environmental Division and ECUA will be required to ensure standards for wellhead protection areas will be maintained. Once the project is submitted, all of the LOS will be evaluated during the Site Plan Review process.

Impact on Historically Significant Sites.

CP Policy FLU 1.2.1 State Assistance. Escambia County will utilize all available resources of the Florida Department of State, Division of Historical Resources in the identification of archeological and/or historic sites or structures within the County and will utilize guidance, direction, and technical assistance received from this agency.

Analysis: The applicant stated it will assist in any way possible, however did not provide any site requested information from the State of Florida Division of Historical Resources (DHR), or the University of West Florida to identify any historic or archaeological resources.

Staff was not provided with any historical information from the applicant.

Impact on the Natural Environment.

CP Policy CON 1.1.2 Wetland and Habitat Indicators. Escambia County has adopted and will use the National Wetlands Inventory Map, the Escambia County Soils Survey, and the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission's (FFWCC) LANDSAT imagery as indicators of the potential presence of wetlands or listed wildlife habitat in the review of applications for development approval.

CP Policy CON 1.1.6 Habitat Protection. Escambia County will coordinate with the FDEP, FFWCC, and other state or federal agencies so as to provide the fullest protection to marine or wildlife habitats that may be impacted by existing or proposed development within the County.

CP Policy CON 1.3.1 Stormwater Management. Escambia County will protect surface water quality by implementing the stormwater management policies of the Infrastructure Element to improve existing stormwater management systems and ensure the provision of stormwater management facilities concurrent with the demand for such facilities.

CP Policy CON 1.3.6 Wetland Development Provisions. Development in wetlands will not be allowed unless sufficient uplands do not exist to avoid a taking. In this case, development in wetlands will be restricted to allow residential density uses as indicated by the LDC:

CP CON 1.5.4 Extraction and Reclamation Review. Escambia County will subject all new or expanded resource extraction and reclamation activities to a mandatory development review process to assess technical standards for public safety, environmental protection, and engineering design.

CP Policy CON 1.6.3 Tree Protection. Escambia County will protect trees through LDC provisions.

Analysis: The applicant has provided staff with wetlands information from County GIS. Staff's review of the County's GIS layer shows a large amount of wetlands on the northern and eastern side of the parcel. The applicant must ensure that all of the required State and Federal agencies are contacted and that the required permits are obtained. The presence of sensitive lands on site may require a more in-depth evaluation by the agencies involved. Escambia County staff will evaluate the proposed project to ensure all of the standards for wetlands protection indicated in the LDC, are met. Once the project is formally submitted, it will be evaluated during the Site Plan Review process.

SUMMARY: The proposed project shall avoid any potential impacts to environmentally sensitive areas and should preserve the natural function of wetlands and natural resources on the subject parcel. Staff will need a more in-depth evaluation of the land to conclude that the proposed development could satisfy all of the requirements listed within the suitability analysis.

CP Objective FLU 1.3 Future Land Use Map Designations. Designate land uses on the FLUM to discourage urban sprawl, promote mixed use, compact development in urban areas, and support development compatible with the protection and preservation of rural areas."

Analysis: The proposed amendment is in close proximity to the extensive infrastructure that is accessed by other similar uses within the area. The development promotes the principle of good development by taking advantage of an existing roads and interstate highway as a close proximity for development. As a result of the proximity to similar existing uses, the proposed amendment would reduce transportation costs, including the per capita costs to consumers to own and operate vehicles, road and parking facility costs, traffic accidents and pollution emissions.

The proposed amendment is part of a strategy directing this type of development to the central part of the county, away from sensitive coastal areas to the South, and USDA prime soils and farmlands to the North. The proposed Industrial use expansion will direct economic growth and the associated land development to an area that will complement the existing growth patterns of development in the vicinity of the property, thereby minimizing the adverse impacts to natural resources and the existing ecosystems.

The proposed amendment will ensure that the proposed development is conducted in an efficient manner. Specifically, the proximity of the subject property to other existing development will provide for an efficient integration of infrastructure and services that will conserve both water and energy.

As previously elaborated, the site has been evaluated for potable water, sanitary sewer, solid waste disposal, stormwater management, and traffic concurrency. The adopted levels of service would appear to be maintained with the proposed subdivision development of the parcel. If the amendment is approved, the parcel must go through the quasi-judicial rezoning process. The completed application packet will then be reviewed and evaluated for concurrency as part of the Site Development Review process.

ORDINANCE ADOPTED AT THE 8:48 AM PUBLIC HEARING WHICH HAS NOT YET BEEN RETURNED FROM THE FLORIDA DEPARTMENT OF STATE

BCC Special Session: 12-13-2007

BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
Escambia County, Florida

DEPARTMENT: Planning and Engineering

FROM: T. Lloyd Kerr, AICP, Director

DATE: December 10, 2007

ISSUE: 8:48 am Thursday, December 13, 2007 Public Hearing
Comprehensive Plan Amendment (CPA 2007-02D)

RECOMMENDATION:

That the Board review and adopt the following:

Comprehensive Plan Amendment, CPA 2007-02D Transportation Corridor Preservation Ordinance, composed of a draft ordinance and attachments herein, to amend Part II of The Escambia County Code of Ordinances (1999), The Escambia County Comprehensive Plan, as amended; amending portions thereof as follows:

Comprehensive Plan text amendment, amending Chapter 8, "Transportation Element" providing for references to the protection of transportation corridors.

BACKGROUND:

In establishing the Twenty Year "Cost Feasible" Plan, the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) and the FL-AL Transportation Planning Organization (TPO) have requested local governments implement measures to ensure roadway projects remain "cost feasible".

The primary concerns, based on past roadway capacity projects, are that local governments reduce the impact of development adjacent to a future corridor improvement projects and reduce land use intensities which may increase the cost of needed right-of-way. Both concerns have and will continue to add a substantial cost to planned projects prior to construction.

This Ordinance, by intent, is to ensure that future development and future roadway projects do not conflict with each other in order to meet future Transportation Level of Service demands. This will alleviate negative impacts to future development or future roadway project cost. This Ordinance will also allow Escambia County to be more competitive for future Federal and State grants based on criteria created in 2006.

The transmittal hearing was held August 2, 2007 where the amendment and ordinance were approved by the BCC and forwarded to DCA. County staff received the DCA

Objection, Recommendation and Comments Report on October 24, 2007. Staff is recommending adoption of the ordinance with no changes.

This is part of the second of the two Comprehensive Plan Amendment packages allowed by Florida Statute for the Year 2007.

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

No budgetary impacts are expected by the approval of this amendment.

LEGAL CONSIDERATION/SIGN-OFF:

The attached ordinance was reviewed and approved for legal sufficiency by Alison P. Rogers, Deputy County Attorney. Any suggested legal comments are attached herein with the respective ordinance to which they pertain.

PERSONNEL:

No additional personnel are anticipated for the implementation of this amendment.

POLICY/REQUIREMENT FOR BOARD ACTION/DISCUSSION:

The amendment is consistent with State Statutes (F.S. 163.3161 through 163.3215), Florida Administrative Code 9J-5 and with the Board's goal " to increase citizen involvement in, access to, and approval of, County government activities."

IMPLEMENTATION REQUIREMENTS:

Following adoption public hearings and upon recommended approval by the Planning Board and Board of County Commissioners the amendment will be returned to DCA for approval. Upon approval, DCA will issue a Notice of Intent to find In Compliance, at which time the ordinance will be forwarded to the Municipal Code Corporation for codification in the Official Comprehensive Plan of Escambia County.

COORDINATION WITH OTHER AGENCIES/PERSONS:

The proposed amendments were prepared in cooperation with the County Attorney's Office, the Planning and Engineering Department, Office of Transportation and Traffic Operations, and interested citizens. Planning & Engineering will insure proper advertisement.

ORDINANCE 2007-__

AN ORDINANCE OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, AMENDING PART II, OF THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY CODE OF ORDINANCES (1999), THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY COMPREHENSIVE PLAN, AS AMENDED; AMENDING CHAPTER 8, THE TRANSPORTATION ELEMENT; AMENDING OBJECTIVE 8.A.4 TO PROVIDE FOR PROTECTION OF PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; PROVIDING IN POLICY 8.A.4.1 THAT REZONINGS THAT PROPOSE AN INCREASE IN DENSITY OR INTENSITY OF USE SHALL BE DISCOURAGED IN DESIGNATED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; PROVIDING IN POLICY 8.A.4.2 FOR PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR AND RIGHT-OF-WAY PROTECTIONS AND ACQUISITIONS; CREATING A NEW POLICY 8.A.4.4 TO ESTABLISH PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; DESIGNATING THE BEULAH EXPRESSWAY AS A PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; PROVIDING FOR INCLUSION IN THE CODE; AND PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

WHEREAS, pursuant to Chapter 163, Part II, Florida Statutes, Escambia County adopted its Comprehensive Plan on October 20, 1993; and,

WHEREAS, Chapter 125, Florida Statutes, empowers the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida to prepare, amend, and enforce comprehensive plans for the development of the County; and,

WHEREAS, the Escambia County Planning Board (LPA) and the Board of County Commissioners have conducted public hearings and reviewed and approved the changes to the Plan and authorized the transmittal of the proposed changes to the Florida Department of Community Affairs (DCA) for review and comment prior to considering the changes (amendments) for adoption; and,

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners, Escambia County, Florida finds that the adoption of these amendments is in the best interest of the County and its citizens.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida as follows:

Section 1. Purpose and Intent.

This Ordinance is enacted to carry out the purpose and intent of, and exercise the authority set out, in the Local Government Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Regulation Act, sections 163.3161 through 163.3215, Fla. Stat. and Chapter 9J-5, Florida Administrative Code.

Section 2. Title of Comprehensive Plan Amendment.

This Comprehensive Plan Amendment for Escambia County, Florida shall be entitled "Comprehensive Plan Amendment 2007-02D - Transportation Corridor Preservation."

Section 3. Changes to the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan.

Part II of the Escambia County Code of Ordinances (1999), the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan, as Amended, is further amended as set forth hereto and made part hereof to include changes as follows:

OBJECTIVE 8.A.4: TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR AND RIGHT-OF-WAY PROTECTION

Continually, the county shall provide for the protection of proposed transportation corridors as well as existing and future rights-of-way from encroachment by including appropriate regulations within the LDC (reference Policy 7.A.1.1) and implementing Policies 8.A.4.1 through ~~8.A.4.3~~ 8.A.4.4 among others.

Policy 8.A.4.1: Rezonings and Zoning Setback Enforcement

The county shall continue to enforce its zoning ordinance and include said ordinance within the LDC. Note: The zoning ordinance contains setback provisions, which will aid in the protection of existing and future rights-of-way, including transportation corridors, from building encroachment ~~in the "zoned" areas of the county~~. The County shall regulate density and intensity within the existing or designated transportation corridor areas that may interfere with right-of-way needs. Prior to completion of a Project Development and Environmental Impact (PD&E) study for a capacity improvement project, standard right-of-way will be considered as follows:

Major Collectors	80'
Major Arterials	125'
Beltways	300'

Policy 8.A.4.2: Right-of-Way Protection for Existing and Planned Roadways

The county shall require the set aside of right-of-way necessary to comply with programmed roadway widening or, as necessary, for proposed transportation corridors.

Policy 8.A.4.3: Scenic Roadways

Because of their unique scenic character, and related historic and tourist significance, Scenic Highway (SR-10A) and Perdido Key Drive (SR 292) are designated "scenic roadways." Parcels adjacent to these rights-of-way shall be the subject of special sign controls in the LDC.

Policy 8.A.4.4: Proposed Transportation Corridors

The County shall make efforts to inform the public about the location of proposed transportation corridors. Such proposed transportation corridors are to be initially designated in this section, the adopted Transportation Planning Organization's "Cost Feasible Plan", the proposed or adopted County Capital Improvement Plan or in any proposed or adopted DRI or development plan. Transportation corridor protection regulations shall be incorporated in the LDC.

The Beulah Expressway is designated as a proposed transportation corridor. Maps and descriptions of the proposed north/south corridor and the east/west connecting corridors are on file as Exhibits A and B to Ordinance 2007-02D.

Section 4. SEVERABILITY.

It is declared the intent of the Board of County Commissioners that if any subsection, clause, sentence, provision or phrase of this Ordinance is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by a Court of competent jurisdiction, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not be so construed as to render invalid or unconstitutional the remaining provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 5. INCLUSION IN THE CODE.

It is the intention of the Board of County Commissioners that the provisions of this Ordinance shall become and be made a part of the Escambia County Code; and that the sections of this Ordinance may be renumbered or

relettered and the word "ordinance" may be changed to "section," "article," or such other appropriate word or phrase in order to accomplish such intentions.

Section 6. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This effective date of this plan amendment shall be: The date a final order is issued by the Department of Community Affairs finding the amendment to be in compliance in accordance with Chapter 163.3184 Fla. Stat., or the date a final order is issued by the Administration Commission finding the amendment to be in compliance in accordance with Section 163.3184, Fla. Stat.

ORDINANCE 2007-81

AN ORDINANCE OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, AMENDING PART II, OF THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY CODE OF ORDINANCES (1999), THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY COMPREHENSIVE PLAN, AS AMENDED; AMENDING CHAPTER 8, THE TRANSPORTATION ELEMENT; AMENDING OBJECTIVE 8.A.4 TO PROVIDE FOR PROTECTION OF PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; PROVIDING IN POLICY 8.A.4.1 THAT REZONINGS THAT PROPOSE AN INCREASE IN DENSITY OR INTENSITY OF USE SHALL BE DISCOURAGED IN DESIGNATED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; PROVIDING IN POLICY 8.A.4.2 FOR PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR AND RIGHT-OF-WAY PROTECTIONS AND ACQUISITIONS; CREATING A NEW POLICY 8.A.4.4 TO ESTABLISH PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; DESIGNATING THE BEULAH EXPRESSWAY AS A PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; PROVIDING FOR INCLUSION IN THE CODE; AND PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

Date: 12/17/2007 Verified By: Dfarris

WHEREAS, pursuant to Chapter 163, Part II, Florida Statutes, Escambia County adopted its Comprehensive Plan on October 20, 1993; and,

WHEREAS, Chapter 125, Florida Statutes, empowers the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida to prepare, amend, and enforce comprehensive plans for the development of the County; and,

WHEREAS, the Escambia County Planning Board (LPA) and the Board of County Commissioners have conducted public hearings and reviewed and approved the changes to the Plan and authorized the transmittal of the proposed changes to the Florida Department of Community Affairs (DCA) for review and comment prior to considering the changes (amendments) for adoption; and,

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners, Escambia County, Florida finds that the adoption of these amendments is in the best interest of the County and its citizens.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida as follows:

Section 1. Purpose and Intent.

This Ordinance is enacted to carry out the purpose and intent of, and exercise the authority set out, in the Local Government Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Regulation Act, sections 163.3161 through 163.3215, Fla. Stat. and Chapter 9J-5, Florida Administrative Code.

Section 2. Title of Comprehensive Plan Amendment.

This Comprehensive Plan Amendment for Escambia County, Florida shall be entitled "Comprehensive Plan Amendment 2007-02D - Transportation Corridor Preservation."

Section 3. Changes to the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan.

Part II of the Escambia County Code of Ordinances (1999), the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan, as Amended, is further amended as set forth hereto and made part hereof to include changes as follows:

OBJECTIVE 8.A.4: TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR AND RIGHT-OF-WAY PROTECTION

Continually, the county shall provide for the protection of proposed transportation corridors as well as existing and future rights-of-way from encroachment by including appropriate regulations within the LDC (reference Policy 7.A.1.1) and implementing Policies 8.A.4.1 through ~~8.A.4.3~~ 8.A.4.4 among others.

Policy 8.A.4.1: Rezonings and Zoning Setback Enforcement

The county shall continue to enforce its zoning ordinance and include said ordinance within the LDC. Note: The zoning ordinance contains setback provisions, which will aid in the protection of existing and future rights-of-way, including transportation corridors, from building encroachment ~~in the "zoned" areas of the county~~. The County shall regulate density and intensity within the existing or designated transportation corridor areas that may interfere with right-of-way needs. Prior to completion of a Project Development and Environmental Impact (PD&E) study for a capacity improvement project, standard right-of-way will be considered as follows:

Major Collectors	80'
Major Arterials	125'
Beltways	300'

Policy 8.A.4.2: Right-of-Way Protection for Existing and Planned Roadways

The county shall require the set aside of right-of-way necessary to comply with programmed roadway widening or, as necessary, for proposed transportation corridors.

Policy 8.A.4.3: Scenic Roadways

Because of their unique scenic character, and related historic and tourist significance, Scenic Highway (SR-10A) and Perdido Key Drive (SR 292) are designated "scenic roadways." Parcels adjacent to these rights-of-way shall be the subject of special sign controls in the LDC.

Policy 8.A.4.4: Proposed Transportation Corridors

The County shall make efforts to inform the public about the location of proposed transportation corridors. Such proposed transportation corridors are to be initially designated in this section, the adopted Transportation Planning Organization's "Cost Feasible Plan", the proposed or adopted County Capital Improvement Plan or in any proposed or adopted DRI or development plan. Transportation corridor protection regulations shall be incorporated in the LDC.

The Beulah Expressway is designated as a proposed transportation corridor. Maps and descriptions of the proposed north/south corridor and the east/west connecting corridors are on file as Exhibits A and B to Ordinance 2007-02D.

Section 4. SEVERABILITY.

It is declared the intent of the Board of County Commissioners that if any subsection, clause, sentence, provision or phrase of this Ordinance is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by a Court of competent jurisdiction, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not be so construed as to render invalid or unconstitutional the remaining provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 5. INCLUSION IN THE CODE.

It is the intention of the Board of County Commissioners that the provisions of this Ordinance shall become and be made a part of the Escambia County Code; and that the sections of this Ordinance may be renumbered or

relettered and the word "ordinance" may be changed to "section," "article," or such other appropriate word or phrase in order to accomplish such intentions.

Section 6. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This effective date of this plan amendment shall be: The date a final order is issued by the Department of Community Affairs finding the amendment to be in compliance in accordance with Chapter 163.3184 Fla. Stat., or the date a final order is issued by the Administration Commission finding the amendment to be in compliance in accordance with Section 163.3184, Fla. Stat.

As you know we performed a cultural resources assessment for the interchange study area in 2010. I looked at the photos of the area in question to refresh my memory. If I'm on the same page, the area is located on moderate slopes overlooking an unnamed drainage. We excavated 17 shovel tests in the area and the tests were negative for cultural material or intact cultural deposits. We sent the survey report to the Pensacola office in March 2010 but it never went SHPO for review. If I'm not mistaken the County wanted to hold off on the review until later.

GOVERNOR

FLORIDA DEPARTMENT of ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY

Cissy Proctor
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

April 21, 2017

The Honorable Doug Underhill
Chairman, Escambia County
Board of County Commissioners
221 Palafox Place, Suite 400
Pensacola, Florida 32502

Dear Chairman Underhill:

The Department of Economic Opportunity has completed its review of the proposed comprehensive plan amendment for Escambia County (Amendment No. 17-3ESR), which was received on March 23, 2017. We have reviewed the proposed amendment pursuant to the expedited state review process in Sections 163.3184(2) and (3), Florida Statutes (F.S.), and identified no comments related to important state resources and facilities within the Department of Economic Opportunity's authorized scope of review that will be adversely impacted by the amendment if adopted.

The County is reminded that pursuant to Section 163.3184(3)(b), F.S., other reviewing agencies have the authority to provide comments directly to the County. If other reviewing agencies provide comments, we recommend the County consider appropriate changes to the amendment based on those comments. If unresolved, such reviewing agency comments could form the basis for a challenge to the amendment after adoption. The County should act by choosing to adopt, adopt with changes, or not adopt the proposed amendment.

Also, please note that Section 163.3184(3)(c)1, F.S., provides that if the second public hearing is not held within 180 days of your receipt of agency comments, the amendment shall be deemed withdrawn unless extended by agreement with notice to the Department of Economic Opportunity and any affected party that provided comment on the amendment. For your assistance, we have enclosed the procedures for adoption and transmittal of the comprehensive plan amendment.

Re: Escambia County 17-3ESR – Expedited Review of Proposed Comprehensive Plan Amendment

*Please note the new contact information below.

The Office of Intergovernmental Programs of the Florida Department of Environmental Protection (Department) has reviewed the above-referenced amendment package under the provisions of Chapter 163, Florida Statutes. The Department conducted a detailed review that focused on potential adverse impacts to important state resources and facilities, specifically: air and water pollution; wetlands and other surface waters of the state; federal and state-owned lands and interest in lands, including state parks, greenways and trails, conservation easements; solid waste; and water and wastewater treatment.

Based on our review of the submitted amendment package, the Department has found no provision that, if adopted, would result in adverse impacts to important state resources subject to the Department's jurisdiction.

Feel free to contact me at Suzanne.e.ray@dep.state.fl.us or (850) 717-9037 for assistance or additional information. Please send all amendments, both proposed and adopted, to plan.review@dep.state.fl.us or

WHEREAS, pursuant to Chapter 163, Part II, Florida Statutes, Escambia County adopted its Comprehensive Plan on April 29, 2014; and

WHEREAS, Chapter 125, Florida Statutes, empowers the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida to prepare, amend and enforce comprehensive plans for the development of the County; and

WHEREAS, the Escambia County Planning Board conducted a public hearing and forwarded a recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners to approve changes (amendments) to the Comprehensive Plan; and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida finds that the adoption of this amendment is in the best interest of the County and its citizens;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida, as follows:

Section 1. Purpose and Intent

This Ordinance is enacted to carry out the purpose and intent of, and exercise the authority set out in, the Community Planning Act, Sections 163.3161 through 163.3215, Florida Statutes.

Section 2. Title of Comprehensive Plan Amendment

This Comprehensive Plan amendment shall be entitled – "Large Scale Amendment 2016-03."

Section 3. Changes to the 2030 Future Land Use Map

The 2030 Future Land Use Map, as adopted by reference and codified in Part II of the Escambia County Code of Ordinances, the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan: 2030, as amended; Chapter 7, "Future Land Use Element," Policy FLU 1.1.1; and all notations, references and information shown thereon, is further amended to include the following future land use changes:

BCC Regular Meeting

Meeting Date: 05/25/2017

Issue: Review of Rezoning Case Heard by the Planning Board on February 7, 2017

From: Horace Jones, Director

Organization: Development Services

RECOMMENDATION:

Recommendation Concerning the Review of the Rezoning Case Heard by the Planning Board on February 7, 2017

That the Board take the following action concerning the rezoning case heard by the Planning Board on February 7, 2017:

A. Review and either adopt, modify, or reject the Planning Board's recommendation for Rezoning Case Z-2016-11 or remand the case back to the Planning Board; and

B. Authorize the Chairman to sign the Orders of the Escambia County Board of County Commissioners for the rezoning case that was reviewed.

Case No.:	Z-2016-11
Address:	11975 Beulah Road
Property Reference No.:	34-1N-31-2101-000-001
Property Size:	56.8 (+/-) acres
From:	Ind, Industrial district (du density limited to vested residential development)
To:	LDR, Low Density Residential district (four du/acre)
FLU Category:	MU-S, Mixed-Use Suburban
Commissioner District:	1
Requested by:	Jesse Rigby and Joe Rector with Dewberry/Preble-Rish, Agent for Bolley L. Johnson, Briar Ridge LLC, Owner
Planning Board Recommendation:	Approval
Speakers:	Jesse Rigby, Joe Rector

BACKGROUND:

The above case was owner initiated and heard at the February 7, 2017, Planning Board Meeting. Under the Land Development Code (LDC) Chapter 2, Article 7, "the Board of County Commissioners, at its scheduled hearing shall adopt, modify, or reject the recommendation of the Planning Board or SRIA or return the rezoning case to the board with instructions for additional facts or clarification. The staff of the recommending board shall inform the board of all formal actions taken by the BCC on the rezoning request.

To further the County's policy of "decreasing response time from notification of citizen needs to ultimate resolution," the Board is acting on both the approval of the Planning Board recommended order and the LDC Map Amendment for this month's rezoning case. This report item addresses only the review and upholding of the Planning Board's recommendation. The next report item will address the Public Hearing for the LDC Zoning Map Amendment.

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

This action may increase the ad valorem tax base for Escambia County.

LEGAL CONSIDERATIONS/SIGN-OFF:

The recommended order is the result of deliberations by the Planning Board based the applicants presentation of competent substantial evidence for each of the approval conditions, on staff analysis, public testimony, and knowledge of the Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Code as well as case law and Florida Statutes.

PERSONNEL:

N/A

POLICY/REQUIREMENT FOR BOARD ACTION:

The Chairman will need to sign the Orders of the Escambia County Board of County Commissioners either denying or approving the rezoning request.

IMPLEMENTATION/COORDINATION:

The cases under review are presented to the Planning Board for collection of evidence. The Planning Board conducts a quasi-judicial public hearing and issues a recommended order to the Board of County Commissioners.

SUBMISSION DATA:

REQUESTED REZONING:

FROM: Ind, Industrial district (du density limited to vested residential development)

TO: LDR, Low Density Residential district (four du/acre)

RELEVANT AUTHORITY:

(1) Escambia County Comprehensive Plan
(2) Escambia County Land Development Code
(3) Board of County Commissioners of Brevard County v. Snyder, 627 So. 2d 469 (Fla. 1993)
(4) Resolution 96-34 (Quasi-judicial Proceedings)
(5) Resolution 96-13 (Ex-parte Communications)

APPROVAL CONDITIONS

Criterion a., LDC Sec. 2-7.2(b)(4)

Consistent with Comprehensive Plan

Whether the proposed rezoning is consistent with the goals, objectives, and policies of the Comprehensive Plan and not in conflict with any of the plan provisions

Comp Plan Policy (CPP) FLU 1.3.1 Future Land Use Categories.
The Industrial (I) Future Land Use (FLU) category is intended for a mix of industrial development and ancillary office and commercial uses that are deemed to be compatible with adjacent or nearby properties. Industrial areas shall facilitate continued industrial operations within the County and provide jobs and employment security for present and future residents. Range of allowable uses include: Light to Intensive Industrial, Ancillary Retail and Office, No new residential development is allowed.

The Mixed-Use Suburban (MU-S) Future Land Use (FLU) category is intended for a mix of residential and nonresidential uses while promoting compatible infill development and the separation of urban and suburban land uses. Range of allowable uses include: Residential, Retail and Services, Professional Office, Recreational Facilities, Public and Civic. The maximum residential density is twenty five dwelling units per acre.

FLU 1.5.1 New Development and Redevelopment in Built Areas. To promote the efficient use of existing public roads, utilities, and service infrastructure, the County will encourage the redevelopment in underutilized properties to maximize development densities and intensities located in the MU-S, MU-U, Commercial, and Industrial Future Land Use categories (with the exception of residential development).

OBJ MOB 1.4 Corridor Preservation
Provide for the protection of existing and future rights-of-way from encroachment by including appropriate regulations for standard right-of-way, setback regulations, density and intensity regulation, right-of-way, and scenic roadway designation within the provisions of the LDC.

MOB 1.4.1 Proposed Transportation Corridors. Escambia County will make efforts to inform the public about the location of proposed transportation corridors. Such proposed transportation corridors are to be initially designated in this section, the adopted TPO's Cost Feasible Plan, the proposed or adopted County Capital Improvement Plan, or in any proposed or adopted Development of Regional Impact (DRI) or development plan. Transportation corridor protection regulations will be incorporated in the LDC. The Beulah Expressway is designated as a proposed transportation corridor. Maps and descriptions of the proposed north/south corridor and the east/west connecting corridors are on file as Exhibits A and B to Ordinance 2007-02D.

FINDINGS

The proposed amendment to LDR is not consistent with the current Industrial (I) FLU at this time. The applicant is currently requesting a FLUM amendment from I to MU-S and if the FLUM amendment is approved, the requested zoning of LDR will be compatible with the MU-S designation as the proposed Large Scale LSA-2016-03 to Mixed-Use Suburban (MU-S) Future Land Use (FLU) category is stated in CPP FLU 1.3.1. The current FLU I, does not allow for residential uses, but the proposed MU-S development is compatible to surrounding properties, which allows for residential uses.

The subject parcel had a FLU change from MU-S to I case number LSA-2014-02 (14-3ESR) in 2014. Also the parcel was rezoned from Villages Agricultural District (VAG-2), to General Industrial District (ID-2), case number Z-2014-12 on September 4, 2014.

Criterion b., LDC Sec. 2-7.2(b)(4)

Consistent with The Land Development Code

Whether the proposed amendment is in conflict with any portion of this Code, and is consistent with the stated purpose and intent of this Code.

Sec. 3-2.5 Low Density Residential district (LDR).

(a) Purpose. The Low Density Residential (LDR) district establishes appropriate areas and land use regulations for residential uses at low densities within suburban areas. The primary intent of the district is to provide for large-lot suburban type residential neighborhood development that blends aspects of rural openness with the benefits of urban street connectivity, and at greater density than the Rural Residential district. Residential uses within the LDR district are predominantly detached single-family dwellings. Clustering dwellings on smaller residential lots may occur where needed to protect prime farmland from non-agricultural use or to conserve and protect environmentally sensitive areas. The district allows non-residential uses that are compatible with suburban residential neighborhoods and the natural resources of the area.

(b) Permitted uses. Permitted uses within the LDR district are limited to the following:

(1) Residential.

a. Manufactured (mobile) homes only within existing manufactured home parks or subdivisions, or on land zoned SDD prior to adoption of LDR zoning. No new or expanded manufactured home parks or subdivisions.
b. Single-family dwellings (other than manufactured homes), detached and only one per lot, excluding accessory dwellings. Accessory dwellings only on lots two acres or larger. Attached single-family dwellings and zero lot line subdivision only on land zoned V-5 or SDD prior to adoption of LDR zoning.
c. Two-family dwellings and multi-family dwellings up to four units per dwelling (triplex and quadruplex) only on land zoned V-5 or SDD prior to adoption of LDR zoning.
See also conditional uses in this district.
(2) Retail sales. No retail sales.
(3) Retail services. No retail services.
(4) Public and civic.
a. Cemeteries, family only.
b. Public utility structures, excluding telecommunications towers.
See also conditional uses in this district.
(5) Recreation and entertainment.
a. Marinas, private only.
b. Parks without permanent restrooms or outdoor event lighting.
See also conditional uses in this district.
(6) Industrial and related. No industrial or related uses.
(7) Agricultural and related. On land not zoned SDD prior to adoption of LDR zoning, agricultural production and storage is limited to food primarily for personal consumption by the producer. The following additional agricultural uses are allowed on lands zoned SDD prior to LDR zoning:
a. Agriculture, but no farm animals except horses and other domesticated equines kept on site, and stables for such animals, accessory to a private residential use with a minimum lot area of two acres and a maximum of one animal per acre.
b. Aquaculture, marine or freshwater.
c. Produce display and sales of fruit, vegetables and similar agricultural products.
d. Silviculture.

FINDINGS
The proposed amendment is consistent with the intent and purpose of the LDC. As per LDC 3-2.5, LDR allows residential uses, no retail sales or services, no industrial uses, which is compatible with the MU-S FLU.

The following language is from an excerpt from the interoffice memorandum comments provided by the County's Transportation and Traffic Operations (TTO) Division staff:

TTO Staff has reviewed the Large Scale Amendment (LSA)-2016-03 and Rezoning Case (Z)-2016-11, Beulah Road at I-10, agenda item for the upcoming Planning Board meeting scheduled for February 7, 2017. Please see the below comments.

Upon review of LSA-2016-03 and Z-2016-11, TTO Staff provides the following information regarding an existing programmed regional and local transportation project commonly known as the Escambia County Beulah Beltway / I-10 Interchange Project (Project). This project is expected to impact the subject site, as well as potentially other properties within the vicinity once the project moves into the future Right-Of-Way and Construction Phases. The Project limits as identified in the Florida-Alabama Transportation Planning Organization Long Range Transportation Plan begins at the Nine Mile Road at the southern most termini, extends north along Beulah Road to Interstate 10, then further north to US29 (in the Quintette Road vicinity).

The Project was initiated in 2007 following the inception of the Escambia County Midwest Optional Sector Plan (Sector Plan) that justified the need for a new "limited access roadway with Interstate Interchange." County Staff, through Planning Board and Board of County Commission approval, then instituted a Corridor Preservation Ordinance found in the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Code (LDC Ordinance 2007-81) in efforts to minimize the local financial lift once the Project moved into the Right-Of-Way Acquisition and subsequent Construction Phase. Due to the infancy of the Sector Plan and without any substantial data or results of the necessary Corridor Selection Study, the Ordinance created a 300' Preservation Overlay for the future roadway. However, the County is currently finalizing the Corridor Selection Study, and recently received the proposed typical cross sections / right-of-way widths needed for the future roadway; the consultants are recommending two different cross sections. The width proposed for the North Segment (I-10 north to US29) is 225', and the width proposed for the South Segment (Nine Mile Road to I-10) is 104.5'. It is the South Segment specifically abuts the subject site. Attached is the document detailing the cross sections.

In conclusion, TTO Staff recognizes that, though LDC Ordinance 2007-81 details a 300' Preservation Overlay, in receipt of the proposed cross sections that the need to preserve 300' for the South Segment seems unjustified at this point. TTO Staff recommends that the Planning Board and Board of County Commissioners consider directing Staff to amend the Ordinance upon completion of the Corridor Selection Study (expected for completion Summer 2017). TTO Staff does not oppose the map amendment or rezoning, only if the Boards would consider reducing the 300' preservation width to a width of 104.5' for the South Segment.

Please note that TTO's review is solely based off the application submittal packet, so the comments above hold no bearing on future TTO comments during the Development Review process.

Criterion c., LDC Sec. 2-7.2(b)(4)

Compatible with surrounding uses

Whether all land uses, development activities, and conditions allowed by the proposed zoning are compatible with the surrounding conforming uses, activities and conditions and are able to coexist in relative proximity to them in a stable fashion over time such that no use, activity, or condition negatively impacts another. The appropriateness of the rezoning is not limited to any specific use that may be proposed but is evident for all permitted uses of the requested zoning.

FINDINGS

The proposed amendment is compatible with surrounding existing uses in the area. Within the 500' radius impact area, staff observed properties with zoning districts LDR and RMU. The proposed amendment would be consistent with the surrounding uses and coexist without producing negative impacts on the neighboring properties. Rezoning the parcel to LDR would allow residential development which would be compatible to the single family homes that exist in the area instead of industrial type businesses which may cause more noise, dust and overall nuisance to the adjoining neighbors. Density and intensity would be decreased in the area through the rezoning from Ind to LDR.

Criterion d., LDC Sec. 2-7.2(b)(4)

Changed conditions

Whether the area to which the proposed rezoning would apply has changed, or is changing, to such a degree that it is in the public interest to encourage new uses, density, or intensity in the area through rezoning.

FINDINGS

Staff found no changed conditions that would impact the amendment or property(s). The subject parcel had a FLU change from MU-S to I, case number LSA-2014-02 (14-3ESR) in 2014. Also the parcel was rezoned from Villages Agricultural District (VAG-2), to General Industrial District (ID-2), case number Z-2014-12 on September 4, 2014.

Criterion e., LDC Sec. 2-7.2(b)(4)

Development patterns

Whether the proposed rezoning would contribute to or result in a logical and orderly development pattern.

FINDINGS

Based on the location of the parcel, the current zoning maps and the surrounding existing land uses, the proposed amendment would result in a logical and orderly development pattern. The large 56.08± acre parcel would allow for residential single family homes, which would be considered a less impact than a Industrial zoned property. A development along Isaacs Lane and Interstate-10 gives the site a close proximity to the interstate maximizing the use of existing roads and infrastructure. With the Detail Specific Area Plan (DSAP) area north of the interstate and zoned for industrial type uses already, the rezoning would have a good mix of development that is close to the interstate to maximize economic development.

Criterion (f) LDC Sec. 2-7.2(b)(4)

Effect on natural environment

Whether the proposed rezoning would increase the probability of any significant adverse impacts on the natural environment.

FINDINGS

According to the National Wetland Inventory, wetlands and hydric soils were indicated on the subject property. The applicant has provided a wetlands survey that identifies and delineates existing wetlands within the site. The applicant is also in the process of obtaining all required permits and implementing all necessary mitigation activities as dictated by the responsible Federal and State agencies. When applicable, further review during the Site Plan Review process will be necessary to determine if there would be any significant adverse impact on the natural environment.

CERTIFICATE OF REPORTER.....26

PROCEEDINGS

THE CHAIRMAN: The Board members have previously received the zoning -- rezoning hearing package for February 7th and the findings of fact.

The Chair will now entertain a motion to accept that rezoning hearing package with those findings of fact and the legal advertisement into evidence.

Do we have a motion?

MR. RUSHING: So moved.

MR. WINGATE: Second.

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion and a second.

All those in favor say "aye."

(Chorus of "ayes.")

THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion carries unanimously.

The rezoning hearing package with the findings of facts and the legal advisement will be marked and included in the record for all of today's cases.

I will now ask our court reporter to please swear in the members of the staff that will be testifying today.

Page 5

(Planning Board staff duly sworn.)
THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Horace, if anyone comes in after this, please make sure we get them sworn in for the record.
MR. JONES: David, transportation, needs to be sworn in. Transportation.
THE CHAIRMAN: If you'll please swear in David Forte.
(David Forte was duly sworn.)
THE CHAIRMAN: Board members, you've been previously provided resumes and qualifications on these staff members, that they are experts in the area of land use and planning.
Do any of you have questions concerning their qualifications or their ability to offer expert testimony?
(No response.)
THE CHAIRMAN: Hearing none, the Chair will entertain a motion to accept the staff members as qualified experts in the area of land use and planning.
MR. HOWARD: So moved.
THE CHAIRMAN: We have a motion.
Do we have a second?

Page 6

MR. RUSHING: Second.
THE CHAIRMAN: Second.
All those in favor, say "aye."
(Chorus of "ayes.")
THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?
(No response.)
THE CHAIRMAN: Motion carries.
At this hearing, the Planning Board is acting under its authority to hear and make recommendations to the Board of County Commissioners on rezoning applications.
These hearings are quasi-judicial in nature. Quasi-judicial hearings are like evidentiary hearings in a court of law. However, it is less formal.
All testimony will be given under oath, and anyone testifying before the Planning Board may be subject to cross-examination.
All documents and exhibits that the Planning Board considers will be entered into evidence and made part of the record.
Opinion testimony will be limited to experts, and closing arguments will be limited to the evidence in the record.
Before making a decision, the Planning

Page 7

Board will consider the relevant testimony, the exhibits entered into evidence, and the applicable laws.
Each individual who wishes to address the Planning Board must complete a speaker request form located at the back of the chambers. You will not be allowed to speak unless we have received a form.
Also, please note that you will not be -- only those individuals who speak today at this hearing will be allowed to speak before the Board of County Commission hearing. No new evidence can be presented at the Board of County Commission meeting, so all evidence must be presented today.
The Planning Board will make a recommendation for each rezoning request to the Board of County Commissioners. They will then review the testimony, documents and exhibits, consider the closing arguments, and make a final decision. All decisions by the BCC are final.
Anyone who wishes to seek judiciary review of that decision by the Board of County Commissioners must do so in a court of competent jurisdiction within 30 days that the Board of County Commission either approves or rejects the recommended order of the Planning Board.

All written or oral communications outside of this hearing with members of the Planning Board today is considered ex parte communication. Ex parte communications are presumed prejudicial under Florida law and must be disclosed, as provided in Board of County Commission Resolution 96-13.
As each case is heard, the Chair will ask any Board member that has had any ex parte communication to please identify themselves and describe the communication, as required by Section 2-7.2 of the Escambia County Land Development Code, the Planning Board's recommendations to the Board of County Commissioners shall include consideration of the following six approval conditions, if you could please bring those up on the board.
Consistency with the Comprehensive Plan. The proposed rezoning is consistent with the goals, objectives and policies of the Comprehensive Plan and not in conflict with any of its provisions.
Consistent with the LDC. The proposed rezoning is consistent with the stated purposes and intent of the Land Development Code and not in conflict with any of its provisions.

Compatibility. All land uses, development activities and conditions allowed by the proposed rezoning are compatible with the surrounding conforming uses, activities, conditions and able to coexist in relative proximity to them in a stable fashion over time, so that no use, activity or conditions negatively impacts another.

The appropriateness of a rezoning is not limited to any specific use that may be proposed but is evident for all permitted uses in the regressive rezoning.

The condition shall not apply to any conditional uses of the proposed district or compatibility with nonconforming or unapproved uses, activities or conditions.

D, changed conditions. The area of which the proposed rezoning would apply has changed or is changing to such a degree that it is in the public's interest to encourage new uses, densities, intensities throughout the rezoning area.

Page 10

E, development patterns. The proposed rezoning would contribute to or result in logical and orderly development pattern.

And F, the effect on the natural environment, the proposed rezoning would not increase the probability of any significant adverse impacts on the natural environment.

At the beginning of each case, as long as there are no objections from the applicant, the staff will present photography and zoning maps for the property.

Next we will hear from the applicant and any witnesses that they may wish to call. Then we will hear from the staff and any witnesses they may wish to call. And finally, we will hear from members of the general public that have completed a speaker request form.

We do have four cases today. Before we go into those cases, we do have a little bit of housekeeping for our Board.

Our Vice Chairman, unfortunately, has had a sudden illness and has left our Board, and so we will have to accept nominations for the Vice Chair today. You can nominate yourself or another Board member to be the Vice Chair, which would take over if I'm not here, or any other cases where I may need to recuse myself from the voting, so at this time nominations are open for a Vice Chair.

MR. WINGATE: Mr. Chairman, I nominate Mr. Rushing.

THE CHAIRMAN: Mr. Rushing, do you accept the nomination?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Come on. It's fun reading all this stuff.

MR. RUSHING: I will say, with trepidation I'll accept it, but I'd also like to make another nomination.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. RUSHING: I'd like to nominate Mr. Pyle, who is not currently here.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

Meredith, can we nominate him if he's not here? How does that work?

MS. CRAWFORD: Well, he would not have the ability to accept the nomination, being that he's absent.

THE CHAIRMAN: Yes.

MS. CRAWFORD: So I would say probably not.

Page 12

THE CHAIRMAN: How about this --

MR. RUSHING: Can we --

THE CHAIRMAN: -- Mr. Rushing?

MR. RUSHING: -- 'til he's here?

THE CHAIRMAN: I was going to say maybe you could accept the nomination for today, and then we could redo it again at the next one, if you don't want to.

MR. JONES: He'll be good. You'll be good. Mr. Rushing, you'll be very good.

THE CHAIRMAN: I promise I won't leave today. Okay? How's that?

Do we have any other nominations?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So for today, at least, Mr. Rushing.

MR. RUSHING: For today, at least.

THE CHAIRMAN: We'll bring this back up at our next meeting, in case -- I know Mr. Pyle has done similar things before, so he may feel a little more comfortable doing it because there is a lot to keep track of.

All right. Board members, Mr. Rushing has graciously accepted for today's meeting, so all those in favor please say "aye."

(Chorus of "ayes.")
THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed.
(No response.)
THE CHAIRMAN: All right, Mr. Rushing. I'm going to pass all this down to you. Okay.
Now, our next housekeeping item is that we are going to put our quasi-judicial hearings kind of in suspense, in limbo here for a few minutes because we have another agenda item that's actually on our Planning Board that has to be addressed before we can do the rezoning request.
And this sometimes happens when we have large-scale amendments, so we're going to just go into a brief recess on the quasi-judicial hearing.
And with that, I will open up the regular Planning Board meeting for February 7, 2017.
And on the regular Planning Board meeting, have we had proof of publication?
MS. MEADOR: Yes, sir. The ad ran on January 20th.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. And did that meet all of the legal requirements?

MS. MEADOR: Yes, sir.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. The Chair will entertain a motion to waive the reading of that legal.
MR. RUSHING: So moved.
THE CHAIRMAN: We have a motion.
Do we have a second?
MR. WINGATE: Second.
THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Motion and second.
All those in favor say "aye."
(Chorus of "ayes.")
THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?
(No response.)
THE CHAIRMAN: Motion carries.
(The Planning Board meeting regarding Case Z-2016-11 recessed at approximately 8:50 a.m.)
(Resumed at approximately 10:15 a.m.)
THE CHAIRMAN: I hereby call back to order the Escambia County Planning Board meeting quasi-judicial hearing for February 7th.
We already did go through our proof of publication approval. We do have a quorum for the meeting. I've already described the quasi-judicial process for the record.

We do have four cases to be heard today. The first case is Z-2016-11, Joe Rector Jr., Dewberry/Prebble-Rish and Jesse Rigby, who are acting as the agents for Briar Ridge, LLC, the owner, 11975 Beulah Road, 56.8 plus-minus acres, from industrial district to LDR, low-density residential district.
At this time I'll ask members of the Board: Has there been any ex parte communication with you, the applicant, agents, attorneys, witnesses, fellow Planning Board members or anyone from the general public prior to this hearing?
Also ask if you have visited the subject property.
Please also disclose if you are a relative of any of the parties or a business associate.
And starting down, Steve, any ex parte communication here?
MR. OPALENIK: No, sir.
THE CHAIRMAN: All right. And you have not visited the subject property or have any relatives involved?
MR. OPALENIK: I have not, and I do not.
THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you.

Ms. Hightower.
MS. HIGHTOWER: No to all.
THE CHAIRMAN: All right.
MR. HOWARD: No to all.
THE CHAIRMAN: Chairman, no to all, except what we've already been told here in this hearing on the Planning Board meeting.
MR. FEARS: No to all.
MR. INGWELL: No to all, with the exception of traveling by the property.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.
Mr. Wingate, is he back? No, not back in yet.
Mr. Rushing.
MR. RUSHING: No to all.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. We'll get Mr. Wingate when he gets back in.
Staff, was a notice of this hearing sent to all interested parties?
MS. MEADOR: Yes, sir.
THE CHAIRMAN: And was notice of the hearing also correctly posted on the subject property?
MS. MEADOR: Yes, sir.
THE CHAIRMAN: Mr. Rigby, are there any objections for us presenting the maps or the photography?

MR. RIGBY: No, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: Staff, if you would, please, present that first.

MR. FISHER: John Fisher, senior planner. And this is rezoning case Z-2016-11 from industrial to LDR.

This is a location map. This is the 500-foot zoning map. Current zoning is industrial.

This is the proposed zoning, with the -- leaving the north 37.3 acres industrial and proposed LDR in the southern half of 56 plus or minus acres.

Future land, industrial. And the proposed future land use, depending on the transmittal and the DEP adoption.

ELU, existing land use, apparently vacant.

This is the aerial wetlands map.

This is showing the AIPD, AIPD-2 on the south side of the parcel.

This is the proposed hearing sign.

Looking north along Beulah Road.

Looking south along Beulah Road.

Looking northwest along Beulah Road.

And the 2500-foot radius map for mail-out.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Mr. Rigby.

MR. RIGBY: Good morning, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: Good morning.

And again, Jesse Rigby representing Briar Ridge.

Mr. Chairman and Board, with the county's concurrence, I would like to ask that you consider all of the information and evidence presented in the future land use map amendment that's all been transcribed, and to enable -- I don't have any new additional evidence to offer, so I think that will expedite this process. And I have one or two comments on the additional factors that have to be addressed.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Let me get one thing on the record for housekeeping here, Mr. Rigby. Have you received a copy of the rezoning hearing package and the findings of fact?

MR. RIGBY: I have.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. And do you understand that you have the burden of providing substantial competent evidence that the rezoning is consistent with the Comprehensive Plan, furthers the goals, objectives and policies of that plan and is not in any conflict with the Land Development Code?

MR. RIGBY: I do.

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Thank you.

Ms. Meredith, do we --

MS. CRAWFORD: Yes, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: -- have any issues with bringing that information over, or do we need to restate it for the quasi-judicial hearing?

MS. CRAWFORD: What I would suggest -- I don't believe there's an issue, but I would suggest just procedurally, that there's a motion to accept and adopt all the prior testimony given today related to that future land use into this hearing.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MS. CRAWFORD: And then staff would go through their criteria. Mr. Rigby could address the criteria. And that way, technically the evidence for this particular hearing, you'd have all prior testimony, plus anything new they have to add related to the rezoning criteria.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Very good.

MR. RIGBY: And I concur. I think that's appropriate.

THE CHAIRMAN: We'll go ahead and take care of that at this point.

You've heard the recommendation.

Chair will entertain a motion to include all of the testimony from the LSA case prior heard.

Remember, we did have all of the witnesses and staff members under oath during that portion, and it was transcribed as well, so Chair will entertain a motion to use that as part of this evidence.

MR. FEARS: Make a motion to include.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Thank you, Eric.

Who has a second?

MR. RUSHING: Second.

THE CHAIRMAN: All those in favor say "aye."

(Chorus of "ayes.")

THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Motion carries.

Okay. Mr. Rigby, did you want to present or would you like for the staff to go through their findings and then you can come back and --

MR. RIGBY: I would reserve the right, in case something is said. I don't expect. But otherwise, we would ask that you adopt the county's findings.

And I will just comment, though, on the finding, of course, relating to consistency with the Comprehensive Plan.

So we all understand, it will become consistent with the Comprehensive Plan if the land use change recommended earlier to mixed-use suburban is ultimately approved.

MR. JONES: Agreed.

MR. RIGBY: And I think staff agrees with that. Otherwise, we are in complete concurrence with the staff's recommendation and findings, and it fully supports the request to rezone to LDR.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Ms. Crawford, in some cases where we don't have opposition or members of the public that want to speak on it, we've been able to fast-track by just accepting the staff's findings with that statement, that because we've had so much of the previous testimony, would you think that would be appropriate in this case?

MS. CRAWFORD: I believe that's fine, if the Board wishes to adopt and accept the findings of fact as presented in the written findings, and then the Board could question staff and/or Mr. Rigby if you have any questions about what's been presented in the written documents.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Before we do that, though, I do need to ask: Is there anyone -- there's no one that has signed up to speak on this rezoning from the public.

But like I said, we do give everyone an opportunity to speak, so is there anyone from the public that will be speaking on this rezoning?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Since there's no one from the public here to add testimony or opposed to it, the Chair will entertain a motion to just accept the entire findings from the staff in their written form. That way, John doesn't have to go through and read it all to us again. I think we're all familiar.

MR. RIGBY: Again, let's be sure that we adopt the legal description again that's in the package, which is the identical legal description, just to be sure we don't have a confusion there. That would be, I believe, the only caveat.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. And just in the essence of time, instead of having him read the entire thing again, the only portion that was pointed out was the finding that it is not consistent with the FLU, the future land use, but as Mr. Rigby has already stated, that has to go through the approval process before it can become consistent.

So this is kind of contingent upon that being approved through the process, and that goes both to the Department of Economic Opportunity and through the county process.

MS. CRAWFORD: And that's also noted in the staff's findings, that it will be compatible once that designation is changed.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Thank you. Very good.

So in the essence of time, if you want to keep it rolling, we can entertain a motion.

MR. RUSHING: I'd like to move to accept the findings, the staff's findings of facts, and also to make sure that the legal name is correct in the record.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. RUSHING: And to go ahead and approve.

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion to accept all the findings, with the noted legal.

Do we have a second?

MR. HOWARD: Second.

THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you, Ed.

All right. Any further discussion?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: All those in favor, say "aye."

(Chorus of "ayes.")

THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion carries.

Mr. Rigby, anything that you'd like to add now at this point?

MR. RIGBY: No, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Chair will entertain a motion on case Z-2016-11.

MR. RUSHING: I'd like to make a motion to approve the . . . what was . . .

THE CHAIRMAN: No.

MR. RUSHING: Approve Z-2016-11.
THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you, Mr. Rushing.
I'm sorry. We made a motion to forego having him read all of that into the record and accept the findings.
Now, this is the motion to actually go for approval for the rezoning request.
Do we have a second for this one?
MR. FEARS: Second.
THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you, Mr. Fears.
Any other discussion on this item?
(No response.)
THE CHAIRMAN: All those in favor say "aye."
(Chorus of "ayes.")
THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?
(No response.)
THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Motion carries.
(Hearing concluded.)

Re: Application of Briar Ridge, LLC for FLUM Amendment and Rezoning

Dear Planning Board Members:

I represent Briar Ridge, LLC, and will be appearing on the company's behalf at the Planning Board meeting that will consider the referenced application. Forwarded with this cover letter is an Addendum to the Application. The Addendum provides factual information and legal analysis that is both relevant and important. I am providing this Addendum well in advance of the Planning Board hearing so that it can be reviewed by the Planning Board and its legal counsel, and by the Development Services Department staff, prior to the Planning Board hearing.

I encourage your legal counsel and the Development Services Department staff to let me know if there are additional question I should address in advance of the hearing.

Sincerely,

Jesse W. Rigby

ADDENDUM; SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION FOR PLANNING BOARD HEARING
ON APPLICATIONS OF BRIAR RIDGE, LLC
LSA 2016-03
REZONING Z-2016-11

Procedural History

The above referenced land use applications came before the Planning Board on December 6, 2016. Briar Ridge's applications had been fully briefed by the Development Services Department. At the beginning of the hearing, a question was raised as to whether the applications had been advertised properly. The issue surfaced because the applications referred to the entire parcel (approximately 93 acres), but the intent of the applications was to change the Future Land Use Map (FLUM) and zoning for less than 60 acres. The decision was made to re-advertise the hearing to reference the correct acreage.

Summary of Additional Factual and Legal Issues that Surfaced After the Planning Board Hearing

After additional review of the Staff analysis for Z-2016-11, the Manager of Briar Ridge, LLC ("Manager"), was made aware of the Staff comment under rezoning criterion (b) that development of the property for residential use would require the dedication of additional right-of-way ("ROW") along Issac Lane. The Staff report referred to dedication of 100 feet, but subsequent discussions with County Engineering and Transportation staff members increased the possible dedication of ROW to 300 feet.

The property subject to the applications is under contract to be sold for use as a subdivision consistent with LDR zoning. The sale price of the property is based on a 110 unit single-family lot subdivision. Loss of 300 feet for future ROW for development of Issac Lane would result in termination of the sale contract.

This problem led to my engagement by Briar Ridge, and then led to two meetings with senior county staff members. The first meeting was in December. The second meeting held in early January included the County Administrator. The first meeting allowed each side to set out their concerns and issues. The second meeting resulted in a detailed discussion of potential county needs and the demonstrable financial impact on Briar Ridge. Legal issues addressed below were also discussed, and in my opinion, both sides have a good understanding and appreciation of the legal issues.

The second meeting was productive, and although the County Administrator and his staff did not state any commitment, we believe the County's position on the issues will be defined prior to the Planning Board hearing.

Relevant Historical Facts

Although I am confident these facts will be described in more detail in the Staff Reports for LSA 2016-03 or Z-2016-11, I am providing a brief recitation of facts in this Addendum.

On December 13, 2007, the County adopted Ordinance 2007-81, which is referred to as the Corridor Preservation Ordinance. A copy of the complete records from the minutes of the BCC adoption is attached as Exhibit BR-1. The Ordinance refers to a ROW requirement for a "beltway" of 300 feet, and at Briar Ridge's first meeting with county staff, the demand for dedication of 300 feet remained on the table, although staff members said that the actual requirement might be less than 300 feet. At the second meeting, members of the County Transportation Department advised the attendees that the actual ROW need would be 104 feet, if the connector between Nine Mile Road and a new I-10 interchange is ever approved and built. We were also advised that a final decision on the interchange and a "beltway" is years away.

Briar Ridge bought the 93 acres from Heron's Forest Development Co. in February 2008. The principals in Heron's Forest provided no notice of the adoption of the Corridor Preservation Ordinance. We have confirmed that the principals—Garrett Walton and Dick Baker—had no knowledge of the adoption of the ordinance. A letter from Garrett and Dick is attached as Exhibit BR-2.

The Manager knew that the title insurance policy issued in 2008 did not disclose the County's Corridor Preservation Ordinance. To confirm whether this lack of information was a title insurance issue, in December 2016 Briar Ridge obtained an Ownership and Encumbrances report from Westcor Title. A copy of the cover letter to the O & E report is attached as Exhibit BR-3 (complete report of 142 pages is available). The easements of record found by Westcor are in favor of Gulf Power. Westcor did not find any reference in the Official Records of the County that would have provided notice to Briar Ridge that the Corridor Preservation Ordinance was imposed on its property.

Based on our investigation, our conclusion is that the County failure to record and index the Corridor Preservation Ordinance in the Official Records of the County, and the failure to give actual notice to the property owner, resulted in potential significant financial harm to Briar Ridge, depending on how the County responds to the pending requests for land use changes.

It would have been easy to give the owners of the Briar Ridge property constructive notice of the potential impact on the property. The first legal description in Ordinance 2007-81 of the property subjected to the corridor preservation includes all of the Briar Ridge property, plus some additional property. The land subjected to the "preservation" is not just 300 feet, but all 93 acres.

In an effort to provide the Planning Board with full disclosure, I have determined that the potential impact of Ordinance 2007-81 was raised by county transportation planners at the Planning Board hearing in 2014 that resulted in the change of the FLU for the property from MU-S to Industrial (LSA 2014-02) and the zoning from VAG-2 (1 unit per 5 acres) to ID-2 (Z-2014-12). Mr. Bolley ("Bo") Johnson, Manager of Briar Ridge, was not made aware of the discussion, and so this potential issue did not come to his attention until December 2016.

The most important information we can glean from the 2014 land use change hearings is that the County did not object to either the change in FLU from MU-S to Industrial, or the zoning change from VAG-2 to ID-2, although this undoubtedly increased the fair market value of the Briar Ridge property.

Another "fact" identified by County staff is that Issac Lane is a county maintained dirt road that is within the scope and coverage of Fla. Stat. 95.361. This statute has the effect of conveying fee simple title to the County of the county maintained portion of Issac Lane, subject to the county complying with procedural requirements. The exact width of the available (existing) ROW is believed by county staff to be between 20 and 29 feet. Therefore, the County has access today to at least 20 of the 104 feet needed, without cost to the county.

Adverse Impact on Briar Ridge if Forced to Donate 104 Feet ROW to the County

The sale contract is based on sale of the 56 acres for use as a residential subdivision of 110 single-family lots. This subdivision layout provides for a setback from the property boundary of 50 feet. Briar Ridge told the County Administrator that it will donate to the County this 50 feet, at no cost, upon final adoption of ordinances changing the FLU and zoning as requested. This donation will apply to the portion of the Briar Ridge property that abuts the 56 acres subject to the land use changes.

Dedication of the County of more than 50 feet would eliminate the western most row of lots from the current layout, resulting in a loss of 36 lots. The buyer has said it would consider developing the property at 74 lots, but only after a price reduction of $750,000. Therefore, at present the best available information is that the financial impact on Briar Ridge is $750,000.

Relevant Legal Analysis if the County Required Dedication of ROW as Consideration to Grant the FLUM Change to MU-S or the Rezoning to LDR

This submission is not intended to be a detailed legal analysis of the constitutional law issues. Ms. Meredith Crawford is aware, at least generally, of my position on this topic, and I am confident she will let the Planning Board know if there is a disagreement as to the relevant legal principles. The Florida and U. S. Supreme Court decisions on the subject being addressed are generally consistent.

In constitutional law cases, the requirement/demand by a local government that either a property owner or a developer dedicate, or donate, land in return for obtaining some form of land use approval, is commonly referred to as an "exaction." Up to a certain threshold, an "exaction" is constitutionally permissible, and is present in many subdivision developments. A requirement that an owner or developer donate land and install vehicle turn lanes and deceleration or acceleration traffic lanes is a common "exaction" that typically does not run afoul of constitutional prohibitions forbidding the taking of private property without the payment of "just compensation."

Although the body of federal and state case law is much broader than described in this Addendum, two of the more important cases are summarized below.

In Nollan v. California Coastal Commission, 483 U. S. 825 (1980), the U. S. Supreme Court held that with respect to a discretionary decision by a local government to issue a permit, the government can impose a condition on issuance of the permit (an exaction), without effecting a taking of property requiring the payment of "just compensation," if the condition "serves the same governmental purpose as the development ban." For example, the exaction of land from the property owner to use for a turn lane into a subdivision protects the public by reducing the danger to the public of motorists slowing down to turn into a new subdivision.

In Dolan v. City of Tigard, 512 U. S. 374 (1994), the Court held that for the Nollan exaction to be constitutional, there must be a "rough proportionality" between the condition (exaction) imposed and the impact of the proposed development. For example, the use of private land for a turn lane is roughly proportional to the impact of the subdivision, in most cases. However, the constitutionality might be in question if the turn lane is required to serve only a 5 lot subdivision.

The purpose behind these constitutional doctrines is to prevent government from forcing an individual property owner to bear financial burdens that should be borne by the public as a whole.

The importance of these cases to the Briar Ridge applications is that a required exaction (required dedication of 104 feet for ROW along Issac Lane would NOT have rational proportionality or relationship to the impact of the proposed development of the property. Instead, the purpose of the exaction by the County would be as stated in the staff report to the BCC for the adoption of Ordinance 2007-81. "This will alleviate negative impacts to future development or future roadway project cost. This Ordinance will also allow Escambia County to be more competitive for future Federal and State grants based on criteria created in 2006." Said more directly, if the County can prevent development and require dedication of the property, the cost of acquiring private property for a public purpose by use of eminent domain will be greatly reduced. This approach has been soundly condemned by the courts in two significant cases.

In Joint Ventures v. Fla. Dept. of Transportation, 563 So. 2d 622 (Fla. 1990), the Florida Supreme Court declared invalid a Florida statute that allowed DOT to file a "map of reservation" in public records; thereby prohibiting the issuance of building permits. The land at issue was needed by DOT for a stormwater facility to be built in conjunction with widening a highway. The recorded map of reservation imposed a setback from the centerline of a roadway, and within this setback permits could not be issued for development of the property. The purpose of the map was to prevent the development of property that might be needed in the future. Development of the property would make the property more expensive when the State was ready to acquire the property by eminent domain. The map of reservation statute was held to be invalid as a violation of the United States and Florida constitutions because it was an impermissible taking of private property without the payment of just compensation.

After Joint Ventures, FDOT shifted its pressure to local governments and asked them to act to preserve potential future ROW from development. The result was the adoption of ordinances by some local governments, like the adoption by Escambia County of Ordinance 2007-81, where the intent was to prevent land use changes within designated transportation corridor preservation areas; where the land use changes would potentially increase the future cost of acquiring the land by eminent domain. Probably the most notorious of these county ordinances was adopted in 2006 by Pasco County. A federal district judge described the Pasco scheme in the following manner, before declaring the ordinance unconstitutional.

> Preferring to avoid the payment of "just compensation" after acquiring the necessary land by eminent domain, Pasco County has hatched a novel and effective but constitutionally problematic idea, a most uncommon regulatory regime that is crowned by Pasco County's "Right of Way Preservation Ordinance." The unremarkable part of the regime designates new "transportation corridors," which expand certain Pasco County highways.
>
> For most landowners, whose land is encroached by the transportation corridor but who have no plans to develop the land adjacent to the encroached land, no immediate consequence (and no constitutional jeopardy) occurs; Pasco County will take the expanded right-of-way -- when needed -- by eminent domain and will pay "just compensation" as determined by a jury in a Pasco County circuit court.
> The remarkable part of the regime and the constitutional mischief appear in the instance of a landowner whose land is encroached by the new transportation corridor but who plans to develop the remaining land, which adjoins the encroachment. The Ordinance requires Pasco County to deny the landowner's development permit and to forbid development of the land adjoining the new transportation corridor unless the landowner "dedicates" (conveys in fee simple) to Pasco County -- for free -- the land within the new transportation corridor. In other words, to avoid the nettlesome payment of "just compensation," the Ordinance empowers Pasco County to purposefully leverage the permitting power to compel a landowner to dedicate land encroached by a transportation corridor. In Pasco County, if there is no free dedication, there is no permit.

> As the Pasco County Attorney proudly declares, "The right of way preservation ordinance drafted and defended by this office (which is one of only a few in the state) saves the County millions of dollars each year in right of way acquisition costs, business damages and severance damages." The bully result is effected by threatening to deny every proposed new use of private land, from medical clinic to beauty parlor, from restaurant to bait shop, and by coercing everyone, great and small, rich and poor, popular and unpopular, unless the landowner completes the mandatory "voluntary" dedication of real estate.

Hillcrest Property, LLP v. Pasco County, 939 F.Supp 2d 1240 (M.D. Fla. 2013).

Escambia County's Ordinance 2007-81 is not equivalent to the bold "land grab" of the Pasco ordinance; but it suffers from the same constitutional infirmity if the County actually imposes a requirement that Briar Ridge donate land, at no cost to the county.

The buyer of the Briar Ridge property built a 50 foot setback into its proposed development. Based on this action, Briar Ridge told the County Administrator that it will donate this 50 foot strip in fee simple to the County, and at no cost, if the future land use and rezoning is approved. This runs along the boundary of the 56 acres subject to the application.

We submit there is no lawful objection to the requested future land use and rezoning applications. The County submitted its staff reports for the December Planning Board hearings. The reports are of record and no facts have changed since that submission by the County. A decision by the County to now recommend denial of either application would demonstrate that the County is seeking to go down the forbidden path taken by Pasco County.

Exh BR-1

BCC Special Session: 12-13-2007

BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
Escambia County, Florida

DEPARTMENT: Planning and Engineering

FROM: T. Lloyd Kerr, AICP, Director

DATE: December 10, 2007

ISSUE: 8:48 am Thursday, December 13, 2007 Public Hearing
Comprehensive Plan Amendment (CPA 2007-02D)

RECOMMENDATION:

That the Board review and adopt the following:

Comprehensive Plan Amendment, CPA 2007-02D Transportation Corridor Preservation Ordinance, composed of a draft ordinance and attachments herein, to amend Part II of The Escambia County Code of Ordinances (1999), The Escambia County Comprehensive Plan, as amended; amending portions thereof as follows:

Comprehensive Plan text amendment, amending Chapter 8, "Transportation Element" providing for references to the protection of transportation corridors.

BACKGROUND:

In establishing the Twenty Year "Cost Feasible" Plan, the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) and the FL-AL Transportation Planning Organization (TPO) have requested local governments implement measures to ensure roadway projects remain "cost feasible".

The primary concerns, based on past roadway capacity projects, are that local governments reduce the impact of development adjacent to a future corridor improvement projects and reduce land use intensities which may increase the cost of needed right-of-way. Both concerns have and will continue to add a substantial cost to planned projects prior to construction.

This Ordinance, by intent, is to ensure that future development and future roadway projects do not conflict with each other in order to meet future Transportation Level of Service demands. This will alleviate negative impacts to future development or future roadway project cost. This Ordinance will also allow Escambia County to be more competitive for future Federal and State grants based on criteria created in 2006.

The transmittal hearing was held August 2, 2007 where the amendment and ordinance were approved by the BCC and forwarded to DCA. County staff received the DCA

8:48 a.m. PH

Objection, Recommendation and Comments Report on October 24, 2007. Staff is recommending adoption of the ordinance with no changes.

This is part of the second of the two Comprehensive Plan Amendment packages allowed by Florida Statute for the Year 2007.

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

No budgetary impacts are expected by the approval of this amendment.

LEGAL CONSIDERATION/SIGN-OFF:

The attached ordinance was reviewed and approved for legal sufficiency by Alison P. Rogers, Deputy County Attorney. Any suggested legal comments are attached herein with the respective ordinance to which they pertain.

PERSONNEL:

No additional personnel are anticipated for the implementation of this amendment.

POLICY/REQUIREMENT FOR BOARD ACTION/DISCUSSION:

The amendment is consistent with State Statutes (F.S. 163.3161 through 163.3215), Florida Administrative Code 9J-5 and with the Board's goal " to increase citizen involvement in, access to, and approval of, County government activities."

IMPLEMENTATION REQUIREMENTS:

Following adoption public hearings and upon recommended approval by the Planning Board and Board of County Commissioners the amendment will be returned to DCA for approval. Upon approval, DCA will issue a Notice of Intent to find In Compliance, at which time the ordinance will be forwarded to the Municipal Code Corporation for codification in the Official Comprehensive Plan of Escambia County.

8:48 a.m. PH

COORDINATION WITH OTHER AGENCIES/PERSONS:

The proposed amendments were prepared in cooperation with the County Attorney's Office, the Planning and Engineering Department, Office of Transportation and Traffic Operations, and interested citizens. Planning & Engineering will insure proper advertisement.

ORDINANCE 2007-__

AN ORDINANCE OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, AMENDING PART II, OF THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY CODE OF ORDINANCES (1999), THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY COMPREHENSIVE PLAN, AS AMENDED; AMENDING CHAPTER 8, THE TRANSPORTATION ELEMENT; AMENDING OBJECTIVE 8.A.4 TO PROVIDE FOR PROTECTION OF PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; PROVIDING IN POLICY 8.A.4.1 THAT REZONINGS THAT PROPOSE AN INCREASE IN DENSITY OR INTENSITY OF USE SHALL BE DISCOURAGED IN DESIGNATED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; PROVIDING IN POLICY 8.A.4.2 FOR PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR AND RIGHT-OF-WAY PROTECTIONS AND ACQUISITIONS; CREATING A NEW POLICY 8.A.4.4 TO ESTABLISH PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; DESIGNATING THE BEULAH EXPRESSWAY AS A PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; PROVIDING FOR INCLUSION IN THE CODE; AND PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

WHEREAS, pursuant to Chapter 163, Part II, Florida Statutes, Escambia County adopted its Comprehensive Plan on October 20, 1993; and,

WHEREAS, Chapter 125, Florida Statutes, empowers the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida to prepare, amend, and enforce comprehensive plans for the development of the County; and,

WHEREAS, the Escambia County Planning Board (LPA) and the Board of County Commissioners have conducted public hearings and reviewed and approved the changes to the Plan and authorized the transmittal of the proposed changes to the Florida Department of Community Affairs (DCA) for review and comment prior to considering the changes (amendments) for adoption; and,

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners, Escambia County, Florida finds that the adoption of these amendments is in the best interest of the County and its citizens.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida as follows:

Section 1. Purpose and Intent.

This Ordinance is enacted to carry out the purpose and intent of, and exercise the authority set out, in the Local Government Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Regulation Act, sections 163.3161 through 163.3215, Fla. Stat. and Chapter 9J-5, Florida Administrative Code.

Section 2. Title of Comprehensive Plan Amendment.

This Comprehensive Plan Amendment for Escambia County, Florida shall be entitled "Comprehensive Plan Amendment 2007-02D - Transportation Corridor Preservation."

Section 3. Changes to the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan.

Part II of the Escambia County Code of Ordinances (1999), the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan, as Amended, is further amended as set forth hereto and made part hereof to include changes as follows:

OBJECTIVE 8.A.4: TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR AND RIGHT-OF-WAY PROTECTION

Continually, the county shall provide for the protection of proposed transportation corridors as well as existing and future rights-of-way from encroachment by including appropriate regulations within the LDC (reference Policy 7.A.1.1) and implementing Policies 8.A.4.1 through ~~8.A.4.3~~ 8.A.4.4 among others.

Policy 8.A.4.1: Rezonings and Zoning Setback Enforcement

The county shall continue to enforce its zoning ordinance and include said ordinance within the LDC. Note: The zoning ordinance contains setback provisions, which will aid in the protection of existing and future rights-of-way, including transportation corridors, from building encroachment ~~in the "zoned" areas of the county~~. The County shall regulate density and intensity within the existing or designated transportation corridor areas that may interfere with right-of-way needs. Prior to completion of a Project Development and Environmental Impact (PD&E) study for a capacity improvement project, standard right-of-way will be considered as follows:

Major Collectors	80'
Major Arterials	125'
Beltways	300'

Policy 8.A.4.2: Right-of-Way Protection for Existing and Planned Roadways

The county shall require the set aside of right-of-way necessary to comply with programmed roadway widening or, as necessary, for proposed transportation corridors.

Policy 8.A.4.3: Scenic Roadways

Because of their unique scenic character, and related historic and tourist significance, Scenic Highway (SR-10A) and Perdido Key Drive (SR 292) are designated "scenic roadways." Parcels adjacent to these rights-of-way shall be the subject of special sign controls in the LDC.

Policy 8.A.4.4: Proposed Transportation Corridors

The County shall make efforts to inform the public about the location of proposed transportation corridors. Such proposed transportation corridors are to be initially designated in this section, the adopted Transportation Planning Organization's "Cost Feasible Plan", the proposed or adopted County Capital Improvement Plan or in any proposed or adopted DRI or development plan. Transportation corridor protection regulations shall be incorporated in the LDC.

The Beulah Expressway is designated as a proposed transportation corridor. Maps and descriptions of the proposed north/south corridor and the east/west connecting corridors are on file as Exhibits A and B to Ordinance 2007-02D.

Section 4. SEVERABILITY.

It is declared the intent of the Board of County Commissioners that if any subsection, clause, sentence, provision or phrase of this Ordinance is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by a Court of competent jurisdiction, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not be so construed as to render invalid or unconstitutional the remaining provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 5. INCLUSION IN THE CODE.

It is the intention of the Board of County Commissioners that the provisions of this Ordinance shall become and be made a part of the Escambia County Code; and that the sections of this Ordinance may be renumbered or

8:48 a.m. PH

relettered and the word "ordinance" may be changed to "section," "article," or such other appropriate word or phrase in order to accomplish such intentions.

Section 6. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This effective date of this plan amendment shall be: The date a final order is issued by the Department of Community Affairs finding the amendment to be in compliance in accordance with Chapter 163.3184 Fla. Stat., or the date a final order is issued by the Administration Commission finding the amendment to be in compliance in accordance with Section 163.3184, Fla. Stat.

Re: Beulah property

Dear Bo,

This letter is in reference to a tract of land in Section 34, Township 1 North, Range 31 West, Escambia County that Herons Forest Development Company (which is now dissolved, but was active at all times pertinent to the matter at hand, and the undersigned were it's only officers, directors and shareholders at that time) conveyed to Briar Ridge, LLC, on February 8, 2008, by instrument recorded in O.R. Book 6285, Page 1699, of the Public Records od Escambia County (the "Subject Property").

Neither of us has any recollection of any notice, letter or other communication of any kind from Escambia County, or any Escambia County official or employee, concerning the Subject Property relating to a rezoning, taking, condemnation, imposition of an easement or reservation, regulation of use, or similar prior to the conveyance detailed above. Further, being in the real estate business, both of us were always attentive to communications and regulations from local governments. Let there be no doubt that any communication from Escambia County about any changed land use regulation of the Subject Property would have been memorable, and not overlooked or forgotten.

Either, or both, of us will be pleased to answer any further questions you or others might have concerning this matter.

Sincerely,

Richard R. Baker

3. Amendment Request

A. Please provide a general description of the proposed zoning request, explaining why it is necessary and/or appropriate.

The current property was previously zoned for low density residential. The parcel was rezoned in anticipation of a future interchange at I-10 and Beulah Road to facilitate industrial use at this location. The market has since evolved making the more consistent zoning of the south 56 ac back to LDR with the northern portion remaining ID-2

B. Rezoning Approval Conditions – Please address ALL the following approval conditions for your rezoning request. (use supplement sheets as needed)

1. Consistent with Comprehensive Plan. The proposed rezoning is consistent with the goals, objectives, and policies of the Comprehensive Plan and not in conflict with any of its provisions.

Changing of the proposed zoning is consistent with that allowed by the pending Mixed-Use Suburban FLU, and the permitted uses of the proposed LDR are consistent with the stated intent of MU-S.

2. Consistent with LDC. The proposed rezoning is consistent with the stated purposes and intent of the LDC and not in conflict with any of its provisions.

The primary intent of the district is to provide for large-lot suburban type residential neighborhood development that blends aspects of rural openness with the benefits of urban street connectivity, and at greater density than the Rural Residential district. Residential uses within the LDR district are predominantly detached single-family dwellings , as these as proposed. The surrounding neighborhoods are all LDR.

3. Compatibility. All land uses, development activities, and conditions allowed by the proposed zoning are compatible with the surrounding conforming uses, activities and conditions and are able to coexist in relative proximity to them in a stable fashion over time such that no use, activity, or condition negatively impacts another. The appropriateness of the rezoning is not limited to any specific use that may be proposed but is evident for all permitted uses of the requested zoning. This condition shall not apply to any conditional uses of the proposed district or compatibility with nonconforming or unapproved uses, activities, or conditions.

The property is surrounded by properties zoned LDR. The remaining property to the north that will remain ID-2 is sufficiently located across the existing wetland to provide necessary buffering.

4. Changed conditions. The area to which the proposed rezoning would apply has changed, or is changing, to such a degree that it is in the public interest to encourage new uses, density, or intensity in the area through rezoning.

The property included in this proposed rezoning is scheduled to be submitted to Escambia County for the development review for a future residential subdivision. With the LDR zoning, such use and density would be allowed.

5. Development patterns. The proposed rezoning would contribute to or result in a logical and orderly development pattern.

LDR would contribute to a pattern of logical and orderly development.

6. Effect on natural environment. The proposed rezoning would not increase the probability of any significant adverse impacts on the natural environment.

The approximately 26 acres of jurisdictional wetlands preliminarily identified within and adjacent to the subject property require protection from most uses. The actual presence and extent of adverse impacts from future development on the parcel would be confirmed through review of the development for compliance with applicable LDC regulations regardless of the zoning.

4. Please complete the following Forms: Concurrency Determination Acknowledgement and Affidavit of Owner/Limited Power of Attorney (if applicable).

CONCURRENCY DETERMINATION ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Property Reference Number(s): 34-1N-31-2101-000-001

Property Address: 11975 BEULAH ROAD

I/We acknowledge and agree that no future development for which concurrency of required facilities and services must be certified shall be approved for the subject parcel(s) without the issuance of a certificate of concurrency for the development based on the actual densities and intensities proposed in the future development's permit application.

I/We also acknowledge and agree that approval of a zoning district amendment (rezoning) or Future Land Use Map amendment does not certify, vest, or otherwise guarantee that concurrency of required facilities and services is, or will be, available for any future development of the subject parcels.

I/We further acknowledge and agree that no development for which concurrency must be certified shall be approved unless at least one of the following minimum conditions of the Comprehensive Plan will be met for each facility and service of the County's concurrency management system prior to development approval:

a. The necessary facilities or services are in place at the time a development permit is issued.

b. A development permit is issued subject to the condition that the necessary facilities and services will be in place and available to serve the new development at the time of the issuance of a certificate of occupancy.

c. For parks and recreation facilities and roads, the necessary facilities are under construction at the time the development permit is issued.

d. For parks and recreation facilities, the necessary facilities are the subject of a binding executed contract for the construction of the facilities at the time the development permit is issued and the agreement requires that facility construction must commence within one year of the issuance of the development permit.

e. The necessary facilities and services are guaranteed in an enforceable development agreement. An enforceable development agreement may include, but is not limited to, development agreements pursuant to Section 163.3220, F.S., or as amended, or an agreement or development order issued pursuant to Chapter 380, F.S., or as amended. For wastewater, solid waste, potable water, and stormwater facilities, any such agreement will guarantee the necessary facilities and services to be in place and available to serve the new development at the time of the issuance of a certificate of occupancy.

f. For roads, the necessary facilities needed to serve the development are included in the first three years of the applicable Five-Year Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) Work Program or are in place or under actual construction no more than three years after the issuance of a County development order or permit.

I HEREBY ACKNOWLEDGE THAT I HAVE READ, UNDERSTAND AND AGREE WITH THE ABOVE STATEMENT ON THIS 13th DAY OF JANUARY, YEAR OF 2017.

ORDINANCE ADOPTED AT THE 8:48 AM PUBLIC HEARING WHICH HAS NOT YET BEEN RETURNED FROM THE FLORIDA DEPARTMENT OF STATE

BCC Special Session: 12-13-2007

BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
Escambia County, Florida

DEPARTMENT: Planning and Engineering

FROM: T. Lloyd Kerr, AICP, Director

DATE: December 10, 2007

ISSUE: 8:48 am Thursday, December 13, 2007 Public Hearing
Comprehensive Plan Amendment (CPA 2007-02D)

RECOMMENDATION:

That the Board review and adopt the following:

Comprehensive Plan Amendment, CPA 2007-02D Transportation Corridor Preservation Ordinance, composed of a draft ordinance and attachments herein, to amend Part II of The Escambia County Code of Ordinances (1999), The Escambia County Comprehensive Plan, as amended; amending portions thereof as follows:

Comprehensive Plan text amendment, amending Chapter 8, "Transportation Element" providing for references to the protection of transportation corridors.

BACKGROUND:

In establishing the Twenty Year "Cost Feasible" Plan, the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) and the FL-AL Transportation Planning Organization (TPO) have requested local governments implement measures to ensure roadway projects remain "cost feasible".

The primary concerns, based on past roadway capacity projects, are that local governments reduce the impact of development adjacent to a future corridor improvement projects and reduce land use intensities which may increase the cost of needed right-of-way. Both concerns have and will continue to add a substantial cost to planned projects prior to construction.

This Ordinance, by intent, is to ensure that future development and future roadway projects do not conflict with each other in order to meet future Transportation Level of Service demands. This will alleviate negative impacts to future development or future roadway project cost. This Ordinance will also allow Escambia County to be more competitive for future Federal and State grants based on criteria created in 2006.

The transmittal hearing was held August 2, 2007 where the amendment and ordinance were approved by the BCC and forwarded to DCA. County staff received the DCA

Objection, Recommendation and Comments Report on October 24, 2007. Staff is recommending adoption of the ordinance with no changes.

This is part of the second of the two Comprehensive Plan Amendment packages allowed by Florida Statute for the Year 2007.

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

No budgetary impacts are expected by the approval of this amendment.

LEGAL CONSIDERATION/SIGN-OFF:

The attached ordinance was reviewed and approved for legal sufficiency by Alison P. Rogers, Deputy County Attorney. Any suggested legal comments are attached herein with the respective ordinance to which they pertain.

PERSONNEL:

No additional personnel are anticipated for the implementation of this amendment.

POLICY/REQUIREMENT FOR BOARD ACTION/DISCUSSION:

The amendment is consistent with State Statutes (F.S. 163.3161 through 163.3215), Florida Administrative Code 9J-5 and with the Board's goal " to increase citizen involvement in, access to, and approval of, County government activities."

IMPLEMENTATION REQUIREMENTS:

Following adoption public hearings and upon recommended approval by the Planning Board and Board of County Commissioners the amendment will be returned to DCA for approval. Upon approval, DCA will issue a Notice of Intent to find In Compliance, at which time the ordinance will be forwarded to the Municipal Code Corporation for codification in the Official Comprehensive Plan of Escambia County.

COORDINATION WITH OTHER AGENCIES/PERSONS:

The proposed amendments were prepared in cooperation with the County Attorney's Office, the Planning and Engineering Department, Office of Transportation and Traffic Operations, and interested citizens. Planning & Engineering will insure proper advertisement.

ORDINANCE 2007-__

AN ORDINANCE OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, AMENDING PART II, OF THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY CODE OF ORDINANCES (1999), THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY COMPREHENSIVE PLAN, AS AMENDED; AMENDING CHAPTER 8, THE TRANSPORTATION ELEMENT; AMENDING OBJECTIVE 8.A.4 TO PROVIDE FOR PROTECTION OF PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; PROVIDING IN POLICY 8.A.4.1 THAT REZONINGS THAT PROPOSE AN INCREASE IN DENSITY OR INTENSITY OF USE SHALL BE DISCOURAGED IN DESIGNATED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; PROVIDING IN POLICY 8.A.4.2 FOR PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR AND RIGHT-OF-WAY PROTECTIONS AND ACQUISITIONS; CREATING A NEW POLICY 8.A.4.4 TO ESTABLISH PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; DESIGNATING THE BEULAH EXPRESSWAY AS A PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; PROVIDING FOR INCLUSION IN THE CODE; AND PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

WHEREAS, pursuant to Chapter 163, Part II, Florida Statutes, Escambia County adopted its Comprehensive Plan on October 20, 1993; and,

WHEREAS, Chapter 125, Florida Statutes, empowers the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida to prepare, amend, and enforce comprehensive plans for the development of the County; and,

WHEREAS, the Escambia County Planning Board (LPA) and the Board of County Commissioners have conducted public hearings and reviewed and approved the changes to the Plan and authorized the transmittal of the proposed changes to the Florida Department of Community Affairs (DCA) for review and comment prior to considering the changes (amendments) for adoption; and,

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners, Escambia County, Florida finds that the adoption of these amendments is in the best interest of the County and its citizens.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida as follows:

Section 1. Purpose and Intent.

This Ordinance is enacted to carry out the purpose and intent of, and exercise the authority set out, in the Local Government Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Regulation Act, sections 163.3161 through 163.3215, Fla. Stat. and Chapter 9J-5, Florida Administrative Code.

Section 2. Title of Comprehensive Plan Amendment.

This Comprehensive Plan Amendment for Escambia County, Florida shall be entitled "Comprehensive Plan Amendment 2007-02D - Transportation Corridor Preservation."

Section 3. Changes to the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan.

Part II of the Escambia County Code of Ordinances (1999), the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan, as Amended, is further amended as set forth hereto and made part hereof to include changes as follows:

OBJECTIVE 8.A.4: TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR AND RIGHT-OF-WAY PROTECTION

Continually, the county shall provide for the protection of proposed transportation corridors as well as existing and future rights-of-way from encroachment by including appropriate regulations within the LDC (reference Policy 7.A.1.1) and implementing Policies 8.A.4.1 through ~~8.A.4.3~~ 8.A.4.4 among others.

Policy 8.A.4.1: Rezonings and Zoning Setback Enforcement

The county shall continue to enforce its zoning ordinance and include said ordinance within the LDC. Note: The zoning ordinance contains setback provisions, which will aid in the protection of existing and future rights-of-way, including transportation corridors, from building encroachment ~~in the "zoned" areas of the county~~. The County shall regulate density and intensity within the existing or designated transportation corridor areas that may interfere with right-of-way needs. Prior to completion of a Project Development and Environmental Impact (PD&E) study for a capacity improvement project, standard right-of-way will be considered as follows:

Major Collectors	80'
Major Arterials	125'
Beltways	300'

Policy 8.A.4.2: Right-of-Way Protection for Existing and Planned Roadways

The county shall require the set aside of right-of-way necessary to comply with programmed roadway widening or, as necessary, for proposed transportation corridors.

Policy 8.A.4.3: Scenic Roadways

Because of their unique scenic character, and related historic and tourist significance, Scenic Highway (SR-10A) and Perdido Key Drive (SR 292) are designated "scenic roadways." Parcels adjacent to these rights-of-way shall be the subject of special sign controls in the LDC.

Policy 8.A.4.4: Proposed Transportation Corridors

The County shall make efforts to inform the public about the location of proposed transportation corridors. Such proposed transportation corridors are to be initially designated in this section, the adopted Transportation Planning Organization's "Cost Feasible Plan", the proposed or adopted County Capital Improvement Plan or in any proposed or adopted DRI or development plan. Transportation corridor protection regulations shall be incorporated in the LDC.

The Beulah Expressway is designated as a proposed transportation corridor. Maps and descriptions of the proposed north/south corridor and the east/west connecting corridors are on file as Exhibits A and B to Ordinance 2007-02D.

Section 4. SEVERABILITY.

It is declared the intent of the Board of County Commissioners that if any subsection, clause, sentence, provision or phrase of this Ordinance is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by a Court of competent jurisdiction, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not be so construed as to render invalid or unconstitutional the remaining provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 5. INCLUSION IN THE CODE.

It is the intention of the Board of County Commissioners that the provisions of this Ordinance shall become and be made a part of the Escambia County Code; and that the sections of this Ordinance may be renumbered or

relettered and the word "ordinance" may be changed to "section," "article," or such other appropriate word or phrase in order to accomplish such intentions.

Section 6. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This effective date of this plan amendment shall be: The date a final order is issued by the Department of Community Affairs finding the amendment to be in compliance in accordance with Chapter 163.3184 Fla. Stat., or the date a final order is issued by the Administration Commission finding the amendment to be in compliance in accordance with Section 163.3184, Fla. Stat.

AN ORDINANCE OF ESCAMBIA COUNTY, FLORIDA, AMENDING PART II, OF THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY CODE OF ORDINANCES (1999), THE ESCAMBIA COUNTY COMPREHENSIVE PLAN, AS AMENDED; AMENDING CHAPTER 8, THE TRANSPORTATION ELEMENT; AMENDING OBJECTIVE 8.A.4 TO PROVIDE FOR PROTECTION OF PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; PROVIDING IN POLICY 8.A.4.1 THAT REZONINGS THAT PROPOSE AN INCREASE IN DENSITY OR INTENSITY OF USE SHALL BE DISCOURAGED IN DESIGNATED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; PROVIDING IN POLICY 8.A.4.2 FOR PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR AND RIGHT-OF-WAY PROTECTIONS AND ACQUISITIONS; CREATING A NEW POLICY 8.A.4.4 TO ESTABLISH PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDORS; DESIGNATING THE BEULAH EXPRESSWAY AS A PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; PROVIDING FOR INCLUSION IN THE CODE; AND PROVIDING FOR AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

Date: 12/17/2007 Verified By: Dfarris

WHEREAS, pursuant to Chapter 163, Part II, Florida Statutes, Escambia County adopted its Comprehensive Plan on October 20, 1993; and,

WHEREAS, Chapter 125, Florida Statutes, empowers the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida to prepare, amend, and enforce comprehensive plans for the development of the County; and,

WHEREAS, the Escambia County Planning Board (LPA) and the Board of County Commissioners have conducted public hearings and reviewed and approved the changes to the Plan and authorized the transmittal of the proposed changes to the Florida Department of Community Affairs (DCA) for review and comment prior to considering the changes (amendments) for adoption; and,

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners, Escambia County, Florida finds that the adoption of these amendments is in the best interest of the County and its citizens.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of County Commissioners of Escambia County, Florida as follows:

Section 1. Purpose and Intent.

This Ordinance is enacted to carry out the purpose and intent of, and exercise the authority set out, in the Local Government Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Regulation Act, sections 163.3161 through 163.3215, Fla. Stat. and Chapter 9J-5, Florida Administrative Code.

Section 2. Title of Comprehensive Plan Amendment.

This Comprehensive Plan Amendment for Escambia County, Florida shall be entitled "Comprehensive Plan Amendment 2007-02D - Transportation Corridor Preservation."

Section 3. Changes to the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan.

Part II of the Escambia County Code of Ordinances (1999), the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan, as Amended, is further amended as set forth hereto and made part hereof to include changes as follows:

OBJECTIVE 8.A.4: TRANSPORTATION CORRIDOR AND RIGHT-OF-WAY PROTECTION

Continually, the county shall provide for the protection of proposed transportation corridors as well as existing and future rights-of-way from encroachment by including appropriate regulations within the LDC (reference Policy 7.A.1.1) and implementing Policies 8.A.4.1 through ~~8.A.4.3~~ 8.A.4.4 among others.

Policy 8.A.4.1: Rezonings and Zoning Setback Enforcement

The county shall continue to enforce its zoning ordinance and include said ordinance within the LDC. Note: The zoning ordinance contains setback provisions, which will aid in the protection of existing and future rights-of-way, including transportation corridors, from building encroachment ~~in the "zoned" areas of the county~~. The County shall regulate density and intensity within the existing or designated transportation corridor areas that may interfere with right-of-way needs. Prior to completion of a Project Development and Environmental Impact (PD&E) study for a capacity improvement project, standard right-of-way will be considered as follows:

Major Collectors	80'
Major Arterials	125'
Beltways	300'

Policy 8.A.4.2: Right-of-Way Protection for Existing and Planned Roadways

The county shall require the set aside of right-of-way necessary to comply with programmed roadway widening or, as necessary, for proposed transportation corridors.

Policy 8.A.4.3: Scenic Roadways

Because of their unique scenic character, and related historic and tourist significance, Scenic Highway (SR-10A) and Perdido Key Drive (SR 292) are designated "scenic roadways." Parcels adjacent to these rights-of-way shall be the subject of special sign controls in the LDC.

Policy 8.A.4.4: Proposed Transportation Corridors

The County shall make efforts to inform the public about the location of proposed transportation corridors. Such proposed transportation corridors are to be initially designated in this section, the adopted Transportation Planning Organization's "Cost Feasible Plan", the proposed or adopted County Capital Improvement Plan or in any proposed or adopted DRI or development plan. Transportation corridor protection regulations shall be incorporated in the LDC.

The Beulah Expressway is designated as a proposed transportation corridor. Maps and descriptions of the proposed north/south corridor and the east/west connecting corridors are on file as Exhibits A and B to Ordinance 2007-02D.

Section 4. SEVERABILITY.

It is declared the intent of the Board of County Commissioners that if any subsection, clause, sentence, provision or phrase of this Ordinance is held to be invalid or unconstitutional by a Court of competent jurisdiction, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not be so construed as to render invalid or unconstitutional the remaining provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 5. INCLUSION IN THE CODE.

It is the intention of the Board of County Commissioners that the provisions of this Ordinance shall become and be made a part of the Escambia County Code; and that the sections of this Ordinance may be renumbered or

relettered and the word "ordinance" may be changed to "section," "article," or such other appropriate word or phrase in order to accomplish such intentions.

Section 6. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This effective date of this plan amendment shall be: The date a final order is issued by the Department of Community Affairs finding the amendment to be in compliance in accordance with Chapter 163.3184 Fla. Stat., or the date a final order is issued by the Administration Commission finding the amendment to be in compliance in accordance with Section 163.3184, Fla. Stat.

INTEROFFICE MEMORANDUM

TO: Andrew Holmer, Development Services Manager Development Services Department

FROM: David Forte, Division Manager
Transportation & Traffic Operations Division

DATE: January 19, 2017

RE: Transportation & Traffic Operations (TTO) Comments – LSA-2016-03 & Z-2016-11

TTO Staff has reviewed the Large Scale Amendment (LSA)-2016-03 and Rezoning Case (Z)-2016-11, Beulah Road at I-10, agenda item for the upcoming Planning Board meeting scheduled for February 7, 2017. Please see the below comments.

Upon review of LSA-2016-03 and Z-2016-11, TTO Staff provides the following information regarding an existing programmed regional and local transportation project commonly known as the Escambia County Beulah Beltway / I-10 Interchange Project (Project). This project is expected to impact the subject site, as well as potentially other properties within the vicinity once the project moves into the future Right-Of-Way and Construction Phases. The Project limits as identified in the Florida-Alabama Transportation Planning Organization Long Range Transportation Plan begins at the Nine Mile Road at the southern most termini, extends north along Beulah Road to Interstate 10, then further north to US29 (in the Quintette Road vicinity).

The Project was initiated in 2007 following the inception of the Escambia County Midwest Optional Sector Plan (Sector Plan) that justified the need for a new “limited access roadway with Interstate Interchange.” County Staff, through Planning Board and Board of County Commission approval, then instituted a Corridor Preservation Ordinance found in the Escambia County Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Code (LDC Ordinance 2007-81) in efforts to minimize the local financial lift once the Project moved into the Right-Of-Way Acquisition and subsequent Construction Phase. Due to the infancy of the Sector Plan and without any substantial data or results of the necessary Corridor Selection Study, the Ordinance created a 300’ Preservation Overlay for the future roadway. However, the County is currently finalizing the Corridor Selection Study, and recently received the proposed typical cross sections / right-of-way widths needed for the future roadway; the consultants are recommending two different cross sections. The width proposed for the North Segment (I-10 north to US29) is 225’, and the width proposed for the South Segment (Nine Mile Road to I-10) is 104.5’. It is the South Segment specifically abuts the subject site. Attached is the document detailing the cross sections…

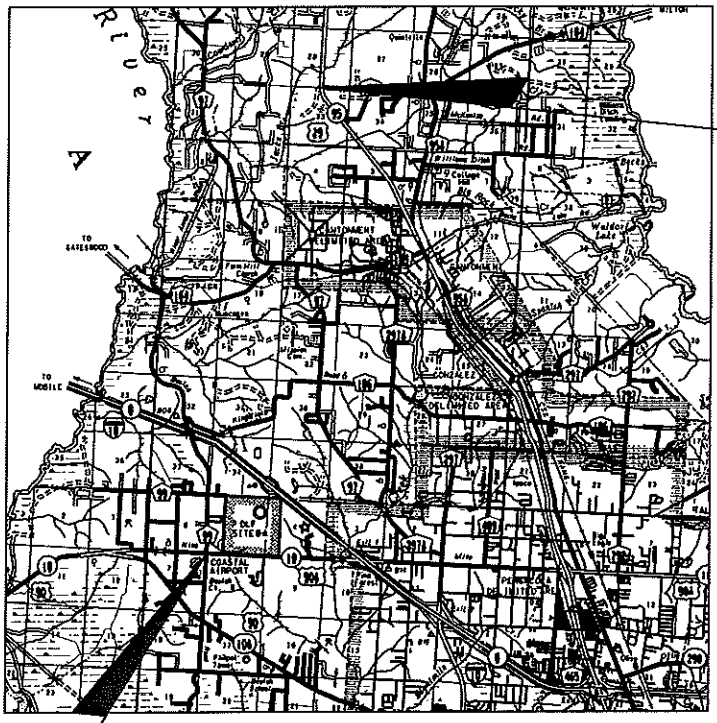
In conclusion, TTO Staff recognizes that, though LDC Ordinance 2007-81 details a 300' Preservation Overlay, in receipt of the proposed cross sections that the need to preserve 300' for the South Segment seems unjustified at this point. TTO Staff recommends that the Planning Board and Board of County Commissioners consider directing Staff to amend the Ordinance upon completion of the Corridor Selection Study (expected for completion Summer 2017). TTO Staff does not oppose the map amendment or rezoning, only if the Boards would consider reducing the 300' preservation width to a width of 104.5' for the South Segment.



Please note that TTO's review is solely based off the application submittal packet, so the comments above hold no bearing on future TTO comments during the Development Review process.

Escambia County, Florida

AI-12244 Growth Management Report 12. 6.
BCC Regular Meeting Public Hearing
Meeting Date: 05/25/2017
Issue: 5:49 p.m. - Amendment to the Official Zoning Map
From: Horace Jones, Director
Organization: Development Services

RECOMMENDATION:

5:49 p.m. A Public Hearing for Consideration for Adopting an Ordinance Amending the Official Zoning Map

That the Board adopt an Ordinance to amend the Official Zoning Map to include the rezoning case heard by the Planning Board on February 7, 2017, and approved during the previous agenda item and to provide for severability, inclusion in the code, and an effective date.

BACKGROUND:

Rezoning case Z-2016-11 was heard by the Planning Board on February 7, 2017. Under the Land Development Code (LDC), the Board of County Commissioners reviews the record and the recommended order of the Planning Board and conducts a Public Hearing for adoption of the LDC Zoning Map Amendment.

As a means of achieving the Board's goal of "decreasing response time from notification of citizen needs to ultimate resolution," the Board is acting on both the approval of the Planning Board's recommendation and the LDC Map Amendment for this month's rezoning case.

The previous report item addresses the Board's determination regarding the Planning Board's recommendation. This report item addresses only the Public Hearing and adoption of the Ordinance amending the LDC Official Zoning Map.

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

No budgetary impacts are expected as a result of the recommended Board action.

LEGAL CONSIDERATIONS/SIGN-OFF:

A copy of the standardized Ordinance has initially been provided to the County Attorney's office for review regarding compliance with rezoning requirements in Florida Statutes and the Land Development Code.

PERSONNEL:

No additional personnel are anticipated for the implementation of this recommended Board action.

POLICY/REQUIREMENT FOR BOARD ACTION:

The Board Chairman will need to sign the Ordinance to amend the Official Zoning Map.

IMPLEMENTATION/COORDINATION:

This Ordinance, amending the Land Development Code Official Zoning Map, will be filed with the Department of State following adoption by the Board.

This proposed Ordinance was prepared by the Development Services Department in coordination with the County Attorney's Office, and interested citizens. The Development Services Department will ensure proper advertisement.

BCC Regular Meeting
Meeting Date: 05/25/2017
Issue: 5:50 p.m. - A Public Hearing - Vested Rights Determination - VRD-2017-01
Organization: Development Services

RECOMMENDATION:

5:50 p.m. - Recommendation Concerning the Review of Vested Rights Determination VRD-2017-01

That the Board of County Commissioners (BCC) review and approve the following Vested Rights case:

Case No.:	VRD-2017-01
Project Address:	9300 Blk Gibson Road
Property Reference No.:	24-3N-32-1301-001-001
Zoning District:	Agr
FLU Category:	AG
Vested Rights for:	Land Use
Applicant:	Constance Parker

BACKGROUND:

In 2002, the Applicant purchased a ten-acre parcel of land that was a portion of an 85± acre lot-of-record. While the future land use and zoning both called for minimum 20-acre lots, the applicant pulled a permit in 2003 and built a home on the west half of the ten acre parcel. The western five-acre portion containing the home was sold in 2005 and that same year the applicant became the sole owner of the remaining eastern five acres. The applicant has since paid taxes on the five acres in question and states that she believed it to be a buildable lot.

In 2017, the applicant approached Planning staff regarding permitting a home on the parcel and was told that the parcel was non-conforming with future land use and zoning and a building permit could not be issued. Staff reviewed with the applicant the idea of seeking a future land use change along with a rezoning to make the parcel conforming. This option would prove difficult as either change would result in an isolated district and would be a considerable cost while providing no assurance of a positive outcome.

Faced with these options, the applicant is requesting to be vested with development rights for the non-conforming five-acre parcel.

CRITERIA FOR VESTED RIGHTS:

LDC 2-6.7 Vested Rights. It is the intent of the Land Development Code to provide a mechanism for the granting of an equitable vested right according to the provisions of this section when a landowner asserts that sufficient development activity, once lawful under applicable land use regulations but now contrary to their terms, has occurred so that the landowner is entitled to a development right. An owner shall be entitled to a Determination of Vested Rights only if through substantial competent evidence it can be established that the proposed use of the property meets the concurrency provisions of Article 3, Chapter 5 at the time of vesting.

CRITERION 1:

LDC 2-6.7(1) The project was authorized pursuant to a County Development Order, or equivalent issued on or before the effective date of this code, or a pertinent amendment thereto, and the development has commenced and is continuing in good faith. In a claim based upon this criterion, the owner must produce evidence of actions and accomplishments that substantiate timely and lawful progression towards the completion of the intentions and plans documented in the original order, or equivalent. In a claim based upon this criterion, the rights to which the owner may be vested is a continuation of the original order, or equivalent.

FINDINGS:

Staff research has found no permit or other development approval for the parcel in question.

LDC 2-6.8(f) Limitation on vested rights. A determination of vested rights shall expire and be null and void unless construction of improvements, if any, are commenced pursuant to a development order within 18 months after the issuance of the determination of vested rights.

CRITERION 2:

LDC 2-6.7(2) The owner is determined to have acquired rights due to good faith reliance on an act of commission or omission of the County which has caused the owner to make such a substantial change in position or to incur such extensive obligations and expenses that it would be highly inequitable and unjust to destroy the rights acquired. In a claim based upon this criterion, the owner must document, and the County must verify, the obligations and expenses that are in jeopardy. The owner must produce evidence of actions and accomplishments that substantiate timely and lawful progression towards the completion of the intentions and plans that have been jeopardized. Evidence including, but not limited to, that which demonstrates that such activity has not progressed in such a manner may be sufficient to negate a finding of good faith on the part of the owner and therefore invalidate the claim to vested rights.

FINDINGS:

The applicant contends that her expense in taxes and surveys for the parcel have vested her with development rights. She also has stated her belief that since the County granted a permit on the western five acres, she believed the eastern five acres was buildable as well.

In a review of the permit issued for the western parcel, staff found mention that the permit was granted based on the Land Development Code family conveyance provision (Sec. 5-3.2(d)) which states:

Family conveyance exception. No building permit shall be denied where the property in question is to be used solely as a homestead by an owner-applicant who is the grandparent, parent, step-parent, adopted parent, sibling, child, step-child, adopted child, niece, nephew, aunt, uncle or grandchild of the person who conveyed the parcel to such applicant, notwithstanding the density or intensity of use assigned to the parcel by a particular zoning district. This exception shall apply only once to any owner-applicant.

Because this provision has already been applied to the parent ten acres, it is not available for the remaining parcel.

CERTIFICATE OF REPORTER.....84

P R O C E E D I N G S

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. We will move then to our last case, which for some of you will be a little bit of a new one.

This is a Planning Board review and to make a recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners on a vested rights case. And we do have a couple of speakers on that.

Who will be presenting?

Allyson again. Okay.

MS. CAIN: This is a vested rights combination, 2017-01, 9300 block of Gibson Road. The applicant -- I'm sorry. Wait 'til you ask.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MS. CAIN: The location map showing the location on Gibson Road. This is the land use map showing the current zoning of agricultural. This is the future land use map, also showing agricultural. And this is the aerial photo. That's all for the maps.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

In this case, we will go ahead and bring Ms. Constance Parker -- Connie Parker -- forward, please.

All right. Good morning, ma'am. If you will please be sworn in and then state your name and address for the record.

...CONSTANCE PARKER, upon being duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Good morning, ma'am. If you'll please just state your name and address for the record.

MS. PARKER: Connie Parker, 2683 Stallion Road, Cantonment, Florida 32533.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. And if you'll just go ahead through your presentation.

MS. PARKER: Okay.

THE CHAIRMAN: That's what we're here for.

MS. PARKER: In February of '03, I purchased a ten-acre parcel of land on Gibson Road. And then in November, I brought in -- Well, I had five acres and five acres, but it's a ten-acre parcel.

I secured a mortgage on my five acres, bought a permit, built a house, lived there for a few years, sold the house. And I kept my vacant lot, my other five acres, I kept that.

Page 5

I've had that since I sold it in '05. Paid my property taxes, just kept everything up because I wasn't sure what I was -- if I was going to build another house there or what I was going to do.

A family down the road approached me about buying it.

And I said, "You know, I guess. I mean, I've been paying taxes for 12 years. I don't really think I'll move back out here, and so, yeah, sure.

"But do yourself a due diligence. Call the county and make sure what you have to do for new construction," because I haven't built a house in a long time.

That's when they called me back and said, "I can't pull a permit because of the density."

And I'm like, "What do you mean 'the density'?"

So I came in and I spoke with Drew and Horace and Ms. Wynn, and got some questions, and spent a lot of time here in trying to understand everything.

You have to have a -- Thank you. You have to have a 20-acre parcel to build. I never even owned 20. I only owned 10. I bought 10. It's one house per 20 acres out there.

I only owned ten acres. I only have a house on five, secured on five, so that's why I'm here, to I guess show that I had a vested right in my other five acres because that's all I ever owned, is the ten acres.

And it is for a new construction for single-family dwelling to go on that property.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MS. PARKER: And if you need to look at it, sir, I have the survey, and I have the '03 survey. I have an '07 survey. I have a bunch of surveys, so if you need to look at anything, I have that. Also have the receipt for my permit I bought when I built my house.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Let's go ahead and hear from staff and hear their presentation, and then we may have you bring that into evidence.

MR. JONES: We have all that in evidence. Thank you.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MS. CAIN: We have the two surveys in your packet, so the two surveys that she referred to are in your packet.

Page 7

THE CHAIRMAN: So they're already part of the record?

MS. CAIN: The receipt of the permit is not.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Ms. Parker, come back forward again. I'm sorry. I knew there was some surveys in the packets. I didn't know -- are they the same surveys?

MR. JONES: Let's take a look at them. I want to make sure.

THE CHAIRMAN: Let's just make sure we have everything. If you'll give them to --

MR. CAIN: Are they the ones on 2007 and 2003.

MS. PARKER: Yes, that's them. That's it right there.

MR. JONES: Okay.

MS. PARKER: And the vacant lot, and then this is the latest survey that I had done in '07, and it's the same boundary, same legal.

MS. CAIN: And that's the same one we have.

MS. PARKER: It's the second one.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So those are already part of the record, so we just confirmed that.

Page 8

Now, you did have one other document that you said was a receipt?

MS. PARKER: Yes, sir. When I bought my permits in November or . . . I purchased this in December of '03 for building my new house there.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. And this -- copies that you have here in front of us, is it a true and accurate copy of the receipt that you personally received?

MS. PARKER: Yes, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. All right. And if you'll just submit that to the county attorney for review there.

MS. CAIN: Okay.

THE CHAIRMAN: Hold on just a minute, Allyson. Let's take care of this -- bringing this in as evidence first.

MR. HOLMER: I'm going to make copies.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. I would like for the board members to actually see it before we accept it into evidence, so if you'll just start it down here and let everyone review what we're looking at.

Been the applicant's testimony that this is true and accurate copy of the receipt she received, or the original maybe in this case. Okay.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Board members, now that you've had an opportunity to review the original receipt presented by Ms. Parker, the Chair will entertain a motion to accept that into evidence as part of the applicant's record.

MR. RUSHING: So moved.

THE CHAIRMAN: Do we have a second?

MR. INGWELL: Second.

THE CHAIRMAN: Second.

Any further discussion?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: All those in favor say "aye."

(Chorus of "ayes.")

THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. It is accepted as Applicant's Exhibit A. Please mark it as Applicant's Exhibit A.

MR. HOLMER: I'll make copies.

THE CHAIRMAN: Yes. Thank you.

All right. Go ahead, now that we've got it.

MS. PARKER: Okay.

THE CHAIRMAN: Now we'll go ahead and let Allyson finish her part of the presentation. Sorry to make you go back and forth.

MS. PARKER: No, no, no. No problem.

THE CHAIRMAN: Make sure we get everything on the record.

MS. CAIN: Okay. This is -- Zoning district here is agricultural, which is one per 20.

Basically, Ms. Parker, I'm going to kind of reiterate what she said because we're on the same page as far as the history.

She did purchase the 10-acre parcel in 2002, which was . . . It was a portion of an 85-acre parcel on record.

The future land use called, of, course for -- it's a 20 -- middle 20 acre lots. As she stated, she did pull a permit in 2003 to build a home on the western half of the 10 acres, which was a 5-acre parcel.

The western 5-acre parcel with the home, she sold it in 2005. And then she -- in the same year she actually became the sole owner of the eastern 5 acres.

In 2017, Ms. Parker came in, and she approached us to ask us about, you know, building a home. And she was wanting to sell the property. And it was 5 acres.

And as she stated, it was nonconforming. We reviewed with her, trying to seek a future land use change along with maybe rezoning, but then the option was going to be difficult because of the constraints and the isolated zoning restrictions, and so forth and the cost.

When staff reviewed some of the history, when we looked back at the permits, we did find that there was a mention on the permit that this was from a family conveyance, so that's actually, I believe, how, when she got the 10 acres in the beginning, as you know, family conveyance is that if you family convey it through, you know, parent to sibling, and so on and so forth, it does meet some of those requirements as far as the one per 20. So I believe that's somehow how the permit was issued for the -- she got the 10 acres to build the home.

Well now that she's further divided it, it takes that 10 acres and makes it even less conforming lots with another -- with a 5 acre parcel that, even though, you know, she paid taxes, you know, it's not a buildable lot, according to the agricultural zoning category.

MR. JONES: Let me see that, Allyson. These are -- this is for the information. This is a very, very complex -- complex issue.

Another reason -- And -- and -- and we did -- I want to make for the record, we did speak to Ms. -- Ms. Parker about this, that the -- the lot of record, family conveyance, tend to have at least one single-family home.

Family conveyance come in, and it sort of -- it sort of -- it sort of -- we only got setbacks. We don't look at zoning. We don't look at access. We don't look at -- road.

When this lot was divided again with this five acres, the posture is still not a conforming lot. What the access, with the road frontage and -- and -- and -- and our Land Development Code says that every lot, you got to have the proper road frontage at the county right-of-way, so -- so -- so that still would be a challenge for her going forward.

It's -- it's -- it's -- it's a challenge because it still won't be a conforming lot based -- due to the -- due to the road frontage because it -- it doesn't have that -- it -- it does not meet the zoning requirements of the 20-acre requirement.

And -- and I get -- and her -- and she feels like that because the building special department issued her a house permit, that that gives her the -- the right for the -- the -- the -- to proceed with -- being that she'll be -- because the building special department gave her the permit to construct the first home there.

And that's something that this board will have to decide, but I do want to state for the record that this lot, it does not conform with any of the standards as being a buildable, developable lot, so I want to -- so I don't want her to think she's got vested rights, and then she come in and see us again, and this issue of road frontage come up. That issue will be there.

And -- and the past . . . This is the past experience, when people do -- when they -- so -- so I just want to say that for the record.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

Well, I just had a question in follow-up to that. Let me just make sure I understand exactly what happened.

So she purchased 10 acres and had 10 acres originally. Applied to county for a building permit, and it was granted, based on 10 acres. Okay. And the house was constructed, so at that time the zoning was in place, so that was an error?

MR. JONES: No.

MS. CAIN: It's a family -- Somehow on the -- in the permit system we found it says -- and it's stated -- applicant only has 10 acres. "Family conveyance" was noted on the permit.

So according to -- you know, we weren't here at that time, but for our submission, we're thinking that when something came about, I have 10 acres, family-conveyed 10 acres. I'm going to build a house. So therefore she had a right to build her house, her one single-family, on that 10 acres.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. We're going to hear from you.

MS. CAIN: And so like I said, we weren't here at that time, and those were in the system.

So when that happened, she had her one single-family home that was built. So then she sold the house and 5 acres of the 10, which further made it nonconforming, but she didn't family convey it or anything. She just sold off that half and has the remaining 5, so . . .

THE CHAIRMAN: So during that sale, there was nothing done through the county as far as subdivision of a lot. It was just basically a survey.

MS. CAIN: Yes, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: And then a sale.

MS. CAIN: Yes, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MS. CAIN: Now, we did search. We didn't -- currently we haven't found any permit or development order approval for the parcel since then.

Also, I just wanted to mention the termination of vested rights. When you get into vested rights, it expires and will be null and void, unless construction or a permit with any or commence pursuant to a development order within 18 months of the issuance of the termination of vested rights.

So our -- I'm kind of thinking, vested rights, are we giving vested rights for her to build a home? Vested rights, you know, to sell it? Do you still have vested rights to the land because the vested rights goes with parcel.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: Just for clarification, I believe Ms. Parker said that the basis for her claim to a vested right was in the other five acres.

I just need to understand what the issue is. Is the issue that there's a vested right as to the five acres on which you built?

THE CHAIRMAN: Let's bring you back up to the microphone, and we'll go to get to the bottom on this.

MS. PARKER: Okay. Yes, sir.

So this -- if you will, this piece of land is a perfect rectangle.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MS. PARKER: So it's the same road frontage for this lot as the one that you permitted me to build a house on, 389 feet. across the front. If you -- I'm sorry. Yeah,

329. It's road frontage. I mean, it's a perfect rectangle. And I -- it was split down the middle. And the house was built on this five acres. This five acres stayed wooded.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Let's go back for just a second, if I can. I want to take you back to the beginning of the process because we want to -- I heard what Allyson found in the record.

MS. PARKER: Mm-hmm.

THE CHAIRMAN: But now I want to know what actually happened with you.

So the property, was it given to you from a family member?

MS. PARKER: No, sir. And we did not know the man we bought it from. And through research and coming in and talking, this gentleman had gotten a bunch of land from a deceased mother or something. And it was a lot more than the 10 acres he sold me because he sold me 10. He sold the next 10. I think it started out as an 85-acre parcel of land. And I have my closing documents. I don't know this gentleman. He's from, like, Birmingham, Alabama.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So as far as you know, you never applied for a family conveyance permit. Because our code allows for people to be able to give some property to a family member, and like Horace was saying, to be able to build a residence on. And this is for people who have a big piece of property, and they want to kind of have a family compound.

MS. PARKER: Right.

THE CHAIRMAN: Where they have several houses on one property. And that's what it's intended for, really.

But you didn't go through that process at all?

MS. PARKER: No. And that's not a relative of mine. And I can do whatever I need to do to prove that --

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. That's fine.

MS. PARKER: -- because I just bought my 10, and then the next 10 sold as well. And when I started my process and also have my mortgage settlement, my mortgage -- everything was just on the five acres because I didn't need my other five acres. I wanted it to sit there and not disturb it. So it's exactly a perfect rectangle, cut right down the middle, and an exact amount of road frontage for each lot. I mean, it's just that.

And this gentleman who sold it to us, the only thing he did was, he -- I know that the 10 next to this one sold at about the same time because we were doing surveys and getting things done, you know.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So when you applied for the building permit, you applied for it as 10 acres or 5 acres? You went to the county and said, "I've got 10 acres I want to build a house on," or was it 5 acres?

MS. PARKER: Well, they're saying it was 10.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So --

MS. PARKER: And according to that, then it was 10. I don't remember that part. Actually, my mortgage was only on the 5, so I -- they have records they say it was 10.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So at that point right there, Horace, you say our -- the county records have something about family conveyance.

MR. JONES: Yes, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. And we have that document or whatever that is that shows -- was that done by the previous owner?

MS. CAIN: I'm sorry. Was what done by the . . .

THE CHAIRMAN: We said there was something on record that showed this was a family conveyance when Ms. Parker got it.

MS. CAIN: -- the actual application inside the permit system.

Now, this permit system, it looks like it came from the old Berth [sic] computer system, so our Sale [sic] system looks a little different, but if you look at the notes in the permit, it says "family conveyance."

MR. HOLMER: Do a screen shot.

MS. CAIN: Okay. We'll bring a screen --

THE CHAIRMAN: Is that notated on this receipt --

MS. CAIN: We'll bring a screen --

THE CHAIRMAN: -- somewhere?

MS. CAIN: -- sir -- we're going to get that -- on this particular one, it doesn't have the notes taken, but Mr. Andrews, the homeowner --

MR. JONES: That is -- it is not going to be on the receipt. But inside the notes for the -- when the actual permit was issued, there was a column when you can put notes. And -- and -- and that's the receipt.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Well, I have two questions about this receipt.

First of all, at the top here it says, "One of three." Now, is that page one of three? Were there other pages that went with this receipt? That's the first question.

And number two was: Anything given from the county that was given to Ms. Parker that said this is some kind of a family conveyance permit, that's why you're getting it, is because we allow it under family conveyance? Or was she just issued a permit?

MR. HOLMER: Andrew Holmer, development services.

THE CHAIRMAN: Andrew, were you sworn in at the beginning?

MR. HOLMER: I was not.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

- - -

...ANDREW HOLMER, upon being duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you, sir.

MR. HOLMER: Okay. To that point, I'm going to go try to get a screen capture of the current permit system.

At the time this came in, we were under a different permitting system. When we go into the new one, they attempted to convert all our old stuff, so it's not a perfect one-to-one. It's two completely different software systems.

But what we do have is, there's a little box. And when we get a screen capture of it, that just says something to the effect of "family conveyance," when they got -- was the reason they got the permit on -- for the house. I'm going to go get a copy of that.

I don't know -- in the old system I saw that, where it says one of three. I don't know if that was three copies that came out. I don't even remember that -- that -- that system the way it was done. I am going to get the screen --

THE CHAIRMAN: My follow-up question.

MR. HOLMER: Sure.

THE CHAIRMAN: Would there have been anything that was given other than this receipt to the applicant, to say this was done under a family conveyance? Like, did we give them something saying, "Here's the rules for family conveyance" --

MR. JONES: No, we --

THE CHAIRMAN: -- you're getting --

MR. JONES: -- did not. We -- we did not back then. When -- Family conveyance gave us lots of latitude. And -- and that's -- and we still don't right now. That's something that we definitely need to change. Family conveyance is yet allowed inside the permitting inside the Land Development Code, as it was previously.

THE CHAIRMAN: So it's been Ms. Parker's testimony that she did not know about this family conveyance as part of this process. And we can't show that there were any documents given to her to prove that she was told this was a family conveyance. Is that correct?

MR. JONES: Mr. Briske, I cannot -- I cannot say that, that she was given -- that she was not given anything.

I -- I -- I do recall her showing us a -- a -- a -- a land verification form that had some type of family conveyance written on it. Do you have that?

MS. PARKER: I -- I -- Well, the -- that thing with the handwriting?

MR. JONES: Yes.

MS. PARKER: Yes.

MR. JONES: Yes.

MS. PARKER: Just the parcel number and -- do you want to see it?

THE CHAIRMAN: If you would let the attorney and Horace review that.

MS. PARKER: Okay.

THE CHAIRMAN: We may need to bring that into evidence as well.

MS. PARKER: I've been in a lot, just talking to these gentlemen and kind of getting guidance, with information. I just got lucky enough to go back and find the file where the house was built and bring the stuff in that I brought in. I brought tons of stuff to them, just to say, "Hey, look. This is what I have."

And they've given me information also, like the maps of the area. And they sent me out to do my own research as far as looking who is on a record and who is an address, and things like that, so . . .

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So --
MS. PARKER: I may even be able to look in that file for page two and three of this, if you need me to.
THE CHAIRMAN: I just noticed that it said "one of three" --
MS. PARKER: Yeah.
THE CHAIRMAN: -- so I didn't know --
MS. PARKER: Yeah.
THE CHAIRMAN: -- if we were missing something, but . . . Okay.
So finish walking me through. So you went into the county. You got the permit.
MS. PARKER: Mm-hmm.
THE CHAIRMAN: You thought it was just on 5. The records show it was 10 acres that was applied for.
At some point -- You said you lived there for a while, and then you decided to sell the house, so --
MS. PARKER: Yes. I lived there and -- for a few years, went through a divorce. And I got full ownership of the home.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.
MS. PARKER: And so that's way out there.

And so I sold it after a few years. And it just retained my life, and just kind of had -- waiting to see, you know.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So then, you -- at that time, when you got ready to sell the house, you had to get it surveyed into -- it was already surveyed.
MS. PARKER: No, sir. It was already done.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.
MS. PARKER: That was already done because I had to do that so that the mortgage was only on the house and 5 acres.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. I gotcha.
MS. PARKER: So the other was free and clear. So that was already done. That had been done since, like, '03, '04, somewhere in there.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.
MS. PARKER: I did a survey in '07 because the neighbor who brought the house was going to do some stuff, and so I just went ahead and surveyed and marked my corners one more time just because I needed to. And that one is the one that you had is the most recent of '07.
THE CHAIRMAN: I guess my question to staff, too, would be: Does any of this stuff show up in title work, when we do chain of title for the property, about family conveyance or anything?

MR. JONES: No. Well, that is not in there, this type of evidence, because we don't -- we don't -- we don't require that to be recorded.
However, I think that's a question that she maybe ask to -- to -- that I think -- and especially on this document.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. All right.
MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: Back to my original question. I think it's clarified for everyone. We would like a statement of the basis for your seeking of vested rights determination.
MS. PARKER: Yes, ma'am.
MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: Is it family conveyance?
MS. PARKER: No, ma'am. I'm not selling it to family. I am selling it to another resident on the road for single-family construction.
MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: And I think the question is: Did you purchase from it family?

MS. PARKER: No, ma'am. I did not purchase it from family. And I have the title work.
MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: Okay. So the family conveyance issue is really off the table; is that correct?
MS. PARKER: Yes, ma'am. I don't know why -- I -- I brought Horace in everything I had. And I'm like, "Here's everything in the file." I mean, I don't know why --
MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: So for the record, the basis for your request for a vested rights determination is that you have a building permit from the county for the west one-half of the 10 acres?
MS. PARKER: Is that the . . .
MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: Correct. Is that right? The one that the house was on?
MS. PARKER: Yes, ma'am. The house -- the permit in '03 was pulled. Only one permit's ever been pulled.
MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: I'm sorry. I just need to know the answer to that question. Is that the basis for your request for a vested rights determination?

MS. PARKER: No. I guess the basis is because they told me that's what I would need to do, because it's not a lot of records. And I was told in order to sell my lot so that it could be built on, then this was my option, this was my best option, and for me to do my research, gather my stuff that they, you know, helped me with along the way, as far as information. And that's why I'm here today.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: And I think for clarification for the board -- and that's why I'm asking these questions. And I apologize. I just think that if we can stay on track, and if we can define the issues . . .

MS. PARKER: Mm-hmm.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: . . . everyone will be able to ask you questions that are more logical, and we'll be able to ask and have answers.

The criterion two -- this is Land Development Code 2-6.772. This is the basis for vested rights. "The owner is determined to have acquired rights due to good-faith reliance on an active commission or omission of the county which has caused the owner to make such a substantial change in position or to incur such expensive obligations and expenses that it would be highly inequitable and unjust to destroy the rights acquired."

So that's the basis of my questions, is what -- what -- what is the -- the -- the county -- the act of the commission or omission of the county on which you rely to claim a vested right in the east one-half of the property?

MS. PARKER: I'm going to be honest with you. I'm not quite sure I understand everything you just read, but I kind of maybe do.

I need to sell the property. So if someone can build a house . . . Through due diligence, I was informed it's not a lot of records, and it could not have a permit pulled on it.

Then I did not understand why that was the case, so I started my process. And I was informed that the vested right -- I would have to establish my vested right and prove that has been operating as a lot of record for 12 years.

THE CHAIRMAN: And I think in layman's terms what she's asking you is that: How did you originally become of the idea that this lot would be available for -- you know, for resale or for splitting from 10 acres to 5 acres?

MS. PARKER: I -- I didn't -- I never knew it couldn't be.

What I did do was, I came in -- Once the purchaser found out that there would be a problem, I came in; was told that I would have to have it rezoned, ruled residential in order to sell and it then build a house on it.

Went to the meeting with a big round table full of a bunch of people. And it was a preapplication meeting. And they're just talking, talking, talking about stuff. They give me a map. They discuss how many times everybody's done this.

And I'm like, "Well, if this has been done before, I mean, like, why -- why am I having to go through all this?"

Left from there, sat back down at another meeting. And they said, "You know what? This is not the avenue for you to go. This is not what you need. You need to prove you have vested right in the property, and that it's been operating as a lot of record."

I said, "Okay. What [sic] do I do that?"

Horace said, "It's going to be" -- And Horace -- whatever the fees would be and everything.

And I'm like, "I have to spend $700 to prove that I've been operating this piece of land this way?"

They explained the mail-out. They were kind enough to walk me through the process. I submitted everything, paid my money. That's all that -- And really, I've just answered questions that's been asked of me. I don't . . . You know.

MR. JONES: And if I can -- and if I can -- if I can . . . I'm not -- I'm -- I'm not trying to make her case for her at all.

But I'm trying . . . There's a possibility that she may feel that because she acquired that building with a special permit that that gives her the -- the -- the right to proceed, and -- and -- and because she acquired a building permit, and that there was an act of commission or omission from the county, which is one of the basis. I -- I don't know if that case can be made, and -- but I believe that is -- that's why, when we told her -- we said,

"The only way we can get your case heard basically is if you feel like -- if you feel like -- if you feel like that there was something wrong that we did, there's a -- there's an avenue for that which is a vested rights claim. So there's something that we did, from the county perspective.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So let me just make sure I understand what you're saying, Horace.

So for her to prove that it was a lot of record, what is the requirement for her to prove that it is a lot of record?

MR. JONES: It's -- it's -- it's not a lot of record. It -- it -- We have -- we have records to show through the old . . . February of 1996 to see if that lot has been split up.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So it's not a lot of record, so we cannot prove that it is.

MR. JONES: Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN: So then, like you're saying, her only alternative then would be to prove that she relied on information from the county that either was wrong or she was told -- she relied on that information that it was a lot of record. That would be the only basis for trying to prove her case.

MR. JONES: Right.

THE CHAIRMAN: Is what we're saying.

MR. JONES: Yes. And -- and -- and --

THE CHAIRMAN: Does that make more sense to you?

MS. PARKER: Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. JONES: And the lot was -- the -- the lot was split, per the rules at the time, through the family conveyance.

MS. CAIN: And we do have copies of that.

THE CHAIRMAN: If you'll let the attorney please review that as to . . . Now, if we could please state for the record what that document is and where it came from.

MS. CAIN: This is the summary of the building permit that was issued in 2003. The type was new building residential, and it has a permit number, and it has a detailed description.

It says, "Single-family dwelling, family conveyance. Owner has 10 acres." And then, of course, it gives driving directions on how to get there.

Page 35

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Allyson, then did you personally pull that from the computer and print it out?

MS. CAIN: Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MS. CAIN: We have copies.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. And that came off of the current computer system. And you personally pulled that and printed it.

MS. CAIN: Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. And does it accurately represent what's in the county records at this time?

MS. CAIN: Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Now, as long as the attorney has no objections to that document, we'll have a motion to bring it into evidence, please.

Do we have a motion to accept that into evidence?

MR. FEARS: Motion to accept.

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Do we have a second?

MR. RUSHING: Second.

THE CHAIRMAN: Second.

Page 36

Any discussion?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: All those in favor, say "aye."

(Chorus of "ayes.")

THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion carries.

What do you believe would be the appropriate labeling of that? Would that be a county exhibit heading, since the county is bringing it forth?

MR. HOLMER: And I'm going to -- I'm going to pass these out to you. And what I did was, I went down to make copies of this. And I put the highlight on that portion of the text box. You can't see the entire text box the way the software is. So I also had to pull out all the text, if you want to see that as well. It basically deals with a pecan tree and building inspection stuff, not land use.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. All right. So it's been accepted into evidence. Let's go ahead and make it a County Exhibit A, addition to the package that the county has preserved. Of course, we need to give a copy of this as well to the applicant. Okay.

Now, I guess the question that I come back to is: She's saying she didn't know this was a family conveyance.

Could this have been done by the previous owner in some way, shape or form?

MR. JONES: It could have. Mr. Briske, it could have been, but I'm -- Ms. -- Ms. Connie, you have this -- I'm just trying to -- because we're just trying to get your confirmation in because that's what we're trying to do.

What -- If you don't mind me asking: Where do you get this from?

MS. PARKER: This was in the file. This is the --

MR. JONES: What file?

MS. PARKER: Well, the house construction file. This was my file. And I mean, it's a couple colors ink, but I didn't write on it, but --

THE CHAIRMAN: Let's describe what that document is.

MS. PARKER: It just says -- It says, "Property can be split per family conveyance."

MR. JONES: Right. And it does have her name on it.

MS. PARKER: And Horace signed it --

MR. JONES: And I'm trying --

MS. PARKER: -- 18 of '03.

MR. JONES: So -- so I'm trying -- I'm trying to -- so --

MS. PARKER: But I wouldn't have split it -- Well, no. Let me just say real quick: 11/18 is when I come in to -- to apply to get ready to build my house. That's all I know.

MR. JONES: So -- so -- so -- so you said "your file." What file did you purchase it from? You said "Construction" --

MS. PARKER: No -- Well, I had a file because I was a residential constructor -- contractor. Still am. With my dad. And so I had the original construction file. And when all this came about, I went back and pulled the file and started digging through, finding everything.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MS. PARKER: So this was in there. The copy of the permit was in there. The surveys were in there. I even have the closing paperwork from when I bought the land. I got the title search --

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Let's come back to this document --

MS. PARKER: Okay.

THE CHAIRMAN: -- for just a second.

MS. PARKER: Okay.

THE CHAIRMAN: Horace, was it your testimony that it says on this document that the lot can be split?

MR. JONES: It says this -- it says this, yes.

Zoning, VAG-1. Future land use category AG -- I want to make sure you get this. Zoning -- for -- to -- to answer your question, zoning VAG-1. Of the future land use category, AG. It says, "Overlay district 9." I pulled it up. It says, "Comments: Property can be split per family conveyance, verified by Horace Jones, November the 18th, 2003."

As I stated before, at the time family conveyance was still -- it was allowed, Mr. Briske, to split property.

I wasn't so convinced, but -- but to work a work-around because especially that people wanted to divide and give their land to children. I don't . . . I'm -- I'm -- I'm -- She said that she had a file. I think that maybe -- did -- did your father purchase this property, Connie?

MS. PARKER: I did.

MR. JONES: So you purchased the property.

MS. PARKER: Mm-hmm.

MR. JONES: From -- from Mr. Hall. Okay. Okay.

MS. PARKER: And Mr. Hall owned a bunch of land.

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Let's go back to this document again.

MS. PARKER: Okay.

THE CHAIRMAN: Do you wish to bring that into evidence as part of the record?

MR. JONES: It's up to you, Connie.

MS. PARKER: I mean, I don't know.

THE CHAIRMAN: I mean, that's what I'm asking you.

MS. PARKER: As my exhibit, yes, sir, sure.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. All right.

If you'll please -- the staff, I think and the attorney has already reviewed it.

Can we please read into the record exactly what it says on the top of -- what is that document labeled?
MS. CAIN: Says "Building Inspections Department, Permitting Division, land use verification form for Escambia County."
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.
MS. HIGHTOWER: Patty Hightower, school board member. The notation was dated '03?
MR. JONES: What notation?
MS. HIGHTOWER: The notation that you just read on the document.
MR. JONES: Yes, ma'am. It was 2003.
MS. HIGHTOWER: So would that language have been talking about the larger 85-acre parcel, rather than the --
MS. CAIN: No, it didn't.
MS. PARKER: No, ma'am.
MS. HIGHTOWER: The family conveyance part.
MR. JONES: The family conveyance was talking about the portion that -- that was split.
MS. HIGHTOWER: Okay.

MS. PARKER: So -- and this was done in April after that in February where I divided it. I had my house on this five, recorded my mortgage, and then this five.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. All right. So Allyson, you've read that in.
Can the board members see that before we accept it into evidence?
Horace, you may not remember this on this document because it was only 14 years ago . . .
(Laughter.)
THE CHAIRMAN: . . . but there are two different color inks on here. One is in blue. Says "property can be split" is in blue. And then "per family conveyance" is in black ink. The signature, your signature, is in blue but the date is in black ink.
Do you have any recollection of this? I know it's a long shot, but . . .
MR. JONES: No, I don't. I don't, but -- but it -- it has my signature, but I -- I -- I don't.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.
MR. RUSHING: This is in different pens. Do you recognize that all the writing is yours?

MR. JONES: I do recognize my bad writing, yes, and I think my whole staff does.
(Several "yeses.")
MR. RUSHING: I -- I want to make sure that it --
UNIDENTIFIED STAFF MEMBER: Definitely his writing.
THE CHAIRMAN: Good question. Thank you.
MR. JONES: Chicken scratch.
(Laughter.)
MR. FEARS: While they're reviewing that, can you -- can you define for us, Mr. Jones, "conveyance"?
MR. JONES: It's when property is conveyed or given to someone.
MR. FEARS: Two different people, coming from one to another.
MR. JONES: Yes. Yes.
MR. FEARS: Which is not what happened here. She -- she was . . . She remained the owner. She went from the owner of a 10-acre parcel to the owner of two 5-acre parcels, for the purpose of only mortgaging half the land to be included with the build permit. There was actually no conveyance that took place.

MR. JONES: I don't think so.
MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: I have -- I have that Allyson has the property record, but I've been looking at the property appraiser's site, and I do have a chronology, if that would help.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. If you would, let me get this document brought into evidence first, please. Everybody's had a chance to review the applicant's second exhibit. Are there any questions about that exhibit?
Chair will entertain a motion to accept that into evidence.
MR. RUSHING: So moved.
MR. FEARS: Second.
THE CHAIRMAN: Motion and a second.
Any further questions?
(No response.)
THE CHAIRMAN: All right. All those in favor say "aye."
(Chorus of "ayes.")
THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?
(No response.)
THE CHAIRMAN: All right. We will accept that and label it Applicant's Exhibit B.
Okay. Now, go ahead. I'm sorry.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: Okay. Correct me if I'm wrong. I'm pulling these documents from the Property Appraiser -- from the Escambia County Property Appraiser, April 2002. You and your then husband acquired the 10-acre parcel.

MS. PARKER: Yes, ma'am.

THE CHAIRMAN: Can you pull the microphone just a little closer? Make sure we're recording everything.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: In April 2002, Ms. Parker and her then husband purchased 10 acres.

MS. PARKER: Yes, ma'am.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: Then in November 2003, you received a permit to build a home on the west side . . .

MS. PARKER: Yes, ma'am.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: . . . of the 10 acres.

MS. PARKER: Yes, ma'am.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: In September 2005, you got a quitclaim deed from your then husband as to the east side, the east one half.

MS. PARKER: Yes, ma'am. We owned it together. And in the divorce, I got the property, 100 percent ownership of the lot.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: So we go from November

2003, where you had a permit to build on the west side. September 2005, you got a quitclaim deed as to the east side . . .

MS. PARKER: Mm-hmm.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: . . . from your then husband.

In November 2005 you sold the west side, the five acres where the home was built.

MS. PARKER: Yes, ma'am.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: And then, just for the record, in June 2011 there's been a quitclaim exchanged on the west side, unrelated to this.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Unrelated to this?

MS. PARKER: Oh, yeah. That's not me any more.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: That's all I have from the property records.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Do we have anything -- on the east side of the parcel, it was just the purchase transaction in April 2012, then. Excuse me. 2002.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: On April 2002, there's a warranty deed, purchased, husband and wife, the 10 acres. Ms. Parker and her then husband purchased the 10 acres.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Was that subsequently quitclaim deeded on 2005 when the divorce happened?

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: The east side was quitclaimed from the former husband to Ms. Parker. The west side was sold after that. As of September 2005, the west side was still owned by Ms. Parker and her then husband.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: In November of 2005, the property, the west side, was sold by Ms. Parker and her then husband to a new owner, third party.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. CLAY: I have a question. And I guess this would go to the county here. And that is, if we look at the lots prior to Ms. Parker, were there any lots sold in -- in quantities less than 20?

MS. CAIN: I had done a little research. And I know there was a 20-acre piece of parcel that was sold, so whoever had the -- Mr. Hall or whoever, the 85-plus acres, he sold that off in pieces of 20, and as far as I can tell, like, 20-acre chunks. And I think when there was a 20-acre piece, and that 20 then became a 10-piece, that Ms. Parker ended up purchasing.

So the original owner of the 85, he chopped it up and sold it off, so to speak, if you will.

MR. CLAY: So there weren't any requirements to say that she could not purchase lots less than 20.

MS. CAIN: She could purchase. It's just that the future land use and the zoning said one per 20. And at that time, if you don't know over a lot of -- Honestly, before I became in Planning, I didn't know what you could or couldn't do, you know.

So, hey, if somebody sold me 10 acres, you -- you know, she bought 10 acres and wanted to build a home, and each lot has for a building one single-family dwelling, so now we're back to the: Here's your 10 acres. She built her home. Now she's split it, and she has this other piece, and . . . You know.

MR. CLAY: So there wasn't anything in place to say . . . When she requested the permit to build -- to build a home, there wasn't anything in place, a red flag came up to say, this is agricultural, or . . .

MS. CAIN: I think that's where the family conveyance note came from because she would not have been able to legally build a home on 10 acres, due to the restraints of the zoning requirements, the density, which is one per 20.
So she comes in. Somehow it says "family conveyance." You know, let her build her house. So she has her home.
MR. CLAY: Right.
MS. CAIN: And whether that was done accidentally or whatever, it -- but regardless, she got her single-family home on her 10 acres that she purchased.
MR. CLAY: So there wasn't any background check to say, "Ms. Parker is not any relation to Mr. Hall."
MR. JONES: We don't -- we don't do that. That's not -- that is not a requirement for -- of the Land Development Code for us to do that.
Not to be -- not to be callous with her -- with her -- with her issue or condescending -- Mr. Briske knows this as well -- it is basically -- the -- the buyer has -- has to do their due diligence.

We see these all of the time. And -- and -- and we're trying to inform them more that they have to do their due diligence, and -- and -- and -- and getting -- and coming, engaging with the county to see these issues.
We do understand her situation. This is not the first. This is not the . . . Maybe the whole -- this won't be the last either.
There's some improvements necessary, but they -- they have -- they have to help us do their due diligence and -- and engage in the right question so we have -- we can inform them.
We -- we don't know every land use question that they -- that they may have, but -- but if they can help us, we can try to lead people down the right path.
And I'm not trying to be callous or condescending with the issue. I've been knowing Ms. Parker a long time. She knows I wouldn't do that to her. But I'm just trying to make the board aware of these issues.
MR. HOLMER: If I could, Andrew Holmer. Just to give you a little bit of a scope on this, lot-of-record date was February 1996. It wasn't until, I think, 2012 -- so we're looking at 16 years -- that the Property Appraiser's office required folks, when they split property, to come see us and make sure it meets the zoning and future land use.

So you've got a 16-year window there, your zoning and future land use have acreage requirements, but you could chop land up any way you wanted to and sell it to anybody. So there's . . . This isn't the only one out there. Each one is an individual thing as they come in.
MR. JONES: Absolutely. And Mr. Holmer is absolutely correct.
MR. CLAY: Well, I guess my position on that is: I understand that there's a lot of rules and regulations and things that are in place that . . . I know I have two pieces of property in Escambia County, and I'm willing to bet that there's a lot about those pieces of properties that I don't know; and that if I have a sale or whatever, that I would probably come up on the short end of the stick also.
And I think that what I'm listening to is that there's enough to go around on both sides, you know, on this buyer and seller, and also what the organization is, but that is something that we'd have to look at to be -- to be corrected.

MR. JONES: And -- and -- and -- and actually, you are correct. That's an issue, but one of the criteria is the -- is the act of omission or commission from -- from -- from -- from the county.
Just because rules need to be updated or changed, that still don't say that -- that -- that -- that someone has did anything wrong because rules need to be updated. Technology is being changed daily. And so -- so -- and that -- that's the requirement.
Perhaps we could continue to work with Ms. Parker and with some possible revisions or other regulations that we could -- I don't know how expedient this is for her.
When we -- when we talked to her, we did talk at length with her. Said -- said we could try to provide an avenue, but it may take time, but if there's a point of sale, I can't -- I don't know how expedient this is for us to get worked out for her.
And I think -- I think that's the right -- because I think that's the . . . But -- but -- but we know that there's some things that need to be updated, but that still don't mean again, repeating myself in closing, that the county has acted . . . did -- did anything wrongly, as far as the -- us meeting the criteria for vested rights.

MS. CAIN: If I could, just -- I kind of have a question in general because this is kind of new, vested rights for this board. There is a limitation for the vested rights, as far as the, you know, 18 months. So if we do a vested rights, are we giving a vested right to the land? To Ms. Parker? To the person who buys it? You know. And how does that 18-month window fit in? I'm not really sure.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. We'll make sure we address that going forward.

I have one question, and I'm going to bring it up. We have someone who signed up to speak. But the question -- If you'll come forward, Ms. Parker.

Were you represented by a professional Realtor when you purchased the property or did you just --

Page 54

MS. PARKER: I was not, but the gentleman who had it listed had it listed with a Realtor.

THE CHAIRMAN: So there was a selling agent.

MS. PARKER: Mm-hmm.

THE CHAIRMAN: And you have contact with that agent? Did they ever --

MS. PARKER: I -- No. He didn't represent me. He represented the seller. But he actually came to the closing and everything. I'm not sure if he's still a Realtor or not.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MS. PARKER: But I did want to say this: I've been working with this for a few months. And I've already been to a few meetings, and things like that. And we were talking about how important time is.

The young family that is gonna -- that would like to build on my property, they've already sold their house, and they're living in a camper in a campground. And they are waiting on me to try to get it rectified because they need to live by family. So that kind of answers that question about how quick I need this to happen.

The second part is, you know, I have my original title work, I'm 99 percent sure, in that folder from where I bought that lot, and because I remember having the discussion with this man over his mother's property about mineral rights.

And now, she would never let him sell mineral rights through all his sales, so the staff encouraged me to go do my research on Gibson Road.

Now, I didn't even -- I took a picture of my sign, you know, that they had up and everything. But I went through the Property Appraiser's page, and I printed every single property on Gibson Road. And I'm working off of memory here because I know everybody's on time constraint, but there was like 73.

Of those 73, more than 50 of those lots are less than 20 acres that are recorded, that people live on them. There's a double wide right around the corner from mine, a double-wide trailer. And a double-wide trailer can live on a five-acre lot, you know. So I mean, I tried to do that due diligence for myself.

I am a builder. I don't buy no land without coming in here and saying, "What can I do with this? Can I pull a permit? You know, what's my density here?" And that kind of thing.

So I just -- that's -- that's all I've got. So unless anybody has any other questions of me . . .

THE CHAIRMAN: Well, you bought up a point. Did staff do an analysis and have the parcels in the surrounding area, and how many of them are legal, nonconforming as far as size, or anything like that?

MS. PARKER: I have a map that they made for me, that map.

MR. JONES: We did -- we did make a map. Now, that would be substantial for us to go back and to research.

THE CHAIRMAN: I'm just trying to quantify. She just said that there was many properties on Gibson Road that were already under 20-acres.

MR. JONES: Mm-hmm.

THE CHAIRMAN: And not that that answers the vested rights question, but it does help us understand what the neighborhood is like, because -- What else?

Page 57

MR. HOLMER: Yes, sir. There are multiple properties in the area of all sorts of different sizes.
I would mention once again, this is a rezoning case. You're not taking into account how it fits into the surrounding areas. Think more Board of Adjustment-wise where you're that one specific piece of property. Was something done or not done by the county that vested this property with this right? Each -- each one of those other properties has its own story. And we don't know what they are because we're dealing with the one specific property.
THE CHAIRMAN: Right. Okay.
MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: Again -- I'm sorry.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Go ahead.
MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: Again, the criteria for the board's determination is that -- this is what I read before, but the pivotal issue is whether the applicant had a good-faith reliance on an --
THE CHAIRMAN: Bring that up on the screen again because I think that language is important for everybody to review. And you're reading right out of criterion 2; is that correct?

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: Yes, sir.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.
MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: That first sentence. "the owner is determined to have acquired rights due to a good-faith reliance on something the county did, an omission, a commission."
So it could have been right or wrong. It's a good-faith reliance that is pivotal to your court's determination.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. All right.
MR. RUSHING: If the family conveyance was correct in everything we did, and she actually had it conveyed properly by the family, would this be an issue?
MR. JONES: If -- if -- if the rules of the family conveyance provision were followed explicitly through -- through -- for the family member, five acres per family, it would -- it would not be no issue.
MR. RUSHING: Okay. So then, the act or omission could be from the county, that you believed it was a conveyance; therefore, granting her the rights to be able to sell this or divide this property up and sell them in individual five-acre lots; correct?

Rightfully or wrongfully, if it was -- if it was or was not a conveyance is not the point. The point is that the documentation shows it is a conveyance; so therefore, it would be an act of omission that it was done incorrectly; therefore, she was under the reliance that it was a -- it was followed -- the steps were followed correctly. Am I not following that?
MR. JONES: Mr. Rushing, the family members owned 10 acres. It was only 10 acres. It was only 10. That's what --
MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: And again, the issue isn't whether the county acted properly or properly designated it as a family conveyance authorization. That was not the issue. The issue is whether the applicant relied in good faith on the county's actions.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Yes, Ms. Parker.
MS. PARKER: When I've had the 10-acre parcel, and I secured my mortgage on my 5 acres, I can guarantee you I would have not done that had I known I was going to land-lock myself out of being able to build on that. I had no idea that that's what I was doing.

Page 60

I -- If there was any kind of family conveyance, I -- I didn't -- I didn't convey it to any family. I owned -- I owned the land. I sold the house. But I would never purposely -- I would have jacked up my price and sold 10 acres and a house.
But, you know, when I divide -- If you look, that land-use thing is dated. Two months later my surveys are in place, my everything is going. I mean, I would have never purposely land-locked myself out of a five-acre parcel of land.
THE CHAIRMAN: You did rely on something that was presented to you.
MS. PARKER: I mean, I thought I was good to do what I was doing, you know, and I just -- I truly just wanted to make that clear.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. All right.
I'm going to -- We have a question. Okay.
MR. INGWELL: I have a question referencing the permit we seek. In the parcel ID, what is that in reference to? Is that the 10 acres or 5 acres?
MS. CAIN: That's the 10 acres because at the time, the county . . . It was only for the original 10 acres. Whether she mortgaged only 5, it is not here or there. But she has the 10 acres, and we gave her a permit to build a single-family home on 10 acres.

Now, if we as the county had done something and told her, "Yes, you can now split it into 5," then the county would have been -- that -- then she would have been vested possibly for a vested right for the 5 acres.

But at the time when she bought the permit, it was strictly for the single-family home on the 10 acres.

So when she split it, we didn't know. I mean, she -- she just mortgaged the 5, and now she built a home, and it was just the 10 acres for the single-family home.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. JONES: And -- and -- and I'd like -- and I'd like to add again, just -- just -- this is very, very challenging, complicated. We do have people that get surveys done all the of the time, and they -- and especially back then, they would go and get the surveys recorded. Once they get them, whether they was conforming or not, they became legal lots because they got them recorded.

They didn't have to come and see us. Then we took and said, "I'm sorry. You don't -- you don't have a conforming lot."

Then they got to saying, well, I can't -- I can't -- so -- so back then they were recording these lots without county input or without county authorization that now we do have a form in place. We -- we -- we got that established, but back then they was on a separate entity, and they --

THE CHAIRMAN: You're saying the Clerk's office would accept and record, even if it had not gone through the proper subdivision channels.

MR. JONES: Yes. Yes.

MS. CAIN: And the survey . . .

MR. JONES: And -- and -- and they can get --

THE CHAIRMAN: Well, that in itself is part of the problem, accepting and recording something, even if it's not gone through the proper procedure.

MR. RUSHING: Which then goes back to reliance.

MR. JONES: But -- but -- but it is -- it is -- it is something that if we did, the land-use issue -- because they didn't check with us either -- that if they didn't check with us, it's -- it's -- it's -- it's -- they . . . as well, because I -- I -- back then, I'll be honest. I'm not trying to take away -- I'm just trying to say maybe there's another avenue so you can wait to try to get some ordinances for you. I'm just saying.

MS. PARKER: Mm-hmm.

MR. JONES: See. And that's if we -- if -- if -- I -- I -- We would have people come in, "Well, this is my property. You can't tell me what I can do with my property."

Especially back then, when I first got started in 2000, it was paramount back then, so I do -- I do understand the dilemma that she's in. I really do because that's the first time I dealt with this.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Let's go ahead and hear from this gentleman that's been patiently waiting.

Again, for members of the public who wish to speak on this matter, we're not just going to accept general statements of support or opposition. We would like to have factual information based on these criteria.

Please limit your testimony to one of these criteria. And also note that only those individuals who are present to give testimony on the record will be allowed to speak at the subsequent hearing before the Board of County Commissioners.

Mr. Rodger Elliott.

Good afternoon, sir. Morning still. If you'll be sworn in, please, and then state your name and address for the record.

...RODGER ELLIOTT, upon being duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

- - -

MR. ELLIOTT: My name is Rodger Elliott. I live at 9280 Gibson Road.

I purchased that property as part of the original from the estate of Mr. Manuel Perry. And that was 20 acres.

The 20 acres north of me was sold -- I don't recall the name -- possibly to a Mr. Hall, who then sold it to at that time the Hatches.

Page 65

The Hatches two brothers, ex-husband and a brother, split that by -- I'm assuming that was a family conveyance. And then you pretty much know what happened after that. That's just from my memory of having been there.

I'm a farmer. I'm opposed to moving this from an AG classification because when we move things from an AG classification, I start getting complaints about flies or my livestock, guarding dogs barking in the middle of the night because they're guarding my sheep, and a host of other things that happen when people start moving into agricultural areas.

The fact that the two brothers got this property and subdivided it back in '03 or whenever it was, I called and talked to some of the folks down here at that time and asked, "How can this be?"

Well, they said it was a family conveyance, so there's not a whole lot you can do about that, but it bothered me that they were subdividing it when only one was going to build a house there.

The young couple that's trying to buy the property, I've met them. They're great people.

Page 66

I'd love to have them for neighbors, but I'm opposed to changing the AG classification on it.

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Now, you mentioned you're aware of the brother that were involved in the family conveyance. Is one of the brothers her ex-husband?

MR. ELLIOTT: Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN: Is that what you're talking about?

MR. ELLIOTT: That's what I understand.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. And you're saying that the other brother was -- somehow owned the property as well?

MR. ELLIOTT: He still owns the other 10.

THE CHAIRMAN: The other 10 acres. Okay. I see. So they brought 20, and then --

MR. ELLIOTT: Split.

THE CHAIRMAN: -- he kept 10 and 10 went -- that's your understanding.

MR. ELLIOTT: That's correct.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. All right.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: I do have some property record information along the lines of what you were saying.

The 2002 -- the April 2002 deed for the 10-acre parcel to Ms. Parker and her former husband, that was from the Perry estate.

MR. ELLIOTT: Right. Well, there was an intermediary there. And it may have been Mr. Hall, but that closed at the same time as I did, and I understood it. Then Mr. Hall then resold it and split it with 10.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: I can't contradict you. I didn't find that intermediary step in the --

MR. ELLIOTT: That may not have closed completely. He was in the process of buying it, had a contract on it. And I made a contract for my 20. That may have fallen through. But it may have come directly from the Perry estate. I don't know that.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So let me just make sure I understand. You're opposed to any change in the zoning. You're also opposed to it being vested for construction of another home on the property. Is that what you're saying?

MR. ELLIOTT: Yes, because I think that would change the agricultural zoning it.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. ELLIOTT: The purpose.

Page 68

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Any questions of this gentleman?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you for being so patient. I know you've waited very patiently.

Okay. Is there anyone else in the public that wishes to speak on this matter?

MS. PARKER: I have one more thing.

THE CHAIRMAN: I'm going to let you finish up.

MS. PARKER: Oh, okay.

THE CHAIRMAN: I just wanted to see if there was anyone else.

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. We'll hereby close the public portion.

Ms. Parker, you can come back up.

MS. PARKER: When we bought our 10 acres, and the brother that doesn't live here bought his 10 acres, we didn't close on the same day. It was not one big 20 with a family. We bought 10, and I have my closing stuff. And then they had a separate transaction. We had a mortgage on ours. They had a mortgage on theirs. It was never one. That gentleman did a closing with us. He did a separate closing with them. That was not . . .

THE CHAIRMAN: So the prior owner --

MS. PARKER: And they never pulled a permit on theirs at all.

THE CHAIRMAN: -- is the one that sold you the 10 acres, the prior owner. It wasn't that you and your family members --

MS. PARKER: Right.

THE CHAIRMAN: -- owned the 20 and then divided it.

MS. PARKER: I have a sales contract between myself and Mr. Hall. That's who I purchased my 10 acres from.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. RUSHING: And that's the work that's in the county.

THE CHAIRMAN: Yeah. Okay. All right.

Well, you've probably got 800 questions, but anything to ask here?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Anything else from the staff?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: I don't want to convolute

the decision, but Allyson did bring up a good point with the 18 months, if vested rights is considered here, that that has a limited time on it. And does that go to Ms. Gibson -- excuse me -- Ms. Parker or is that conveyed with the property to a new owner? Are there any rules in the code for that, Horace?

MR. JONES: That's -- that's -- that's something we're going to have to really work with legal on. That's something -- because, see, she -- now she's passing her rights to someone else, and -- and that's something that we'll have to work with legal on -- on that question.

MR. FEARS: In essence, that's already happened. It happened when the sale of the land of 10 acres was allowed to be built on by the buyer.

Those rights were mistakenly, whatever, you want the word "granted" to the builder of the land that -- who bought 10 acres under the assumption she could build on 10, when she really wasn't supposed to.

MS. CAIN: If I can read Section 2-6.7, vested rights. The general intent says, "It is the intent of this section to provide a mechanism for the granting of an equitable vested right according to the provisions of this section when a landowner asserts that sufficient development activity, once lawful under applicable land use regulations but now contrary to their terms, has occurred so that the landowner is entitled to a development right." So . . .

MR. JONES: The landowner's entitled to a development right. Something that we did, basically, and -- and -- and she responded to really get something, now she's passing this right to . . .

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: And I think another physical provision is the "once lawful."

MS. CAIN: "Once lawful under applicable land use regulations."

MR. INGWELL: It seems that this has occurred a lot, by the issuance of the building permit on the initial 10 acres. You know, now it appears we're trying to further subdivide -- further subdivide after the fact. The permit was issued on 10 acres.

MR. JONES: Yes.

MR. INGWELL: And -- didn't know that someone that goes in after the fact and surveys and further subdivides, just like you said. It happens all the time.

MR. JONES: And you're --

MR. INGWELL: And it's not on the county. It's on the landowner to disclose.

MR. RUSHING: Then the second point, and I am in no way forecasting my vote because I really have no clue what I'm going to vote, we used the term "the omission of the Planning Board or the staff" in its conveyance.

But I also understand and I'm also hearing that it may not be your staff that made an omission, but it was the county that actually did. In the consumer's eye and the citizen's eye, each department doesn't act individually. They all act as one.

So if the county made a mistake on something, and she made a decision based on a wrongfully or correctly given information and she made a decision on it, I see that as the county made an omission, even though the -- or may have made an omission, even though the conveyance physically states your department did not make an omission. Am I making that clear at all?

MR. JONES: I -- I -- I understand. I understand your words. I just -- I just cannot say that that is the . . . I understand the assumption and the logic behind it, but I -- I -- I just can't say that's the way it's supposed to be tied together, that if it's the county, that basically it means the Clerk of Court. It means any other county agency is responsible for something that, one, I -- I don't know if you can make that logical nexus, that logical connection, but I do understand the logic. I do understand the wording behind it, Mr. Rushing.

THE CHAIRMAN: Let me just try to maybe give a little piece of advice to the board members, since some of you are new here. This is a very technical issue, and it's probably going to have to be solved, actually, through application of laws. Okay?

I don't think any of us are attorneys. We're lay people. We were hired to make common sense and reasonable decisions on things. So think through everything that you've heard.

What do you think is reasonable? If that's reasonable, that's the way you should vote. Vote your conscience.

And if it the answer is not what the applicant wants or not what anyone who is opposed to it wants, they have other remedies to be able to appeal. And then it does get decided in a more legal way.

So I know it's a heavy burden right now because you're trying to decide what's the right thing to do, but I've kind of had to do that over the years. I've been on the board quite a long time. And sometimes you just have to say, "Well, this is my best judgment at this point. Let me go with it."

And the somebody overturns it later or changes the decision, then they'll have to prove why they did that. So that's just kind of my personal advice because I know a lot of you are new to this type of thing, so . . .

Yes, ma'am.

MS. ELLIS-WIGGINS: And also, sir, I -- the board -- your assessment, I don't know if it matters, but what you said, I think is really well said and valid.

And to that point, I am just now, unfortunately, reading these three paragraphs in your backup material, the paragraph that Allyson read, the general vested rights, the criterion one and criterion two. And there's some very significant legal points in there or -- or legal points in the sense that they're factors to consider.

That paragraph that I went into earlier, that's just one factor. And so based on your previous statement about assessing what the factors are in making a decision, based on the code, I would point to these three paragraphs as the foundation on which you go forward making your determination. Thank you.

THE CHAIRMAN: Any more discussion or questions?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Let me just start. And again, I'm not an attorney, so I'm not very knowledgeable about all of the legal pieces of this.

But in my mind, what I'm thinking is, we've heard testimony that at one time the county was recording dividing land in the public records. And I see that as being -- right or wrong, the applicant who went through that process didn't do it correctly, but yet, the county -- another arm of the county, maybe, maybe not this department but another arm of the county, recorded those documents.

And in this world, I think a lot of people would rely on the fact that something has been recorded in county documents to be a legal document. Now, maybe -- maybe I'm wrong.

But I would think that, you know -- I don't know Ms. Parker's background and how much she understood about the code or the law or anything like that, but to me it seems reasonable that she would have relied on that information that she did have a right to go forward with the property, so that's the way I'm basing my decision, would be that I do believe she felt she had the right to move forward, and so I would be in support of vesting for this five-acre parcel.

MS. CAIN: I just -- as Ms. Wiggins had stated the criteria, I was looking at it again. And the vested -- criteria for the vested rights, 2-6.7, it does make reference to establishing the proposed use of the property meets the current supervision of Article 3, Chapter 5 at the time of vesting, and that actually is division of land.

And under one of those 5-3.2, it's the creation of new lots. "No new lots shall be created which require a variance or other exception to the requirements of the LDC, to find sufficient buildable area or other conditions necessary to use a lot for its intended purpose." And that's just one of the sections --

THE CHAIRMAN: Hasn't the lot already been created when she sold the other five acres?

MR. JONES: See -- see, that's the thing. If you want to -- if -- if you want to say, "Well" -- if you want to say that because the lot is recorded that that makes it a valid lot, that does not, that -- that we have -- so we have other issues. That does not make it a valid lot.

When they come to -- when they come to my office, I have to make sure that their lot meets all of the county -- all of this book (indicating) requirements.

On one of the -- one of the requirements is that you've got to -- fronting on a county right-of-way or if the proper road frontage. She was -- they were giving the ability to construct a home on the 10 acres.

Now, to . . . With all respect to Ms. Parker, the ability to further subdivide it or to further split because a survey was done or because a lot was recorded, that still does not nullify the requirements of the Land Development Code. It happens all of the time with -- with -- with us, and -- and -- and we have to tell them that you still got to meet the requirements of the Land Development Code.

Just like when y'all do the rezoning cases, you'll tell them that the site plan review and the DOIC, all of the requirements are substantial.

My county planners. We tell them that as well, that -- and we've got to have -- and to -- and to -- and to -- and to continue in a -- a -- a challenge is not making the situation better. It is continuing with something that's a problem. And that's all -- that's all respectfully said to Ms. Parker and to this board, that that's why we have to be careful with nullifying this -- this -- this book.

MS. CAIN: And the continuation of that division of land, "Additionally unless established through the family conveyance exception of this section, the creation of any new lot shall comply with the following: One is zoning compliance. Two is the right-of way frontage. And three is subdivision review. And it talks about family . . .

MS. PARKER: Can I talk one more time?

THE CHAIRMAN: Yes.

MS. PARKER: Okay. So I have a letter in that -- in my file that talks about this is not a county-maintained road but the county does do whatever on Gibson Road there, the entire road, and it's huge.

What I want to say is this: The very first survey done -- and I'm not counting on this survey, but the very first survey done in April of '02 on that 10 acres, Horace gave me permission in November to split that 10 acres before I bought a permit in December.

I have the next survey done, which is the foundation survey of two five-acre parcels of lot -- of land.

I don't know how many times I can beat this dead horse, by that's the honest to God -- that's the end of my story. I bought it, got permission to build on five of it, bought a permit, have a foundation survey with five and five, and a mortgage on the five.

Now, what transpires along the way and the laws and articles, I don't know. All I know is that under guidance, I went to one meeting for a preapplication. I went to a next meeting for a vested rights because I'm trying to be guided through this process.

This is costing me more and more and more money. I pay my property taxes every year. I have -- I do everything I'm supposed to do to that land. And I've been guided as to what my approaches are.

And then I'm told, "Okay. Come to this vested rights things. And I do. And I bring forth everything I know to bring. And now I've got to sit and look at ordinance changes and this, that and the other, which I'm not complaining, but I'm just saying, you know, I'm not stupid. I've been a resident and a contractor in this county for many years. If you got in there right now, I've got a confidence quorum. I've got two on record.

I'm not dumb. I knew not to, but I would have never landlocked myself out of five acres of property. I would not have done it.

And so, you know, we're looking at time lines. We're looking at laws. I mean, I've got some, too, you know. And so I just want to make sure you guys understand. I'm not trying to shoot myself in the foot. I mean, when -- I did it according to good business sense, I thought.

THE CHAIRMAN: Yes, ma'am. Thank you.

As the parcel sits right now, with all of these issues that go along with it, nothing can be constructed on the property? It has to remain as a vacant property at this point?

MS. CAIN: It does not meet the one per 20 agricultural zoning.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So it just has to be used for trees or farming or whatever you could do on five acres. It could be --

MS. CAIN: Under AG.

THE CHAIRMAN: -- no exceptions made to allow for a residence to be built on it.

MR. JONES: It just doesn't meet the requirements.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. I understand. I know that you are presenting what you have to present according to the current code. And the board up here has to make a decision based on what they think is right.

And, you know, like I said, after this case, it may go for appeal. You know, the Board of County Commissioners may get it, and they may not agree with us. They may change it. It may go to appeal after that. So I mean, there's a lot of things that can happen, but I think we just -- I think we've heard everything that we really need to hear. We just need to go ahead and make a decision, so . . .

Yes, Mr. Rushing.

MR. RUSHING: I'd like to go ahead and make a motion on this case to accept the conveyance per the applicant's request.

THE CHAIRMAN: Thereby vesting rights in the parcel?

MR. RUSHING: Yes.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. FEARS: Second.

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion and a second. Any further discussion?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: All those in favor say "aye."

(Chorus of "ayes.")

THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?

UNIDENTIFIED BOARD MEMBER: Nay.

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. So we have four.

Mr. Clay, did you vote yes, I believe?

MR. CLAY: I voted yes.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. We have four in favor and one opposing, so the motion does carry to move forward to the Board of County Commissioners.

Now, the Board of County Commissioners is their own board. They basically can do what they want, and it may get changed or tabled up there, but okay.

MS. PARKER: Thank you.

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Thank you.

(Hearing concluded at 11:54 a.m.)

Planning Board-Rezoning 7. D.
Meeting Date: 04/04/2017
Issue: A Public Hearing Concerning Vested Rights Determination
Organization: Development Services

RECOMMENDATION:
That the Planning Board review and make recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners (BCC) on the following Vested Rights case:

Case No.:	VRD-2017-01
Project Address:	9300 Blk Gibson Road
Property Reference No.:	24-3N-32-1301-001-001
Zoning District:	Agr
FLU Category:	AG
Vested Rights for:	Land Use
Applicant:	Constance Parker

BACKGROUND:
In 2002, the Applicant purchased a ten acre parcel of land that was a portion of an 85± acre lot-of-record. While the future land use and zoning both called for minimum 20 acre lots, the Applicant pulled a permit in 2003 and built a home on the west half of the ten acre parcel. The western five acre portion containing the home was sold in 2005 and that same year the Applicant became the sole owner of the remaining eastern five acres. The Applicant has since paid taxes on the five acres in question and states that she believed it to be a buildable lot.

In 2017, the Applicant approached Planning staff regarding permitting a home on the parcel and was told that the parcel is non-conforming with future land use and zoning and a building permit can not be issued. Staff reviewed with the Applicant the idea of seeking a future land use change along with a rezoning to make the parcel conforming. This option would prove difficult as either change would result in an isolated district and would be a considerable cost while providing no assurance of a positive outcome.

Faced with these options, the Applicant is requesting to be vested with development rights for the non-conforming five acre parcel.

CRITERIA FOR VESTED RIGHTS:

LDC 2-6.7 Vested Rights. It is the intent of the Land Development Code to provide a mechanism for the granting of an equitable vested right according to the provisions of this section when a landowner asserts that sufficient development activity, once lawful under applicable land use regulations but now contrary to their terms, has occurred so that the landowner is entitled to a development right. An owner shall be entitled to a Determination of Vested Rights only if through substantial competent evidence it can be established that the proposed use of the property meets the concurrency provisions of Article 3, Chapter 5 at the time of vesting.

CRITERION 1:

LDC 2-6.7(1) The project was authorized pursuant to a County Development Order, or equivalent issued on or before the effective date of this code, or a pertinent amendment thereto, and the development has commenced and is continuing in good faith. In a claim based upon this criterion, the owner must produce evidence of actions and accomplishments that substantiate timely and lawful progression towards the completion of the intentions and plans documented in the original order, or equivalent. In a claim based upon this criterion, the rights to which the owner may be vested is a continuation of the original order, or equivalent.

FINDINGS:

Staff research has found no permit or other development approval for the parcel in question.

LDC 2-6.8(f) Limitation on vested rights. A determination of vested rights shall expire and be null and void unless construction of improvements, if any, are commenced pursuant to a development order within 18 months after the issuance of the determination of vested rights.

CRITERION 2:

LDC 2-6.7(2) The owner is determined to have acquired rights due to good faith reliance on an act of commission or omission of the County which has caused the owner to make such a substantial change in position or to incur such extensive obligations and expenses that it would be highly inequitable and unjust to destroy the rights acquired. In a claim based upon this criterion, the owner must document, and the County must verify, the obligations and expenses that are in jeopardy. The owner must produce evidence of actions and accomplishments that substantiate timely and lawful progression towards the completion of the intentions and plans that have been jeopardized. Evidence including, but not limited to, that which demonstrates that such activity has not progressed in such a manner may be sufficient to negate a finding of good faith on the part of the owner and therefore invalidate the claim to vested rights.

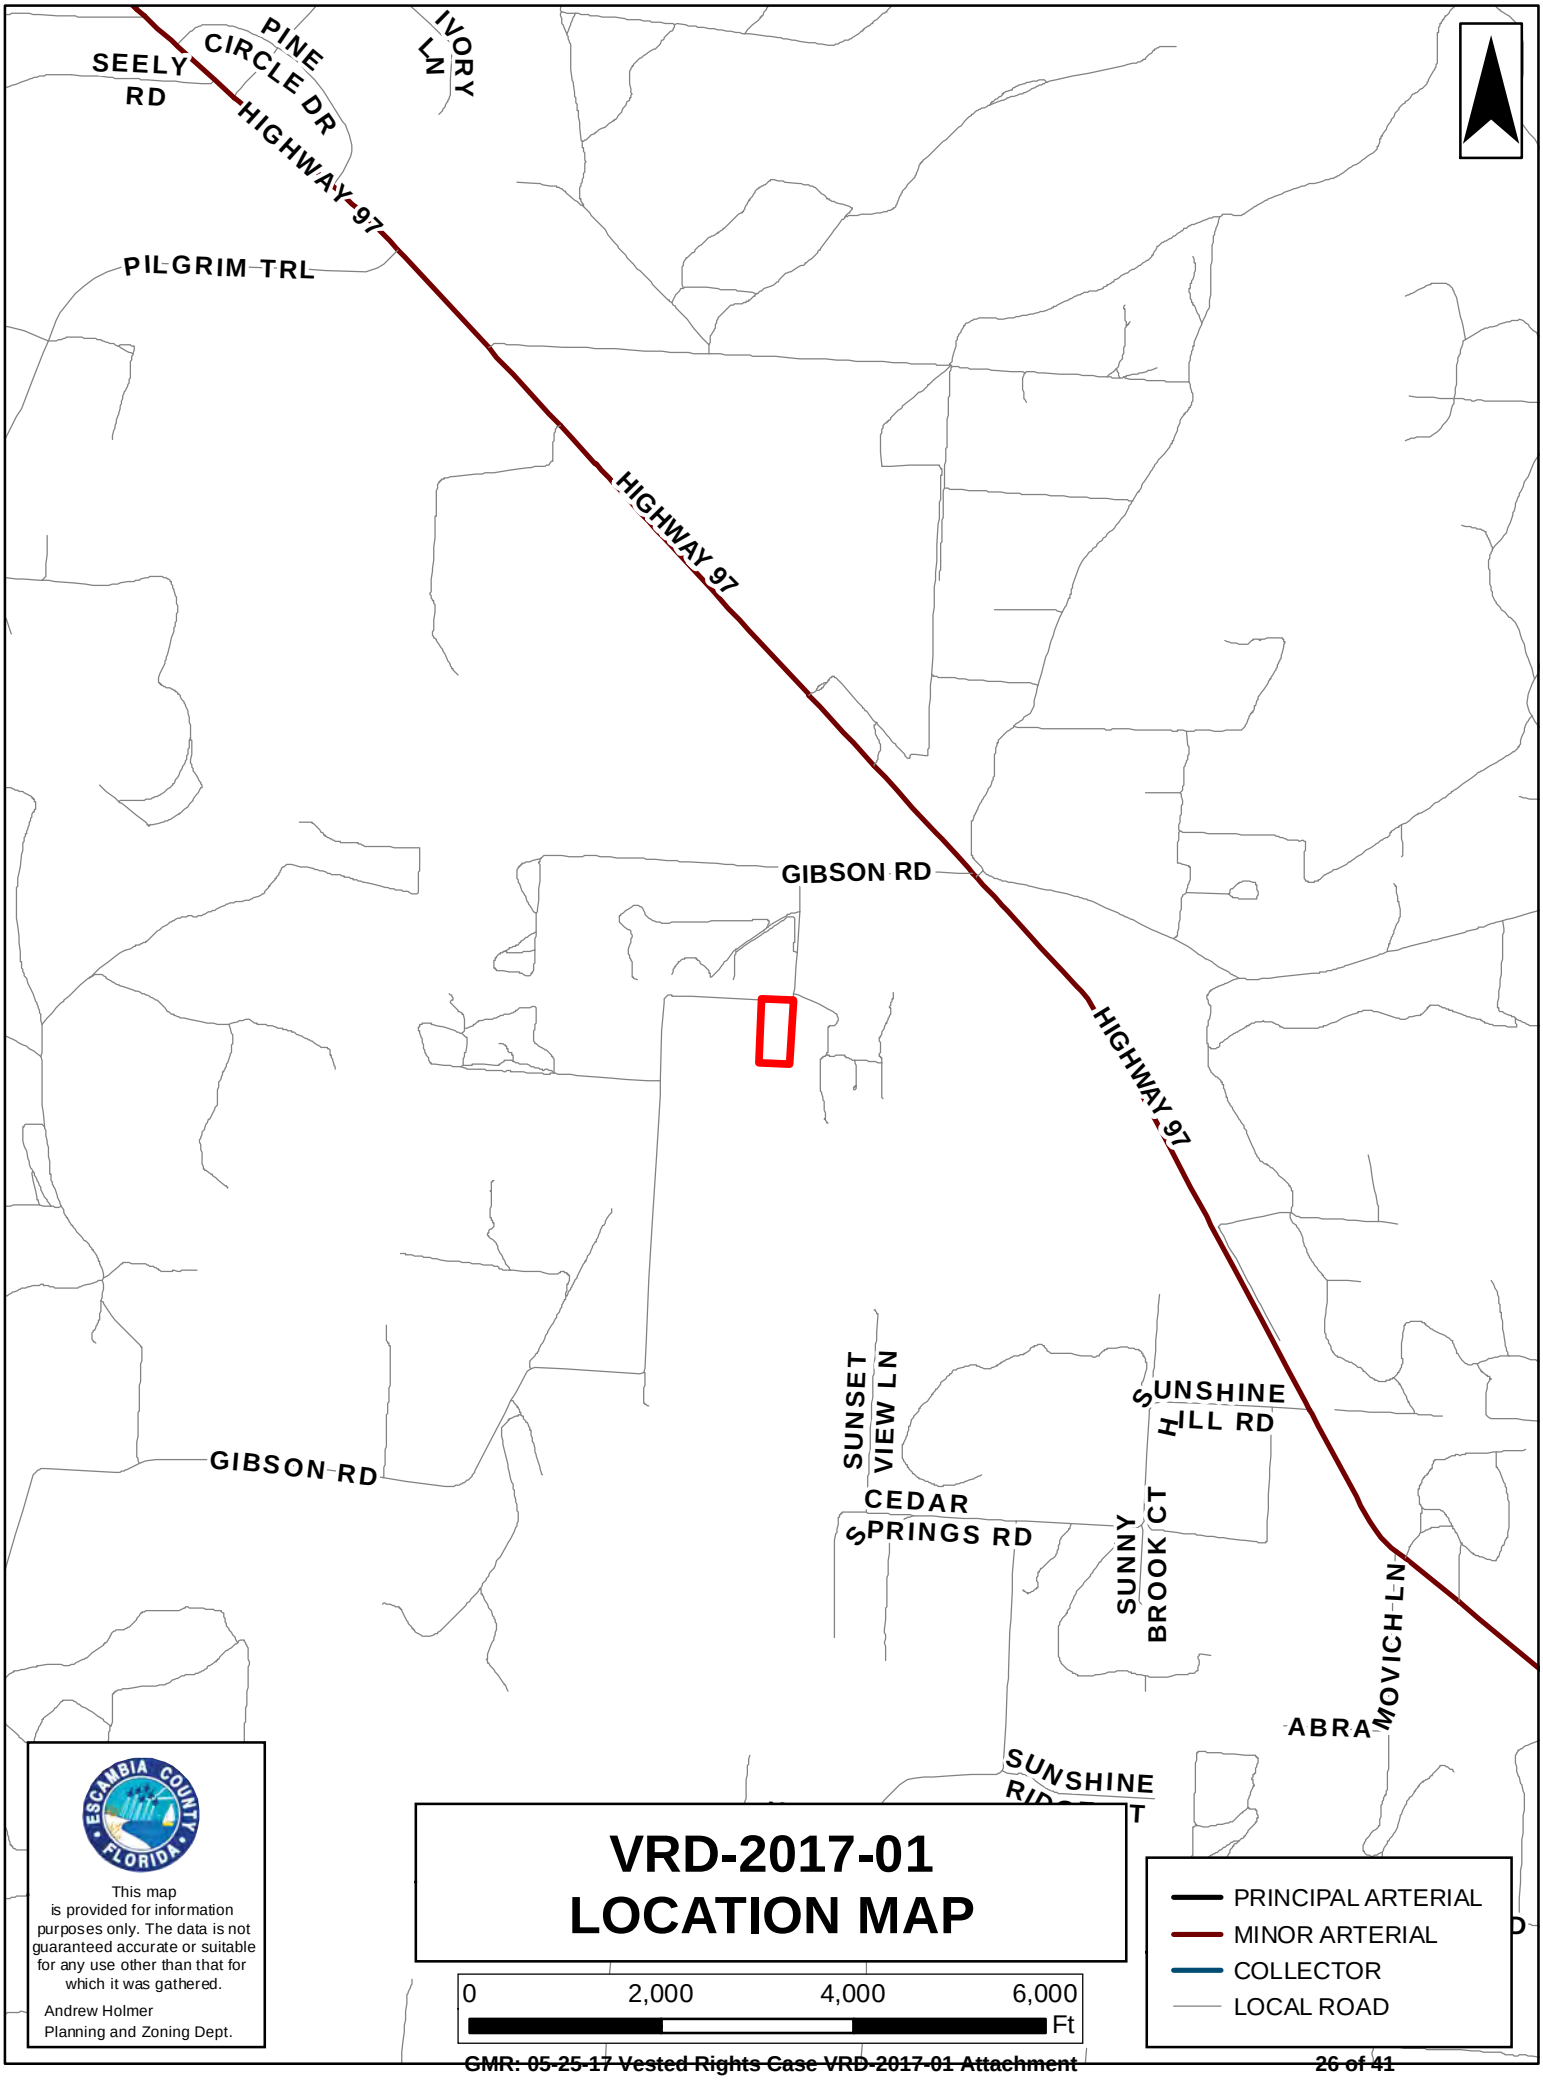
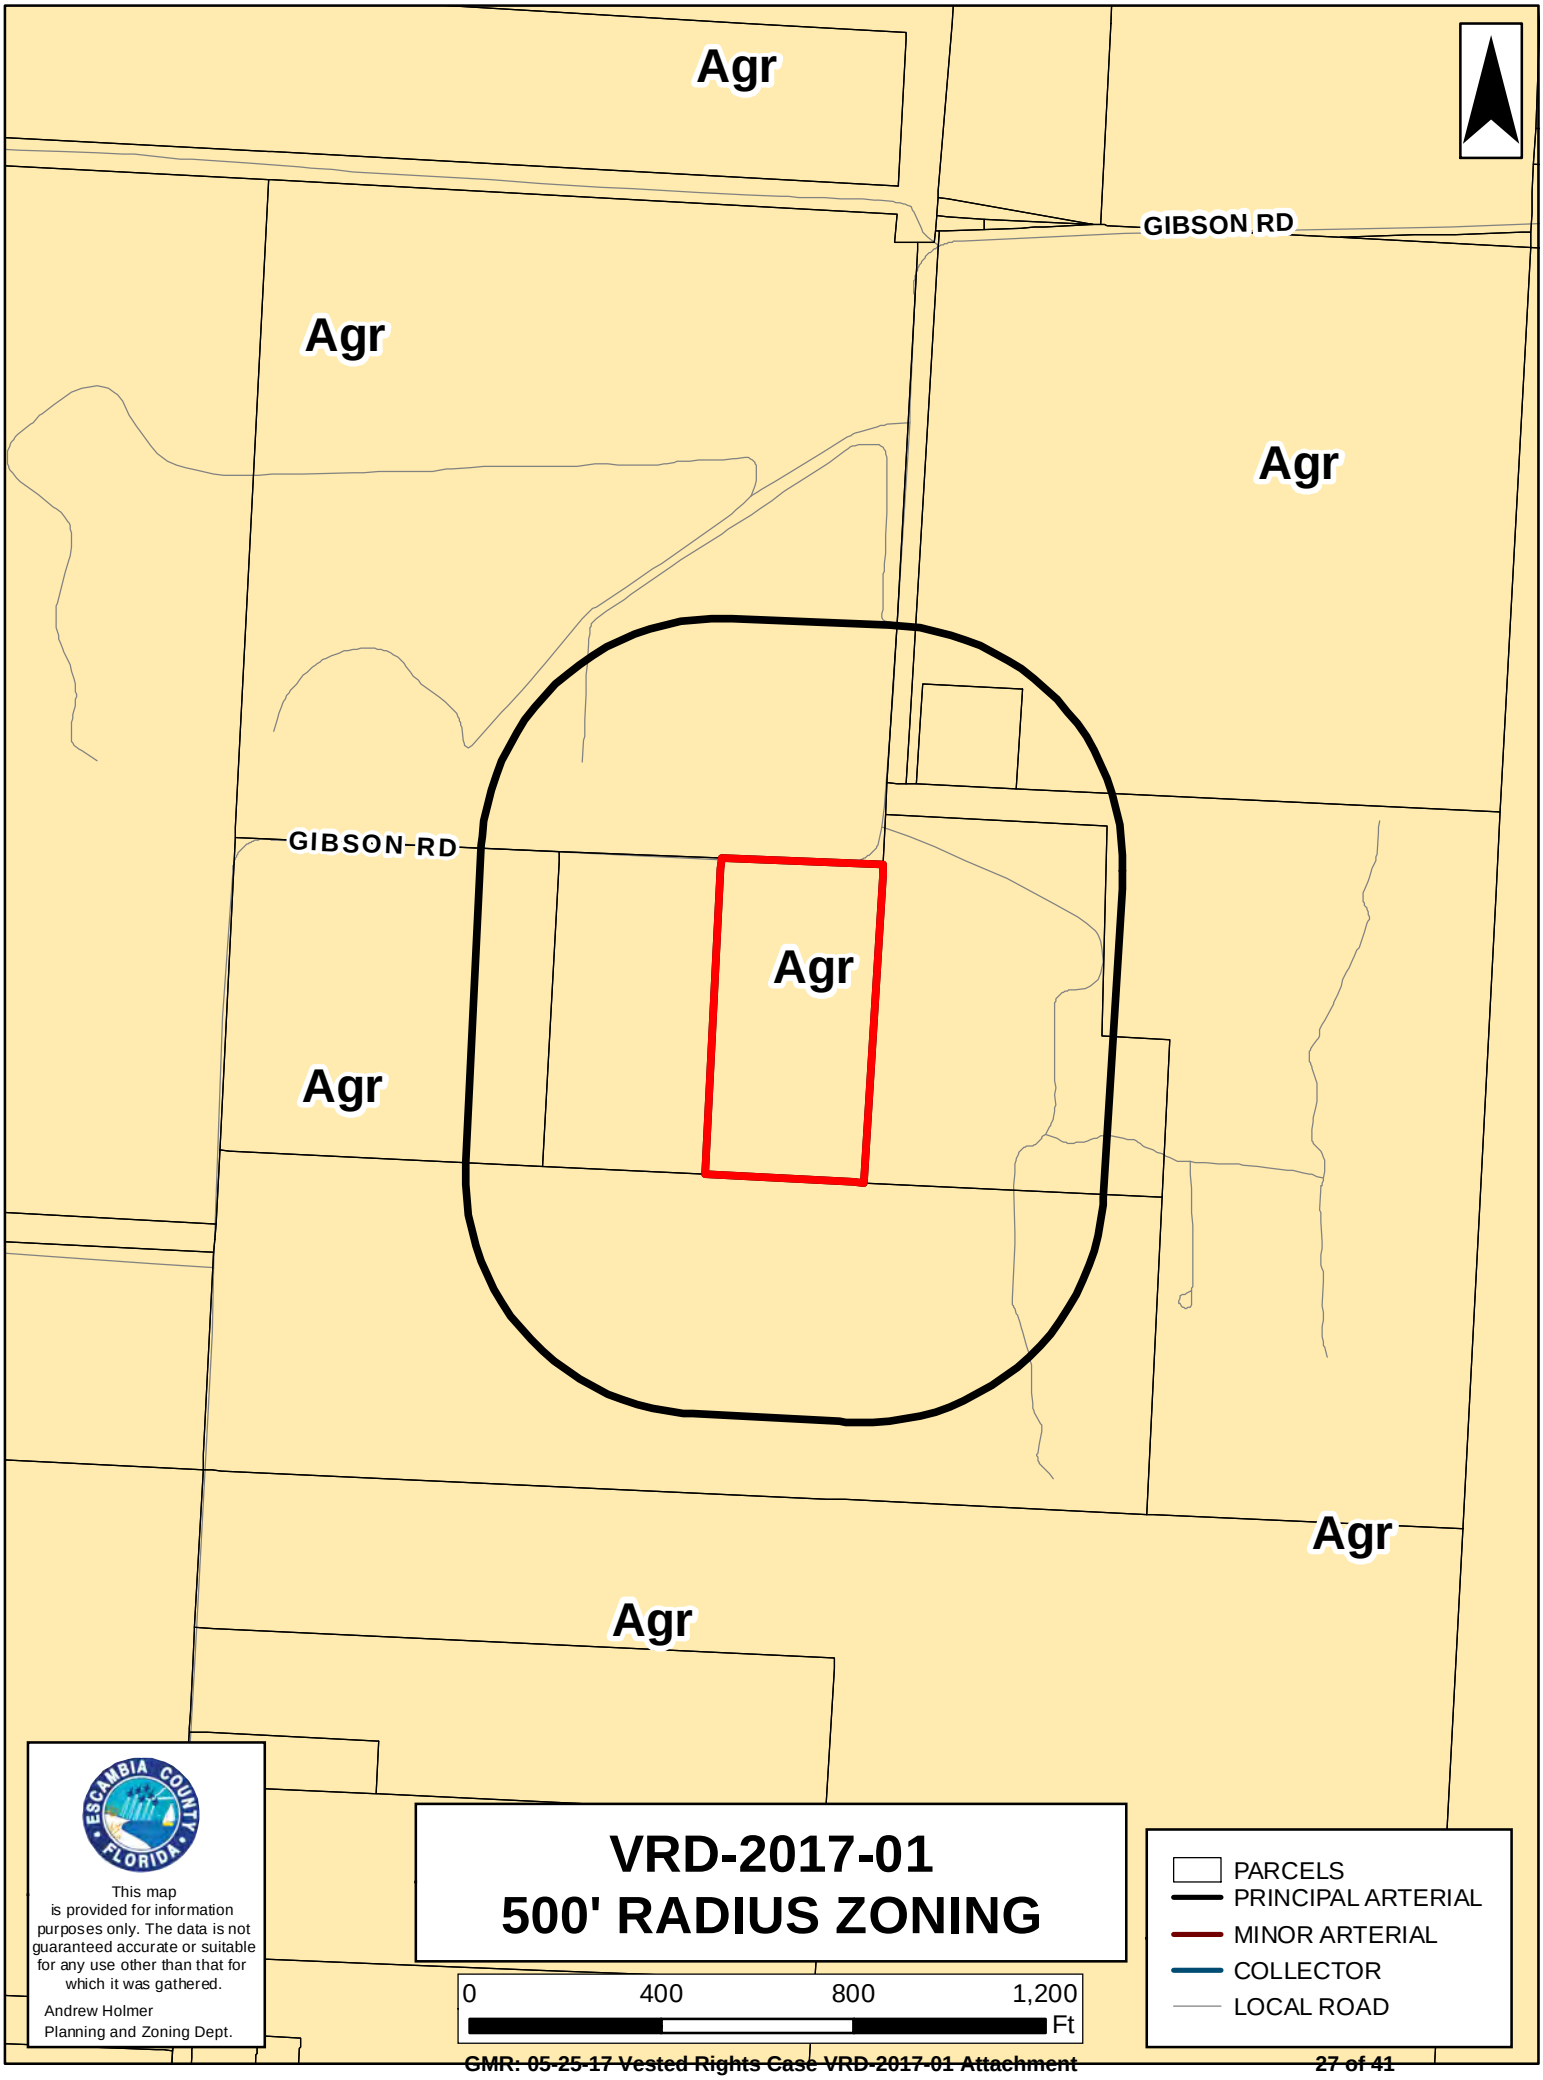
FINDINGS:

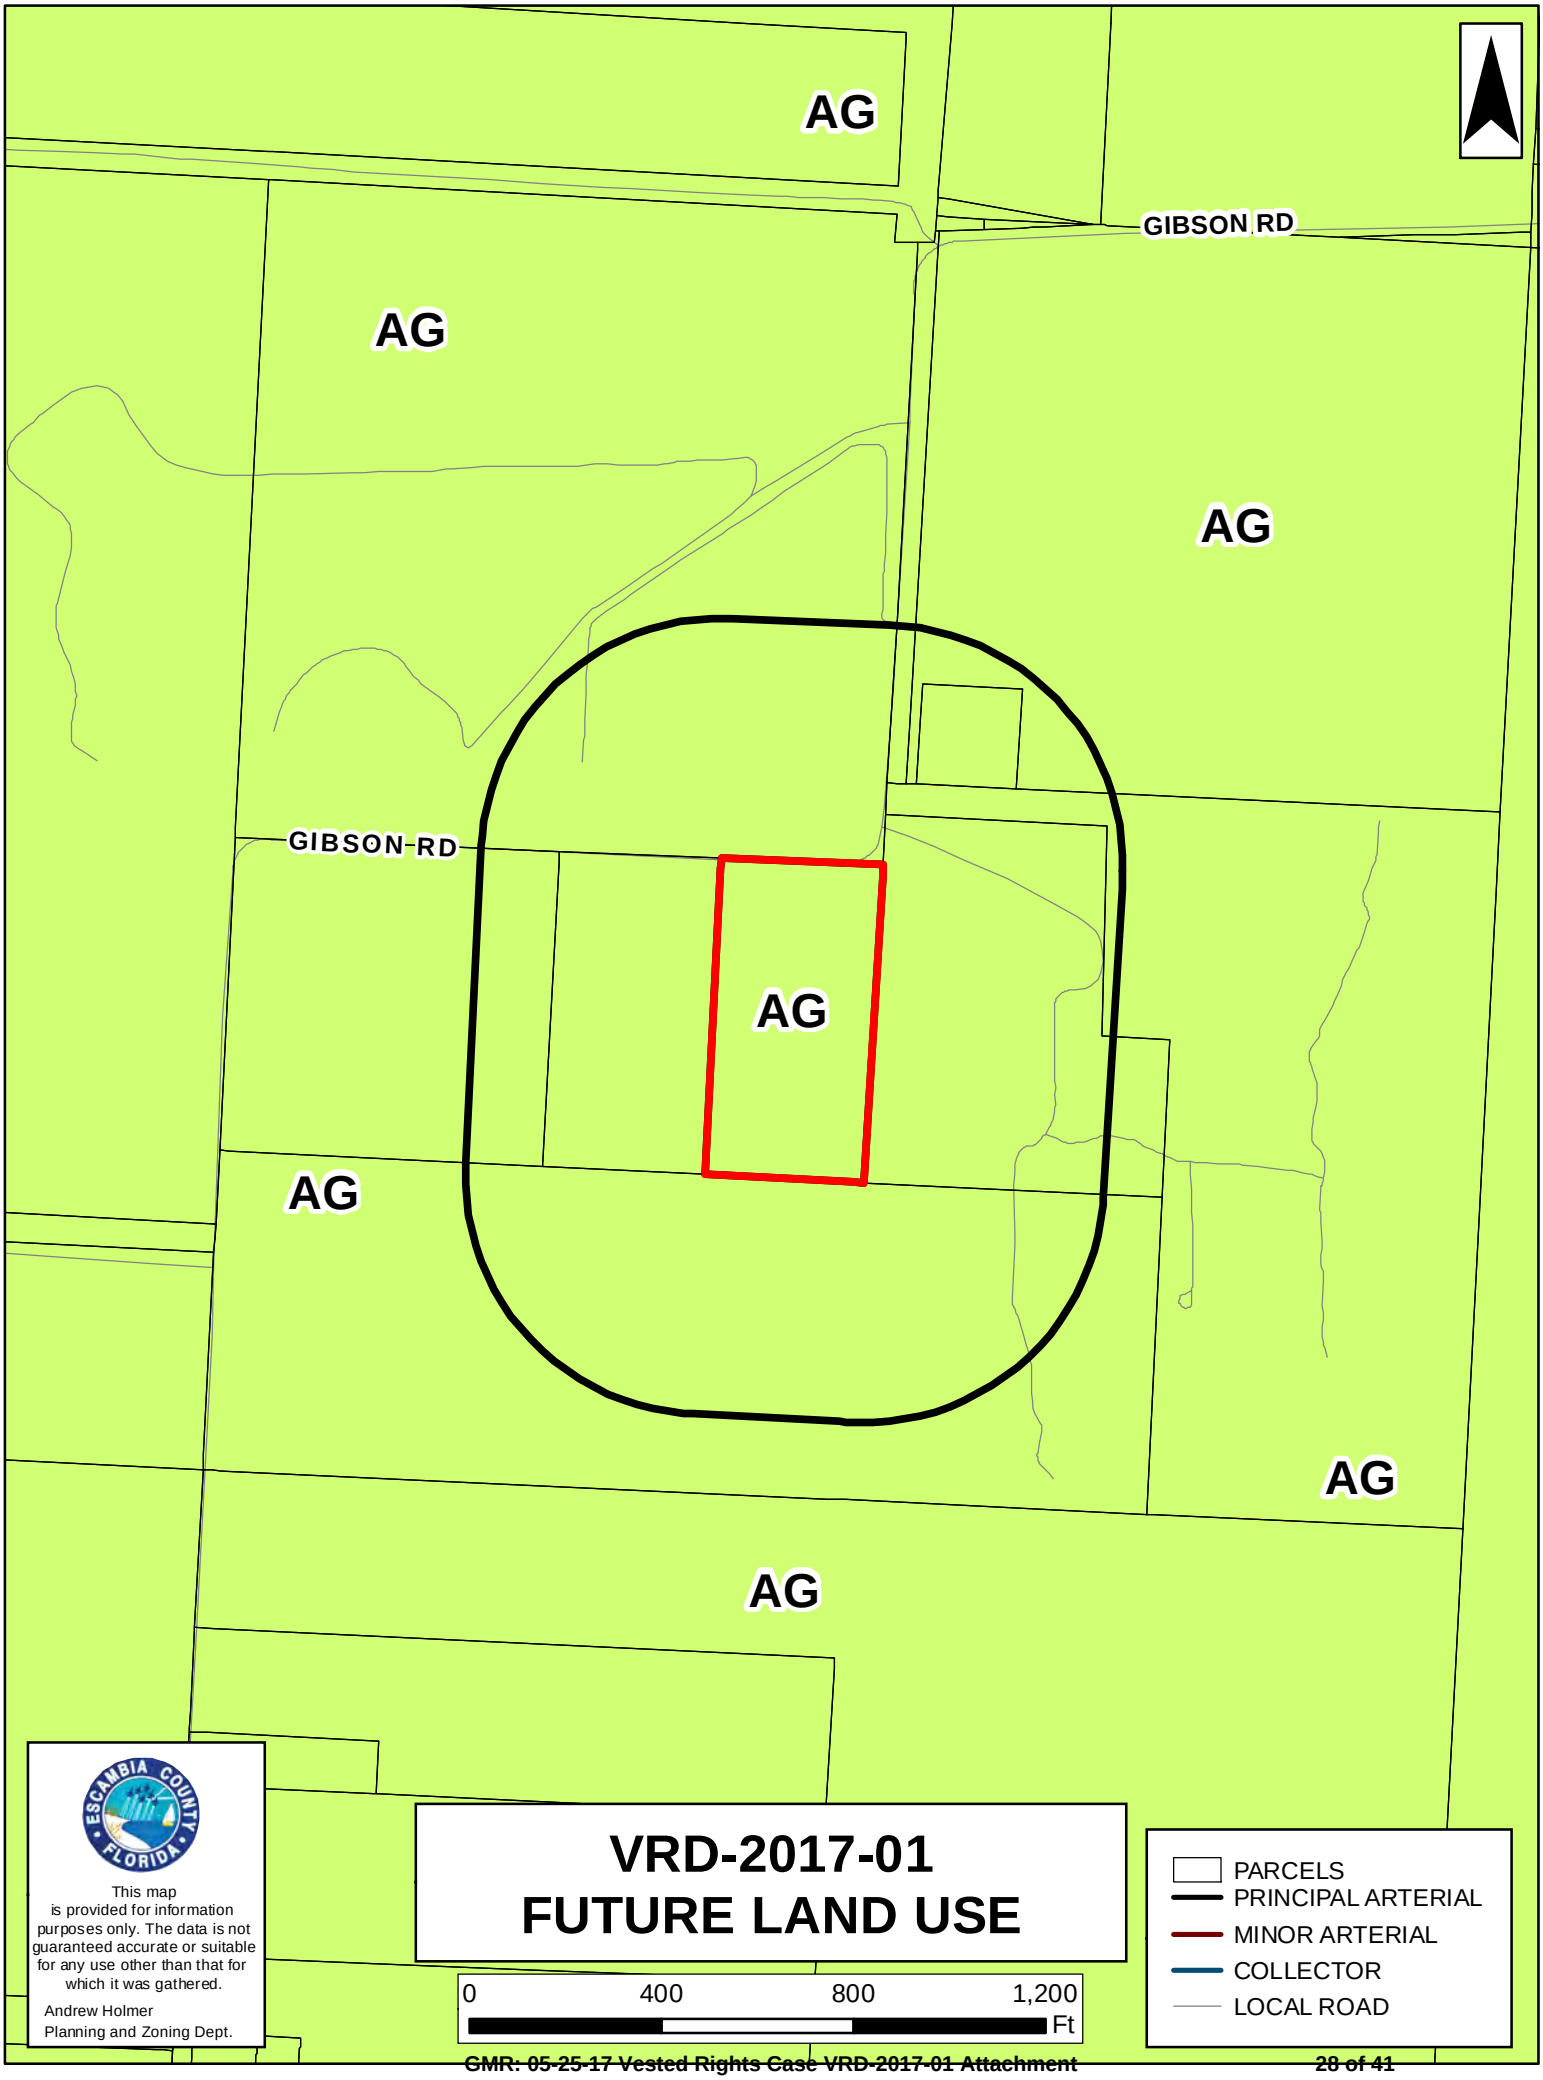
The Applicant contends that her expense in taxes and surveys for the parcel have vested her with development rights. She also has stated her belief that since the County granted a permit on the western five acres, she believed the eastern five acres were buildable as well.



In a review of the permit issued for the western parcel, staff found mention that the permit was granted based on the Land Development Code family conveyance provision (Sec. 5-3.2(d)) which states:



Family conveyance exception. No building permit shall be denied where the property in question is to be used solely as a homestead by an owner-applicant who is the grandparent, parent, step-parent, adopted parent, sibling, child, step-child, adopted child, niece, nephew, aunt, uncle or grandchild of the person who conveyed the parcel to such applicant, notwithstanding the density or intensity of use assigned to the parcel by a particular zoning district. This exception shall apply only once to any owner-applicant.



Because this provision has already been applied to the parent ten acres, it is not available for the remaining parcel.

To Escambia County

Re: Parcel # 24-3N-32-1301-001-001 (Gibson Rd. 5 Acre parcel)

To Whom It May Concern

In 2002 I purchased a 10 acre parcel of property from a Mr. Hall. Please see attached survey. I sold the house and 5 acres in 2005 and kept the other 5 acre parcel. On September 26th 2005 I gained full ownership of the remaining parcel and the deed is attached. Since 2005 I have paid property taxes, kept the land maintained, paid for new surveys and operated as though it was a buildable lot.

BCC Regular Meeting
Meeting Date: 05/25/2017
Issue: Review of Rezoning Case Heard by the Planning Board on April 4, 2017
From: Horace Jones, Director
Organization: Development Services

RECOMMENDATION:

Recommendation Concerning the Review of the Rezoning Cases Heard by the Planning Board on April 4, 2017

That the Board take the following action concerning the rezoning cases heard by the Planning Board on April 4, 2017:

A. Review and either adopt, modify, or overturn the Planning Board's recommendations for Rezoning Cases Z-2016-13 and Z-2017-03 or remand the cases back to the Planning Board; and
B. Authorize the Chairman to sign the Orders of the Escambia County Board of County Commissioners for the rezoning cases that were reviewed.

1. Case No.:	Z-2016-13

FLU Category:	MU-U, Mixed-Use Urban
Commissioner District:	3
Requested by:	Wiley C. "Buddy" Page, Agent for Ali Ramzan, Owner
Planning Board Recommendation:	Denial
Speakers:	Buddy Page, Mike Whitehead

BACKGROUND:

The above cases were owner initiated and heard at the April 4, 2017, Planning Board Meeting. Under the Land Development Code (LDC) Chapter 2, Article 7, “the Board of County Commissioners, at its scheduled hearing shall adopt, modify, or reject the recommendation of the Planning Board or SRIA or return the rezoning case to the board with instructions for additional facts or clarification. The staff of the recommending board shall inform the board of all formal actions taken by the BCC on the rezoning request.

To further the County’s policy of “decreasing response time from notification of citizen needs to ultimate resolution,” the Board is acting on both the approval of the Planning Board recommended order and the LDC Map Amendment for this month’s rezoning cases. This report item addresses only the review and upholding of the Planning Board’s recommendation. The next report item will address the Public Hearing for the LDC Zoning Map Amendment.

BUDGETARY IMPACT:

This action may increase the ad valorem tax base for Escambia County.

LEGAL CONSIDERATIONS/SIGN-OFF:

The recommended order is the result of deliberations by the Planning Board based the applicants presentation of competent substantial evidence for each of the approval conditions, on staff analysis, public testimony, and knowledge of the Comprehensive Plan and Land Development Code as well as case law and Florida Statutes.

PERSONNEL:

N/A

POLICY/REQUIREMENT FOR BOARD ACTION:

The Chairman will need to sign the Orders of the Escambia County Board of County Commissioners either denying or approving the rezoning requests.

IMPLEMENTATION/COORDINATION:

The cases under review are presented to the Planning Board for collection of evidence. The Planning Board conducts a quasi-judicial public hearing and issues a recommended order to the Board of County Commissioners.

CERTIFICATE OF REPORTER.....51

P R O C E E D I N G S

THE CHAIRMAN: Good morning, everyone. Welcome to the April 4th Escambia County Planning Board and Quasi-judicial hearings. I will call us to order for a quasi-judicial hearing.

We do have four voting members, as well as two other board members here with us. And at this time, I'll ask you to please stand for the Pledge of Allegiance.

(Pledge of Allegiance.)

THE CHAIRMAN: If you would, please, turn off any kind of noisemakers. Put them on silent, please, so we don't interrupt the meeting, and I'll try to get through everything.

Staff, do we have proof of publication of the meeting?

MS. MEADOR: Yes, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: And does that publication meet all of the legal requirements?

MS. MEADOR: Yes, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. The Chair will entertain a motion to waive the reading of the legal advertisement.

MR. RUSHING: So moved.

MR. INGWELL: Motion and a second. All those in favor say "aye."

(Chorus of "ayes.")

THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion carries.

If you would draw your attention to the rezoning meeting minutes from the previous meeting as it has been provided to the board members, are there any additions, deletions or corrections to those board minutes?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Hearing none, the Chair will entertain a motion to accept those rezoning meeting minutes into evidence.

MR. RUSHING: So moved.

MR. FEARS: Second.

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion and a second. All those in favor, say "aye."

(Chorus of "ayes.")

THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion carries.

Today's rezoning hearing package for April 4, 2017, with the findings of facts has been provided to the board members.

The chair will now entertain a motion to accept that rezoning hearing package with the findings of fact and the legal advertisement into evidence. Do we have a motion?

MR. INGWELL: So moved.

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion. Do we have a second?

MR. FEARS: Second.

THE CHAIRMAN: Second. All those in favor say "aye"

(Chorus of "ayes.")

THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion carries.

The rezoning hearing package with the findings of facts and the legal advertisement will be marked and included in the record for all of today's cases.

At this time I'm going to ask our court reporter to please swear in the members of the staff that will be testifying.

(Planning Board staff duly sworn.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Board members, we've previously qualified these members of staff to offer expert testimony in the area of land use and planning.

Do any of you have any questions about their qualifications or ability to offer this testimony?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Hearing none, please let the record reflect that these individuals for the staff will be qualified as experts in the area of land use and planning.

At this hearing, the Planning Board is acting under its authority to hear and make recommendations to the Board of County Commissioners on rezoning applications. These hearings are quasi-judicial in nature.

Quasi-judicial hearings are like evidentiary hearings in a court of law. However, it is less formal.

All testimony will be given under oath, and anyone testifying before the Planning Board may be subject to cross-examination.

All documents and exhibits that the Planning Board considers will be entered into evidence and made part of the record.

Opinion testimony will be limited to experts, and closing arguments will be limited to the evidence in the record.

Before making a decision, the Planning Board will consider the relevant testimony, the exhibits entered into evidence, and the applicable laws.

Each individual who wishes to address the Planning Board must complete a speaker request form which are located at the back of the chambers. You will not be allowed to speak unless we have received a completed form.

Please also note that only those individuals who are present and give testimony on the record at this hearing will be allowed to speak at the subsequent hearing before the Board of County Commissioners. No new evidence can be presented at the BCC meeting. Therefore, all testimony and evidence must be presented today.

The Planning Board will provide a recommendation for each rezoning request to the Board of County Commissioners.

They will then review the testimony, documents, exhibits, consider the closing arguments, and make a final decision. All decisions by the BCC are final.

Anyone who wishes to seek judicial review of that decision must do so in a court of competent jurisdiction within 30 days of the date that the Board of County Commissioners either rejects or approves the recommended order of the Planning Board.

All written or oral communication outside of this hearing with members of the Planning Board regarding any matters under consideration today is considered ex parte communication.

Ex parte communications are presumed prejudicial under Florida law and must be disclosed, as provided in Board of County Commission Resolution 96-13.

As each case is heard, the Chair will ask that any board member who has been involved in any ex parte communication please identify themselves and describe that communication.

As required by Section 2-7.2 of the Escambia County Land Development Code, the Planning Board's recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners shall include consideration of the following six approval conditions. We have these conditions up on the board, if you'd like to review them.

A, consistent with the Comprehensive Plan. The proposed rezoning is consistent with the goals, objectives and policies of the Comprehensive Plan and not in conflict with any of its provisions.

B, consistent with the LDC. The proposed rezoning is consistent with the stated purposes and intent of the LDC and not in conflict with any of its provision.

C, compatibility. All land uses, development activities and conditions allowed by the proposed rezoning are compatible with surrounding conforming uses, activities, conditions and able to coexist in relative proximity to them in a stable fashion over time so that no use, activity, condition negatively impacts another.

The appropriateness of a rezoning is not limited to any specific use that may be proposed but is evident for all permitted uses of the requested rezoning. This condition shall not apply to any conditional uses of the proposed district for compatibility with nonconforming or unapproved uses, activities or conditions.

D, changed conditions. The area to which the proposed rezoning has changed or is changing to such a degree that it is in the public's interest to encourage new uses, densities, intensities in the area through the rezoning.

E, development patterns. The proposed rezoning will contribute to or result in a logical and orderly development pattern.

F, effect on the natural environment. The proposed rezoning would not increase the probability of any significant adverse impacts on the natural environment.

At the beginning of each case, as long as there are no objections from the applicant, we will allow the staff briefly present location and zoning maps, as well as photographs of the property.

Next, we will hear from the applicant and any witnesses that they may wish to call.

Then we will hear from the staff and any witnesses that they may wish to call.

Finally, we will hear from members of the public who have completed a speaker request form.

I think we have four cases today, and we will just go ahead and jump right into them.

The first case on the agenda is case Z-2016-13. Buddy Page is acting as the agent for Shaun Romero, owner, 6013 Hilburn Road, 1.52 acres, from HDR, high density residential, 18 dwelling units an acre, to commercial district, 25 dwelling units per acre, lodging unit density not limited by zoning.

At this time, I'll ask members of our board if there's been any ex parte communication between them, the applicant, agents, attorneys, witnesses, fellow Planning Board members or anyone from the general public prior to this hearing. We'll also ask for you to disclose if you have visited the subject property, and please also disclose if you are a active or business associate of any of the parties. And we'll start down here.

MR. OPALENIK: No to all.

MS. HIGHTOWER: No to all.

THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you.

Chairman, no to all.

MR. FEARS: No to all.

MR. INGWELL: No to all.

MR. CLAY: No to all.

MR. RUSHING: No to all.

THE CHAIRMAN: Very good. Thank you.

Staff, was a notice of this hearing sent to all interested parties?

MS. MEADOR: Yes, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. And was that notice also correctly posted on the subject property?

MS. MEADOR: Yes, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Thank you.

Mr. Page, are there any objections to the maps or photography?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. We'll ask the staff to go ahead and present the maps and photography for 2016-13.

MR. MacCARTEE: Caleb MacCartee, urban planner.

Here we have a location map showing the subject property. This is our 500 foot zoning radius map. Our existing feature land use category of mixed-use urban. Existing surrounding land use. Aerial photography of the subject location. And this is an oak-filled but undefined CRA district, community redevelopment area.

And here's our 2500 foot radius. This is our public notice sign. This is looking west onto the site. Northwest from the site. Looking north from the site along Hilburn road. Looking east from the site across Hilburn. Looking southeast from the site across Hilburn. And looking south along Hilburn. That concludes the location maps and zoning maps.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Thank you.

Mr. Page, if you'll come forward, please. We'll ask to be sworn in, please.

...WILEY C. "BUDDY" PAGE, upon being duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

THE CHAIRMAN: Good morning, Mr. Page. If you would, state your name and address for the record.

MR. PAGE: Mr. Chairman, Buddy Page, 5337 Hamilton Lane in Pace, with Professional Growth Management Services, LLC.

THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you, sir.

Have you received a copy of the rezoning hearing package with the findings of facts?

MR. PAGE: I have.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay, sir. Do you understand that you have the burden of providing substantial competent evidence that this proposed rezoning is consistent with the Comprehensive Plan, furthers the goals, objectives and policies of that plan, and is not in conflict with any portion of the Land Development Code?

MR. PAGE: I do.

THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you, sir. Please proceed.

MR. PAGE: Mr. Chairman, I think by way of background, and with the new membership that you have on the board, it might be helpful for the staff to give some history as to why we are looking at this for the third time it's been remanded back before this body.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. That would be fine. We do need to give new board members background on it.

MR. JONES: Mr. Chairman, I will go on to our lead planner, Mr. Caleb.

THE CHAIRMAN: Mr. Jones, would you state your name and position, please?

MR. JONES: Thank you. My name is Horace

Jones, director of the department.

Mr. Chairman, if the board so consents, I'm going to let Mr. Caleb, the planner on this proper project, provide the background with the possibility that I may interject some additional information.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. MacCARTEE: Correct. And Mr. Page is correct in this being reprimanded [sic] back to the board. This is the third time that you guys would be seeing this. There's --

THE CHAIRMAN: Before you go any further with that part of it, as we're doing the presentation, can we please bring up what you're going through, just so that members of the public can follow through, please?

MR. MacCARTEE: There was some concern with the neighboring -- there's some townhomes directly south of this site. There's some high concern upon BCC. That's why we're back leer again.

And we've looked at it more and more closely. And we have found that the transitioning to a high-density mixed use between that high-density residential to commercial, that high-density mixed-use category would be more applicable for this particular site.

The previous application was submitted. It wanted to go from high-density residential, HDR, to commercial. Okay?

What we found in our analysis is that the residential uses with that most stringent and intense commercial uses just being there would not be compatible with that.

We found that transitioning to HDMU, high-density mixed-use, allows for smaller-scale commercial establishments would be more beneficial and would be recommended by staff in this particular situation.

MR. JONES: And I would like to add, before we get into the analysis, as Caleb stated, the primary reason why it was reprimanded at -- the first time it was reprimanded was, there was several incentives were not -- were not in attendance.

And the board thought that it was -- it would be very, very helpful if the citizens be able to hear this case, so that was the first time was reprimanded.

The second time, basically, primarily the same issue. Third time . . . Second time, the board gave us more specific content that it wanted us to look at.

They wanted us to look at the transportation, the level of services, basically, on the two roads.

And we do have a very, very thorough, succinct analysis from our Transportation Department, Mr. David Forte. He's not present today, but we do have his analysis. That was one of the primary reasons.

The second reason, they did want us to look at the compatibility of the area more carefully or more closely.

The third reason was the level of service, was the level of services with the travel with level B and level A. That was different levels of services.

And being that this is close to -- close to a high-volume traffic area, such as -- such as Creighton, they wanted us to look at that -- at that level of services going -- going into Creighton, and which is -- and Davis, which is a very high-volume traffic area. So those were the three primary reasons.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. And just so we have a good recollection of it, in the previous cases, the previous two cases, the Planning Board felt that the six criteria was met and recommended approval to the Planning Board -- to the Board of County Commissioners?

MR. JONES: Yes, they did. Yes, they did. And staff on the -- there is nothing -- as to the past history, there was nothing different from staff analysis, as far as the -- on the first analysis, there was some criteria, there was some point of the elements that staff felt that he did not meet. As well on the second time he came back, those things were still -- they did not meet.

But the Planning Board did make a decision to -- as to recommend approval. But staff analysis was add more content with more scrutiny, but the two items was compatibility. That was from the case. That was sure nonconsistent, and I believe -- and I believe it was one more that was shown nonconsistent, as far as staff felt, that the applicant did not meet.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Did the Board of Commissioners give any guidance? What I'm getting at here is, we're adding criteria as far as when you're talking about the traffic criteria, that we typically haven't considered in this venue? And that's usually done in the DRC process.

MR. JONES: Right. They -- they just want to give -- basically on the traffic, they just really want to look at whether, at the highest use -- and which the Traffic Department, they do look at that. They do look at what would be the worst-case scenario, as far as use that -- that could potentially go there. So that was one -- not to get an in-depth analysis of the roadway segment, but just to look at it more carefully, wanted them to look at it. The worst-case scenario on especially what is the current level of service, what is the -- what is the current traffic volume in that area.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So if I'm hearing you correctly, you said now we went from having consistency in all the categories to now we have two findings that it does not meet the criteria?

MR. JONES: From the -- from the past, those -- those two criteria they did not meet back then. In fact, they didn't meet back on the original -- on the original, and we still feel the same way, but we just added a little bit more content, and from the direction of what the board asked us to do.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. So I'm just trying to make sure I remember everything correctly, but the board -- the Planning Board then had alternate findings that felt that those categories were -- were met during the meeting.

MR. MacCARTEE: Right.

THE CHAIRMAN: I'm just trying to go off memory, but that's what I remember was --

MR. MacCARTEE: Yeah. And we were under the advisement of Traffic at the time that it appeared that it would not be able to meet some of those requirements, but we were able to assess that more, and the analysis for this go-round pretty much, to say that, okay, it would potentially be able to meet it if we went through a more transitional zoning between that residential and that more commercial, which allows an HDMU.

THE CHAIRMAN: All right.

MR. MacCARTEE: So that's what we tailored our findings to, to make sure that it's going to fit in that area. And that's what we recommended.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. All right. I understand. Okay.

Caleb, do you want to go through your findings? And Mr. Page is going to yield for you to go through the findings so that he can --

MR. MacCARTEE: Yes, we will.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Thank you.

MR. MacCARTEE: And we'll just begin with the consistency with the Comprehensive Plan, criterion A.

We found that the amendment to commercial is consistent with intent and proposed future land use category, mixed-use urban, as stated in future land use 1.3.1. Future land use of mixed-use urban allows for a mix of residential and residential services.

The property would promote efficient use of existing public roads and underutilized property that would conform to 1.5.1.

For 2.1.1, the uses will be concentrated in urbanized areas with the most intense development permitted in the mixed-use urban areas.

Sufficient central water and services, best need to accommodate higher density development will be reviewed during the site plan review process.

As far as criterion B, consistency with the Land Development Code, the findings show that in reviewing the intent and purpose of the existing zoning category of high-density residential in the proposed zoning category of commercial, the permanent and conditional uses of HDR are significantly different than the permitted and conditional uses of the proposed zoning category of commercial.

For example, high-density residential zoning allows for, just like it says, high-density residential uses, ranging from -- or pointing to multifamily dwellings.

Thus, it can be concluded, as stated in Section 3-2.8, high-density residential allows for primary residential use.

In contrast, the proposed amendment to commercial allows for primary commercial uses. The primary intent of a commercial zoning district is to allow for more diverse versus and intense commercial uses than the neighborhood commercial allowed within the mixed-use districts.

Proposed zoning of commercial would not provide the needed transition between areas zoned or used as high-density mixed-use and areas zoned for use as heavy commercial or industrial.

However, in reviewing the zoning categories of the Land Development Code, there is a transitional zoning of high-density mixed-use that would allow for residential and neighborhood commercial uses of low intensity.

The primary intent and purpose of HDMU, high-density mixed-use, is to provide a mix of neighborhood, retail sales, services and professional offices, with greater dwelling unit density and diversity.

The HDMU zoning district is appropriate to provide transitioning between areas zoned or used for medium or high density residential and areas zoned for use -- or used for commercial.

To conclude, the proposed amendment to commercial from the currently zoning -- current zoning of high-density residential is not consistent with the intent and purpose of the Land Development Code.

For criterion C, compatible with the surrounding uses, based upon the review and existing land use map, the subject property is adjacent to an existing residential development of townhomes known as Sundance Village, and is allowed -- used within existing zoning category of high-density residential.

I'll stop here for a second. We did bring up a map showing that in relation to the proposed map. This is the attachment that is in the packet here, so we'll bring up that for reference for this.

Under the provision of compatibility, as cited in Section 3-1.6-A, zoning districts provide the primary means to establish and maintain the necessary balance between the needs and interest of different land uses.

For the analysis of staff, there are no existing commercial uses adjacent to, and as well as the same side of the road of the subject property.

The intense and invasive uses that are allowed in commercial would have an unduly negative impact to the existing adjacent residential uses.

Staff does recognize the fact that the surrounding commercial uses within the proximity of the subject property on the opposite side of the road, yet the fact remains that the subject property -- if the subject property is rezoned, it would be incompatible due to the fact that the rezoned subject property would be adjacent to a residential development.

Also under the provision of location criteria, it appears the location criteria for commercial could be achieved due to the cite's proximity to the subject parcel at the intersection of Creighton and Hilburn. Both are listed as arterial roads, and both roads intersect within one-quarter mile of subject property.

We could go into Traffic's comments, if you would like, but they are -- I'm not a traffic expert, but they are -- have a proposed widening sometime in the future to a four-lane road for this area.

I will go now to criterion D, changed conditions.

THE CHAIRMAN: Hold on one second.

MR. MacCARTEE: Yes, sir.

THE CHAIRMAN: The fact that it's incompatible, and you were saying that the added -- the additional language from Traffic help support the incompatibility of it.

MR. MacCARTEE: It supports more of the location criteria, I believe, Mr. Jones. Correct me if I'm wrong.

But what they -- what Traffic in a nutshell, they did give us about three paragraphs worth of stuff. And I'm not going to be the expert on that.

But currently there is a roadway improvement project for this area along Burgess. And they want to go from US 29 to Hilburn within the city, of the subject parcel.

The project is expected to widen the existing two-way -- two-lane road to a four-lane road. The right-of-way acquisition phase, which is currently ongoing, is programmed for fiscal year 2018, with the county expected to fund $1 million portion of the right-of-way phase.

I'll just go through the rest of those comments in Transportation, if needed.

THE CHAIRMAN: I think, because it's been added as a new element to this, we need to go ahead and get it on the record.

MR. MacCARTEE: And so furthermore, the memo that we received on March 20, 2017, I'll continue from Mr. David Forte in Engineering, the Florida-Alabama Transportation Planning organization currently lists the aforementioned project as the number two nonstrategic intermobile system capacity project for the TPO 2040 long-range transportation plan.

The TPO's LRTP costs, feasible planning programs, the construction phase, $18 million during fiscal year 2021 to 2025 time period.

For the TPOs congestion management process plan, Burgess Road is currently budgeting within its allowable capacity for traffic volumes between segments of County Road 95A, called Palafox and Hilburn Road.

The maximum level of service for the roadway segment is level service D, 14,800 trips a day. And currently the roadway segment is functioning at a level service D, 8,000 trips a day and is expected to remain at the level of service D, and see 9,700 trips a day by year 2024.

Just a note that the CCO's review is solely based off the application submittal packet, and the comments above hold no bearing on future TTO comments during the development review process. That concludes Traffic's memo to staff.

Furthermore, for criterion D, for changed conditions, staff, now based upon the literal review of the existing land uses and zoning categories surrounding the subject properties, there appears to be a development pattern in the area.

The site is surrounded by commercial zoning to the north and east of the subject property, located across the roadway.

The approval of the rezoning will contribute to the establishment of commercial uses that would complement the other commercially zoned properties in the area, yet most of the commercial zoned properties in the area are vacant, with no commercial uses currently established.

Staff found within a 500-foot impact radius, it appears only two commercial zoned properties have associated commercial uses that are currently established.

The other properties in the area that are zoned commercial are vacant or have an established residential use.

Similarly, the surrounding residential zoning of HDR have established residential uses or are vacant.

The zoning category of HDMU will provide a more logical and orderly development pattern and result in transitional zoning needed between the HDR and commercial zoning categories in the area.

I believe we did skip the changed conditions right after -- this is criterion D. That was E. I apologize for that.

And as addressing the changed conditions, criterion D, staff did find changed conditions that would impact the amendment or property.

Staff found Case Z-2004 -- that's 42 -- at 190 Creighton Road, approved December 9, 2004 for rezoning from R4 to C1.

Staff also found Case Z-2005-58 at 473 Calvin Ford [sic], approved January 5, 2006, for rezoning from R4 to C1. Both cases were approved under the previously adopted Land Development Code. And they are indicated on the additional map attachment in the packet.

And finally, criterion F, whether the proposed rezoning will increase the probability of the significantly adverse impacts on the natural environment.

Our findings show that according to the National Wetland Inventory, wetlands and hydrant soils were not indicated on the subject property, and when applicable, further review during the site plan review process will be necessary to determine if there will be any significantly adverse impact on the natural environment.

That concludes staff's findings.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Do the board members have any questions of Caleb or Horace at this time?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Mr. Page.

Mr. Page, obviously the staff has several criteria that they -- the findings have stated do not meet the criteria of these categories.

As you know, we do have some newer board members, and so the burden is definitely in your court to convince the board members why those findings should be changed in your favor, so, I know it's not your first rodeo, but I just wanted to remind you, since we did have a lot of newer board members here, please.

MR. PAGE: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

In listening to the newly revised staff review of the application, I heard comments about the concern about the adjacent townhouses.

Mr. Chairman, we had two meetings before all members of those townhouses were notified. I don't think, if I remember correctly, that a single person showed up from the townhouses to express any type of concern in their own voice. I don't know if you have any speakers signed up for this this morning.

THE CHAIRMAN: We do.

MR. PAGE: But the townhouses, apparently before, did not present the problems that we're hearing from this morning.

And also the transportation level of service. I think a person could very quickly review the staff comments on that and conclude that the 14,000 versus the 9,000, in terms of level of service, that information was -- if I'm not mistaken, was shared last time.

But it seems to be of greater concern and more emphasis this time, but the numbers haven't changed. And it would also suggest, too, that the 8,000 or so cars that presently come down and turn and go south of the townhouses, once this road is developed, those 8,000 people will be going behind it, rather than in front of it.

So we see the transportation impact of this being greatly enhanced in favor of the residential development, once the improvements by DOT, Mr. Chairman, are put into place.

In terms of the approval conditions under A, I think we heard that there is a staff fining consistent with last time, and that is that it is consistent.

And criteria B, consistency with the Land Development Code. We now have two whole pages of concerns, that it simply just does not, at this point under the new scrutiny, appear to be compatible.

Under criteria C, compatibility with surrounding uses, I think we've heard an analysis and comparison between this particular piece of property and the commercial that's existing presently to the north and to the west.

We think that the proposed use that the owner is seeking would certainly be compatible in the area. And it also should be compatible in the same vein, Mr. Chairman, of a lot of the other requests for commercial categories that have occurred in the county and that are upcoming.

I don't think it's an over-generalization to point out that you can go down the list of allowed uses under commercial, and you can find something that is going to be incompatible with any and all residential adjacent pieces of property.

That level of incompatibility, I think, is something that has to be weighed by the board, but apparently we have a new standard of review from this day forward, that we're going to be curious to see if every rezoning from here on in is scrutinized like this particular one has on its third time back before the Planning Board.

The owner feels like that there's some new writing on the wall for him and his particular request here, based upon the review that we're seeing, Mr. Chairman, especially in terms of locational criteria.

Under D, the changed conditions, I think we heard a little bit about the road-type network and some dates that the DOT and Escambia County have for that.

The changed conditions that are listed by the staff were actually changed conditions that were granted for the same request that we're making here. But apparently we have a new level of scrutiny that we're having to try to learn and adjust and deal with, especially in terms of development patterns.

It's difficult for me. And I've been at this a long time. But it's difficult for me to come out of the back of the University Mall and turn west, and travel down that road and find that the road and the properties on either side at some point are going to be commercial. It is going to become less and less attractive for residential-type development.

And there is, Mr. Chairman, no effect on the natural environment that we can come up with.

Having said all this, Mr. Chairman, the suggestion of staff that this particular request would be better served if the request was for HDMU, and knowing what this has been through, and knowing something of the background of why we're here this morning, the owner is willing to accept the lower category of high-density mixed-use, with the understanding that he probably at that point could submit a conditional use request through the Zoning Board of Adjustment's appeals, to come up with some type of commercial activity that would be more suitable.

I suggested to him that even if you do this, what you come back with in terms of asking for a conditional use is going to be similar to what you're requesting right now, and that it likely is not going to be very well received by the staff review and a vote of the County Commissioners.

So Mr. Chairman, having said that, we are suggesting to accept comments from the staff findings that HDMU would be better served, and we would request that category change in our zoning application to indicate that, and hopefully that would address the two concerns that we are being cited for as being incompatible or inconsistent with at this juncture.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Horace, was the procedure formally for adjusting the request from the commercial down to the HDMU?

MR. JONES: He just -- he just made the request and the board -- the board gives a motion -- and makes the motion. If that is done, it's up to the board.

THE CHAIRMAN: Do we have on the record that the findings of facts will be amended to address that category? And do you feel like at this time that would support the HDMU, based on the comments that are in there?

MR. JONES: Yes, sir. If -- if the board decides for us to go to them right quick, we could take a look at it right now and -- and say we feel it meets consistent -- if that is the desire of the board.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay.

MR. JONES: We've already -- we've already did two of them, but the ones that we did not do, we can easily do that, if that is the desire of the board.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. All right. Let's just put that on hold for one second.
We do have a speaker from the public that wishes to speak. Let's go ahead and get them on the record before we start making any additional decisions here.
Members of the public who wish to speak on this matter, please note that the Planning Board bases our decision on those conditions that we covered at the beginning of the meeting, the approval conditions and exceptions described in Section 2-7.2 of the Land Development Code.
During our deliberations, we do not consider general statements of support or opposition, so accordingly, please limit your comments to one of these categories.
And please also note that only those individuals who are present today and give testimony on the record at this hearing will be allowed to speak at the subsequent Board of County Commission hearing.
James Scaminaci.
MR. SCAMOCCI: Scaminaci.
THE CHAIRMAN: Scaminaci. I got it close.

Page 38

MR. SCAMOCCI: Really close.
THE CHAIRMAN: All right, sir. We'll have you sworn in, and then state your name and address for the record.
- - -
...JAMES SCAMINACI, upon being duly affirmed, was examined and testified as follows:
- - -
THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you, sir. Your name and address for the record.
MR. SCAMINACI: James Scaminaci, 697 Shyloh Drive.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. I noticed on your form that you filled in that you have your name, "for Rhonda Robinson."
MR. SCAMINACI: Yeah. Rhonda Robinson is the homeowner's association president.
THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Unfortunately, you can only speak for yourself. You can't speak for someone else, so I'm going to cross out that you're speaking on her behalf. She would have to be here to speak on her own behalf.
MR. SCAMINACI: I understand.
THE CHAIRMAN: And we do give you a three-minute time frame in which to speak. And if you'll go ahead, sir.

Page 39

MR. SCAMINACI: Okay. Thank you very much, Mr. President.
The concerns she's expressed to me that I'll express to the board are that every time they have asked, "What does Mr. Page's client plan to put in there," they never get an answer.
They don't know if it's a hotel, a motel, commercial district, office building. It's like they want rezoning, but they don't want to say what's going in. That's the first concern. They just simply do not know.
Second part is, in listening to the staff's great analysis, I did not hear about the planned high school that's supposed to go in there next year.
And what she's told me is that Woodham Middle School is supposed to become West Florida High School, which would mean more traffic along that road, and, of course, concerns for the children.
And the second thing or the third thing is that right now there are no lights, there are no sidewalks that are there. And that also raises traffic concerns and safety concerns. That concludes my presentation.

THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you, sir. Thank you for coming down.
MR. SCAMINACI: Thank you.
THE CHAIRMAN: Well, fortunately for us, we have Ms. Hightower here from the school board.
The gentleman mentioned the conversion of the school there, so if you would just get on the record a little update on that, please.
MS. HIGHTOWER: As you all know, Woodham Middle School was previously Woodham High School, so there had been a high school at that location in the past that had a substantial enrollment.
And now we are going to reconvert it back to a high school. It will have probably about 1,200 students in 9 to 12, which is about the same size as the one that was closed. It's really a little smaller than that. The anticipation is that we will have it ready, hopefully, by 2018 but it might be 2019 school year before we're ready.
THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you.
And I just wanted to address something so that everyone here understands. The gentleman brought up a point that he didn't know what the project was going before it came in.

Well, unfortunately, neither do we when we look at rezoning requests. We are not really even allowed to ask about what the project will be because it can be anything that fits in that zoning category, so that's the way we have to approve it, is because maybe the developer right now may want to do something, but that may fall through, and then they may sell it to somebody else who wants to do something different.

Whatever zoning allows would be what would be allowed there, so reviewing the actual project comes later in the development review process, where they go through in depth, you know, water flows, traffic, all kinds of things that we don't even consider in here, so we do only consider those six items up on the board, to make sure that it meets the standards for those categories, so I just wanted everyone to kind of understand because that's always confusing, and it's even hard on the board members because you're not allowed to consider the actual project itself.

And that was the last speaker that we had signed up. Is there anyone else from the public that wants to speak on this case?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Hearing none, we will hereby close the public comment portion.

Mr. Page, if you'll just come back forward. Okay, sir. Any questions from the board members here?

MR. PAGE: Mr. Chairman, the only thing that -- I think you responded very well to those comments.

I have nothing further, other than to say that it's probably a good thing that the high school is a government use on public property. And it does not have to stand the scrutiny of a review from the Planning Board or the staff.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Thank you, sir.

Staff members, are you in a position where you can affirm that the findings are going to be compatible for the six criteria?

MR. JONES: Yes, I am, Chairman.

But I do want to comment on some remarks on the record that Mr. Page made.

There was a comment made that there is a -- that there is a different standard. The standard has always been set by -- that there's a different level of scrutiny.

The standard has always been set by the Land Development Code. Whether or not in the previous actions, whether or not that staff will always abide by their -- that has always been that level of scrutiny.

Yes, this board is extremely -- extremely sensitive right now, which is a good thing, of the citizens' concerns with these -- with our land-use issues that we bring before the board, to make sure -- because we have to be very, very balanced in our approach. We have to be objective.

It's our responsibility -- and I've been doing this a long time, along with the Chairman -- that we have to -- we gotta look at both sides of the picture.

We -- we -- many times what we see is not always what's on the ground, so we've got to try to -- try to do our best-case analysis to examine both sides and be as objective as possible, so -- so we are -- we are doing -- we are looking at this on an objective viewpoint, to make sure that we give all of the facts to the Planning Board so they can then make their decision to -- for these things are quasi-judicial, and -- and if it is appealed, and as part of the representative, as well, that this record is what will stand, is what will go before the board or the courts, so then we try to make sure we present the facts as much as we possibly -- it may be more lengthy, but we want to make sure we get it right as we go on past and we move forward.

Now, and another point of -- if -- if we decide to go HDMU, and evaluating the criteria for HDMU, as stated, staff has already looked at some of the criteria, criteria one, consistent with the land -- with the Comprehensive Plan, based upon -- based upon the standard inside the Land Review Code, under 3-1-3, Land Development Code, there's a table, there's a chart that's in here that gives compatibility to land-use category.

HDMU, the density is 12 dwelling units per acre, and the compatibility, FLU category, existing FLU category is mixed-use urban, so therefore, the land uses that are allowed in the

HDMU and the mixed-use urban category is consistent with that -- would be consistent with that.

We looked at criterion two -- I mean criteria B. I believe I will address that one, stating that HDMU would be -- staff agrees HDMU would be a better fix for compatibility of future land use and criteria because HDMU is more geared to mix of neighborhoods. Residential neighboring type uses, with -- with lower intensity, as well as lower scale because if you look at the area, which that area, there's some offices on the sites. Those are professional-type, looking-type offices that are much more . . . They are not no huge retail accommodation, like a mall or anything of this size. It's lower -- it's lower uses, more retail, more professional-type uses, more of -- that would fit within the category of HDMU.

That townhouse complex is there. And we do have to -- do have to recognize that they are there, and that they have -- that they would have some -- some challenges that you put the heavy intense commercial with -- commercial analysis and heavy intense uses, so it will definitely increase the traffic patterns. So that's why we addressed that in criteron B.

Criterion C has already been addressed in the facts and findings.

Criteria D, we gave -- we did address the changed conditions. And yes, we do understand that in the previous, many of those cases that went all the way up to C-1, again, don't know all -- don't know the history of why those things occurred.

Then I believe that criterion E, development pattern, yes, you -- we -- there is some commercial in the general vicinity, but if you look on the opposite side, all of that is residential.

So that's why we feel like there is a -- there is a pattern of commercial more in the area, but it's up -- it's up to the Planning Board to decide if it's a good pattern or just a sporadic pattern.

So in criterion F, again, there is no effect on the natural environment.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. Thank you.

Okay, board members. You've obviously heard the applicant say he's willing to accept the HDMU zoning as part of his request, which is different than the original request.

We then had the staff follow up and say that it does meet the six criteria based on that zoning category, so the Chair will open it up for questions or if someone is ready to make a motion on the application.

MR. FEARS: Help us understand. Is this a two-motion process? We need to change the applicants from commercial to HDMU?

MR. JONES: Yes. We'll have to recommend the denial or approval for the C, but accept the applicant's request for -- to go to a lower zoning, which would be HDMU, if that is the desire of the Planning Board.

THE CHAIRMAN: You do have another alternative. If you feel like it does meet the criteria for commercial, then we would have to have -- the board would have to present alternate findings of facts that would support that. And all six categories would have to have those findings, so that is an alternative as well.

Based on Mr. Page's verbal application change, he said he's okay with moving it to

HDMU. So is that about as clear as mud for everybody?

MR. RUSHING: I'll make a motion to approve the applicant's desire to change from commercial to HDMU.

THE CHAIRMAN: Okay. We have a motion.

MR. FEARS: I second.

MR. MacCARTEE: We need to make an official decision on the commercial first. Then we . . .

THE CHAIRMAN: Right. So Mr. Rushing, if you'll withdraw your motion.

MR. RUSHING: I'll withdraw.

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. We'll go back, and let's address the commercial first.

Do we have a motion on changing from HDR to commercial?

MR. RUSHING: I'll make the motion to disapprove, per the findings of facts from the county staff on commercial use.

MR. FEARS: Second.

THE CHAIRMAN: Motion and a second. Any further discussion?

(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: All those in favor say

"aye."
(Chorus of "ayes.")
THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?
(No response.)
THE CHAIRMAN: Motion carries.
All right. Now that we have an alternate motion for the HDMU.
MR. RUSHING: I will restate that I'll make a motion to change from commercial use to HDMU, per the applicant's request.
THE CHAIRMAN: With the amended findings of facts.
MR. RUSHING: Amended findings of facts from staff everything is consistent.
THE CHAIRMAN: Thank you, sir.
Motion to approve? Do we have a second?
MR. FEARS: Second.
THE CHAIRMAN: Second.
Any further discussion?
(No response.)
THE CHAIRMAN: All those in favor say "aye."
(Chorus of "ayes.")
THE CHAIRMAN: Opposed?
(No response.)

THE CHAIRMAN: All right. Motion carries.
So we are recommending HDMU to the Board of County Commissioners on the third go-around. Okay.
Thank you, Mr. Page.
(Hearing concluded at 9:35 a.m.)

Planning Board-Rezoning 7. A.

Meeting Date:	04/04/2017
CASE :	Z-2016-13
APPLICANT:	Wiley C. "Buddy" Page, Agent for Shaun Romero, Owner
ADDRESS:	6013 Hilburn Road
PROPERTY REF. NO.:	29-1S-30-1504-000-000
FUTURE LAND USE:	MU-U, Mixed-Use Urban
DISTRICT:	3
OVERLAY DISTRICT:	Oakfield
BCC MEETING DATE:	05/04/2017

SUBMISSION DATA:
REQUESTED REZONING:

FROM: HDR, High Density Residential district (18 du/acre)

TO: Com, Commercial district (25 du/acre, lodging unit density not limited by zoning)

RELEVANT AUTHORITY:

(1) Escambia County Comprehensive Plan
(2) Escambia County Land Development Code
(3) Board of County Commissioners of Brevard County v. Snyder, 627 So. 2d 469 (Fla. 1993)
(4) Resolution 96-34 (Quasi-judicial Proceedings)
(5) Resolution 96-13 (Ex-parte Communications)

APPROVAL CONDITIONS

Criterion a., LDC Sec. 2-7.2(b)(4)

Consistent with Comprehensive Plan

Whether the proposed rezoning is consistent with the goals, objectives, and policies of the Comprehensive Plan and not in conflict with any of the plan provisions.

CPP FLU 1.3.1 Future Land Use Categories. The Mixed-Use Urban (MU-U) Future Land Use (FLU) category is intended for an intense mix of residential and nonresidential uses while promoting compatible infill development and the separation of urban and suburban land uses within the category as a whole. Range of allowable uses include: Residential, Retail and Services, Professional Office, Light Industrial, Recreational Facilities, Public and Civic. The maximum residential density is 25 dwelling units per acre.

FLU 1.5.1 New Development and Redevelopment in Built Areas. To promote the efficient use of existing public roads, utilities, and service infrastructure, the County will encourage the redevelopment in underutilized properties to maximize development densities and intensities located in the MU-S, MU-U, Commercial, and Industrial Future Land Use categories (with the exception of residential development).

FLU 2.1.1 Infrastructure Capacities. Urban uses will be concentrated in the urbanized areas with the most intense development permitted in the Mixed-Use Urban (MU-U) areas and areas with sufficient central water and sewer system capacity to accommodate higher density development. Land use densities may be increased through Comprehensive Plan amendments. This policy is intended to direct higher density urban uses to those areas with infrastructure capacities sufficient to meet demands and to those areas with capacities in excess of current or projected demand. Septic systems remain allowed through Florida Health Department permits where central sewer is not available.

FINDINGS

The proposed amendment to Commercial is consistent with the intent and purpose of Future Land Use category MU-U as stated in CPP FLU 1.3.1. The Future Land Use of Mixed-Use Urban allows for a mix of residential and retail services. The property would promote efficient use of existing public roads and an underutilized property that would conform with CPP FLU 1.5.1.

Per FLU 2.1.1 the uses will be concentrated in the urbanized areas with the most intense development permitted in the Mixed-Use Urban (MU-U) areas.

Sufficient central water and sewer system capacity to accommodate higher density development will be reviewed during the site plan review process.

Criterion b., LDC Sec. 2-7.2(b)(4)

Consistent with The Land Development Code

Whether the proposed amendment is in conflict with any portion of this Code, and is consistent with the stated purpose and intent of this Code.

Sec. 3-2.8 High Density Residential district (HDR).

(a) Purpose. The High Density Residential (HDR) district establishes appropriate areas and land use regulations for residential uses at high densities within urban areas. The primary intent of the district is to provide for residential neighborhood development in an efficient urban pattern of well-connected streets and at greater dwelling unit density and diversity than the Medium Density Residential district. Residential uses within the HDR district include most forms of single-family, two-family and multi-family dwellings. Non-residential uses within the district are limited to those that are compatible with urban residential neighborhoods. (See Exhibit A for district provisions)

Sec. 3-2.9 High Density Mixed-use district (HDMU).

(a) Purpose. The High Density Mixed-use (HDMU) district establishes appropriate areas and land use regulations for a complimentary mix of high density residential uses and compatible non-residential uses within urban areas. The primary intent of the district is to provide for a mix of neighborhood retail sales, services and professional offices with greater dwelling unit density and diversity than the Low Density Mixed-use district. Additionally, the HDMU district is intended to rely on urban street connectivity and encourage vertical mixes of commercial and residential uses within the same building to accommodate a physical pattern of development characteristic of village main streets and older neighborhood commercial areas. Residential uses within the district include all forms of single-family, two-family and multi-family dwellings. (See Exhibit B for district provisions)

Sec. 3-2.10 Commercial district (Com).

(a) Purpose. The Commercial (Com) district establishes appropriate areas and land use regulations for general commercial activities, especially the retailing of commodities and services. The primary intent of the district is to allow more diverse and intense commercial uses than the neighborhood commercial allowed within the mixed-use districts. To maintain compatibility with surrounding uses, all commercial operations within the Commercial district are limited to the confines of buildings and not allowed to produce undesirable effects on surrounding property. To retain adequate area for commercial activities, new and expanded residential development within the district is limited, consistent with the Commercial (C) future land use category. (See Exhibit C for district provisions)

(f) Rezoning to Commercial. Commercial zoning may be established only within the Mixed-Use Suburban (MU-S), Mixed-Use Urban (MU-U) or Commercial (C) future land use categories. The district is appropriate to provide transitions between areas zoned or used as high density mixed-use and areas zoned or used as heavy commercial or industrial. Rezoning to Commercial is subject to the same location criteria as any new non-residential use proposed within the Commercial district.

FINDINGS

In the reviewing the intent and purpose of the existing zoning category of HDR and the proposed zoning category of Com, the permitted and conditional uses of HDR are significantly different from the permitted and conditional uses of the proposed zoning category of Com. For example, HDR zoning allows for High Density Residential uses ranging from group living to multi-family dwellings. Thus, it can be concluded that as stated in Sec. 3-2.8, HDR allows for primary residential use (see Exhibit A). In contrast, the proposed amendment to Commercial allows for primary commercial uses. The primary intent of the Commercial zoning district is to allow more diverse and intense commercial uses than the neighborhood commercial allowed within the mixed-use districts (see Exhibit C). The proposed zoning of Commercial would not provide the needed transition between areas zoned or used as high density mixed-use and areas zoned or used as heavy commercial or industrial. However, in reviewing the zoning categories of the Land Development Code (LDC), there is a transitional zoning category of High Density Mixed-Use (HDMU) that would allow for residential and neighborhood commercial uses of low intensity. (see Exhibit B). The primary intent and purpose of HDMU is to provide for a mix of neighborhood retail sales, services and professional offices with greater dwelling unit density and diversity. The HDMU zoning district is appropriate to provide transitions between areas zoned or used for medium or high density residential and areas zoned or used for commercial. To conclude, the proposed amendment to Commercial from the currently zoning of High Density Residential (HDR)is not consistent with the intent and purpose of the Land Development Code.

Criterion c., LDC Sec. 2-7.2(b)(4)

Compatible with surrounding uses

Whether all land uses, development activities, and conditions allowed by the proposed zoning are compatible with the surrounding conforming uses, activities and conditions and are able to coexist in relative proximity to them in a stable fashion over time such that no use, activity, or condition negatively impacts another. The appropriateness of the rezoning is not limited to any specific use that may be proposed but is evident for all permitted uses of the requested zoning.

Sec. 3-1.6 Compatibility

(a) Generally. Zoning districts provide the primary means to establish and maintain the necessary balance between the needs and interests of different land uses, allowing neighboring uses to coexist successfully in a stable fashion over time, protecting the investments in each. Although zoning separates generally incompatible development, inclusion as a permitted use within a district does not alone ensure compatibility with other district uses.

(b) Location criteria. Location criteria are established within some zoning districts to promote compatibility among uses, especially new non-residential uses in relation to existing residential uses. Most criteria are designed to create smooth transitions of use intensity from large-scale concentrations of general commercial uses near major street intersections to small-scale dispersed neighborhood commercial uses in proximity to residential areas. Such transitions prevent the adverse impacts of continuous strip commercial development along major streets and avoid negative or blighting influences of some commercial uses on adjacent residential neighborhoods.

FINDINGS

Based upon a site plan review and the existing land use map, the subject property is adjacent to an existing residential development of townhomes known as Sundance Village and is an allowed used within the existing zoning category of HDR. Under the provision of compatibility as sited under Section 3-1.6 (a), zoning districts provide the primary means to establish and maintain the necessary balance between the needs and interests of different land uses. For the analysis of staff, there are no existing Com uses adjacent to and as well as the same side of the road of the subject property. The intense and invasive uses that are allowed in Commercial (see Exhibit C) would have an unduly negative impact (directly or indirectly) the existing adjacent residential uses. Staff does recognize the fact that there are surrounding Commercial uses within proximity of the subject property on the opposite side of the road, yet the fact remains that if the subject property is rezoned, it would be incompatible due to the fact that the rezoned subject property would be adjacent to a residential development.

Also, under the provision of location criteria as sited under Section 3-1.6 (b), it appears the location criteria for Commercial zoning can be achieved due to the sites proximity of the subject parcel to the intersection of Creighton Rd at Hilburn Rd. Both are listed as arterial roads and both roads intersect within one-quarter mile of the subject property. (see Exhibit D)

The following language is from excerpt from the interoffice memorandum comments provided by the County's Transportation and Traffic Operations (TTO) Division staff:

Decemeber 6, 2016 memo: Burgess Rd is currently programmed for right-of-way acquisition in the FL-AL Long Range Transportation Plan. Existing right-of-way is sufficient for the proposed four lane expansion of Burgess Rd.

March 20, 2017 memo: Currently, there is a Roadway Improvement Project programmed in the County's Capital Improvement Program and the State of Florida's Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) 5-Year Work Program along SR742 (Burgess Road) from US29 to Hilburn Road within the vicinity of the subject parcel. The project is expected to widen the existing two-way, two-lane roadway to a 4-lane roadway. The right-of-way acquisition phase (currently on-going) is programmed through Fiscal Year 2018, with the County expected to fund $1M towards the right-of-way phase.

The Florida-Alabama Transportation Planning Organization (TPO) currently lists the aforementioned project as the #2 Non-Strategic Intermodal System capacity project for the TPO 2040 Long Range Transportation Plan (LRTP). The TPO's LRTP Cost Feasible Plan programs the construction phase ($18M) during the Fiscal Year 2021-2025 time period.

Per the TPO's Congestion Management Process Plan, Burgess Road is currently functioning within its allowable capacity for traffic volumes between the segment of CR95A (Old Palafox) and Hilburn Road. The maximum level-of-service (LOS) for the roadway segment is LOS D (14,800 trips/day), and currently the roadway segment is functioning at a LOS D (8,000 trips/day) and is expected to remain at a LOS D and exceed 9,700 trips/day by Year 2024.

Note: TTO's review is solely based off the application submittal packet, so the comments above hold no bearing on future TTO comments during the Development Review process.

Criterion d., LDC Sec. 2-7.2(b)(4)

Changed conditions

Whether the area to which the proposed rezoning would apply has changed, or is changing, to such a degree that it is in the public interest to encourage new uses, density, or intensity in the area through rezoning.

FINDINGS

Staff found changed conditions that would impact the amendment or property. Staff found case Z-2004-42 at 190 Creighton Road, approved 12/09/2004 for rezoning from R-4 to C-1. Staff also found case Z-2005-58 at 473 Allen Court, approved 01/05/2006 for rezoning from R-4 to C-1. Both case were approved under the previously adopted Land Development Code. (See Exhibit D for the location map of the above rezoning cases)

Criterion e., LDC Sec. 2-7.2(b)(4)

Development patterns

Whether the proposed rezoning would contribute to or result in a logical and orderly development pattern.

FINDINGS

Based upon the literal review of the existing land uses and zoning categories surrounding the subject properties (see Exhibit D), there appears to be a development pattern in the area. The site is surrounded by Commercial zoning to the north and east of the subject property, yet are located across the roadway. The approval of the rezoning could contribute to the establishment of Commercial uses that would compliment the other Commercial zoned properties in the area, yet most of the Commercial zoned property in the area are vacant with no Commercial uses currently established. Staff found that within the 500' impact radius, it appears only two of the Commercial zoned properties have associated commercial uses that are currently established. The other properties in the area that are zoned Commercial are vacant or have an established residential use. Similarly, the surrounded residential zonings of HDR have established residential uses or are vacant as well. The zoning category of HDMU could provide a more logical and orderly development pattern that would result in the transitional zoning needed between the HDR and Commercial zoning categories in the area.

Criterion (f) LDC Sec. 2-7.2(b)(4)
Effect on natural environment
Whether the proposed rezoning would increase the probability of any significant adverse impacts on the natural environment.

FINDINGS
According to the National Wetland Inventory, wetlands and hydric soils were not indicated on the subject property. When applicable, further review during the Site Plan Review process will be necessary to determine if there would be any significant adverse impact on the natural environment.

PROCEEDINGS

THE CHAIRMAN: We will immediately move into our next case, which is Case Z-2016-13.
